BUDGETS ARE A BUMMER — Due to drastic financial cutbacks, the Intramural Department may be forced to place a quota on the number of teams participating in an I.M. sport.

Intramurals head says IM programs face dollar squeeze

By Edward Mackie

UCSB's Intramural program is currently facing a serious financial crisis which foreshadows a cutback in the number of I.M. athletic teams. Spiraling expenses and a reduction in Registration Fee allocations are contributing factors, according to I.M. Director Sandy Geuss. "Intramurals is in bad shape financially," said Geuss. "We are at the point where we may have to limit the number of teams so that it's no longer an open program."

Intramurals, which accommodates more than 6,000 students in 65 different sports, receives about $15,000 in A.S. Fees or 50 cents per undergraduate student, as stipulated in the A.S. Constitution. Approximately $10-11,000 of that sum is returned to students in the form of supervising and refereeing salaries. The other $4-5,000 is used for supplies and basic costs.

"The allocation of 50 cents per student was originally passed by students so we could improve the program," said Geuss; "but instead, most of the money is being absorbed by administrative expenses."

In 1971 Intramurals was earmarked $11,800 in Reg Fees for student salaries but has been cut to $10,900 for 1974. (I.M. currently employes approximately 300 students.) During the same periods, student refereeing salaries jumped 20% (from $2.45 to $2.85). A 47% Reg Fee cutback in equipment and general expenses has left the department with $635 instead of the $1,120 it was funded three years ago.

"This trend, along with the fact that our program is increasing at 11-12% per year, has made the well run dry," lamented Geuss.

Among retrenchment measures, timers and scorers for basketball games have been eliminated. "We just don't have the funds," said Geuss.

ROTC enrollment on the march since draft ends

By Sal Salerno

ROTC enrollment at UCSB has increased 53.8 per cent over last year's rate for male students, representing a reverse trend both in recruitment and in retention of cadets.

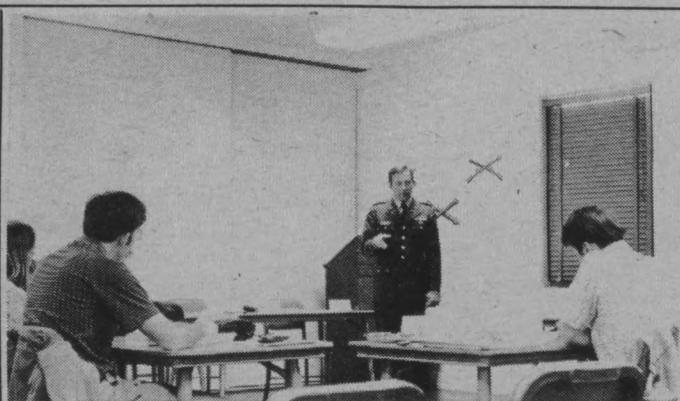

Commenting on factors responsible for the reversal, Professor George Otte, Chairman of UCSB's Military Science department, mentioned the lack of a mandatory draft, the reduced stigma of 'draft dodging' in peace time and a genuine interest among participants in the new academic programs as contributing to the recent popularity.

Otte concluded that "Another reason for the reverse trend is that the ROTC program not only prepares the individual for a military career but also provides him with valuable experience in leadership and management important for future employment with business and industry."

The ROTC program, now allowing females into cadet training, consists of basic and advanced courses that prepare participants for future commissions.

Over the past 26 years the program has commissioned 770 officers, producing an average of 30 officers a year. The program's most exceptional graduate is Cornel Chester L. Ward, assistant physician to the White House, who completed the program in 1954.

Freshmen and sophomores entering the program start with basic training. Beginning with the history and development of the U.S. Army, candidates are instructed in the various roles assigned to the army by the government and their legal and organizational implications as a prerequisite to the advanced courses.

When a student enters the advanced courses, enlistment in the reserves is mandatory. Once the student enlists he receives a monthly $100 subsistence pay while enrolled in school.

