U. S. Must Abandon 'Isolation', Help League-- Beard

3500 Drawn To Student Meeting in Southland

Huge Meeting Held by College Students Is Successful

Condemning the "isolation" attitude of American political leaders and congress, and urging the allegiance of the United States with the World Court and the League of Nations in an effort to prevent future wars, which by their very size will destroy Western civilization, three leaders of science and history addressed 3,500 college students and adults of the Southland in Pasadena Saturday night.

The men, Albert Einstein, Robert A. Millikan and Charles A. Beard, speaking over a national radio system at a program "in the interest of public opinion," sought to point out the ways to peace through the ordered functions of sober governments.

The meeting was staged by the Southern California College Student Body Presidents' association, of which President James Kent of the State College Student Body is a member. Among those from Santa Barbara State who attended the meeting were President Clarence L. Phelps of the college; Raymond McKelvey, political science instructor; President Kent, Lucile Newell, Dick Cooper, Joe Gunterman, Howard Walters and Louis Kohrs.

Three interlocking ideas were expressed.

Said Einstein: The creation of an international court of arbitration is not sufficient. Through agreement, the assurance must also be present that the decisions of this court will be enforced by all the nations acting in common. Without such assurance the nations will never have the courage to disarm in earnest.

"Suppose, for example, that the American, English, German and French governments had demanded from the Japanese government the immediate cessation of warlike acts in China on pain of a complete

All-College Symphony Orchestra to Give Concert Tonight

The second Southern California All-College Symphony Orchestra assembled in Santa Barbara for its annual concert, which will be staged in the High school auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The orchestra was organized under the direction of Cliff Leedy, and its members include outstanding musicians from all colleges of the Southland.

Musicians From All Southland Colleges Play in High School

Second Annual Concert of Leading Student Musicians Expected to Attract Record Crowd; Sponsored by S. B. State

Making its first and only public appearance as a single orchestra, the second Southern California All-College Symphony orchestra will play at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the High school auditorium. Organized under Santa Barbara State college music department, the symphony includes student musicians from all colleges of the Southland.

Tryouts for positions in the orchestra were held Sunday afternoon, and the musicians have been rehearsing since that time.

Leonora Stubbs Jenkins, concert mistress of San Diego State College orchestra, again was selected as concert mistress and first violinist of the first violin section. Miss Jenkins is a student of Leonardo Brill of Los Angeles, is a member of the San Diego State College orchestra and last year took first place in the Los Angeles Welsh Eisteddfod. Antoni Van der Voort, local violinist, had charge of the first violin chair tryouts.

Dorothy Riddell of San Diego State college was chosen first violinist in the second violin section by Fred Beideman, head of the Music department of San Diego State college, who conducted the try-outs for second violinists.

Robert Lowenthal of Los Angeles Junior college was given the first orchestral chair in the viola section by Harold Wahlberg, head of the Music department of Fullerton Junior college, who conducted the try-outs for this section.

Harold Van der Voort of Santa Barbara State college was selected for the first 'cello chair by Harry Kaplun, director of orchestras in Santa Barbara High school and Junior High school, who had charge of the 'cello chair try-outs.

Kenneth Winstead of the University of Southern California was given first chair in the bass try-outs.

After the orchestral chair try-outs the musicians were escorted to guest quarters in the homes of the

Wanted--a New Chief Editor for La Cumbre

Rose Greenwell Forced to Resign; Gunterman Is New Manager for Oratory

An annual without an editor. Such is the plight of the "La Cumbre" year book this week, with the announcement that Rose Greenwell, former editor, was forced to resign because her grades failed to meet the requirements for holding Student Body office at the end of the first semester.

To give anyone on the campus who has had experience in working with annuals or on publications, and who want to petition for the editorship of "La Cumbre" a chance to do so, a new editor will not be selected until fifth hour tomorrow by the Publications committee, which appoints the editors of "La Cumbre" and The Roadrunner.

Students wishing to try for the editorship of the year book can get in touch with Student Body President Jim Kent before noon tomorrow, stating their qualifications for office. The editor of the book must be a junior or senior, or a sophomore.

Oversupply of Teachers Is in High School Field, says Phelps

"The oversupply of teachers in California is not in the kindergarten, elementary or junior high school field," declares President Clarence L. Phelps, of the local college, in refutation of data recently made public by other persons.

California has 356 unplaced junior high school teachers, 325 elementary teachers and 83 kindergarten teachers, according to figures compiled on November, 1, 1931, by the State department.

"This is just a safety margin and not an oversupply," says Phelps adding that "the teachers colleges are, at present, maintaining a proper ratio between supply and demand and should continue present policies of admission and standards of training that that ratio may be preserved."

