Local Gauchos Rate Biography In Who's Who

Word came to nine students of Santa Barbara College this week that they had been chosen by a local campus committee to have their biographies appear in the 1944-45 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Local students receiving the honor include Barbara Berry, president of Crown and Scepter; Lila Atkisson, secretary of Kappa Omicron Phi and member Crown and Scepter; Cathy Lesovsky, president of Pan-Hellenic council, Delta Zeta Delta and Kappa Omicron Phi; Marjorie Welch, president Alpha Theta Chi and vice president Kappa Omicron Phi; Angie McGarvin, social chairman and president Kappa Delta Pi; Mary Ann Zajec, president of Phrateres and elementary department; Eleanor O'Boyle, finance chairman and former student body president; George Bradvica, student body president; and Natalie Stewart, El Gaucho editor.

Marian Agamalian, president of Associated Women Students, and Edie Van Meter received notice that their biographies will appear in the book for the second consecutive year.

Names of students from this college were recommended to the editors of Who's Who by a secret committee of faculty members and students. Recommendations were made on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. The committee considered only students with upper division standing.

Who's Who, often called the Blue book of Collegiana, had its first printing in the year 1934-35. Objective of the publication was to create one national basis of recognition for students, devoid of politics, initiation fees and dues. Prior to its first edition editors of Who's Who received encouragement and assurance from college and business executives, students and undergraduate organizations that a publication of this sort would serve a purpose.

In 1942 Who's Who listed 650 colleges and universities, the biographies of their outstanding students. Today editors have organized a placement service which is used by 500 personnel directors of nationally important business firms.

Mary Swoboda Speaks Tuesday In Auditorium

In an assembly during fourth hour Tuesday, Mrs. Mary T. Swoboda of the Cadet Nurse Recruiting Service spoke to students on opportunities to be found in the government sponsored program.

Helen Elizabeth Whitman, from Boston, New York and Maine, opened the program with three selections: "At Night," Rachmaninoff, Roblyn's "A Heart That's Free," and "The False Prophet," by Scott.

Senior Classmen Hold Picnic

Weather permitting, senior class members will hold a picnic and theater party tomorrow afternoon.

Classmen will meet at East beach for games and volleyball at 4:30 p.m. Later supper will be served the picnicers, following which the group will attend a local theater.

Betty Steele, senior class social chairman, urged all class members to attend this second social affair of the year. She announced that in the event that weather is bad supper will be served in the college cafeteria.

Tickets may be obtained in Laurence Chenoweth's office for 25 cents with class cards.

Committee chairmen assisting Miss Steele include Ruth Garret, food; Hartford Archibald, wood; Cathy Reid, ticket sales.

Ray Normandin, senior class president, announced that at least one social event per month will be scheduled for class members. He urged all seniors on campus to participate in these activities in order to make their last year of college a memorable one.

Art Dept. Makes Holiday Favors

Four classes in design of the Art Department are working on Christmas favors for Hoff Hospital. Two hundred favors will be placed on the dinner trays of four hundred bed patients Christmas Eve, Mrs. Doolittle, art department head, announced.

These little Santa Clauses, reindeers, trimmed Christmas trees, jack-in-the-boxes, and many other quaint favors are on display in the foyer of the Art Department.

Old pipe cleaners, spools, cotton, paper dolls and odd pieces of colored and metallic paper were used by the students of the design classes to create the favors.

Associated Women Students will present a Thanksgiving Vesper service Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m. in the college auditorium to which all members of the student body and faculty are invited. Delphia Nash, chairman of the pre-holiday affair, announced that the idea is a new one at this college. She stated the Vesper service will seek to introduce the holiday season ahead.

Following the program tea will be served in the foyer of the auditorium with Marjorie Welch, vice-president of the A.W.S. board, in charge of refreshments.

Program for the service will open with Wagner's "March of the Meister-singers," played by the orchestra under the direction of Edwin Jones.

Remaining portion of the program is as follows: "Sarabande," Bohm, the violin choir led by Jones; "Come Ye Thankful People, Come," Elvey, choruses and audience; "In Memorium," taps; Tribute, James Costy; "Say A Prayer for the Boys Over There," McHugh, Glee Club directed by Dr. Van A. Christy; "Oh Lovely Peace," Handel, Glee Club accompanied by violin choir.

The Verse Speaking choir under the direction of Dr. Albert O. Mitchell will recite "The Creation," Johnson, and "The Frost is on the Punkin," Riley; "Triumph Thanksgiving," Rachmaninoff, and "Land Sighting," Grieg, by the mixed Madrigal (Armand Jackson, baritone soloist); "America the Beautiful," audience; and closing prayer, the Reverend Berkeley B. Blake.