After commitment to military service, candidates study the organizational aspects of the military, concentrating on army law. Finally they study the impact and importance of the armed forces on foreign policy.

All courses within the program are for academic credit and open to students not enrolled in ROTC "We do not train platoon leaders—this comes after commission. We give a general military background to cadets," concluded Otte.

Nude bathing law to stand Santa Barbara court test

By James Minow

The Santa Barbara Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union has announced that it will challenge the recently adopted county ordinance against nude sunbathing. The ordinance was passed last December by the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors.

Attorneys for the ACLU will defend two 20 year-old students who were cited on Feb. 15 for indecent exposure while they were walking on an isolated section of More Mesa Beach. The students are David A. Tomasco, a freshman at Santa Barbara City College, and James W. Johnston, a junior at UCSB. Both are Isla Vista residents.

They will be defended by UCLA Law School professor Melville Nimmer and by a volunteer Santa Barbara attorney, Robert Cutting. Cutting will represent the two at their March 4 municipal court arraignment.

Tomasco and Johnston were apparently walking on More Mesa beach when they were approached by a sheriff's deputy who cited them for violation of the new ordinance.

Brad Curry, President of the local ACLU chapter, feels that the ACLU has a good case through which to effect the repeal of the ordinance. "We have been waiting for a good test case with which to attack the obvious unconstitutionality of this repressive, puritanical ordinance in the courts," said Curry. "Now we have one."

The ordinance, which was outlined by Supervisor Charles Catterlin last December, has been the subject of heated debate in Board meetings and on the pages of local newspapers. Although Supervisors Frank Frost and James Slater opposed the ordinance as discriminatory and unnecessary, it passed on a 3-2 vote. Conservative supervisors Francis Beattie and Curtis Tunnel joined Catterlin in affirming safe passage for the controversial measure.

The Board had expected to have a court case levied against the ordinance. Catterlin hopes that the court case will prove the validity and the constitutionality of the ordinance.

IVCC votes to endorse 'Vigil for Truth' effort directed against Nexus

By Mark Forster

After failing to establish a quorum last week, IVCC convened Monday night with seven members and in the main council action voted to endorse the "Vigil for Truth" against the Nexus.

The original request for IVCC endorsement of the protest against the Nexus came from Dave Potell, A.S. Elections Chairman.

Potell claimed that the paper prints "slandorous, libelous articles. They give incomplete coverage and make up stories."

The first request wasn't voted on, due to parliamentary rules, but after a break, Steve Goldman asked the motion to be reconsidered.

Goldman, who had abstained from voting in the first parliamentary ruling on the motion, discussed the situation with Potell and councilman Richard Harris during the break.

'SOMETHING

Harris said, "The motion caught Goldman by surprise and I knew he would vote for it if he knew what it was about."

"I think the endorsement helps to give the protest some sense of credibility," he stated. "There must be something wrong if a public body like IVCC votes to endorse it."

Council chairperson Harley Pinson, who cast an abstaining vote, claimed the endorsement is "a complete abomination of the democratic process."

"What we are doing as a political body judging the press is just what Agnew was doing," Pinson said.

In other council action, IVCC hired Annette Johnson as the new council office assistant. Johnson, a senior psychology major, is the first minority to work in the IVCC office.

Councilmembers Steve Goldman and Walt Briggs, who are under threat of recall, appeared at their first meeting in over three weeks.

Briggs said he didn't know anything about his possible recall, but commented, "If someone is passing around a petition he should come to IVCC and face me."

"I don't think there is any cause for recall and I'm not familiar with the charges," the councilman added.

Councilmember Dean Coleman is expected to resign in the near future and the campus seat to IVCC remains vacant.

Norris speaks out on 'Nexus bias'; believes 'secret politics' are motive

By Murv Glass and Sal Salerno
Members of the United Students Coalition, along with a group of concerned students, continue the Vigil for Truth. The vigil is a sign of protest against what the participants feel to be "distorted and sensational coverage of A.S. politics" by the Nexus. In an attempt to gain insight into the reasons for this vigil, the Nexus interviewed Robert Norris, A.S. Internal President.

