

Japanese Arts, Crafts Topic Of Kincaid; Examples Shown

by Arline Barron

Today's All-College lecture will be given by Dr. William F. Aggeler, associate professor of French, who will discuss the structure and his own translation of the French poetic work, Fleurs de Mal (Flowers of Evil). The lecture will be held in Bldg. 431, room 102, at 4 p.m.

Japanese Art

Edward A. Kincaid, assistant professor of Industrial Arts, spoke last Wednesday on the Artist-Craftsman of Japan. His lecture described the various phases of the fine arts and industrial arts of Japan. An exhibit of beautiful examples of the Japanese arts was displayed beside the speaker.

Kincaid outlined the history, design and decoration of porcelains, block prints, textiles and lacquer ware. He pointed out that practically all Japanese art has been influenced by an alien civilization—either Chinese, Korean or European.

Delicacy and Detail

The craftsman of Japan is unusually patient and displays great devotion to his art. The artwork is characterized by simplicity, gracefulness, delicacy and minute detail that can only be detected by close examination.

Porcelain is divided into two fields representing the taste of either the devotees of the tea ceremony or of the feudal lords. That of the feudal lords was more richly decorated than the former. At first porcelain was decorated with simple designs influenced by China and Korea, while later floral and bird designs were mainly used. Japan is famous for its eggshell porcelain which is so thin that an object is visible through it.

Block printing began as early as the Eleventh Century with the depiction of Buddhist figures. These prints were used for religious ceremonies; later, scenes from daily life were used. Kincaid asserted that these prints showed the joy of living and were "marvels of line and color." Polychrome prints were used beginning in 1754.

Lacquer ware, although used for centuries in both China and Japan, has never been recognized by the Western world for its tremendous potentialities. It was developed into a high art in Japan. Some pieces have as many as 200 coats of lacquer and are frequently set with semi-precious stones.

Embroidered Wrappings

Weaving was developed into a glorious art. Often pieces contain gold and silver thread interwoven. Fukasas, or squares of highly embroidered cloth, are used as coverings for gifts and are returned to the giver as a form of acknowledgement. These fukasas are beautifully embroidered, sometimes as high as an inch.

Although today Japan is not producing work comparable to past efforts, a careful study is being conducted of materials to bring out the best. Japan is improving in an effort to again regain foreign markets.

DISCUSSION GROUPS GIVE ADJUSTMENT, STUDY SUGGESTIONS

Informal "How to Study" seminars for freshman students were held Monday and yesterday and will be held today and tomorrow from 3 to 4 p.m. in Bldg. 431, room 104. Freshman students have been especially invited to attend these seminars, although they are open to all students.

If this first series proves valuable, similar seminars will be planned, announced Dean Helen E. Keener. Learning how to study the hard way—that is, through bitter experience—is recognized by the personnel deans, Dr. Keener and Dr. Lyle G. Reynolds, as a necessary and inevitable method. However, they believe there are certain practices that are appropriate for new college students to use in becoming orientated to college course work habits.

Music 5A Hints

On Monday Dean Keener discussed with the group the problems connected with the budgeting of time, forming of attitudes and the control of emotions in her topic, "How to Live and to Study." Yesterday Dr. Russel Buchanan, Dr. Henry Adams and Dr. Wilbur Jacobs discussed methods on "How to Study Social Science."

Today Dr. Chesley Mathews and Dr. Robert Robinson will speak on "How to Study Freshman English." The concluding discussion of the series will take place tomorrow with Dr. John Gillespie speaking on "How to Study Music 5A."

'RIDERS TO THE SEA' PRESENTED IN PLAY, OPERA FORM

by Jack Nakano

Last week's presentation of the play and opera, "Riders to the Sea," was a difficult task. Nevertheless, taking into account all the disturbing aspects, everyone concerned managed to fare rather well. Indeed, it was an experience to view the first dramatic production ever to grace the Goleta campus.

J. M. Synge's play is a grave tragedy concerning a mother's loss of her last son. This is where the first difficulty arises: the task of conveying a tragedy successfully. It was no doubt the audience's opinion that the opera managed this more effectively. Perhaps R. Vaughan Williams' score was an important influence in this regard.

