EMILY VAN WAGNER REPRESENTATIVE AT STANFORD MEETING

Jaysees and State Colleges Hold Conference of Student Presidents of State

The third annual conference of the California Student Presidents' association was held last Saturday, December 10, at Stanford University. Emily Van Wagner, secretary of the Student Body, was the local representative.

Carl Ulrich, of Modesto, was the presiding officer. The most important speech of the morning session was given by President Wilbur of Stanford University. He spoke on the "Value of Junior Colleges."

In the afternoon, Mr. C. S. Morris, principal of Modesto Junior College, talked about "The Handling of Student Problems at Modesto Junior College."

Pasadena was chosen president for next year, at the election of officers; San Francisco, vice-president; Chico, secretary, and Santa Rosa, treasurer.

During the business meeting, the main topic of discussion was Student Body finances. Each school reported as to their method of collecting dues and how the funds were spent. The dues varied from $10 per semester and compulsory to none at all, but funds were raised by dances, plays, etc.

Student control boards, student courts, and student councils were the organizations reported that are handling the matters of cheating and stealing on the different campuses.

More than half of the schools reported that attendance to assemblies varying from weekly to monthly meetings is compulsory.

The Student Body president of Stanford presented such problems

PRESENT EDITOR REMAINS IN FOR ANOTHER TERM

Students yesterday re-affirmed their choice in editor of The Eagle when they cast 155 ballots for Marie Cochran as against 58 for Arthur Evans.

The election had all the earmarks of a regular political campaign with remarks distributed in all directions and it was the general opinion prior to the contest that the winner would be victorious by only a narrow margin.

Several other men were mentioned as possible candidates when petitions were posted on the bulletin board last week, but these withdrew in favor of the incumbent editor. At the outset, it appeared as though the election would take the form of Freshmen vs. Upper Classmen affair, until Joe McFarland, a feature writer on the staff, settled the matter by withdrawing.

Arthur Evans, former member of the staff who made a reputation for himself as last year's author of the column, "Eagle's Eye," was then selected to appear on the ballot to oppose Miss Cochran's re-election.

There were 218 votes cast, as follows: Marie Cochran, 155; Arthur Evans, 58; Jack Smith, 3; Franklin Anderson, 1; and 1 ballot thrown out because of inability of the judges to distinguish the marking. Smith and Anderson were not candidates, their names having been placed in blank columns for independent choices.

The past election was the first held since the new amendment making the period of editorship The Eagle one semester, went into effect last spring.

S. B. YOUNG PEOPLE TO GO CAROLING

"The groups that are going out caroling Christmas evening wish that an ypeople in town who desire to have carols sung in front of their homes would please remember to leave lighted candles in the front windows of their homes."

The whole town has been divided up into districts this year and each section will be visited by a group of young folk. They will stop at each house that has lighted candles in the windows and will sing Christmas carols. The groups will sing from eight o'clock until about twelve. The district covered will include the houses just to the city limits.

as to how the university traditions are to be upheld if the lower division is abandoned, and should the requirement of one year's residence in a dormitory be forced upon entering students who will be juniors.

ELEMENTARY GRADE CHILDREN PORTRAY YULETIDE PICTURE

Three phases of Christmas life were portrayed Wednesday by the students of the Elementary school on the campus. At the same time gifts were brought for a family of eight, a mother and seven children, three of whom are now in the hospital.

The first Christmas was the first scene, the group under the direction of Miss Pand drawing the picture of the Nativity, the birth of Christmas Day.

Mrs. Price and her fourth grade pupils brought the Christmas spirit down to modern times, telling in pictorial fashion of the Day of Christ in many lands.

The last was the application of Christmas Day. It was Miss Leonard's group that gave the realistic benefits derived from the gift-giving that prevails on the day of Christ's birth. A hospital scene showed vividly the joy of others who are unfortunate to have both ill-health and poverty for their lot.

It was through the efforts of the children themselves that this family's destituteness was made known. A large box, crammed with food and toys, will be given to them. The remainder of the gifts given by the children and their parents will go to others who will doubly appreciate them.

