Women's Athletic Association Hears Mrs. Bennett Talk on Olympic Games

FIFTY GUESTS PRESENT

Lamoreaux Discusses Fencing; Two Pupils Exhibit Skill in Art

Mildred Pitt, of Ventura, was the main speaker at the W.A.A. semi-annual formal dinner held last Friday night at the Barbara hotel. Miss Pitt spoke on "International Sports and You."

Mrs. Margaret Bennett also addressed the group, with "Olympia Internationalized" as a topic. She told of her experiences at the Olympic games held last year in Berlin.

50 Guests Present

Approximately 50 guests were present at the banquet. Ross Lamoreaux discussed the fine points of fencing, and presented two pupils of his class, Christine McDonald and Armae Brewster in an exhibition match. Mrs. June Marie Davis closed the program with two readings.

First certificates were presented to Irene Benedict, Ann Forsyth, Kaye Grow, Elizabeth Ramsey; second awards to Rosie Pagliotti, Jean Goss and Ann Forsyth; and third ratings to Lucille Garman, La Rue Steelsmith, Clara Ross and Harriet Cooper. Mary Viles was initiated into the W.A.A.

International sports was the theme of the banquet and arrangements were under the direction of Nancy Clapp.

FLOOD NEWS

Cheering news from the flood front—at 7 a.m. yesterday morning the raging waters of the Ohio River swelled to record breaking heights and since then has been stubbornly retreating. A late news flash last night held no threat of an immediate recurrence of disastrous flooding in and around Cincinnati.

Despite President Roosevelt's quick action with regard to relief of flood victims and the valiant efforts of the Red Cross and other relief agencies, damage in the 10 states affected is appalling. Total property damage has mounted to almost 10 million dollars, with 600,000 persons estimated homeless. The death toll has risen to 132.

NO LABOR SETTLEMENT SEEN

Little hope is held for an early settlement of labor troubles throughout the nation as both labor and business officials remain adamant in refusing to back down from positions taken early in the various struggles. Mediators sustained an outstanding defeat when Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, refused to attend a strike conference called by Secretary Perkins.