Contrasting Approaches

The two pieces, despite their similarity, should not be compared. Fortunately, the approaches to the individual selections by the respective directors were quite in contrast. Dr. Edwin Schoell's play was amazingly underplayed, and as a result the action seemed a little restrained. On the other hand, the actors with singing voices in the opera were left to their own individual interpretations by Carl Zytowski.

Ruth Farstrup in the difficult role of Maurya, the mother, maintained her Irish brogue excellently but lost her characterization of an old woman several times. In this regard Nancie Brown and Brian Hansen were able to stay in their respective roles constantly. Patricia Carraher was less successful but portrayed herself well when she was in character.

Stage Effects

Scenery for the play, sound effects and lighting by David Hand were dramatic and heightened the qualities of the scenes. Costumes and makeup were particularly interesting and realistic.

Tragedy in itself is most difficult to stage and portray; the complications increase when the medium of the center stage is used. This presented another difficulty to the audience as well as to the performers. The action in the Little Theatre was so close that, at times, it was rather disconcerting for the audience, and viewers were completely overcome by self-consciousness.

At the same time the actors were inevitably distracted, and they must be complimented on maintaining audience attention despite this. Perhaps if a wider margin were used between the stage area and the first row of seats, the disturbing tension could be eased.

Considering the problems involved, the productions were successfully produced and well worth the admission.

DECISIVE MOMENT in the play production, "Riders to the Sea," is captured in this photograph of thespians Brian Hansen, Ruth Farstrup and Nancie Brown. The play marked the first in a series of four presentations scheduled by the Speech Department.

AMBITIONALLY PLANNING Saturday night's semiformal, "November Nocturne," is Dick Good, sophomore president, with his assistants, Suzy Green and Barbara Ottaway. The dance will be held at the Biltmore Hotel starting at 9 p.m., and bids will sell for $2 at the door.

'NOVEMBER NOCTURNE' IS SATURDAY

"November Nocturne," an all-college semi-formal sponsored by the freshman and sophomore classes, is to be held this Saturday night, Nov. 13, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., at the Biltmore Hotel. Danceable rhythms are being furnished by I. Newton Perry.

"Taking the place of SBC's annual Christmas formal, the Saturday evening event will be our one big dance of the year," stated Chairman Dick Goode, adding, "we want to see you all there."

Tickets at Door

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $2 per couple. Attire for the evening will be semi-formal: suits for the men and date dresses for the women.

Other than Dick, members on the dance committee include John Lewis, Suzy Green, Tiff Shedd, Bill Robinson, Barbara Ottaway, Don Petterson, Suzie Hardy, Phyllis Parent and Bill Blyth.

Lockout hours for the evening have been extended to 2:30 a.m.

Fashion Show Tryouts Open to All SB Coeds

Tryouts for models for the Associated Women Students Fashion Show will be held on Thursday, Nov. 11, from 11 a.m. to noon, and on Friday from 12 to 1 p.m., announced Ann Wadsworth, chairman of the event.

The tryouts will be held in Bldg. 431, room 102. The Fashion Show is to be presented Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 11 a.m. in the Little Theatre. Miss Barbara Shop of Santa Barbara is providing the clothes, which will include sports outfits, dressy taffetas and formals. All girls interested are urged by Ann to try out.

Freshman Jam Session

The AWS Board also has invited a group of new freshman women students to a "jam session" on Nov. 16 and 18, to be held in the Wyles Seminar Room of the Library from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Lose Something? Call Campus Police Dept.

"Finders keepers, losers weepers!" This old saying hardly holds true on the Santa Barbara campus, yet how many Gauchos know about the lost-and-found service maintained by the Police Department on campus?

Do you know that all you have to do when you find any lost article is to telephone Capt. Floyd A. Bernard, and he will send one of his officers to pick it up? This system simplifies the returning of lost articles as well as insuring a prompt return to the rightful owner.

"If your notebooks, lecture notes, textbooks and other belongings are marked with your name, we will make every effort to contact you via the mail or by phone as soon as a misplaced article is turned in," said Capt. Bernard. "Right now," he continued, "we have innumerable notebooks, textbooks, jewelry, sweaters and jackets waiting to be claimed. There is no charge or fine for getting back things which you have lost, but you must be able to identify the article accurately."