Norris: We want to draw attention to the fact that the news on this campus is distorted and biased. We want to inform people of just how difficult it is to get the issue accurately transmitted to the campus and community.

Nexus: Do you feel anything was accomplished by Comm Board's meeting Friday, or has it become just a formality from which nothing ever really results?

Norris: No. I say this because although various members of the Board, Hal Drake and Dave Carlson's other four "pocket" votes, are really starting to exhibit symptoms that Carlson doesn't have to worry about. These symptoms are "pangs of conscience." They are starting to suspect that the only problem with the student newspaper lies in the Editor's office.

Nexus: Do you mean that these people are starting to wake up to the scandal going on?

Norris: Yes.

Nexus: This scandal -- could you explain what it is?

Norris: The scandal is that Dave is attempting to do what his fellow ISL members couldn't do. That is, he is attempting, with the help of Abby Haight, who broke the confidentiality of my record book, to seek information about my grades. Abby was so disappointed that she couldn't find anything academically deficient in the record book, that she lied about what she did see.

Also, the fact that the lone ISL member on Council, Marty Chorich, gets to rummage through Gordon Williamson's desk to find any information that might be construed to be campaign material and then proudly and vainly extolling the feat with a request to be treated as a "confidential source" in a letter to Dave. Further, the quiet efforts of Ed Mackie to assemble another political slate to replace the ISL, which is in shambles.

Nexus: Do you mean that Dave Carlson is using his staff for political reasons?

Norris: Oh sure! One of the main reasons that certain people are working on the Nexus staff this year, whereas others quit or were fired, is that they are more suited to the efforts of Dave's political machine.

Nexus: You use the word "machine." Is that to imply that this whole operation is bigger than it appears on the surface?

Norris: Yes. Few people realize the connection between Dave, Abby, Bert (Nixon) and Ed. Ed brings Dave Claugus with Karl (Wollman) and Marty. Their expectation is to weld the dorms, the athletes, and the recreation department into a single political entity. (Ed) Mackie has vowed to stay on this campus until the Coalition is crushed. I've heard

that he already has over 200 units as an undergraduate and enough units in history to have a B.A.

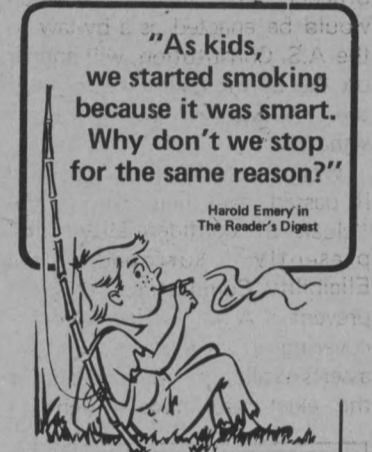

Following a three-hour conversation with the Editor, Dave Carlson, today Norris had the following things to say.

Norris: Carlson has given some indication toward change. Overnight, Dick Buford, Campus Editor, has been reinstated, a dialogue developed this morning, and now I'm waiting for some tangible indications that the sentiments expressed in our lengthy discussion this morning will be turned into actions.

Wollam initiative calls for disclosure of A.S. grades

Petitions to be circulated soon

By James Minow

Former A.S. representative Karl Wollam has authored an initiative that calls for the public disclosure of grade point averages of all elected A.S. officers. The initiative, which would be enacted as a by-law to the A.S. Constitution, will appear on the Spring ballot if it obtains the necessary 500 student signatures.

Wollam feels that this measure, if passed, will help to lift the "cloak of confidentiality" that presently surrounds the Eligibility Committee. "This will prevent A.S. officers from covering up academic inequities," asserts Wollam, "The students, as the electorate, have a right to know their representatives' eligibility standings." A.S. Internal President Robert Norris, however, feels that the disclosure of the units carried and any grade deficiencies that occur would be sufficient public information. "I think that the fact that a student body representative did not meet the minimum 2.0 GPA or 12 unit load requirements is a reasonable request for release of student data," he said.