THE CITRUS CONCERN

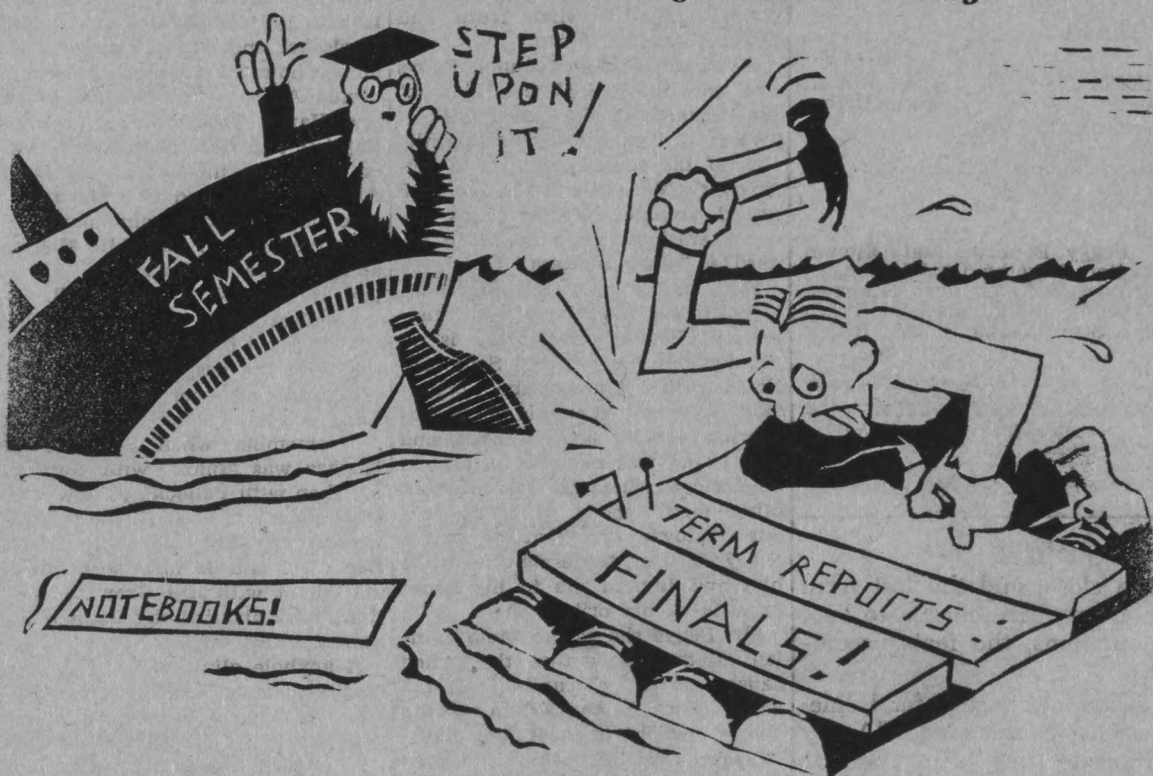

Citrus growers in the California southland are slightly more optimistic this week over orange and lemon crop prospects because of a small rise in the temperature of the region. Loss in the crops, however, will probably amount to around 60 millions of dollars. This column takes no stock in the rumor that Florida ranchers are behind the record cold wave. We do though, take credence in the tales that Everglade State citrus men are erecting a statue to Jack Frost's California representative.

A.W.S. Honors New Students

Pat Ireland in Charge of Tea Tuesday Afternoon Aided by Board Members

Honoring new students, the Associated Women students will hold an informal tea, next Tuesday afternoon, from three o'clock until five in the women's club-room.

Pat Ireland, A.W.S. vice-president and social chairman, will be in charge of all arrangements.

The A.W.S. board members will aid Miss Ireland, as hostess. These students include Ann Seymour, president of the A.W.S., Frances Hoelscher, Renata Maccianti, Norman Bassi, Gretalie Fitzgerald, Miriam Turton, Louise Jackson, Josephine Denman and Nancy Clapp.

Wichman Becomes College 'Y' Head

Dick Wichman was elected president of the College "Y" at a breakfast meeting held last week in Ebbets hall. Other officers chosen were Alistair Anderson, vice-president; Marcellus Jones, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Ellings, social chairman.

The new president urges all members to attend the first meeting after finals, in order that second semester plans may be made as soon as possible.

EVANS TEACHES COURSE

Arthur W. Evans, chief probation officer of the Santa Barbara County Probation department and Juvenile court will instruct a new class in Introduction to Probation Procedure. The course will be a two-unit subject and will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, first hour.

Staff Stars Study as Rag Hibernates

In case a few of the unsuspecting students have gone to the front steps of the auditorium, on the appointed day for the publication of El Gaucho, and found nothing there but the brown box, the staff does have some excuses.

In the first place, the call to arms, or finals, has been in the air for the past week, and even the reporters have to cram. So, one paper last week, one paper this week and one the first Friday in February. Then back into the regular harness. You can't lose the news.

Library Collection Receives Addition of Old Documents

Two historical documents have been added recently to the Lincoln Library collection at State, by William Wyles, founder.

The documents are concerned with the appointment of Dr. Samuel B. Brinkerhoff as surveyor of customs in Santa Barbara, dated April 8, 1861, and the four-year appointment of Brinkerhoff to the same position, dated July 31, 1861.

Both documents are signed by Abraham Lincoln, as President and S. P. Chase, secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Wyles frequently makes additions to the library, which is used during the year by picked groups of students in classes of Dr. William Ellison.

GAMMILL IN PLAY

Howard Gammill, former State college student, will take part in the Lobero play, "Squaring the Circle," to be held this Thursday, Friday and Saturday night at the local theatre.