The lost-and-found is located in Bldg. 427, room 202, and the campus extension number is 2218.

Mardi Gras Next Wk.

Kappa Sigma fraternity will sponsor its annual Mardi Gras Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Samarkand Hotel from 8 to 12 p.m. The attire for this event will be costumes varying in theme from Parisian to Indian.

Kappa Sig President Ray Muhlethaler invites all students to attend.

CAMPUS POLICE CAUTION STUDENTS ON SPEEDING, ILLEGAL PARKING, CURVES

Capt. Floyd A. Bernard of the University Police Force has issued five points that must be heeded by drivers on campus. Tickets will be given to violators of these orders.

Committee Acts on Students' Conduct

Functions and aims of the Standards Committee were outlined last week by Colombe Leinau, chairman. The committee acts in an advisory capacity to the Faculty-Administration Committee on Student Conduct regarding student views on behavior, penalties and procedures. It is also developing a program for creating among students attitudes and opinions favorable to good conduct.

The Standards Committee is composed of a chairman appointed by the Legislative Council, the vice president of the Associated Students and three members appointed by the chairman. Miss Ellen E. Bowers, Counselor in the Dean of Women's Office, and Lyle G. Reynolds, Dean of Men, advise the group.

Cheating Problem

Last year the problem of cheating was brought to the committee's attention, and it advised that large lower-division classes be proctored. This year proctors will be used only until an honor system is created.

The meetings of the Standards Committee are held every other Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Student Union.

2. Motorcycles and cars must not drive on walks designated for pedestrians.

3. All students are urged to park in the central lot behind the Library.

4. Drivers are prohibited from crossing the double lines on road curves leading to and winding through the campus.

AWS To Dress Dolls For Christmas Cheer

Associated Women Students, in cooperation with the Council of Christmas Cheer of Santa Barbara, is sponsoring the Annual Doll-Dressing Contest, beginning Nov. 15.

The dolls will be distributed among the large living groups of the college, and anyone not receiving a doll to dress may obtain one in the Conference Room of the Student Union on Nov. 15.

Blue ribbons will be given as prizes and the dolls will be judged on beauty, workmanship and uniqueness. The dolls then will be given to needy children for Christmas presents. The cooperation of all women students is urged in this project of Christmas cheer by Gwen Lanning, chairman of the event.

Courtesy Is In Order . . .

Standing in lines, at best, is not a relished pastime. But from the evidence of instances occurring on campus daily since registration week the institution seems here to stay, along with innumerable delays in a student's schedule.

Irritating as the system is, it has been aggravated further by that mental void which too often exists where consideration should. Not a difficult lesson to learn, courtesy to others is evidently rated a mark of the naive, a sort of superfluous quality to be set aside as one becomes involved in the consuming intricacies of more sophisticated considerations.

Oft-repeated maxims of the "do unto others" category smack, perhaps, of the over-obvious, so for the benefit of the buttinsky blase a two-point analysis is in order.

One: Theoretically, it certainly is not according to the interests of the increasingly agitated majority for one to save a place in line for one's numerous straggling acquaintances.

Two: Practically, it is a simple act of rudeness on the part of those unintentionally malevolent persons who make room for their parade of buddies as the rest of the line is forced progressively backwards.

Tempted we are to become dogmatic and denounce disrespect for the rights of others as inexcusable on these or any other grounds.

Edict Repealed . . .

At the October 26 meeting of Inter-Fraternity Council a recent order to prohibit joint fraternity-sponsored social functions with women's residence halls was rescinded.

Its future attitude alone, hospitable or passively hostile, will determine the motives of IFC in regard to this issue.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 It has long been remarked that UCSBC has been lacking in School Spirit. This I believe has been incorrectly stated and has been proven so, especially in the past two weekends. Homecoming was a huge success as always. The parade was beautiful and the game crowd tremendous.
 It should be noted that 50 per cent of the student body traveled over 350 miles to Berkeley for All-U Weekend. UCLA didn't come close to that figure, and Cal fell behind also, although the game was played on that campus. Those who attended the extravaganza at Berkeley conducted themselves very well, and UCSBC can be proud of this fact. Santa Barbara's Band really deserves a lot of credit for its outstanding work throughout the year.
 WHO SAYS WE DON'T HAVE SCHOOL SPIRIT?
 Tom Fitzpatrick