Commenting on whether or not the initiative violated a student's right to privacy, Norris said that this was more of a voluntary release. "In this instance, in would be a condition of holding public office. It is different than making public grades or GPAs, which is in violation of the University policy on the use and release of student data.

Norris had recently attempted to censure the Nexus after it had printed a grade change which enabled him to meet eligibility requirements.

Executive Vice-President Gordon Williamson, in agreement with Norris, doesn't feel that public disclosure of officers' grades is a necessary move. "Official records should be made public as they represent official duties," commented Williamson.

A.S. candidacy petitions available

Candidacy petitions for any seat on next year's Associated Students government are currently available in the A.S. Office, 3rd floor of the UCen.

The deadline for turning in petitions is just prior to finals, March 15, so it is recommended that candidates fill out their petitions early.

To run for an executive office, you must be an upperclass person (unit standing of 90 units); for an RHA seat you must have lived in the UCSB dorms for at least one quarter; and, all candidates must have 12 units and a minimum GPA of 2.0 this quarter.

"However, just because a student is elected to a public office he does not give up his basic rights as a student, one of which is a right to privacy."

some student response to pass this into the by-laws; but I feel that I will be able to get the cooperation needed to circulate the petitions," he said.

Wollam has said that he is planning to go ahead in a campaign to place the initiative on the ballot. "It's going to take

The Vigil for Truth

Outside our doors, A.S. leaders are conducting a vigil for truth. We congratulate them for such a noble sentiment and we sincerely hope that this vigil for truth continues for the rest of their lives and influences everything they do.

Truth is the substance of which newspapers ought to be made. Unfortunately, determining the truth is a tremendously difficult task, even for those who agree that the truth ought to be pursued.

But the truth will always be under dispute when one or several parties are deliberately trying to obscure the truth.

We all need to dedicate ourselves to a constant vigil for truth — night and day, throughout our lives. Our hearts are with the leaders of the United Students Coalition out there in the blistery cold of the Santa Barbara night. We are on the same quest for truth, and hopefully we can join hands on this rocky and uncomfortable road.

Opting for freedom

To the Editor

Because there may have been some misunderstanding of articles appearing in the Daily Nexus of Thursday, Feb. 14, and Tuesday, Feb. 19, I would like to lay at rest any fear that the "administration" is planning to take any action against the Daily Nexus regarding current flurries in its pages. Indeed, anyone who has knowledge of what has appeared in the Daily Nexus (El Gaucho) in the last decade will recognize that the "administration," in spite of frequent flogging by the student newspaper, has repeatedly opted for freedom of the press.

Rowland clarification

To the Editor:

Because Nexus writer Ed Mackie asked me for a statement concerning the Mark McCamish diving situation I had written a lengthy statement to clarify my position. However, due to limited space in the Nexus Mackie informed me I would have to condense my comments. A key point in paragraph eight needs more elaboration concerning Dr. Albert Negratti's position. Dr. Negratti supported my initial desire to release Paul Gray as diving coach. Dr. Negratti only carried through with the final dismissal of Gray which was in support of my desire to have Gray released.

Nexus needs to be more careful

Commentary

By Dave Carlson

Feelings between the United Students Coalition of A.S. Government and staff members of the Nexus have reached a new pitch recently, and I am sure that a segment of our readers sees the coverage as merely a tiresome feud.

What I and some of my fellow Nexus staff members think is that there are genuine moral issues at stake in student government that transcend the alleged lack of significance it has on student lives. We would assert that we have acted in an effort to let the public know what is going on in student government.

However, the United Students Coalition claims to have isolated a trend of highly unfavorable coverage to parties associated with their particular cause.