That there is an oversupply of teachers in California, the president admits but he points out that the oversupply lies in the field of secondary education. The figures compiled by the State department show that on November 1, 1931, there were 1129 teachers with general secondary certificates unplaced, and 387 teachers with special secondary certificates unplaced. These unplaced teachers are all graduates of universities, says Phelps, to whom it appears that the problem of overproduction, therefore, lies in the universities and not in the teachers' colleges.

Further information, on another angle of the oversupply situation, from president Phelps, indicates that entrance requirements at some universities are now less stringent than those in force at Santa Bar-

Blake, Trautz End Service Award Plans

Secret Faculty Committee to Choose Winners Based on Eligibility Rules

Final plans for the Service award program have been completed, according to Edna Blake, A.W.S. president, and Oscar Trautz, president of the Men's club, who have sent a list of rules governing selection of winners to the chairman of their respective secret faculty committees.

The rules governing the selection of the woman student who will receive the A.W.S. award are as follows:

Eichheim Began His Musical Career Early; Played in Boston Symphony, Taught Music

Henry Eichheim, under whose baton the College Symphony will perform its second annual concert tonight, has had many years of experience as violinist, conductor and composer. His comprehensive knowledge of music, coupled with his rare understanding of young musicians, makes him particularly fitted for the task of molding the assembled group of amateur players into a successful unit during the limited number of rehearsals.

Eichheim's father was a member of the Theodore Thomas orchestra in Chicago, and leading 'cellist of that city. Beginning the study of the violin at an early age, Mr. Eichheim continued his musical studies at the Chicago Musical college. He graduated from that college with honors, winning first prize for violin playing and appearing as soloist at the graduation concert.

Following his graduation, Eichheim became a member of the Theodore Thomas orchestra in New York, but resigned after a year to join the Boston Symphony. He played first violin in that orchestra for twenty-one years, and then left to devote himself to concert playing, teaching, composing and conducting. He established studios in Boston and Providence, Mass., and for several years he was the conductor of the Winchester Symphony orchestra.

In 1915 Eichheim visited Japan and other Eastern countries, and became interested in Oriental music. Since that time he has returned to the Orient three times, traveling

Outing Club Men Sweat on Evening Hike

"Plenty of Work" Say Outers After Moonlight Stroll to Mt. La Cumbre Sunday

"It was a fine trip, but we did all the work," complains Archie Way, telling of the Outing club hike to La Cumbre Peak over the weekend.

Way says that he and Bob Main had to carry a five-gallon jug of water all the way from the tunnel to the peak, a distance of about five and one-half miles.

Thirty-five Outing club members and guests left the college campus at 1:35 Sunday morning and drove to the tunnel, where they disembarked and hiked to La Cumbre Peak. Members report that it required three hours as an average to make the hike, but President Way and Bob Main inform us that one or two of the party did not arrive at the peak until at least four hours had passed.

Having arrived at the peak of La Cumbre, says Way, the party enjoyed a well-earned breakfast on the coffee we served them and the food they brought themselves.

LENTEN PLAYS COMING

The play production group is now working in sets and costumes for three short Lenten plays to be presented March 17 in the college auditorium.

Musicians Are Feted in All-College Dance

"Symphony Hop" in Rockwood Given for Visiting Players Last Night

Southern California All-College Symphony orchestra were guests of honor at the "Symphony hop" in Rockwood last night.

The Paul Jones started off the evening and served as a means of introducing the guests. All the dances were tag dances and there were some ladies' tag dances.

Banners from various colleges made up the decorations. Greenough's orchestra provided the music.

The "Jubilee Boys" entertained with songs and tap dancing.

Patron and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and Cliff Leedy. Elaine Smith had charge of the decorations.

Two noon dances are being given in honor of the musicians also. The first one took place in the gym yesterday noon. Janssen's orchestra contributed the music. There will be another one this noon at which the Associated Women Students will serve punch.

GLEE CLUB TOUR PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN THURSDAY

"The same enthusiastically received program which the Glee club presented on its recent tour will be offered to State college students during the fourth hour Thursday," announces Mrs. Helen M. Barnett, head of the Music department at State. "Although we suffered a loss of about $100 on the tour," says Mrs. Barnett, "we feel that the money was well spent and that the benefits to the college resulting from it far overshadow the loss."

"We hope, however," she adds, "that the students will cooperate with us 100 percent on Thursday by attending the program and helping us thereby to erase the red ink from our books. The admission charge will be 25 cents and I'm sure that every student will judge the entertainment to be worth at least twice that."