From the President's Desk

Orchids to the student body for its fine spirit and support during the All-University weekend. This year saw one of the finest turn-outs in a long time for the event.
 It was too bad that the Santa Barbara rooting section was so close to the end zone, but this is a problem that we have faced since the All-U weekend was inaugurated. Despite this, however, the Santa Barbara rooters gave their all to our team in their 32-0 rout of the Cal Aggies. I hope this spirit will continue for our final two home games with Redlands and San Diego State.
 Redlands is this coming weekend and the San Diego game is the following Saturday afternoon. With the spirit shown at the All-University weekend these games are sure to be successful.
 George Allen,
 President, AS UCSBC

CAL NEWS

DAVIS, Nov. 1 — "Old Bob Sproul was a Merry Old Soul" was the theme of the Aggie musical skit which won the trophy at the All-Cal Rally. The skit had character sketches of "typical" students at each of the California campuses.

BERKELEY, Nov. 1—Halfback Sammy Williams, who scored Cal's sole touchdown against the Bruins, expressed Bear sentiments exactly when he said, "The only thing I can say is that they have a good team—a damn good team."

UCLA, Nov. 2—The eighth annual Men's Week will run from Nov. 15-20 to celebrate the "superiority of campus men." Events include a Belle of UCLA contest and the Frosh-Soph Brawl.

CLASS NOTES

There will be a meeting today at 6:45 p.m. in the Huddle of the Student Union for those interested in serving on the FRESHMAN Class Council. Committees to be organized are Frosh Indoctrination, Traditions, Publicity and Standards. A frosh basketball team will be discussed. Any freshmen interested in playing on the team should plan to attend this meeting.

To all those who worked on the frosh float, John Lewis, class president, says: "A great deal of thanks goes to those freshmen who participated in making the Queen's float a success. We hope that your interest will continue throughout the year."

Dick Goode's only news of note this week for SOPHOMORES is the getting under way of a newly formed Sophomore Council which will plan the many activities that help to enliven the school year. First among these activities is the "November Nocturne," scheduled for Saturday night at the Biltmore Hotel. The dance, to which the entire college is invited, will be semi-formal.

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER Luckies—and by a wide margin—according to the largest and latest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. The pleasure you'll get from Luckies' better taste is vividly depicted in the Doodle above, titled: Modern artist enjoying Lucky while glancing in mirror. See the ecstatic smile? # SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

by Bob Weithorn

The final standings in the Men's Intramural Football Tournament show the Beach Rats have emerged the winners and undefeated. They've a 9-0 record.

Second place and the fraternity division winner will be decided today. Sig Ep and SAE are both tied for the runner up slot and each had a game scheduled for early this week. The outcome of these Monday and Tuesday frays, after press time for us, will either determine the winner or throw it into a tie. In the latter case there will be a play off this afternoon at 4.

Bounding Main

For those yearning for the wind and salt water spray we've a bit of heartening news. A sailing team is once again being organized. The team has been invited to enter competition against Cal, UCLA, Cal Tech, Pomona and others. Anyone interested in trying out for the team is requested to contact Dr. Dearborn in the Men's P. E. Building, 420.

Hoop-de-doo Already

There has been a slight postponement. Next Tuesday, the 16 has been set as the definite starting date for the Men's Intramural Basketball Tourney. Also, in the line of rescheduling, games will be played in the gym evenings rather than outdoors afternoons as originally planned. The gym may be reserved for evening practice by contacting Dr. Kaywood, Men's P. E.

About 16 teams are slated to compete thus far and more are encouraged to enter. Teams will have a 10 man limit with na minimum beyond those required to play. All interested who have not yet done so are requested to contact Dr. Kaywood as early as possible to facilitate the construction of the ladder. This is to be a double elimination tournament.

Weaker Sex?

Wanna bet? Competition has been going hot and heavy in the women's volleyball tournament. The sororities and dorms have been tangling with each other of late and from all appearances the food dean't be too hand on campus really. Cypress and Madrona defeated Alpha Phi and A. D. Pi respectively and Birch downed DSE. Chi O stopped things before they got out of hand by beating Yucca.