Dr. Oliver Hart Bronson will be the principal speaker at the event. Dr. Charles Jacobs, dean of upper division, is the faculty advisor of the group.

Initiates who will be taken in the honorary Greek letter society are Evelyn Braman, Gretalie Fitzgerald, Paul Jones, Phil Jones, Mildred Gardner, Ann Seymour, Margaret Wilson and Nina Wilson. Many alumni members and actives of the organization will be present at the affair.

GRADES GIVEN STATERS

Students Are Urged to Follow Registration Rules Tomorrow

With the conclusion of finals tomorrow, students will have a few days in which to recuperate before registering for the Spring semester next Tuesday, February 2.

Out of town student teachers, office helpers and NYA students will be allowed to register tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Department heads are to give special written permission to student teachers and office supervisors will give permission to office helpers. Registration at Eight

Registration for all other regular students will begin Tuesday morning, February 2, at 8 a.m. and will continue to 5 p.m. All students registering after Tuesday must pay a two dollar late registration fine. The deans' offices will consider legitimate excuses for late registration.

Report cards for the fall semester will be given out by Miss Gladys Van Fossen and Miss Elizabeth Sehon in room 80 in Pine hall all day Tuesday. This procedure will relieve congestion in the administration building hallway.

Specials Enter Wednesday

Health examinations and out-of-state blanks are necessary only for new students. Special students, those taking less than six units, may register Wednesday, February 3. Pre-registration cards for special students will be given out by the registrar's office.

Seven Sororities Hold Pan-Hellenic Formal Saturday

Swank was the by-word at the annual Pan-Hellenic semi-formal dance held last Saturday night, from nine o'clock until twelve at La Hacienda on East Carrillo street, in which seven college sororities participated.

Seven senior women, Dorothy Riche, Wilma Kiesner, Dorothy Taylor, Olive De Motte, Betty Wells, Marguerite Kohler and Gretalie Fitzgerald were guests of honor. They were chosen by the Pan-Hellenic council as senior representatives on the basis of citizenship, achievement and service.

Faculty members present included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Porter, Miss Florence Clark and Dr. William Ellison. Fred Lambourne and his orchestra furnished music for the event.

Bettie Walker, Alpha Theta Chi president, acted as general chairman for the evening, and directed the trading of the fourth and eighth dances between women of different sororities.

Approximately 150 students attended the dance. Last year the affair was held at the Mar Monte hotel.

A Future in the Past

As the Fall semester draws to a close, and the last term edition goes to press, we are given an excellent chance to look back over the experiences and tribulations, the feats accomplished and the things left undone.

To those students who have fallen below the fatal line, with reference to scholastic average, must go the adage, "Apply yourself to your work at the appropriate time." The familiar words, "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today," rings in the ears of those, who for the past two weeks have been burning the midnight oil, cramming for final examinations.

To the diligent ones who have completed the semester's work with flying colors go the credit and honor and confidence in self that accompanies a task well done.

Looking back over the field of sports, we find the constant congratulations offered The Gauchos team throughout its entire season still being extended to them, though the grid epics have become a history of the past. For a season of wins, flanked by good-sportsmanship and good-will, The Gauchos deserve the compliments of all.

The accomplishments of the students who have successfully adapted themselves to their college environment is great. To those who have had a taste of extra-curricular activities, found that a little goes a long way, the school offers appreciation, for in this minority rests the leadership of the majority in all channels save the academic.

The faculty who have directed us in the paths of learning, have been a constant help in the absorption of valuable knowledge, and brought to us the realization that the main purpose of college education is this absorption.

In the main part, the majority are able to look back on a semester of progress, and forward to one equally as satisfactory.

A Place to Study

With the thought of finals, term reports and notebooks all too fresh in one's mind, and the hours of laborious research spent in the down town library collecting statistics from dusty volumes and countless magazines, brings the question to one's mind as to why the college library is not open to students in the evenings.

