NUMBER 41

NEARLY ALL LOCAL UNEMPLOYED GO TO WORK FRIDAY ON DISTRICT PROJECTS PASSED BY COMMISSION

FEDERAL RELIEF CREATES JOBS FOR 99
Only American Citizens Will Be Hired And Must Take Jobs Assigned To Them; Applicants
Should Register At Once

TO at least ninety-nine families living in this district, Thanksgiving will take on a special significance this year, for on Friday that number of citizens who have been unemployed for months will begin work on the following projects which have been approved or are subject to the approval of the civil works commission:

1. Improvement, grading, planting and landscaping at Cerca del Mar Park.
2. Removing the short pier on Carpinteria's east beach.
3. Blasting, crushing and piling sand and gravel for road building.
4. Building bridges on Romero Canyon.

Under the new Federal Relief set-up the above projects will provide work until February 1, possibly longer, according to Supervisor Tom Dinsmore, who announced yesterday that applications for employment in this district should be made immediately to either Laurence Doerr or Ray Lambert.

"Only American citizens are eligible for jobs," said Dinsmore. "And we are not employing more than one from each family at present. Should it develop that this district's allotment of 99 men is not filled, then we will begin at the first of the list and hire the second from each large family, until our quota is complete.

"Only the most able-bodied will be given heavy work to do. The older or more disabled will be given lighter jobs, such as the improving of the state park grounds at Cerca del Mar, a project that will utilize about 20 men."

As previously announced, the men will work 5 six-hour days per week and will receive 45 cents an hour and up.

All told, employment will be given to 1348 men in Santa Barbara county for 50 days.

The following notice will be posted this morning at the office of Butler Coles, local unemployment relief worker:

"All men must work on the job to which they are assigned. There will be no shifting from one job to another. . . . When assigned to a job your name is removed from the county unemployment relief rolls. If you should leave work or should be fired off your assigned job, your case will not be reopened by the county unemployment relief office.

"You will be paid only for actual work done, and time on job. Going to and from jobs will be on your own time. No work, no pay."

(Signed)

Director Civil Works Projects

PET AND HOBBY SHOW PROMISES UNIQUE EXHIBIT

AT G. S. THIS AFTERNOON

Over 500 Entrants In Annual P.-T. A. Show

THE famed New York Zoo will resemble a backyard menagerie compared to the grammar school grounds when the Parent-Teachers Association's third annual Pet and Hobby Show begins at 2:30 this afternoon, if half the indicated intentions of young Carpinteria exhibitors are carried out.

Suggested equipment for spectators range from microscopes to firemen's ladders, so varied are the sizes and shapes of the entrants in the pet show, while the hobby exhibits are said to include such rarities as a business statement in black ink, Chet Miller's football treatise on "How I Pick 'Em," a cook book autographed by Dave Cummins, a compound interest chart entered by Dave Safenberg and a complete catalog, alphabetically arranged, of the meetings at which Frank Wymond Junior has been asked to tell of his trip to the World Scout Jamboree last summer.

Over 500 entries were reported up to a late hour last night, one of the latest of which was a little girl's hobby collection of various kinds of teeth from different animals.

One youthful exhibitor is contesting the entrance rules which require all pets to be leashed securely around the neck. He doesn't know which end to put the leash on. His pets are a pair of angle worms.

An interesting place to visit on Friday afternoon at the Carpinteria Grammar school is the Ship Modeling club. Here one sees a busy group of boys, instructed and guided by Mrs. Frank Wymond, who are intent on the carving and shaping of their model ships. Perhaps it is the Santa Maria or the Half Moon, or it may be a Spanish Galleon that is growing under the boy's hand. Whichever it is, each is an interesting problem to the child and a very worthwhile activity.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bronk of Plainfield, Ill., arrived here Thursday evening. They expect to spend the winter here as guests of Mrs. Bronk's mother, Mrs. Kate Martin.

G. S. Chosen For Social Studies Demonstrations

HERE DECEMBER SIXTH

40 County Teachers To Attend Program

MORE than 40 grammar school teachers from Santa Barbara county schools are expected to spend Wednesday, December 6th at the Carpinteria Grammar School, where they will attend a morning program, be luncheon guests of the Parent-Teachers Association, and observe demonstration classes in social studies.

The program marks the second year that Carpinteria schools have been selected to stage demonstration classes of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades, having been chosen as an outstanding example of integrated social studies.

Mrs. Louise Griswold will open the morning program with a lecture on "Art's Place in the Elementary School Program." At noon the visiting teachers will be tendered a luncheon at the high school, during which they will be entertained by a quartet composed of the following local teachers: Mrs. Lucie Treloar, Miss Eloise Mays, Miss Leona Smith, and Miss Dorothy Clark. Following the vocal numbers Miss Francis Linn, county librarian, will give a short talk on library methods.