REDLANDS NEXT AS SBC SEES 3 IN ROW

Santa Barbara's battling Gauchos, elated over their hard-fought 13-12 upset of the previously undefeated Pepperdine Waves are hard at work in preparation for Friday night's encounter with Redlands University at La Playa Stadium.

The Redlands squad is led by the passing of brilliant quarterback Vince McCullough, whose favorite target seems to be end Ev Trader. A constant threat to Redlands opponents is halfback Marion Sanchez whose break-away running feats will have to be closely watched by the Gauchos.

Santa Barbara's victory over Pepperdine gave the Gauchos a 2-2 league mark and temporary possession of undisputed third place in the CCAA standings. It looks as though the contest with San Diego State will decide the permanent holder of the third slot.

By way of comparison of scores, the Redlands outfit figures to give the improved Gauchos some trouble. Redlands defeated Occidental 21-13, while the Gauchos dropped a tight 2-0 heartbreaker to the Tigers. How little these comparative scores really signify however, can be determined with the fact that Pepperdine, whom the Gauchos defeated, beat Redlands.

The starting lineup for Santa Barbara will probably read something like this: Walski, Gaebel, Pauloa, and Morris in the backfield, and Ashbrook, Hooper, Ashby, Moropoulos, Noonan, Young, and Powers in the forward wall.

Acacia tripped Laurel and a real tight thriller saw Lucky slip past Pine in an extra-point affair.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THERE?

A new gasoline, maybe. A better motor oil, or an improved grease.

It's Union Oil's department of calculated discontent where we tear apart the very best we and our competitors have been able to do.

Our premium gasoline—Union 7600—is a good example.

We adapted this super-fuel from high octane aviation gasoline and introduced it in the West shortly after the end of World War II.

The product was so successful that it's only in the last two years that we have been able to make enough 7600 to satisfy demand.

Yet all the time 7600 was in short supply we constantly improved it. This called for countless advances through the years.

Why—when our customers wanted more than we could make as it was? Why—when we had to plow back hard-earned money into the improvements?

Why? Simply because we wanted the finest possible product to keep our present customers satisfied—and help us win new ones.

This illustrates again the basic difference between America's free economy and any other. By furnishing the opportunity for a reasonable profit, the American system creates intense competition for your favor.

As a result, you enjoy constantly improving products...and the highest standard of living yet achieved by man.

SBC PROGRAMS ARE ON THE AIR

A radio series entitled "The University and the People" has recently been started on station KDB. Each of these programs, heard Thursday evenings at 7:30, deals with a different department of SBC. Informal discussions are held, during which faculty members describe the aims of their various departments as well as the services they perform within the community. This program may be heard in the Library's listening rooms on the second floor.

Second in a series, "The Best of Broadway" will feature the play "Panama Hattie" this evening at 7 on television. All students may view the program in room 251 of the Library.

Reading Skills Part Of Extension Course

"Reading Skills and Related Study Habits" is the title of a University Extension course to be offered every Tuesday evening from 7 to 9, beginning Nov. 30 and ending the week before final exams. The course has been planned especially in the interests of students who receive cinch notices and will be conducted in Bldg. 431, room 101.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Glen Durlinger, associate professor of education.

The swan is moulting.

BAC Meeting Open

All interested persons are encouraged by Don Petterson, president of the Board of Athletic Control, to attend the board meeting tomorrow at 11 a.m. in the conference room adjoining the Associated Students office, behind the Student Union. Possible withdrawal from the CCAA and league alternatives will be included in the order of business.

WORLD-WIDE DATELINE

by Dick Hendrickson

Due to lack of space in the last couple of El G's, Dateline's election prognostications didn't manage to get printed, which places the writer in the pleasant position of not having to explain away his faulty conclusions. So, without further preliminaries, we shall try to explain what happened, a task that is difficult enough in itself.

In a nutshell, the Democrats have clinched control of the House with a 17-seat majority and appear to have gained control of the Senate by coming out on top in the fantastically close Oregon race, of which more later. Their greatest gains, however, were made on a statewide level where they captured the lion's share of the governorships that were up on the block.