President Phelps says that the college owes a great debt to the band and Glee club for the good work which they have done. "Their recent trip," he says, "has been of inestimable value in advertising our college and showing the people of California what excellent work we are doing."

MUSICIANS WILL BE 'Y' GUESTS AT BREAKFAST MEET

Visiting musicians who will be staying with members of the Roadrunner "Y" were guests of the club at its regular Tuesday morning breakfast, according to Oscar J. Trauz, president.

Special entertainment was planned to fete the visitors by Dick Kaime, social chairman. The morning meeting gave the outsiders an inside view of the campus life, and will give the members a chance to hear about the life in other institutions of California.

On the following Wednesday morning the "Y" organization will hold "Ladies Day," which will be the first social event on this season's program. Joe Martin and Tex Willard will sing for the group, and Dr. Charles Jacobs of the college faculty will deliver an address.

Schools Paper Tells Story of Lincoln Lib.

Sierra Educational News Prints Article by Dr. Wm. Ellison on Library

Dr. William H. Ellison, head of the social science department of the Santa Barbara State college wrote an article concerning the Lincoln library of the college for the January, 1932, issue of the Sierra Educational News. Students wishing to visit the Lincoln library will find it in the little room in the back of the college library.

"There are now," stated Dr. Ellison in the article, "some 2300 volumes in the Lincoln library. These consist of the well-known biographies of Lincoln, histories of the period, biographies and writings of men associated with Lincoln or whose careers touch his, contemporary writings about him and his interests, fiction bearing on his career and times, and the best literature that in any way deals with him from his early years to our present day.

"There are many old and rare volumes. Some of these have been hard to find and expensive to buy. If the books belonged in the collection, they have been secured whether the cost has been small or great. "This remarkable assemblage of printed material on Lincoln has resulted from the industry and generosity of William Wyles of Santa Barbara. The results of Wyles' efforts illustrate what can be accomplished by an individual who has purposeful devotion to a worthy task, good judgment, enthusiasm, a considerable amount of time to devote to his special undertaking, and sufficient means to develop his plan."

State Co-Eds Aid in Club Organization

Several Santa Barbara State college women are participating in the organization of a club for women of college age which the Presbyterian Church of Santa Barbara is sponsoring. Mrs. Grace Gowans Wright, religious director of the church, and Mrs. James Wescott will act as advisors for the organization.

The first meeting of the club took place Sunday, February 28, at 4:30 o'clock in the Blue Room of the Presbyterian church. Following the meeting at which plans regarding the organization, purpose, and ideals for the club were formulated, a supper was served.

Delta Sigs Study for National Test

Members and pledges of Delta Sigma Epsilon, the only national sorority on the campus, studied for an examination in their regular meeting last night, according to Jean Wood, president.

The examination is to be given by the national office on March 4 and will include questions on chapter roll, council members, and the history of the sorority. All pledges will be required to take the test, as will all members who have not been attending for more than two years. Miss Margaret Burke, sponsor, will give the examination.

New Course in Scouting to Open in High School Thursday

The standard course in Principles of Scoutmastership, to which the Elements of Scoutmastership, offered to college students last semester was a prerequisite, will have its first session of the spring term on the evening of March 3, in the Santa Barbara High School auditorium, according to Calvin McCray, local Scout executive, who will conduct the course. McCray stipulates that if the number of men who enroll for the course proves insufficient, Scout Specialization will be offered as a substitute course.

"The Principles of Scoutmastership" is the advanced course in the five-year progressive training program of local council leaders, according to the executive. "Scoutcraft is becoming one of the most essential requirements of a rural community school teacher as he is expected to take the lead in Scout organization. The series of courses which we have planned is designed to equip our young men with a knowledge of Scout ideals and the ability to get these ideals over to the boys in the schools."

"Principles of Scoutmastership will include a study of the nature of boys and their urges to activity as well as a review of the aims and methods of education and their application to the Scout program. Those who take this course will study the principles of troop program building and the methods of troop administration."

The purpose of this course is to give to each Scoutmaster a foundation in methods and principles and a knowledge of source materials which will enable him and his troop to carry forward over a period of years. It will be conducted largely on the seminar basis. Instruction will be accomplished largely through lecture and discussion based on reading assignments and actual experience with Scout troops rather than a demonstration of skill and Scoutcraft in Patrol activity.

According to McCray, upon completion of the following services and courses and certification by a Local Court of Honor as well as five years of successful service, a Scoutmaster is eligible to receive the Scoutmaster's Key.