As so many of the students are busy with classes all day and have few free periods, the task of doing reference work has to be delegated to the evenings which means a long journey down town usually for an evening bothered by chattering high school students who use the city library as a gathering place for mutual acquaintances.

As long as the outside reading requirements and other library work assigned by the faculty can easily be found in the State library, it seems too bad that the library could not be open a few evenings a week to accommodate the students in their work.

There would be very little expense connected with the idea. An NYA worker could easily satiate the demands of the students. And the library would not have to be kept open very late; probably from 7:30 to 9:30, two or three nights a week, would be all that would be necessary. If Staters had someplace like the library to go in the evening as they do at almost all colleges and universities, it would solve many homework problems.

The idea has intellectual appeal and if the proper authorities were able to arrange to keep the library open a few evenings, especially during finals, it would help absorb the overflow of students which is constantly being turned away during the day. Not only would the student body appreciate it, but the faculty as well.—I.M.

Emergency Solved

Because the campus of Whittier college is on a rolling hillside, it makes the driveways unusually skiddy, therefore automobiles are not allowed to park on the campus, according to a recent ruling made by the student legislature.

A parking place has been provided off the campus. During the rainy weather, all restrictions were disregarded, and several accidents were narrowly averted. The faculty members agree with the student body regulation, not only as a safety measure but to improve the appearance of the campus.

This description illustrates the manner in which Whittier meets an emergency. The parking situation has been troubling many of our own students. The welfare committee's method is satisfactory, at least, in that it enables students to park conveniently near classrooms. The committee's regulations, if carefully observed, are constructed for the good of the people.

Book Chatter

By ARTHUR H. BATCHELDER
"He is the Navy"
Concerning the latest exposure of the London Times telling of the deplorable condition in the Naval office, I must say that they should have gone directly to Samuel Pepys, for according to King George, "he is the Navy."

It is perfectly permissible in this free land of ours to ferret the truth, but such Ferrets should dig all the way through the dirt and obtain truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

My dear friend Samuel Pepys told me the actual condition of the "Scandal of the Naval Office." "When it comes to criticizing the sins of his contemporaries, to setting forth the vices of the age with naked vividness, Pepys is as uncompromising to money as in regard to other matters."

Speaking of favoritism, Sam said, "Favoritism? Everybody shows favoritism. Profits? Everybody is on the lookout for profits." Sam continued with a comment about bribes, "Mr. Cooling told us his horse was a bribe, and his boots a bribe; and told us he was made of bribes, as an Oxford scholar is set out with other mens' goods when he goes out of town, and that he makes every sort of tradesman to bribe him and invited me to his house to taste of his bribe wine."

Mr. Pepys shares the same opinion as do others that the prime cause of the corruption of the naval office is the origin of the money which finances the navy. It seems that this office is dependent upon the varying whims of the king. At present His Majesty is so deeply in debt that the minimum of money goes for the protection of England from our enemies across the seas.

So, dear London Times, as the people's reporter sees it, the cause of the recent "Scandal of the naval office," lies not with Samuel Pepys, but far deeper.

Thus we see then that Samuel Pepys, through his own persistent efforts, established himself as a recognized authority for the naval office, as well as a man of rare integrity.

If but one or two of my readers are stimulated to read but a few pages of Pepys' Diary, the purpose of these two friendly essays shall have been fulfilled.