My purpose here is not to deny charges of bias, but rather to put them into perspective and to give them the amount of validity they deserve. As a case in point, we shall take the Gordon Williamson-Marty Chorich stories which have appeared in the newspaper the past few days. It is a case where the Coalition has a good argument that we let our feelings about the Coalition color our treatment of the story.

First, to be fair to our position, one must understand the atmosphere under which the Nexus must operate in dealing with A.S. I would assert, and few would disagree, that Nexus reporters face extreme hostility from Coalition members. (On occasion, I should add, our reporters have received full cooperation.)

Unhappily, I sometimes find it hard to react in an indifferent and disinterested fashion as befits the truly professional journalist.

The Williamson case started with Coalition opponent Marty Chorich, the lone Independent Student Leaguer to have survived the GPA eligibility axe, bringing me a "thank you letter" bedecked with photographs of the Kennedys. He also had a bill purporting to be proof that Williamson had used his A.S. budget for such literature, which appeared to be campaign oriented. Chorich, who admits to sneaking this material out of Williamson's office, was delighted at "getting the goods" on Williamson. I confess that I was less than sorry to see such a potential story.

I would defend the prerogative of the newspaper to receive stolen information. The journalistic precedents — Nixon's taxes, Reagan's taxes, the Pakistan and Pentagon papers, the L.A. Free Press narc case — are clear. The fact that the "leak" was discovered by the Coalition is a function of me having stupidly left it lying around the Nexus office. For its subsequent discovery I have apologized to Chorich, who agrees he must ultimately take responsibility for the propriety of xeroxing a receipt clearly in Williamson's private possession. The point is that I pressured the staff to rush the story into print as soon as possible. We didn't need the "leak" to do the story. Sufficient information was easily accessible. Our writer, however, largely in response to my eagerness, produced an incomplete story. Williamson was not given a chance to explain himself. We had talked to him but failed to ask the right questions. A last-minute attempt to correct this did not work out. We were to blame. In addition, the "evidence" we were given represented the amount of money Williamson paid out of his own pocket — $15. Actually this was the overdraft of his office budget. The office budget paid for

Gordon Williamson responds

To the Editor:

Last Friday, former RHA Rep. to A.S., Karl Wollam (ISL) wrote a letter to the Nexus, criticizing my past performance. In the interest of clarifying the distortions of his letter, I have submitted the following.

I am surprised and disappointed by the charges that Mr. Wollam has tried to level against me. He has never approached me to discuss the programs or area that I have been working in. Furthermore, if he had taken the time to review Leg Council records and minutes, he would quickly learn that his criticisms of my past record are completely wrong and unfounded.

Mr. Wollam states that I approached the Independent Students League (ISL) last spring because I wanted to run with their slate in the A.S. elections. His statement is completely false.

Karl next claims that I tried to disenfranchise RHA from the Associated Students. The A.S. constitutional amendment which gives RHA three, instead of two, seats in Leg. Council was firmly supported by thirteen of the fifteen members of Leg. Council last year.

I had a choice to support a proposal that would have eliminated all of the RHA seats on Leg. Council, or accept a compromise which was supported by former RHA rep. Dave Clausus, who is this year's RHA President. As the RHA President last year, I chose the proposal that gave RHA three seats instead of no seats. Additionally, I wrote a letter to the Nexus urging the members of RHA to support only those candidates living in the dormitories.

Mr. Wollam further states that the Coalition is working on some "deal" to further restrict RHA representation on Leg. Council. I know of no Coalition member who is working on such a proposal, and furthermore would oppose any such action.