FOUR SORORITIES GIVE RESIGNATION

Official notice was given out of the dissolving of Pan-Hellenic by the withdrawal of four of the five sororities. It is probable, however, that the inter-sorority council will come together again in the near future. The real cause of the breaking up of the council has not as yet been made public, but it is expected that the members will publicly state their reasons soon.

The Delta Zeta Delta sorority hereby gives notice that the said sorority has withdrawn from the Pan-Hellenic of Santa Barbara State college.

(Signed) Emily Van Wagner, December 14, 1927.

The Delta Sigma Epsilon tenders their resignation from the Pan-Hellenic.

The Alpha Theta Chi sorority wishes to announce that they have withdrawn from the Pan-Hellenic association at Santa Barbara State college.

EDNAH M. RICH EULOGIZED AT XMAS SERVICES

Miss Winifred M. Frye spoke at the Christmas Vesper service on Monday at 4:30 p. m. Miss Frye was one of the persons who helped to establish this custom of a candlelight service, ten years ago in our college bungalow.

The students were interested in hearing Miss Frye tell something of the founding of our college. She paid high tribute to Ednah M. Rich, founder of the college.

In part she said: "I feel quite inadequate to the task of making a true picture of her accomplishments. It is seldom one finds her combination of strength and stability together with such a brilliant and scintillating mentality. Teeming with ambition and generous impulses she was full of resources and promptly translated her quick thoughts into swift action, thus making possible the establishment of this college which has given to hundreds of students the opportunity to 'carry on'."

"It is our privilege," continued Miss Frye, "this Christmas season to renew our consecration to the ideals for which this college has stood these many years and to take stock of what we have done with the heritage that is ours."

Those present were doubly impressed by the tribute paid Ednah M. Rich when Miss Frye placed an excellent picture of the founder where all could see it during the service. Beautiful candelabra loaned by Jane C. Miller stood on either side of the picture. The flicker of the many red Christmas candles shed rays of the season's greetings, giving promise that this institution would continue in growth both physical and spiritual, enriching the lives of all who come within its influence, making the realization plain that for real excitement there are no such adventures as intellectual ones.

FAMOUS BOTANIST HONORED AT HOME

Students and members of the faculty have been invited to attend the housewarming of Montairioso, located on Mission Ridge, to be staged on Christmas day. The estate, which was purchased by Mr. Alden Freeman, noted political reformer and philanthropist, will be dedicated to the honor of Dr. Franceschi Fenzi, celebrated botanist.

Mr. Freeman recently acquired the property on the Riviera and states that he will attempt to restore it to its once flourishing condition when desert and tropical plants grew side by side.

FUTURISM THEME OF ANNUAL SOPH RULE OF CAMPUS

Program Vividly Tells of Life in 1999; Skits Furnish Frolic for All

By JOE McFARLAND
"If that's true, Lord help the men in 1999."

That was the general opinion expressed about the campus following the annual sophomore class day which was held Wednesday in a true futuristic manner. The comment from the students comes as a result of seeing the play, "In 1999," which was presented in the new auditorium during the fourth hour immediately following the Student Body meeting.

The whole plot of the play centers about the degeneration of manhood to the feminine duties of the household and the uprising of the stronger sex, now the female, as the leaders of both the business and social world. Gaillard Fryer was easily the hit of the show with his effeminate actions carrying out the general theme of the play. Jeannette Birnie carried the part of the wife of "Rollo" (Gaillard Fryer) in an admirable manner. Marian Osborne was the villain of the play.

"Eternal Triangle" Theme

The plot of the play in itself was simple enough, centering about the old question of the "eternal triangle." A new twist was given the complication by the fact that, instead of being a man trying to lure a woman from the protecting arms of her husband, it was the villain (Marian Osborne) who attempted, and finally succeeded, in luring Rollo from his wife, Jean.

Throughout the play the audience was kept in almost continuous laughter by the actions of

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

SING PRAISES TO THE LORD, ALL YE NATIONS!

YEARS AGO, nay, centuries ago, there came, one night, to the shepherds watching on the hills, an angel, speaking in joyous, bell like tones, to proclaim to their eager ears the birth of the Christ.