Democratic claims of a sweeping victory must, however, be taken with a liberal dose of salt. In the first place, it must be kept in mind that their gains were considerably below average for an off-year election. Secondly, Democratic candidates did not do nearly as well, in many races, as they were expected to do on the basis of pre-election indications. Whether or not the election is a fore-runner of things to come, as many Democrats are declaring, also is open to considerable question. Wise observers aren't forgetting the lessons of the '48 campaign, when places were reversed, in which the Truman administration based its campaign almost entirely on the non-cooperation of the Republican Congress.

A similar situation may very easily develop in '56, and there are few who would not agree that Eisenhower's personal popularity is greater than Truman's. Furthermore, there is little reason to suppose that the relations between the White House and capitol hill will be any less stormy in the next two years than they were during the Truman regime. So if the Democrats are going to wrest control of the nation away from the GOP in the next presidential election, they have their work cut out for them.

One of the significant facts to come out of this most recent struggle for votes is the comparative failure of the extreme right-wing element in the Republican party. Only three congressional candidates openly supported McCarthy in their campaigns, and all three turned in unimpressive performances at the polls. New Jersey's Clifford Case, on the other hand, who was the only Republican specifically opposed by the McCarthy faction, was victorious in his race for the Senate, while the McCarthy write-in candidate, Hartley, polled a miserable 1500 votes; and many liberal "Eisenhower" Republicans put on a much better show than they were expected to.

It appears that the uncompromising stand of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson in refusing to back down on his flexible farm price support program didn't cost the GOP nearly as many votes in the Midwestern farm belt as many people thought it would. Kansas turned out its only Democratic representative, thus putting the state a hundred per cent in the Republican column again; veteran Democratic Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa was defeated for re-election, and the general indication was that a great many farmers were in sympathy with the administration's agriculture program.

It may not be too much to say that never in our history has an election been featured by so many close races. The final count in the Senate will probably not be confirmed for several days, perhaps weeks, as the votes are re-tallied in races like the one in Oregon, where incumbent Republican Guy Cordon appears to have been edged by Democrat Richard Neuberger by a margin so close that, if 2000 Oregonians had changed their minds, the Republicans would have held control of the Senate. The Case-Howell contest in New Jersey was decided in favor of the Republican by a majority that was hardly greater, and Harriman captured the governorship of New York by an infinitesimal fraction of a percent. In reality, a few thousand votes one way or another in a few crucial contests could easily have returned the Republicans to power in the Congress, so claims of a smashing victory for the Democrats can hardly be swallowed whole.

Nevertheless, it is apparent that many people are dissatisfied with the last two years of GOP rule, and that they are particularly unhappy with state administrations and with the Congress, so the Republicans are well advised to put their house in order before 1956.

It is evident that party politics didn't play as big a part in this election as is usual. Time after time voters crossed party lines to cast their ballots for the candidate they thought best, and many contests took the form exemplified in New York where the Democrat, Harriman, was victorious over Ives in the battle between two liberal and well-proven legislators for the governorship, but the Republicans carried the day in most other state offices.

This is, perhaps, the only clear-cut and significant trend which can be observed, and is a heartening indication that people may be doing more thinking for themselves.

Random Observations—California showed itself to be the most consistently Republican of all the highly populated "power" states, which gives local GOP representatives a powerful argument in the 1956 nominating convention; if Ike doesn't run, California will have a lot to say about his successor on the ticket. . . . Along the same line, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight increased his influence in the party tremendously by running far ahead of the ticket. Of the several GOP factions that have been struggling for control of the party in California, the Knight forces now look like a shoo-in. . . . A forceful and negative reaction to Trumanism was delivered by South Carolina voters who made J. Strom Thurmond ('48 Dixiecrat presidential candidate) the first Senator ever elected by a write-in vote. Focal point of the voters' displeasure was a reported interview (later denied) with former Truman military aide Harry Vaughan (of deep-freeze fame) which was supposed to be in support of regular party candidate Brown, but contained several explosive statements aimed at the "Dixiecrat" Democrats. The last has not yet been heard from the South. . . . It's hard to estimate just how much effort the last-minute Eisenhower support for the Republicans had in the final outcome, but the fact that it was a closer race than most pundits had figured lends credence to the theory that less of the right-wing "smear" tactics and more support by Ike might have turned the tide. . . . Despite administration assurances of cooperation with Congress, the prospects are slight that sweetness and light will prevail. One Democratic committeeman has already commented, rather arrantly, that "we expect the President to cooperate with us," and other voices have been raised against the administration's farm and tax programs, among other things. It is unlikely that Eisenhower and Company are going to take these measures without a fight. . . . At all events, this has been one of the most interesting and unique elections in the nation's history, and some time will have to elapse before its effects can be accurately assayed.