2. Gamaliel Bradford: "The Soul of Samuel Pepys," p. 62-63.
3. "Samuel Pepys' Diary," July 30, 1667, Vol. VI, p. 245.

By TED JOHAM

Don't sell the Varsity short, because of the showing against Oxy, for when the boys did get to clicking they went places. I think that more could be gained by the team if Busby were shifted to forward and leave the guarding to Al Young, Jim Benton, Dave Rumbaugh and Tom Lindquist. Monday night the presence of Jim Benton did a world of good in helping the Green and White take a surprising 39 to 16 game from the Tommy and Willie squad. If Oxy made State look bad, at least the locals had a decent score on their side of the score board, but the return of Jim to the Gauchos made the Oilers look like what they are, just ex-champs. Once the Seasiders get behind they aren't worth a bustle in a Paris fashion show. I'd like to see the Frosh tangle with the former high school stars and see just how high a score in basketball can be run up.

Oilers Lose to Big Green

Gauchos Impressive in First Game After Tiger Defeat

Starting their comeback in a determined fashion the State College Gauchos took out all of their hurt feelings on the defenseless Tommy and Willie Oilers Monday night by a 39 to 16 score.

Taking the lead by hanging up three digits on their side of the score board, the Oilers settled down in an attempt to run the Staters ragged. But the Gauchos soon took matters into their own hands and rested safely behind a 15 to 5 lead at the half. In the second half, assistant coach Jones started his reserves, but the rout of the Seasiders had been completed in the first period and the score still rolled up in favor of the Big Green. Bob Johnston led the parade of scorers with 10 points, Jim Benton followed with seven.

The return of Jim Benton to the lineup bolstered the defense that was sadly lacking at Occidental last weekend.

Collegiate Cue Champs

COLLEGIATE BILLIARD CHAMPIONS—The University of Wisconsin's billiard squad captured the fourth annual intercollegiate cue tournament from the strongest field that to date has competed. Purdue finished a close second, with the defending titlists, Michigan State, never a serious factor. The tourney was held under the auspices of the Association of College Unions. The victorious Badger team shown above, are, left to right: Paul West, Captain; Leroy Lillesand, Thomas Connor, Wilburt Draisin, Kenneth Brown and Charles Eckert.

BROADWAY CLOWNS TAKE ON LOCAL OILERS IN CAGE GAME FRIDAY NIGHT

The annual visit of the Broadway Clowns, America's greatest colored basketball team, to Santa Barbara will be climaxed Friday evening, January 29, at 8:00 p.m. when they meet Tommy and Willie's gas men in the Armory gym.

This game promises plenty of trick-shooting, side-splitting comedy, and dazzling comedy as the colored aces pull their Houdini acts in an hour of brilliant entertainment. On the visitors' roster will be "Father" Niles, "Pot" Cannon, Mathews, and Don Goins.

Oxy Tigers Trim Gauchos

Hersh Lyons Leads Bengals to Victory As Gaucho Defense Breaks

Suffering an unexpected reverse in the first attempt at conference foes the Gauchos last Friday and Saturday went down in defeat to the fast moving Bengal quintet from Occidental by the scores of 63 to 36 and 76 to 45 in the Tiger gym.

The underrated Tigers seemingly angry at the position that their defeat by Redlands and Loyola put them in the estimation of their opponents, went to work at the beginning of the first game and kept the same pace until the final gun of the last game. Led by "Hersh" Lyons the Bengals systematically broke up the Santa Barbara defense and began hitting the hoop for point after point. Friday night the Gauchos broke the ice and went into a six to nothing lead before the Tigers could score, but no such thing happened Saturday when Oxy started off in the first 15 seconds of play and were never headed.

STAR HAS PROGRAM

Jessica Dragonette is one of the few stars on radio who can say that she listened to her own radio premiere—perhaps we should say premiere of her program. Last Wednesday night Miss Dragonette was ill, because of that she was not able to appear on her Beauty Box theatre. At any rate, the program is good. It brings musical love stories to the air every Wednesday night at 6:30.

OVER THE FENCE

Germany have been on very brotherly terms, but that was before Germany sent its soldiers into Morocco. Even Mussolini has no illusions about brother Adolf and it pains him that he should attempt to dominate what he terms "the Italian sea." Italy has the Balearic Islands now, and is well satisfied to let things stand as they are.