Reverence and love for the Master, created in the people a desire to set aside one special day wherein to give a consecrated moment to the Savior alone. Such a day became known as "Christmas Day," the day of Christ.

As the centuries passed since that eventful day, the people began to lose that first reverential feeling of dedication of one day's life, impelled as they were by a sincere worship of the All-High God for His Son's supreme sacrifice. Holiday aspects began to creep in, perhaps sub-consciously at first, but unmistakably, as the years passed and the multitude of people began to segregate into classes.

The first day of the Nativity and its deep underlying emotion failed to impress the people so much as the ability to give and receive gifts of love, tempered, unfortunately, with a sense of social obligation.

Deep in the heart of the tenements is where Christ is today, on His Birthday, not in the home where all thought of Him is drowned by the joy of giving and receiving of expensive, useless gifts. Deep in the heart of the home of the laborer is where Christ takes His abode on His natal day, not in the home of the person who tries to emulate those richer in this world's good than he. In the heart of the home that remembers Him at all times of strife or joy, is where Christ is on the day the world, ages ago, set aside for Him.

THE PEST

By DICK

On continuing my policy of consistency in the matter of non-payment of bills, non-preparation of lessons, and so 4th, am going to introduce the rest of the circus to you this week.

Of course, as "Dan" hath so aptly said, someone has stolen my originality, but my identity is still intact; so if I'm very careful I'll be a "Pest" forever.

Ted Marshall, when he saw that I hadn't included him in my list of circus performers last week, was much hurt, but since I have promised him a toe-dancing part he has been all smiles.

THE PEELE BROTHERS, BILL AND JIM, KINDLY CONSENTED TO POSE AS THE SIAMESE TWINS, PROVIDED THEY AREN'T BUSY ON CIRCUS DAY.

Some might rise to ask why I haven't included any women in this four-ring circus of the college. I hardly think it necessary to mention them: everyone knows 'em better than I do, anyhow.

I COULD WRITE PARAGRAPHS AND PARAGRAPHS ABOUT THEM, BUT THE EDITOR WOULDN'T LET IT GET INTO THE PAPER. SO WHAT'S THE USE?

Our typist says I should mention that some of the members of the faculty are eligible for ring-masters and loud-speakers.

Then, to be original again, why not have an act given by the Scotch in the college? It would have to be "tight" rope walking in order to be consistent.

Dr. Maxwell, who once lived in Chicago, says if we'll have a side-show, he'll be only too glad to exhibit his fine collection of scars.

Now, there's quite a few things we lack to make this circus complete. I got Shakespeare for a strong man in the latest canvass, but I need more to fill in the ranks.

MRS. MAXWELL BETTER

Mrs. William Maxwell, who has been ill for the past week, is reported much better in her condition. Mrs. Maxwell is recuperating from an operation.

READ THE ADS!

It is true that students do not read the ads in The Eagle. Last week there was a very attractive ad in the paper requesting the readers to "Shop early and spell it Christmas." Now there are posters in the corridors which spell Christmas with an "X."

FRYE ATTENDS MEETING

Miss Winifred Frye attended a Federation meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's Club in Los Angeles on Saturday. The members of the board met at the Fine Arts Building in the Artland Club rooms for their business meeting and banquet Saturday evening.

PERSONAL

Once more Santa Barbara State is being drained of its mainstays. This time the exodus is greater, due to disinclination to miss any chance for being home during all of the two weeks allotted for the Christmas vacation. None but those compelled by utter necessity expect to return before January 2, allowing as short a time as possible to make the return before classes convene on the third day of the new year.

Those who are bound for their respective homes in Los Angeles are: Dorothy Curtis, Helen and Jack Smith, Ed Mabe, Dora Woods, Fred Imes, Willa Del Savage, Emily Knight.

To Long Beach: Mildred Mincher, Helen Thompson, Mary Camp, Brenda Church.

To Santa Maria: Laura Clark, Barbara Higgins, Margaret Graham.