GAUCHO HARRIERS DOWN L. A. STATE, WESTMONT

With Gordon McClenathen showing the way, the Santa Barbara College cross-country team easily defeated Los Angeles State and Westmont in a three-way meet last Saturday on the Santa Barbara campus. The Blue and Gold Harriers finished with a low score of 27 against 47 for L. A. State and 52 for Westmont.

The story of the meet was the third record-breaking performance by Gauchos Gordon McClenathen in three weeks. With the sterling time of 21:03, he broke the course record which he had set earlier. Gordon finished nearly two minutes ahead of the runnerup, Ralph Riddle, of L. A. State who finished in 23:01.

Virtual Sweep

Jerry Downing and Louis Kummerow made it virtually a sweep for Santa Barbara by placing third and fourth in 23:17 and 24:13 respectively. Obermire of Westmont College completed the top five, finishing fifth in 25:05.

The other three Blue and Gold runners entered, Dick Richards, Stan Majfeld and Dick Goodde finished ninth, tenth and eleventh respectively. Their times were 26:00, 27:09, and 27:52.

The meet was figured on both a three way and dual basis. Scoring it as a dual meet, SBC won with a low of 23 to L. A. State's 34. The Diablos had only four men entered and were given penalties of 17 points in the three way scoring and 11 points for the dual meet.

The meet results gave only slight indications of how the Gauchos will fare in next week's CCAA cross country meet at Los Angeles since L. A. State didn't have their full squad entered. San Diego State is reputed to have the strongest team in the conference. According to Coach Ernest Michael of SBC, the Gauchos would have a better chance if the meet were being held later since many of the Blue and Gold harriers have yet to reach their peak. McClenathen, however, has an excellent chance of winning the meet, although he will face strong competition. Len Thornton, Fresno State's CCAA cross-country champion of last year will be running, but McClenathen defeated Thornton earlier this year.

Times Given:
 The order and times of the runners were as follows: McClenathen, SBC, 21:03; Riddle, L. A. State, 23:01; Downing, SBC, 23:17; Kummerow, SBC, 24:13; Obermire, Westmont, 25:05; Tardy, Westmont, 25:06; Joseph, L. A. State, 25:41; Rice, L. A. State, 25:45; Richards, SBC, 26:00; Mojfeld, SBC, 27:09; Goode, SBC, 27:52; Spencer, Westmont, 28:32; Goffman, L. A. State, 28:39; Johnson, Westmont, 31:12; Booher, Westmont, 35:49.

GAUCHOS UPSET WAVES

First Loss For Peps As Alert SBC Rolls

The Santa Barbara Gauchos clipped the highly-rated Pepperdine Waves from the nation's unbeaten list as the determined visitors came up from behind to nip the Waves 13-12 in the second half in El Camino Jr. College Stadium last Saturday evening. It was Pepperdine's Homecoming game.

While the Waves capitalized on several Gauchos bad breaks to lead 12-0 at the end of the first half, the Gauchos came out into the second half alerted to upset the Waves as they recovered six Pep fumbles which set up the Gauchos scores.

After recovering a Gauchos fumble on the Santa Barbara 27, Wave QB Marv Sampson completed a pass to his halfback in the end zone but a 15 yard penalty nullified the score. A field goal attempt fell wide and the Gauchos took possession of the ball.

Gauchos half Sut Puailoa chopped his way for 92 yards into the end zone early in the second quarter, but his touchdown was called back on a backfield in motion penalty.

As the half neared its last four minutes, the Gauchos' fullback Roy Gaebel went into position to punt from his own 29, but the center pass went over his head and by the time he recovered the ball he was on his one yard line. Pepperdine fullback Pat Bandy had no trouble going over center for six, but Fred Hoover's conversion missed the uprights and the extra point.