At one o'clock the classes of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades will present demonstration lessons until 2:30, when they will meet in the grammar school auditorium to stage an ideal elementary school auditorium period.

"The term 'ideal' is not used to suggest a flawless schedule," Superintendent Harry Lintz stated yesterday, "But rather an example of projecting class room work into the assembly period, an emphasizing of

First Steps Taken In "Carpinterians" Drive To Secure Long-Needed Pier For Local Beach; Stub To Be Removed

A LERT to the possibilities for the realization of one of Carpinteria Valley's long dreamed of projects, the Pier committee of "Carpinterians," local business men's organization, have set themselves, during the past week to determine what steps would be necessary to secure the State Park Commission's endorsement for the construction of a pleasure pier on the Carpinteria water-front.

LEGION FOOTBALL AWARD GIVEN TOMORROW NIGHT

TO "MOST VALUABLE MAN"

Banquet And Dance To Honor H. S. Eleven

TOMORROW night an erst-while valiant Warrior will blush to the roots of his hair and stammer his surprised thanks to fellow members of this year's Carpinteria high school eleven and others present at the annual Football Banquet. For at that time the Howland Shaw Russell Post of the American Legion will make the traditional award of the Legion trophy to the team's most valuable player, and whose name will not be announced until then.

A and B team letters and certificates will be given to those who earned them during the pigskin season just concluded, and the announcement of next year's captain will be made.

To earn a letter on either team the boy must have played in sixteen quarters, gone out for football during the entire season, observed training rules, have the recommendation of the coach, and be "voted in" by the Varsity Club.

Following the banquet, award and presentation of letters, which will be held in the high school domestic science room, the annual football dance will be held in the auditorium. Friends of the students and alumnae are invited to the dance.

The Football Banquet is sponsored

Things To Remember:

When the ice man stopped long enough in his daily duties to exchange hot tips on the market—back in the golden age of 1928!

Getting up at 4 a. m. to watch the circus unload and pitch tents. Gangs of volunteers building improvised dykes of sand-filled sacks at the ends of Linden and Palm streets during the high tides of 1926.

The glorious "goose-flesh" that attended each reading of a thriller bearing the sunny title, "Indian Horrors, or Massacres by the Red Men."

The only draw-back to going barefooted—washing your feet before going to bed.

Acute pains about the belt-line after an impromptu mussell-bake at Serena beach.

Following a meeting of the board of directors of "Carpinterians," at which time, material, engineering, labor and supervision costs were analyzed, the problem was submitted to Supervisor Dinsmore of this district, County Forester Frank Dunne was consulted, and the following letter sent to L. Deming Tilton of the County Planning Commission:

L. Deming Tilton,
County Planning Commission,
Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dear Commissioner:

Inclosed please find resolutions passed by the Pier Committee of the "Carpinterians." Also a tentative pier plan and the latest U. S. Coast Geodetic survey notes, (not yet published).

We note the proposed removal of the present State Park stub pier. Your constituency in this district cannot urge your favorable action too strongly to build a new pier.

In addition to the many state citizens who now use our beach the new influx of the San Joaquin Valley and Kern county people via our Maricopa road, recently completed, makes our request of more than usual State-wide import.

There will be spent considerable sums of money in the Carpinteria State Park, landscaping, etc. If there is a percentage material and equipment clause in this expenditure, the set-up for pier accomplishment is a natural.

We are sending copies of this letter to Sen. Edgar Stowe, Mr. Geo. R. Bliss, state assemblyman, Frank Dunne, county forester, and Thos. Dinsmore, supervisor for this district.

Our pier committee will meet any appointment you may call.

We hope that your well-known sympathetic cooperation with our section will prompt you to use every means possible to the end that Carpinteria's greatest need at present is supplied. We certainly need a pier.

Assuring you of our esteem,

Respectfully,
"CARPINTERIANS"
CHAS. J. BATSCH, Chairman,
Pier Committee.

THANKSGIVING, 1933

Give thanks! But give thought to the work still undone. "During the past few months 40% of the temporarily unemployed have been returned to work," said President Roosevelt, in a recent radio address. "But we must not forget that this winter will be a period of increased difficulties for the remaining 60%."

The danger of tuberculosis has been lessened for those again employed. Once again they will know the joy of having sufficient food, shelter and the freedom from worry. This is something for which to give thanks.

But give thought to the 60% still unemployed, sick with worry, weakened by malnutrition,—faced with the ever prevalent disease tuberculosis which preys upon such helplessness.

Side by side with relief through this fifth winter of depression, must go the work of the Tuberculosis Association, protecting the health of those weakened by the long fight, tending to this great human need.

Beyond this must the tuberculosis work be carried, to those now re-employed, so many of whom still carry the marks of their battle.