I. The Elements of Scoutmastership. II. The Principles of Scoutmastership. III. The Principles of First Aid. IV. Advanced Certificates. V. Other Specialization Courses. VI. Two Weeks of Camp.

"We feel," says McCray, "that five years of service and achievement entitles the Scoutmaster to receive an award of unusual distinction and we believe that our Local Councils throughout the movement will be happy to make this award."

Men who have signed up so far are: Robert Stuart, Vic Colton, Robert Main, Nelson Treolar, Walter Barnett, Stanley Winters, George Schultz, John Eckhardt, R. Carter, R. Davis, Charles Rice, Albert Wade.

Miss Ball Finds Many Bookplates as Hobby Hunter

"The finding of many of my father's bookplates in the college library books has been one of the most interesting experiences which I have encountered in following my hobby." This was the statement made by Miss Katherine Ball, head librarian of the Santa Barbara State college library, to a reporter in a recent interview.

Miss Ball, whose father preceded President Phelps as head of Santa Barbara State college, has been collecting bookplates for several years. "When I was attending library school we were told that we should each have a hobby. We were expected to select one related to books in some way. I began collecting bookplates then and have continued to do so," said Miss Ball in explaining how she came to select her hobby.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, Miss Ball explained that bookplates are armorial, allegorical, or pictorial representations of names which are affixed in the front of books to designate ownership.

Miss Ball stated that she did not know the exact number of bookplates in her collection, but said that she thought that she had about three hundred, most of which are comparatively modern. The units of her collection have come from many sources. Some of the bookplates have been given to her by friends who knew of her collection, but many she collected herself while on a trip to Europe.

Among the bookplates which are to be found most frequently in the books of the college library are those bearing the names of Cooper, Dabney and Ball, according to Miss Ball. The Coopers and Dabneys are prominent Santa Barbara families. Miss Ball stated that a bookplate is soon to be designed by members of the art department of the college

Pomona Falls Before Flashy State Attack

Staters in Perfect Form to Defeat Invaders, Last Game of Season

Santa Barbara State climbed from a disputed last position to the next to last in the Southern California Conference in a game with the Pomona Sageshens, fought last Saturday night at the Carpinteria High school, by tallying 37 points against the 31 of the Southerners. As the game was final for both colleges for the 1932 season, each fought exceptionally hard to win, and only the superior ability of the locals on both offensive and defensive brought the Roadrunners a victory.

"Tuffy" Treloar started things popping by sinking the first basket for the Roadrunners. Blanchard of the Sageshen crew caused the locals to keep an eye on him for the remainder of the game by sinking four perfect shots in a row in a bit of dazzling play.

Greeson and Martin were then sent into the fray to pull the Staters into a hard-fought lead. By the end of the quarter the town boys had brought the score back to normal, and by the end of the second quarter had obtained a 7-point lead, the score being 21 to 14.

During the third quarter the Roadrunners continued running up the score to make what seemed to be a one-sided battle. The locals played cautiously but hard, keeping the visitors on the defensive most of the time. More fouls were made during the third period by both teams than any other time during the game.

The final quarter featured a steady rally by the Sageshens, which was capped by flashy offensive work near the end of the game bringing the score up to 31-29, placing the locals with only a 2-point lead. By quickening their pace the Staters battled through with a fine finish, taking the game 37 to 31.

Blanchard ran up 15 points for Pomona, thus being high man of the game. Joe Martin won high point honors for State with 13 markers, being only one ahead of "Pinky" Greeson. Every member of the State squad played fine basketball, with Greeson and Martin running up the score and Walter Barnett and "Hoppy" Hopkins proving their value at defensive positions.

According to critics, the locals played the best game of the year in smashing the determined boys from the South. As Coach Davis is losing only two men from this season's squad, the locals will have a fine chance to take a lead in the Conference during the next year. Hopkins and Barnett have played their last game for State and only their positions need filling to have a well working team. These men were the outstanding players of the season in defensive work and it is doubtful whether State can produce men as good next season to fill their places.

During the rest period of the half State's second squad tussled with the Sageshen scrubs. After fierce playing and much roughneck work the locals went to a crushing defeat. Score, 8-0.

BASEBALL MEN PASS PETITION - WILL WE PLAY?

Many Signatures Indicate a Strong Following; Team May Be Formed

The recent announcement of the Physical Education department to the effect that there would be no baseball this year came as somewhat of a surprise, and a distinct disappointment to the many lovers of the "grand old game" both here on the hill and among the many sport lovers that follow The Roadrunner. The fact that such actions were necessitated by a short financial backing does not remove the rather gaping hole left in our sport calendar.