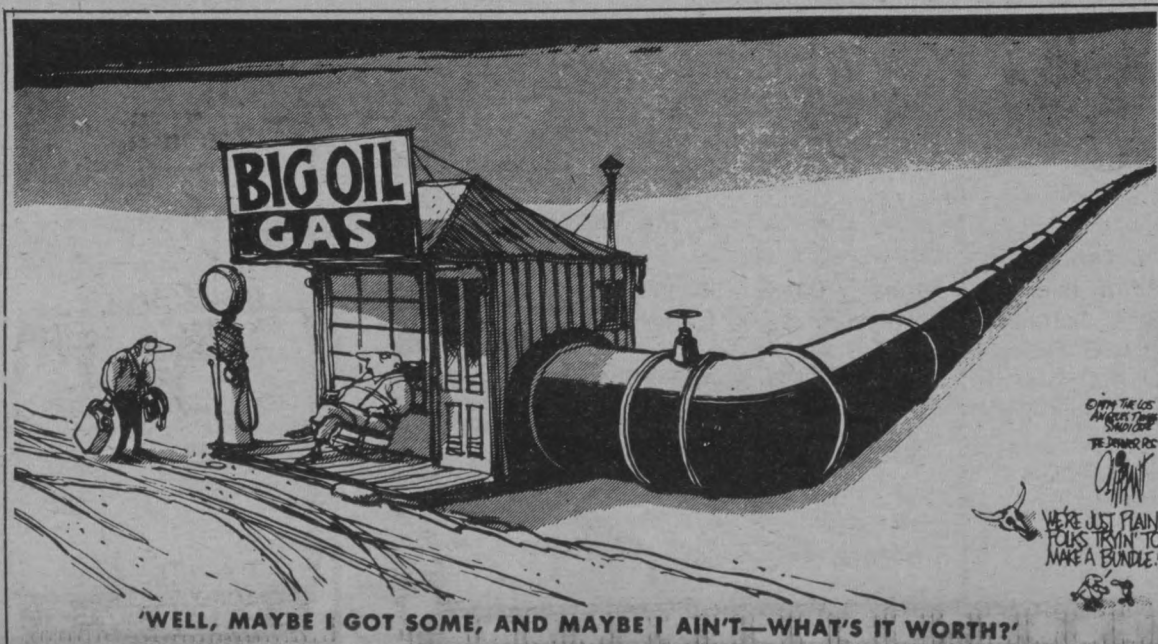

Mr. Wollam seems to be laboring under the misconception that I wish to somehow restrict the participation of dorm residents in student government. As a former RHA President, I find this idea incredible, not to mention politically stupid. During my first term as RHA President, I was the first person to get voting booths placed in the dormitories.

In Monday's Nexus, an article alleged that I might have used A.S. funds to finance campaign literature. This is incorrect. In Dave Carlson's Commentary (appearing in today's Nexus), he explains the errors made in the story and apologizes for them.

The main purpose of this letter has been to respond to the charges made by Mr. Wollam in an honest and factual manner without resorting to any criticism of his record.

I sincerely hope that the campus has seen an end to the petty charges and counter-charges that have been characterized in the Nexus coverage of student government this year.

some $25 of the Kennedy literature, more than we had said. Williamson, with some legitimacy can argue that we unfairly implied that the whole cost of the literature was borne by A.S. taxpayers when actually only part of it was. Also, Williamson feels that Administrative Vice President Kathy Tuttle's stationery was just as appropriate as his "thank you" letters. I am not sure I agree, but Williamson's right to air his views was disregarded.

CARELESS REPORTING

All these are deficiencies in our treatment of the original story, and I remember that when Bob Woodward of Washington Post fame appeared at UCSB, he made a point of urging reporters to check up on news tips and not accept them as fact. We failed to do this, even after Chorich urged us to. This is an example of my eagerness to embarrass Williamson overcoming my professional responsibilities, and this eagerness was a direct result of my resentment of the sometimes hostile treatment I feel the Nexus gets from the Coalition. And yet, if I continue this unprofessional treatment, the hostility may become deserved. What has to happen is this. I have to express my willingness to refrain from differentiating from the personalities in A.S. government, and the Coalition has to help me make sure that its side of the story is always present in any story that affects them directly or indirectly. If I am in any way shutting them out, they must explain to me quietly and reasonably why this is so, and I promise that I will respond or explain in the same quiet, reasonable fashion why I feel my professional duty has been met.