Marines Play Host to Women On December 1

First event for college women during the Christmas month will be a dance at the Goleta Marine base on December 1 with the Marines playing host.

Angie McGarvin, social chairman, announced yesterday that 100 women are needed for this dance. Names are being accepted now in the dean of women's office of those women wishing to attend.

Mrs. McGarvin stated that following the procedure of previous dances transportation will be provided by the Marine base. Buses will leave the campus at 7 p.m.

Music for the evening will be provided by the Marine orchestra. A part of this combination played for the open house on campus held recently in honor of the Marine students enrolled.

Mrs. McGarvin announced the next service event which college women may attend will be a buffet supper at the Miramar hotel on November 26. Transportation will be provided by the Army and will leave the campus at 4:45 p.m.

Mrs. George Dunderdale, assistant to the dean of women, cautioned that all necessary forms must be filled out and turned in to her office before women may sign up for these service affairs.

Biltmore Band Stars In Women's Welfare Assembly Tuesday

"Those who love jazz and like to hear it the way it should be played have a treat coming fourth hour Tuesday when the Biltmore all soldier band swings out in the auditorium," Tito Gorrindo, assembly chairman, stated this week.

Gorrindo announced the local re-assignment group as being one of the finest service bands in the country. Top notch performers have been recruited through the medium of the Army from national name bands throughout the country and have formed an extraordinarily smooth combination, the assembly chairman added.

Tuesday's assembly will have a dual purpose, Gorrindo said. In addition to providing entertainment for college students it will seek to provide canned foods which will be turned over to Neighborhood house for distribution to the needy.

Students attending the assembly are asked to bring one canned goods article to drop in the barrel provided. Gorrindo stated that since many canned goods are now off the rationed list students should have no trouble in obtaining their donations. Small plum puddings, hard candies, and bags of marshmallows will be acceptable. If the gift is wrapped, it should be labeled.

This program is sponsored by the A.W.S. and is part of their welfare work.

Current Events Club Forms Student Panel

At a meeting at the home of Dr. Harry Girvetz recently, members of the International Relations club discussed and voted upon the formation of a student panel to speak on racial problems.

Herman Hagedorn, speaker at the meeting, told members that the East-West association would act as co-sponsor of the panel. Hagedorn is local chairman of the national organization which seeks to improve racial relations through education and discussion groups.

Members of the club voted to have a panel of six which would be qualified to speak before service groups and local schools.

Plans call for inclusion on the panel of women of different races: Jewish, Negro, Chinese, Armenian, Mexican and a woman who will speak from the viewpoint of a middle of the road American.

First appearance of the panel will be before International Relations club members.

'EILEEN' OPENS LAST NIGHT IN AUDITORIUM

By NATALIE STEWART
El Gaucho Editor

Last night Ruth said to Eileen, "all a man has to do is tell you how beautiful you are and your ping changes to a purr." So goes the play, "My Sister Eileen," which opened in the auditorium for a two night run with the last curtain going up tonight at 8:30 p.m. Director of the campus production is Miss J. Marion Hammond.

Columbus, Ohio, was home to the two Sherwood girls, played by Charlotte Montgomery and Frances Mattson, until they decided to have a go at the big city—a place called New York. What happens when they arrive there forms the basis of the plot for Fields and Chodorov's Broadway hit of several seasons ago.

Action of the three-act comedy centers around the Sherwood's modest little apartment in Greenwich village, home of the literati into whose ranks Eileen hopes to fall by virtue of a typewriter and a knack for garbling words.

Fast paced comedy throughout, the play throws Ruth and Eileen into situation after situation, one embarrassing moment after the other, before the final curtain comes down.

Other characters who serve to complicate the lives of Eileen and her sister include "The Wreck," played by Jim Zastro, an unconventional fellow and his equally unconventional young lady friend, portrayed by Dorothy Simmons. Mrs. Appopolous, enacted by Marge Watson, proves to be a tribulation to the Sherwood girls as do the Portuguese sailors who don't speak English but hang on for La Conga.

Other members of the cast include Delphia Nash, Violet; Tito Gorrindo, Chic Clark; Ray Puisseger, Fletcher; Tom Burt, Lonigan; Margaret Wheeler, Mrs. Wade.

Brown Issues Test Notice

Dr. Mackenzie Brown, political science instructor, announced this week that hereafter examinations for certification of the State requirement on American Political Institutions will be held each semester.

All students who have not successfully completed political science 76 or its equivalent must pass this examination before graduation. Those who have taken this type of course in other states must be certified in California.