The Pomona Sageshens were faced with a similar crisis a short time ago, but thanks to a far-seeing benefactor, they received an anonymous gift of $250 for the promotion of the great American game on their campus. They have since scheduled games with Oxy, Redlands, Cal Tech and La Verne, all of which, though they are not official Conference games, promise to be good, exciting examples of what some people freely call the world's greatest game.

Several of the more ardent supporters of the game here on the hill are circulating a petition asking for the reinstatement of the game on the hill. Among those already signed are enough experienced material to form an exceptionally fine team. We sincerely hope that those in control of things will see fit to make some kind of arrangement so that those that love the game can have the opportunity of participating in it, even though it means the curtailment of some other form of activity.

University of California requires eight recommending units; Santa Barbara requires 12. The University of California, however, does not offer provisional standing; Santa Barbara does, admitting as provisional students, those persons who have six recommending units upon application for admission.

This indicates that it is as easy or easier to gain entrance to the University of California as it is to enter Santa Barbara, says Phelps, and since we do not intend to lower our entrance requirements we shall expect the students who come here in the future to come because they want to and not because they can't get in anywhere else."

BASKETBALL TILTS WILL FEATURE NEW TOURNEY

Three Fraternity and Two Independent Teams to Vie for Honors

Intramural basketball is scheduled to get under way with five teams competing, three fraternity and two independent outfits being organized to fight it out for top honors.

All teams are scheduled to play every quintet entered twice, making a total of eight games for each team entered.

The five teams in the race for intramural honors are the three fraternities, Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Kappa and Beta Sigma Chi, as well as two teams picked in alphabetical order. All independents with names beginning with letters between "A" and "M" will compose one team, while the other quintet will be made up of those between the letters "N" and "Z."

The schedule of the teams is as follows:

March 2—A-M vs. Beta Sigma Chi, Tau Omega vs. Sigma Alpha Kappa.
 March 4—N-Z vs. Sigma Alpha Kappa, Beta Sigma Chi vs. Tau Omega.
 March 9—A-M vs. N-Z, Sigma Alpha Kappa vs. Beta Sigma Chi.
 March 11—Tau Omega vs. A-M, Beta Sigma Chi vs. N-Z.
 March 16—Sigma Alpha Kappa vs. A-M, Tau Omega vs. N-Z.

By this schedule the teams will complete their playing in five nights, as there will be a double-header every playing date. As the two independent teams have such a great field to choose their talent from, they are favored to set the pace in the sport, but the fraternities have been busy organizing teams lately and are out to upset the dope.

De Groot taught at State from September 1926 to August 1928 when he was transferred to Menlo Junior College where he has been since.

De Groot has quite a record as a member of the Stanford student body. While attending college there he became a member of the U. S. Olympic Rugby team sent to Vancouver, B. C., in 1924 and again in 1926. He was president and manager of the Sigma Nu fraternity in 1922-23, and later became a member in both the Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Kappa fraternities.

Cal-Tech First Meet For State Tracksters

INTERCLASS TO START SEASON FOR TRACK MEN

Seniors and Juniors Favored in Fracas; Frosh Are Dark Horses

Inter-class track begins today and will be completed tomorrow in an effort to give Coaches Luke Trimble and Ross Nichols a slant on this year's material and give them an idea who is to make the trip to Cal Tech this Saturday.

The seniors are overwhelming favorites to run roughshod over all opposition with the frosh, according to Ross Nichols, having a chance to give them a battle.

Walt Barnett, all-around athlete of State, is scheduled to be a track team by himself, for he is a pre-meet favorite to capture the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, high and low hurdles, as well as the high jump and broad jump.

The events that will be run off today in Peabody Stadium are the 100-yard dash, quarter-mile, mile, high hurdles, shot-put, high jump and javelin.

Tomorrow's events are the 220-yard dash, half-mile, two-mile, pole vault, hurdles, broad jump, discus and hammer-throw.

Other favorites besides Walt Barnett are Tuffy Treloar in the broad jump and the 440-yard dash, John Eckhardt in the distance events, especially the two-mile run; Chet Tubbs in the half and one mile run, as well as a host of freshmen in the sprints.

In the pole vault is Joe Martin, who is slated to take first place in this event. The weight events are filled with good talent in the persons of Pat McCullough, Lynn Earhart, George Shultz, as well as Joe Martin.

Everyone is eligible to compete in the inter-class affair, according to the coaches, and all men of State, whether out for track or not, are urged to be in Peabody Stadium tonight and tomorrow for the competition starting at 4 o'clock.

Southerners Have Strong Outfit; Staters Weak In Many Events

Coaches Trimble and Nichols will move southward on Saturday with a squad of approximately two dozen men in an effort to break through the Cal Tech Beavers' dam and score an impossible win over the Engineers' high-powered track team.