If we can both do this, we can begin to act like a real newspaper dealing with a real government.

Also, I would be interested in a bill of particulars on how the Nexus has been unfair to the Coalition. This is something the Coalition owes us if it wishes to continue charges of unfairness.

Baseball Results...

By Peter Gort

In an old fashion slugfest at campus diamond yesterday afternoon, the Gauchos came from 9-1 deficit to defeat Cal Poly SLO 13-12. Going into the last inning the Gauchos trailed the Mustangs 12-9. That was quickly reduced to 12-10, however, as captain Dave Kuehn powered a homer over the left field fence to start the winning rally for UCSB. Jim Gattis delivered the winning blow for the Gauchos six batters later, driving across Burke

Weismann, who was on base via a walk, with the winning run.

Weismann had been moved around the bases on a pair of two-out singles by Sol LaFlore and John Picone.

Picone's hit had driven in the tying run in the person of Tom Buckley, who had also walked.

Kuehn led the Gaucho's 18-hit attack with a four-for-five performance as the long drives he has been hitting throughout the young season finally began to fall in.

Defensive play was not a high point in this game as the teams combined to make twelve errors; five by Cal Poly and seven by the Gauchos.

On a day in which the hitters dominated, however, Brian Moulton turned in a sterling relief performance pitching two innings of hit-less, scoreless baseball to earn the win.

In the losing effort for the Mustangs, centerfielder Tink Reynoso, a transfer from J.C. baseball powerhouse CSM, had three homers.

Women Cagers earn shot at nationals with 56-28 USC win

By Tasha Zarate

UCSB's women cagers vaulted their way into a slot in the qualifying rounds for the regional championships by soundly trouncing USC 56-28.

The Gauchettes showed excellent ball control and outplayed USC in all phases of the game.

USC has tried on two different pretenses to schedule out of the game earlier, due to the team's first meeting where UCSB won 60-28, but was unsuccessful.

Laura Buell led Santa Barbara scoring 15 points with five rebounds, followed by Sharon Wood with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Jennifer Moreland had eight points and Brenda Sapp tallied seven.

Coach Bobbi Bonace and the team set out at the beginning of the season to develop a well integrated and efficient machine. They have accomplished this through hard work and dedication, consequently they have merited the playoff invitation despite their early losses.

Coach Bonace said, "the team effort has been fantastic since the San Diego game, including the Cal Poly Pomona game."

She further stated, "The season has been good for both and A and B team." The B team played and won their final game of the season Saturday, 45-40 over USC.

Thursday the A team will travel to Cal Poly Pomona to play in the qualifying tournament. They have been seeded seventh out of eighteen. Their first game will be Thursday at 8:15 p.m. followed by two games on Friday, one at 4:15 and the second at 8:15.

If the team qualifies they will go on to play in the regionals in Fresno.

With success at Fresno they will be eligible to compete in the nationals.

GOLF

SAN LUIS OBISPO - UCSB's golf team, under direction of first-year coach Jack Fox, ran its record to 3-0 by defeating Cal Poly (SLO) and Cal State Bakersfield last weekend on the San Luis Obispo Country Club. Final team scores were UCSB 391, CPSLO 395, and CSUB 458.

Doug Patter for UCSB took top honors with a 75.

NEXT WEEK: Fullerton Invitational at Canyon Crest CC in Riverside Feb. 28 through March 2.

TRACK

VAN NUYS - UCSB was walloped in its opener by Cal State Northridge 127 to 26. Times were poor due to 30 mph winds.

Santa Barbara took only one first but did manage a few top marks. Greg Kraft set a school mark in the high jump at 6-10 1/2. Pat Yochum won the three-mile.

VOLLEYBALL

COLUMBUS, OHIO - Coach Rudy Suwara's volleyball squad passed the halfway point in their nine-game tour of the midwest by downing Ohio State 3-0 Sunday.