Brown announced the next examination will be held December 5. Students desiring to take it at that time are requested to contact him immediately in room nine, Pine hall.

CHECK MATE

By JIM GEFTAKYS

Now that France is reestablished as a big power she is taking stock of her colonial possessions. Her major worry is over the richest prize in the Orient, French Indo-China. For years before this conflict other nations, including the allies, have had their eyes on this rich territory. Will it be returned to France?

With a population of 24,000,000 natives and rich in rice, rubber, coal and tin Indo China's ports could easily become strategic spots for the control of the China Sea. Louis Jacquinot, the French Secretary of Navy, announced recently that the French navy will fight in the Pacific "in a big way" to reconquer Indo-China. This is not an idle boast for France has over three hundred ships, fighting with the American fleet.

If Indo-China is reconquered in the near future it will play a major role in helping China. The Chinese battle areas are more accessible through Indo-China than through Burma or India.

From the northern port of Haiphong to the Chinese city of Kunming runs the Yunnan railway, with good road connections to Chungking, Changsha and other regions of Southern China. The Yunnan road would make it easier to ship material to China, because it is on the American side of the Pacific.

Indo-China played an important role when the Japs invaded the South China Sea area. If we can reverse this process the Japs will not only be driven out of the Pacific but all of China can be quickly freed.

And for your entertainment we now give out with a bit of war map lingo.

Waitress: "Hawaii, gentlemen; you must be Hungary."

Customer: "Yes, Siam, and we can't Rumania long, either. Venice lunch ready?"

Waitress: "I'll Russia a table. What'll you Havre?"

Customer: "Anything at all, but can't Jamaica little speed?"

Waitress: "I don't think we can Fiji that fast, but Alaska."

Customer: "Never mind asking anyone, and just put a Cuba sugar in our Java."

Waitress: "Sweden it yourself. I'm only here to Serbia."

Customer: "Denmark our bill and call the Bosphorus. He'll probably Kenya. I don't Bolivia you know who I am."

Waitress: "No and I don't Caribbean."

Boss: "Samoa your wisecracks? What's got India? Do you think the arguing Alps business?"

Customer: "Canada noise. Spain in the neck. Abyssinia."

Off the Beam

By the SQUARE

As the crowd jams the auditorium for the final performance tonight of "My Sister Eileen," we are taken into the atmosphere of a basement apartment, a conga line, risque remarks and plenty of laffs! May we offer premature congratulations on your fine performance. Following the procession of cars

(through California's liquid dew) last Friday night found Santa Barbara Gauchos winding their way to the Sophomore Carnival. . . . Between getting married (George Bradvica the bigamist, took the fatal step at least nine times) and feeding their faces, being enlightened about their past and future, having caricatures sketched and beating it out to the jive of the musical notes, we found many new faces to add to the usual faithful social supporters: Peggy Hooten and Rodriguez, Harvey Scheckter with Beth Esker, M. A. Van Barnavel and Navy Flier, Pat Smith and Fred Burrous, Bernie Ruckack and Jan Daugherty, Art Porter and Jean Murray, Dick Struck and Tink Fisher.

Last weekend was alive with social life (hope there were no Monday exams for you gad-about). Completing a weekend of parties and dancing, found personality and sore feet at the Biltmore Dance. Denying that she was sixteen, but really—? Mary Lou Anderson entertained the boys with her witty humor. . . . Florence "A" Kaplan, Marcia Hess, Barbara and Cornelia Jones held up the tradition of Santa Barbara hospitality.

Plainly showing this weekend was the moving of the Alpha Thetes to their new sorority house on Micheltorena. Amid hat boxes, hangers and a "few" text books, the girls waded through the puddles to their new abode.

The snooper's eye caught a bright shining baseball adorning Marian Agamalian's attire. Bob Elliot bashfully admitted the absence of this trophy from his collection, therefore 2 and 2 equals 1????

We pause in silent reverence to the unfortunate incident of last Monday afternoon at approximately 4 p.m. . . . the nose of Tom Burt is now lying in adhesive tape. May we convey our sincerest sympathies.

Around town . . . Seen at the Paseo, show, and any other place Santa Barbara offers entertainment, were found last weekend: Gloria Rossi and Marine, Willie Wigger and Floyd Cunningham, and Peggy Upson and Tommy Hamilton.

Tonight the "Elite" members of the press are staging a progressive dinner. Roller skates and hiking boots will provide transportation from house to house.

Seen through the pane: Old timers returning for a look at their alma mater were Lt. Sammy Fong of the Air Force, class '45, just returned from Italy . . . Ann Goodier renewing old acquaintances.