To Wasco: Melville Homfeld, Annin, Ervin Vandam, Eugene Morgan.

To Porterville: Edwin Dundas, Alfred Boradori, Bob Meade, May Halum.

To Santa Paula: Laura France, Marie Cochran, Fern Frye, Ruth Toil, Edith Maxwell, James Tinkle, Jean and Gordon Clow, Beryl Dunning, Nellamae Crane.

To other places: Lola Collins, Glendora; Imogen Russel, Rivera; Marie Stiber and Viola Barr, Ontario; Margaret West, San Francisco; Emily Van Wagner and Minnie Meier, Azusa; Grace Olson, Patterson; Virginia Weber, Bak-ersfield; Aileen Maiden, Douglas; Lyllis Blackie, Inglewood; Merle Bettiz, El Centro; Betty Neute, Monrovia; Walter Stuart, Lompoc; Marian Keep, Hemet.

SOCIAL CLUB WILL REJUVENATE SOON

Reorganization of the Social Science Club will take place the first week of January according to plans being made by Lawrence Pollard, vice-president, and Rosamond Martin, last year's president of the group.

The same plan as used last year will be employed. Lectures and discussions will constitute the chief part of the meetings, which will be held in the college library.

Anita Deardorf, student at the University of California, Berkeley, and student here last year, was on the campus Tuesday.

Pomona A.W.S. Gives Library Two Volumes On California Birds

Among the books added to the Library this month are two gift books of unusual interest and value. One of them, "Birds of California," by William Leon Dawson, of Santa Barbara, is a gift of Miss Ellen B. Scripps, through the courtesy of the Pomona College's associated women. Miss Scripps bought the book and gave Pomona the honor of deciding to which colleges they should be presented.

The three volumes, student's edition, have large colored pictures of some of the birds, and smaller pictures illustrating various phases of their life and habits. It is written in an amusing and instructive style.

poor Rollo, the home-loving husband, intent on sewing "teddies" for Rollo, Jr. Jeannette Birnie, as the wife of Rollo, was the cruel person of the play as she left her husband to attend her club. Marian Osborne carried out her part in a nearly professional manner. Her love scenes with the disillusioned Rollo were the outstanding comedy bits of the show.

Music and Styles of 1999

Perhaps the success of the play was in one way due to the excellent program which led up to it. Starting with a rather "hot" comparison of music of the present day and that of 1999 the sophomore class put on an extremely interesting show. Roland Lakin and Roy Smallwood presented the musical bit. Roland Lakin, representing the 1927 music, had the whole audience tapping their feet as he played the popular tunes of the day on a wailing clarinet. The music of 1999 was a bit heavier than was expected. Accompanied by Rebecca Hineman, Roy Smallwood rendered two violin selections.

The Misses Pollard, Stauty, Martin, Barnard, and Boeseke gave various impressions of what the "well-dressed woman will wear" in 1999. Clad in undecipherable costumes, the five men gave a wonderful "leg" show which was fully appreciated by the audience.

"In 1927," a skit written by Gaillard Fryer, Alverna Stewart played three distinctive parts with exceptional ability. The play was intended to take the audience back from 1999 to the days of 1927 when "lovers sat on the benches in the sparkling moonlight" and when "father snored in the sleeping porch on the second floor." The plot of the skit revolved about a boy, a girl, and a father. The boy returning from some engagement tries to say goodnight to his friend, but an

CHARLES MEREDITH MOVIE LEADING MAN TO REPLACE PICHEL

Mr. Charles Meredith of New York has taken over Mr. Irvin Pichel's classes in stagecraft. Mr. Meredith studied architecture and stagecraft at the Carnegie Institute of Technology and also in Europe for several years where he made a thorough study of the European stage and stagecraft and the methods of producing plays.

Previous to coming to Santa Barbara Mr. Meredith played with Lovette Taylor in the "Canadia." In 1918 he was leading man at the Morosco. He has also played in moving pictures for over four years with Florence Vidor and Constance Talmadge.

He is now the director at the Lobero Theatre, staying with them as long as he is here. If anyone is interested in plays produced through the Lobero and feels as though he or she possesses any talent along that line, Mr. Meredith will be glad to give them an interview and as much help as possible.