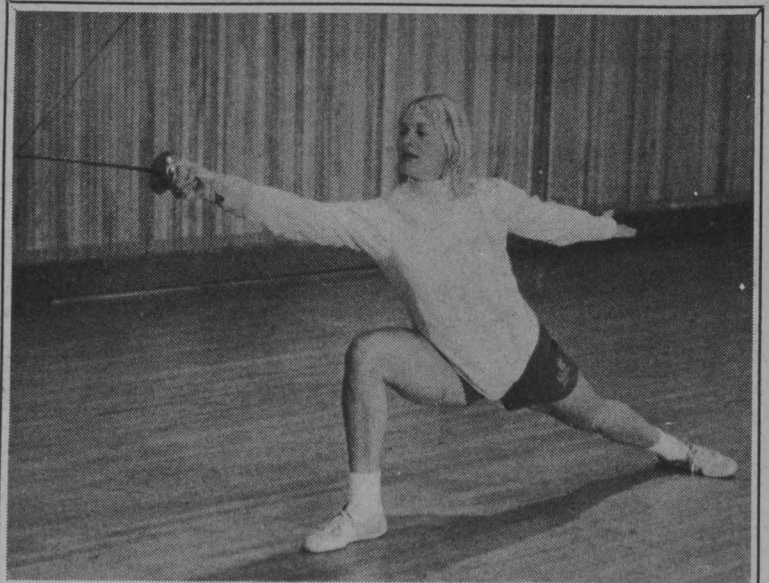

Sunday the Gauchos downed Chicago Volleyball Club and Columbus Caps, 3-0 and 3-0.

Earlier the top-ranked Gauchos toppled George Williams College 3-1 and Montreal Palestral 3-1.

They began the tour by dropping a 3-1 decision to the Michiana All-Stars, an open team from Michigan and Indiana and rebounding the next night to beat the same club 3-2.

Tonight and tomorrow UCSB meets midwest champion Ball State before returning to host the UCSB Collegiate tournament Saturday and Sunday.

By Dan Shiels

Jacobsen foils all opposition

GAY JACOBSEN, premier American women's fencer in the under-20 class, recently defended her title by taking top honors in the national tournament held in Tallahassee, Florida last week. Paying many of her own expenses, Jacobsen had to compete in a lengthy series of competitions which were culminated in the Florida championships. As top women's fencer she will hold the number-one position on the United States team that will go to Argentina for the World Games in April.

Tickets

Tickets for tomorrow's game with Fresno State, the last home game of the 1973-74 basketball season, go on sale today at the ticket office in Rob Gym. Bring reg card; two tickets per person, one ticket per reg card. Tickets for Saturday's finale in LA are available also through the ticket office.

Bud Drinkers, can you figure this out?

Ralph bought a 6-pak of Budweiser and invited four friends over to share it. Since he bought, he expected to have two cans to himself, but unfortunately when he returned to the refrigerator for his second, he found it missing. So he asked who took it. Al said, "Joe drank it." Joe said, "Dan drank it." Dan said, "Joe, that's a lie!" And Bill said, "I didn't drink it." If only one of these statements is true, who really drank it?

ANSWER: If you assume Al is the guilty one, Dan's and Bill's statements are true. If you think it's Joe, then Al's and Dan's statements are true. Obviously if you think Dan did it, then Joe's and Bill's statements are true. Bill is the Budweiser snatcher, since then only Dan's statement would be true. Moral: If Ralph had bought five 6-paks, they could have spent more time drinking and less time arguing.

TICKETS

Tonight A.S. Concerts will present Poco and Leo Kottke in concert at Rob Gym. The show will begin at 9 p.m.

With talk going out over whether or not Poco will make it without Richie Furay, many have lost sight of the fine supporting act scheduled. Leo Kottke is one of the best twelve-string guitar players around today. Of his recently released album, "Ice Water," Kottke should present a show of ample interest to all. There are still tickets available at the usual outlets, including the UCen booth.