Although last year's rout has been paraded as an example of what will happen this year, both the coaches and men are in a good mood and promise to do all they can to bring home the bacon. With only two weeks of intensive training behind them, and only the recent inter-class meet to show what the men can do, there is liable to be decided weaknesses displayed in some of the harder events, noticeably the distance runs and some of the weight events.

The men have been working extremely diligently, however, and they may come through in these events and flop in others. There is a spirit among the men this season that has never been there before, and we can promise you that there will be plenty of fireworks before the shoes are hung up at the end of the season.

The list of men making the trip will depend to a large extent on the results of the interclass meet this week. Those that show the best promise or that are in the best condition will get the chance of competing, while the rest of the men will have to work harder in anticipation of the Loyolo meet next week. The coaches are planning to take as many men as possible, though.

 economic boycott. Do you believe that Japan would find a government that would wish to take the responsibility of plunging their country into so dangerous an adventure?"

Millikan held for "participation of the United States in the World Court as the next rational step toward world peace as recommended by every president since the war and by 94 percent of a most intelligent and informed group of American citizens, irrespective of party."

Citing the position of the United States in a military sense, Beard said:

"The United States is committed to a policy of limited defense and to the principle of consultation with respect to the Pacific region. It is cooperating with other countries and with the League of Nations for specific purposes, such cooperation is made imperative by the circumstances in which we find ourselves."

"Herein, it seems to me, lies the only hope for the future—the steady and unremitting insistence upon a domestic policy which reduces all the chances of war and a cooperative policy with respect to all foreign relations. If this line of action is pursued, the aims of the world can be reduced to a police basis and the hazards of ruinous wars minimized, if not entirely eliminated."

"And time is the essence of things. One more world war, fought with the latest instruments of technology, will blast Western civilization from center to circumference."

Welcome, Musicians!

Welcome, student musicians! We hope you will enjoy our college, get acquainted with as many of us as you can, and make yourselves at home in your three-day visit in Santa Barbara. We are glad you could come, and hope to enjoy tonight a concert equal to the one in which many of you took part last year, one of Santa Barbara's outstanding musical events in 1931. We appreciate your cooperation in coming to Santa Barbara to help make possible this All-College Symphony orchestra concert. Not widely heralded now, although it already has a growing reputation, the All-College concert promises to become one of the outstanding musical ventures of the Southland, and within a few years you probably will be able to look with pride upon an annual musical event which you helped through its first years. You won't have much chance to see Santa Barbara this week, to come back again when the six rehearsals which try nerves and patience are not part of the program. Let us show you through a city which will repay the trouble you take to come, through beauty provided in large amounts by our architects and city planning groups, and more plentifully by Nature. And if you can't come in the meantime, be sure to come back for the symphony next year.

Doles for Industry

From the reports emanating from Washington it is quite obvious that the United States Congress will offer no aid to the needy citizens of the nation. In the recent debates on the La Follette-Costigan direct relief bill the fear of establishing a precedence of government help dominated the assembly and the bill was decisively rejected. The administration contends that if it gives succor to the nation's needy now it will be faced with constant appeals for relief later. Then too, there are those that believe that in giving a starving man a piece of bread you are undermining his character. "Individual responsibility" is the cry of these innumerable (but well-fed) opponents to federal appropriation for direct relief. President Hoover has frequently told us that unemployment is a local problem and should be met by local relief measures. Charity relief being an insignificant factor in the situation the bold truth that the laboring class is itself supporting those in want cannot be refuted. Local funds are derived from taxes on personal property, to a large extent, and thus the burden of relief falls on the struggling home owner who is certainly not the rightful source of revenue for this cause. But the situation has now reached the point, in many sections of the country, where the funds for local relief are exhausted. Even the great cities of New York and Chicago have reached the end of their capacities for the distribution of food and clothing. President Hoover, and his staunch conservative followers, are not in the least alarmed by the inability of local responsibility however, and are still content to offer pretty speeches on the "fundamental soundness of our condition." I wonder if those of us who do not know where the next meal is coming from are equally impressed with the "firm basis of our economic life"?