Alpha Thetas Have Annual Christmas Party

The Alpha Theta Chis held their annual Christmas party last Tuesday evening at the home of Marjorie Sawyer.

All active and alumnae members were present. After a Christmas dinner, presents were opened around the tree. Games and songs provided the entertainment for the evening.

Alumnae members present were Christine Hamilton, Margaret Patrick, Eleanor Hicks, Rebecca Singleton and Carolyn Snively.

hour is occupied by the delicate process of saying the two words, much to the disgust of the father of the girl, who enters in the final moments to literally throw the boy from his doorstep. All three parts were played by Alverna Stewart.

Ben Margolies In Charge

According to programs given out at the opening of the assembly, the entire show was direct from the "Clam Circuit at Pismo." The managership of the company lay in the hands of Ben Margolies who planned the program for the class. Others who helped make the program and soph day a success were Esther Troll, Mary Wheeler, William Wegener, Walter Schott, Jeannette Birnie, Lawrence Pollard, Mildred Mincher and Powell Smith. Many other members of the sophomore class added their bit to help the scheme of the day.

The campus itself carried out the general theme of the day by presenting a futuristic appearance. A football game between S.B.S.C. and Notre Dame was announced for New Year's Day and it was also announced that the Student Body president had chartered a special airplane to take students to the game. Luncheon and beauty parlor facilities were to be available on the special.

An airplane landing on one of the eucalypti around the quad was imagined, a ladder leading from the foot of the tree to the "airport." All in all, the futuristic idea was carried out completely throughout the day even to the wearing of smocks by the men and shirts by the girls.

EXCHANGES

By the combined efforts of the Red Cross and Community Fund drives $800 was raised, according to Dean Manchester of Kent State College, Kent, Ohio. The students contributed to the Red Cross and the teachers contributed to the Chest. The drive was considered highly successful.

Dr. Otto A. Sinkie, of Omaha, who has evolved a new religion, was at one time a student at the Kearney Teachers' college, Nebraska. This new religion differs from Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism, and deals chiefly with the life of this world. Dr. Sinkie planned to call it "The Living Church of the Living God."

U. C. L. A.'s three forensic societies had as the question for debate, "Should Girls Dutch on Dates?" at their annual triangle debates held a week ago.

The men's gymnasium at Oregon University will be open to all students unable to return home for the holidays. Handball courts and the swimming pool will be at the disposal of the remaining students. No credits will be given for this work since there will be no adequate means of checking the work done.

E. E. ERICSON WILL SPEAK AT MEETING

E. E. Ericson, director of the Industrial Education department, has been scheduled to take part in the American Vocational Association annual conference being held next week in Los Angeles. His subject will be "Common Standards of Attainment as a Basis for Teaching Industrial Arts."

Tomorrow Mr. Ericson is to attend a meeting of the Credentials Commission of the State Board of Education.

The A.V.A. convention will officially open tomorrow evening with the national banquet at the Biltmore Hotel. A unique feature of the banquet will be talks by representatives of four different nations, including the United States, Canada, Mexico, and others.

A number of Industrial Education students are planning to attend the Association's annual meet. Among those who have stated their intention of going are Norvell Dice, James Dinwiddie, Raymond Hahn, James Peel, William Peel, Francis Williams, Warren Atwood, Otto Larsen, Jack Vince, and Lyman Curtis.

Robins and Birnie Hostesses for Party

Jeannette Birnie and Dorothy Robins were the hostesses for the annual Christmas party of the Delta Zeta Delta sorority held last Monday evening at the home of the former. The Christmas holiday spirit was carried out by the decorations of holly, poinsettia, and evergreen.

Bridge was the entertainment for the early part of the evening. Later there was an exchange of gifts. After the refreshments, the party adjourned to the home of Mrs. Lester A. Girsch and listened to the radio program from the local station KFCR, in which the Misses Dorothy Robins and Dorothy Mansfield took part.