As the Gauchos began an aerial attack, the alert Wave defense intercepted a Gauchos pass and ran it to the Santa Barbara 40, from where the Waves rolled to the four in three easy plays. Though the half contained but eight seconds, Wave half Frank Williams skated his right end for another TD but Hoover's conversion attempt once more went wide.

The third quarter rolled in and the breaks for the Gauchos came with it. Sampson fumbled on his own 24 and Ken Trout, Gauchos end, recovered. While the Gauchos failed to gain sufficiently on their own, a 15 yard penalty put them on the Wave four. From there halfback Bucky Baird skipped over for the first Gauchos tally on second down, while Russ Young's conversion added the point which would make the final difference.

Two minutes had hardly been played when the on-rushing California line upset a Wave kickoff attempt, the ball bouncing into the air and Santa Barbara's Buddy Ashbrook snagging and running it 62 yards from his own 32 to the Pepperdine six.

Bucky Baird gained four yards then Gauchos fullback Roy Gaebel put a scoring climax to his night's running drives by crashing through center for six more points.

With a 13-12 lead the Gauchos' center Mike Moropoulos, guards Marv Ashby and tackles Cliff Hooper and Young held off the Wave attacks for the final quarter while the Gauchos were held scoreless themselves.

Faculty Notes

EDITH M. LEONARD, professor of education, and DOROTHY D. VAN DEMAN, assistant professor of education, were principal speakers at a series of institute meetings held by the Los Angeles County Schools on Oct. 25. The subject was "A Well Balanced Kindergarten Program."

DR. HENRY A. TURNER, assistant professor of political science, allowed the members of his course on Political Parties and Pressure Groups to conduct a pre-election poll in conjunction with members of Pi Sigma Alpha. The results of the poll showed that Santa Barbara is predominantly Republican while the state has a ratio of three Democrats to two Republicans.

Hoopmen Prep For Big Season As '53-'54 Crew Returns Intact

by Jordan Romeo

The month is November and everywhere across the nation the autumn air is filled with spiraling footballs. And why not? It happens to be the height of the pigskin season and everyone is watching anxiously to see who will be playing whom in which bowl games on Jan. 1. Yep, football is in the spotlight, but the white light is about to be focused in another direction. Don't look now, but those whistle tooting and feet pounding noises you hear emanating from the gym are ushering in a brand new basketball season.

Gauchos coach Willie Wilton can be seen directing the proceedings, as he prepares to field what will may be one of the finest hoop squads in Santa Barbara history. Willie has lost only one man, reserve forward Dave McCullough, from last year's sharpshooting outfit which broke 11 team and individual records in posting a good 15-10 record, along with nabbing a second slot in the CCAA.

O'Hara, Hansen Back

Last year's high-scoring duo of 6-5 Jim O'Hara and 6-7 Lee Hansen will be back to plague SBC opponents along with guard Clyde Maxen, forward Ron Balden, and veteran Joe Kohler. O'Hara's 373 point total and 15.5 average was tops for the team in '53, closely followed by Hansen's 337 total and 13.5 average. Maxen was third with 239 points and an 11.6 average.

Led by the amazing Ron Balden, the Gauchos of '53 achieved a ranking among the top five of the country's small colleges in free throw proficiency, with a 71.3 percentage. Balden dropped through 99 of 120 charity tosses awarded him.

Wilton has fine bench strength in the fighting Joe Kohler, along with George Pugsley, Bob Miner, Lee Powers, Ed Bowen, Willie Shea, 6-8 Lyn Reitnouer, and newcomers 6-7 Dick Acres from SB JC, and Tommy Williams from UCLA.

This fine squad is expected to put up a strong battle for CCAA honors and don't be surprised if they make a runaway of it.

Among the school records which were surpassed last season were the following:

- Highest team score, one game: Against Westmont, 86 points.
- Most team points in one season: 1,754 in 25 games.
- Highest season average: 71.1.
- High conference average: 74.1 (741 points in 10 games)
- Most field goals scored, one season: 596 in 25 games.
- Most free throws scored in one season: 562 in 25 games.