CAMPUS GOSSIP

Spring must be here Sally Leonard and Denny Baylor showed the campus loafers just what's what in the way of Spring dances the other day. We didn't know before that we had such a graceful couple. Dick Kaime's car is in evidence again. After being mama's sweet little boy for a whole week he rolled onto the campus this morning driving instead of being driven. Roy Thistle discovered he had a flat tire at 4:30 a.m. Monday morning on State street. So he says Pretty early in the morning for that excuse Roy! And what kind of a flat tire? According to Betty Greenwell, Gibby Martin is just the image of "The Hatchet Man". What now, Gilbert? Have you ever noticed the strong resemblance between Jake Van Efav and Stan Laurel? This is Gibby's fish story. He couldn't catch any fish after sitting on the rocks at Carpinteria Beach all Sunday so he sat around until after dark so he could whistle for them. But he got cold and went home—a disappointed boy.

When our dignified Student Body president dashed by several of State's co-eds the other afternoon in his bright red track shorts, he seemed to get the horse-laugh—and Jimmy took the trouble to go back to ask "Are you jealous of my shape, girls?" Ask "Midge" Burnham how he likes to have his hair mussed up—especially by a bunch of women! It must be hard on the new part and wave, but we know you like it, "Midge."

It looks bad for "Tuffy!" The girl friend has been wearing a black eye-bandage, and we don't know whether to believe her story or to think "Tuffy" lost his Irish temper.

Has everyone been noticing how dejected and down-hearted Johnny Eckhardt has been looking these days? He also seems to be using an awfully lot of stationery writing to a certain party in Wilmington! It is the wealthiest nation on themust be love!

By CASEY BEE

THE OTHER day.
 I WAS raking leaves.
 IN THE front yard.
 WHERE I live.
 AND THERE were.
 A LITTLE girl.
 AND A little boy.
 WHO WERE riding.
 IN A box cart.
 UP AND down.
 THE SIDEWALK.
 AND THERE were.
 SOME OTHER children.
 PLAYING AT the end.
 OF THE block.
 AND THEY were skating.
 AND PUSHING scooters.
 AND I became.
 RATHER INTERESTED.
 AND THE little girl.
 THAT I spoke of first.
 WAS PUSHING the little boy.
 IN THE box cart.
 AND ALL of a sudden.
 SHE STOPPED pushing him.
 AND WHISPERED something.
 THAT I couldn't hear.
 AND THEN the box cart.
 WAS SHOVED over.
 ONTO ITS side.
 AND THE little boy.
 TOOK AN awkward position.
 AS IF he were hurt.
 AND THE little girl.
 SPRAWLED HERSELF out.

BESIDE THE box cart.
 AND THEN she cried.
 "A WRECK!" quite loud.
 AND THE children.
 AT THE end of the block.
 CAME RUNNING up.
 AND JUST as soon.
 AS THEY came up.
 THE LITTLE boy.
 AND THE little girl.
 GOT UP and laughed.
 AND THEY all.
 SCAMPERED OFF.
 AND I wished.
 AS I raked the leaves.
 THAT I were young.
 SO I could play pretend.
 AND THEN it came to me.
 THAT I didn't have.
 TO BE young again.
 FOR HERE I was.
 PRETENDING THE leaves.
 MADE THE yard untidy.
 AND I realized.
 THAT THE leaves looked.
 REALLY QUITE natural.
 LYING UNDER the tree.
 AND I stopped raking.
 AND WENT in the house.
 AND SAT down to study.
 AND I'll be.
 IF I didn't think.
 THAT GOING to college.
 WAS PRETENDING, too!
 I THANK you!

Demoralization Must Not Affect Student's Work During Depression

How does the depression affect us as individuals? From the purely financial viewpoint we are aware of it. We consider it the cause for the diminishment of our allowances, for not being able to get work, for doing away with our little luxuries, but do we consider it from the more important viewpoint of how it affects our characters? Just as the depression has been responsible for both the great unemployment wave throughout the country and the consequent large proportion of demoralization of these 8,000,000 unemployed; so, may we consider that (the depression) can easily be a basis for demoralization in the social standards of students. Consider in the first place the now common case of the student who is attending college because he has been unsuccessful in his attempts to get work. He has ob-

Betty Proctor, Thelma Fent, Betty Aul and Phyllis Cole at the polo game on Friday and Sunday afternoons. Sorority pledges bowing and scraping before their superiors, and the effect said superiority has on some of the members. Bill Manning trying to keep cool last Saturday afternoon while driving along the beach boulevard packed in the can like sardines. Piles of dirt in front of the administration building. It seems that at last our roads are going to be repaired. Dick Cooper averaging 12½ miles per hour going to Los Angeles Saturday afternoon. A good many students taking advantage of the Summer weather on the beach Saturday afternoon. Shirley Keith walking all over a girl that some one else was dancing with. Only our lads and lassies at the noon dance, which was supposed to have been given for out-of-towners. Co-eds looking over the strange musicians, trying to decide on one on which to display her talents. Ann Dawson and Billy Maxwell sitting on the floor playing marbles at Ann's. The town alive with "simp phonic" fellows making themselves at home. Mr. Eichheim sitting on a chair while directing the Symphony. Many co-eds displaying "Red" Connel's toy pickles. That Clay Becklund finally washed the Arizona mud off his car. Theodora Corey burning her hat in millinery class—hot-headed?