Those who attended the party were Lucile Dexter, Ebba Franklin, Ester Janssens, Beryl Dunning, Beth Teal, Dorothy Mansfield, Emily Van Wagner, Isabel Vaughn, Betty Eddy, Dorothy Merritt, Viola Girsch, and the hostesses, Jeannette Birnie and Dorothy Robins.

VARSITY PLAYS CALIF. AGGIES IN FIRST GAME

The Varsity's first basketball tussle will come off on next January 7 on the Junior High court against the California Aggie quintet.

Coach DeGroot has been drilling the men in fundamentals, giving them stiff practice that will enable them to make the conference with high honors.

The basketball candidates, if it is possible, will meet for practice on December 29, the Wednesday following Christmas. The squad will benefit by this vacation-time drill in getting rounded into a formidable machine against the Aggies.

With constant practice every evening the Frosh and the Varsity net tossers have developed into a well-rounded group of players. The Frosh triumphed over the regulars in one of the recent practice contests.

Signal and scrimmage drill in which both teams have worked, has been the order of the night on the basket court.

With a line-up of veteran casaba throwers and a promising Frosh quintet, the New Year looks unusually favorable for the Roadrunners' basketball season.

Sorority Entertains DeGroots With Party

Members of Alpha Theta Chi sorority last Saturday evening entertained at a party at the home of Mrs. B. M. Peteler in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley S. DeGroot.

The party was an old-clothes affair. Marjorie Sawyer arranged the program, while music for the evening was obtained by Pearl Crawford. Refreshments were in the charge of Lua Thurmond.

Those present were Pearl Crawford, Marjorie Sawyer, Charlotte Bellman, Margaret Gammill, Lua Thurmond, Viola Barr, Bernice Haberlitz, Margaret Patrick, Mary Williams, Helen Campbell, Eleanor Gifford, Mrs. Peteler, Miss Severy, Mr. and Mrs. DeGroot, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hamilton, Rebecca Singleton, Eleanor Hicks, Clarence Annin, Francis Williams, Allan Mobley, Dale Hartley, Jack Smith, Ralph Tracy, Harold Wright, Charles Peteler, Fred Hicks, Fred Alfred, Dr. Wm. Mr. Cotton: "Can you define the term 'egotist'?"

Oliver Borth: "An egotist is a man who tells you about himself what you intended telling him about yourself."

Aged Educator and Editor Addresses College

Expressing the opinion that education is having a re-birth over the nation, Dr. A. E. Winship, 82-year old editor of the Journal of Education, addressed students Wednesday on his sixty-second visit to California. He pointed out that the modern educational system had its roots in America in three normal colleges, Bridgewater, Millersburg and Oswego.

W. A. A. TAKES IN 8 NEW MEMBERS

The first formal initiation of the W. A. A. was held last Thursday evening, December 8. At that time seven new members were admitted to the association. The initiation took the form of a three-mile moonlight treasure hunt.

After a box luncheon in the gymnasium, the new women were left alone. Printed instructions told them what to do, warning them that they were constantly being watched. Following directions, they took a roundabout way to the athletic field; many humorous adventures were encountered on the way. Returning to the gym, the treasure, some dried figs, was found hidden in the piano.

The new members are Helen Webster and Marjorie Holmes, the only freshmen; Rebecca Hineman, Helen Thompson, Ruth Toll, Claire Kibbe, and Laura Durfee, sophomores. Miss Van Fossen accompanied the women on their hunt.

The other book is a collection of articles on Abraham Lincoln. The title is "Abraham Lincoln, The Tribute of the Synagogue," and was given to the Library by the editor, Emanuel Hertz. Various rabbis and prominent men from the Jewish church have contributed to it. It is signed by Mr. Hertz, and says, "I know of no literature more inspiring to self-help than that which clusters about the name of Abraham Lincoln."

Following is a list of the new books:

Lehman, The Psychology of Play Activities; Frost, Oriental and Character Dances; Otis, Statistical Method in Educational Measurement; Kelley, The Influence of Nurture upon Native Differences; Freeman, Mental Tests; Fine, Calculus; Wells, Story of a Great Schoolmaster.