By mistake we publicized "Ma Greesons' Wolf Farm" as the personal property of the prexy . . . Apologies!

In conclusion may we wish all of you a happy and "full" Thanksgiving. We hope you have enough points for that bottle of catsup. We'll see you back—pounds added—ready to start in the old grind.

Lack of Experience Handicaps Green and White Casabamen In Losing 50-33 Tilt To Corsairs

By WILLARD MAY
El Gaucho Sports Editor

GaUCHO rooters had no cause for shame Tuesday night as the varsity cagers lost to a favored Marine Corsair squad, 50-33, in the Community Center gym.

Off to a slow start, the Gauchos took time getting wise to the Marines' style of attack, but the second half found the locals ringing the bell with increasing frequency. Although showing amazing improvement since the beginning of practice, the greatest weaknesses of the Green and White quintet can be laid to lack of experience. While some members of the Gaucho squad have played before, the greatest number are playing college ball this year for the first time and are learning as the season progresses.

Strong favorites to hand the Gauchos a terrific drubbing, the service team ran afoul a fighting spirit which nearly offset the losers' lack of experience on several occasions. While the outcome of the game left little doubt in the minds of spectators as to the relative strength of the two squads, the locals followed hot on the winners' heels all evening, making it necessary for the Corsairs to dig into the bag for all their tricks.

NELMARK PERFORMS

Standing out as the brightest star on the floor was George Nelmark, former Oshkosh player, who, as a professional team captain, led his squad to a National Professional championship. Living up to his pre-game reputation, Nelmark dropped 20 points through the hoop from his guard spot to lead all scorers. In the closing minutes of the game, with the Corsairs enjoying a comfortable lead, the crowd was treated to a sample of the tricky ball handling which has made the Marine star famous in basketball circles.

Leading the Gaucho scorers, with ten points, was Jim Zastro, center, who promises to develop into the sparkplug of the squad. Coupled with a keen knowledge of "what to do when," Zastro possesses a spirit of aggressiveness equal to any seen on a Gaucho squad since the days of "Crash" Brewster, former local star.

The absence from the lineup of Tom Burt, regular guard, served as a handicap for the locals. Burt, sporting a huge brace, watched the game from the sidelines because of a broken nose received during a particularly rough practice session the day before. Although he will be unable to practice for several days, Burt should be in shape for the San Jose State game, scheduled for early December.

FORWARDS EVICTED

Also handicapping the Gauchos was the removal from the game of Fred Burrous and Fernando Rodriguez, crack forwards. With eight minutes of playing time remaining, Burrous was sent to the sidelines on personal fouls while Rodriguez was evicted on a questionable decision involving what the referee considered "overzealousness" on the part of the Gaucho forward.

Fred Burrous, Gaucho forward, attempts to tip the ball into the basket as Tom Roberts, Corsair center, jumps with him. Al Coffman (No. 19) and Jim Zastro (18) are waiting for the rebound.

Varsity Plays First Intercollegiate Game With San Jose State

Inter-collegiate basketball will return to Santa Barbara after a two-year absence when the Gaucho varsity plays host to an as yet unknown squad from San Jose State College Friday and Saturday, December 8 and 9. Both games will be played in the Community Center gym.

In former years, when both Santa Barbara and San Jose were members of the now inactive California Collegiate Athletic association, Gaucho-Spartan games drew tremendous crowds because of the keen competition and the assurance of basketball at its finest. In this year's contests, the Spartans will be making a strong effort to topple the institution which has gone "big time" by becoming affiliated with the University of California.

This is the first game against another collegiate institution actually scheduled for the Gaucho cagers so far this season, but requests have been received from several others and are being considered, according to Coach Terry Dearborn.

Negotiations are being conducted with representatives of San Diego State College, another former 2C2A conference member; the University of Redlands, Pepperdine College, San Diego Marines, Cal Poly, Santa Maria Airfield "Fighters," and the "Vultairians" of Vultee Aircraft in Downey.

Received this week, Dearborn said, was a request from Camp Cooke for a home-and-home series with the Gauchos.

Second Round Begins In Basketball Series

Postponed from last Saturday, opening games of the second round of play in the men's intramural basketball tournament will be played tomorrow in the college gym.

First game of the day will find the "BW's" meeting the "Buzz Boys," while, in the second encounter the "HC's" are set to square off against the "Mesa Mugs."

WAA Basketball Begins Next Week

W.A.A. basketball season starts Monday, ninth hour, in the gym, it was announced this week by Kathleen Fischer, basketball manager.

Women interested in participating in the casaba games should contact the manager immediately.