ASHWORTH READS PLAY
 Dean William Ashworth read Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra" before the Woman's club Friday, February 26. This much discussed play was favorably received by an interested audience. time a feeling of "what good is college going to do us?" And with this attitude prevailing among a number of students there is bound to be a slump, a lack of purpose and ambition. Let's not allow such ideas to get the best of us. The depression is only temporary (so they tell us). But its imprints can very easily last forever. —B.B.

From the Old Bird's Nest

By FRESH EGG

Welcome, musicians! "Tune up the fiddle, boys, grandma's going to get married." Again, in that inimitable egg brogue: Welcome, musicians! "Scientists to Seek Lost Civilization In Arabian Desert."—Headline in local paper. A friend suggests that the scientists don't need to go all the way to the Arabian desert if they want to find a lost civilization. From last week's Roadrunner: "Pomona Graduates Make Good With Children's Games." We wonder how far Joe Gunterman got in his one year there. The victim of the above crack, a friend of F. E., wishes to use this column to answer as follows: "I got wonderfully far, Cooper. That's why I came back to Santa Barbara and am now able to make out so beautifully with you and Clyde Coombs."

Then there was the "A" student who made his way through college by selling seating privileges on each side of him for exams. Note on Frosh Day last week: In an English class of between 30 and 40 members there were seven sophomores wearing blue or blue and white, the Frosh colors, and only one in orange and white, the colors of '34.

The college disarmament meeting in Pasadena last Saturday night was valuable, if for nothing else, for the feeling of moral support that it gave those who attended. Whether or not he gained anything from the speeches, the worker for peace can feel that at least there are thirty-five hundred people in southern California who are interested in and working for the cause. Even if one had to take eight hours to get there, one would find it well worth while to attend such a meeting.

Nothing that the Fresh Egg has ever written in this column has received as much approval from students as last week's paragraphs in favor of the abolition of compulsory assembly. A great many members of the student body have spoken to F. E., agreeing with his views. The writer is sure that if a vote were taken in the college it would be practically unanimous for voluntary convocations. It is rather unwise and somewhat narrow-minded arbitrarily to make a large group of people of college age, of sound mind, attend meetings from which they gain little or nothing and to which they are sincerely opposed.

With the arrival of hot weather a certain young lady on this campus dares certain gentlemen to burst forth in white duck shorts, ankle socks and polo shirts. She is safe in her dare; they won't. With a sigh F. E. remembers the epidemic of light clothing that originated during the hot days of last Spring at Pomona college and spread to Redlands, Cal Tech, Occidental, and to other institutions down South. Such bursts are, sad to say, only temporary; the man, a most foolishly conservative creature, seems doomed by his own apathy to forever sweat under a Summer sun in blanket-like clothes. But if enough men start shedding this year to make it physically safe to do so, the Fresh Egg is going to give one big whoop and dive down into the old trunk for his tennis shorts!

Today's quotation: "All that I am today, I owe to tomorrow."

An old saw, but one of F. E.'s favorites: "There is nothing like a woman to lighten a man's heart and his purse, and nothing like a woman to weigh them down."

"Still desiring, we live without hope"—of ever putting out a column that will satisfy both the writer and his readers. Au revoir, musicians, but we hope, not goodbye. Come back next year and play for us. Tooodleoo.

Thirty (thank God!).

concerned with foreign problems. They have shown an alertness of which any college might be proud. To borrow a hackneyed statement "It's the principle of the thing" rather than the problem itself. Almost every college would do well to follow the example of these institutions in a more frequent expression of campus opinion on national and international affairs. —J.D.

POETICAL RAMBLINGS

A Visitor

Stealing in without a sound
 Or hardly a conscious presence
 She's here and there—in the ground
 And in waters effervescent.
 The winds so madly spent
 Racing through mountain spires
 Once more make us content
 With homely kindled fires.

But we do not rejoice today
 For things that are gone before
 The winds and waters seem to say
 That Spring is at the door. —L.C.

POET'S CORNER

Decision

An hour spent with you,
 Is in a moment past,
 A lifetime spent with you,
 For only a day would last.

So I must make my choice
 Of which I'd rather do—
 Spend year on year with life,
 Or just a day with you. —J.D. '34