Give thanks! But give thought to the work still undone. Be generous when you buy Christmas Seals; and if you are one who has found a job, give, so that your companions in idleness may still have health when their chance comes.

A MOB, A SHERIFF AND A GOVERNOR

MIDNIGHT. A soft breeze plays among the branches of the trees in San Jose's city park. Two grim figures, dangling from the larger limbs, turn slowly in the wind with a heaviness peculiar to animate objects suddenly rendered inanimate. The Vigilantes have marched again.

California witnessed its first lynching in thirteen years Sunday night when a crowd of several thousand citizens took justice into their own hands, stormed the San Jose jail, overpowered the sheriff and his guards, hauled two confessed kidnapers and murderers from their cells and hanged them in the city park a block distant.

If ever a lynching was justified, it was this one. Two hybrids of society kidnapped a son of a prominent family, tried to get money from his family, then brutally murdered him because, as they expressed it "We didn't want to be bothered with packing him around the countryside."

An aroused citizenry, weary of the countless delays and loopholes contrived by artful attorneys, has stained the record of California justice,

Even though it be assumed that the lynching was justified, in the light of past events and the circumstances related to the crime, there is still an irreparable damage done to the structure of Society. Certain borders of law and order have been broken over, and the process has made it easier for future expressions of mob rule. There will be other prisoners incarcerated on similar murder and kidnapping charges. These later charges may not be well founded. The prisoners may be innocent. But let some excitable hair-brain shout "Let's fix him like we fixed Thurmond and Holmes" and in a short time the limbs of other trees will dangle gruesome burdens.

Every lynching, no matter how justified it may seem at the time, helps to break down the barriers which Society has erected for the "greatest good for the greatest number." It is to these bulwarks of Progress that irreparable damage is done.

San Jose may not be ashamed of Sunday's happening, but she should not be proud of it. Nor should a governor whose chief contribution to his office has been wearing cowboy boots and being photographed in an airplane, appear too headline-hungry in offering blanket pardons to any of the lynchings who may be arrested and convicted. Such announcements are more or less expected from Hollywood's erratic film colony, and even from Amiee McPherson, but they smack of cheap publicity and are hardly becoming to the state's chief executive.

If California can find any thing to be proud of in the San Jose affair, it is in the actions of Sheriff John Emig, who resisted the mob until he was beaten into unconsciousness. The prisoners were his charges, and it was his duty to defend them or to turn in his badge and join the lynchings. He wanted his job, so he defended his prisoners as long as he retained consciousness.

There's a lesson in Sheriff Emig's fulfillment of his office that Governor Rolph would do well to emulate.

Governmental Glances

BY ASSEMBLYMAN GEORGE R. BLISS

12—C. W. A.

THE Civil Works Administration is one of the most practical, direct and logical recovery projects which the National Administration has yet undertaken. A year ago this statement would have been agreed to by a relatively few people, but today this paternalistic step is meeting the approval of a very large portion of the people of the nation.

Under the Civil Works Administration the Federal government is hiring labor directly, skilled and unskilled, to carry on projects of a public works character for the national, state, city and local governments. Regardless of how it came about, or the underlying reason therefore, we know that there is extensive unemployment. Whatever the cause, as long as this unemployment continues, recovery is retarded since a large proportion of the citizens have no money with which to buy the products of industry.

No matter how much new money is put into circulation by inflation or otherwise, it is only a medium of exchange. The only commodity which most people have to offer in exchange is their time and labor of either brain or brawn. If there is no demand for this labor, no matter how cheap money may become, there is no use for the money and the commodity price level will remain low.

Plainly then, anything which will stimulate the demand for labor, either of the muscle variety or the mind variety, will promote exchange, will increase the velocity of money transfer and will raise the commodity price level. Since private industry is temporarily, or, as some believe, permanently, due to machine age conditions, unable to use the available man hours of the nation, the government is doing the logical thing in stepping into the breach and stimulating the demand for labor. The Public Works Administration (P. W. A.), the Civilian Conservation Corps (C. C. C.), and now the Civil Works Administration, are all similar projects providing employment by the government.

That feature of the C.W.A. which specifies a normal rate of compensation instead of a subsistence rate is thoroughly sound. It is absolutely vital to maintain a high economic compensation rate if a proper economic balance is to be maintained between income from use of time (wages and salaries and professional fees), and the use of property (rentals, dividends, interest and profit). Low wages under the C. W. A. would lower wages in private industry, which might seem fine and dandy to each individual employer, but would spell widespread economic disaster over the entire nation. High wages and salaries under the P. W. A. will force private wages and salaries to higher levels, which is essential to recovery.

At the same time the money thus spent by the government will stimulate private business generally, for it will be spent by the recipients for the products of private industry, i. e., food, clothing, and shelter needs, or for the payment of debts to private creditors who will in turn have these payments available for purchase of commodities.

The character of the project on which the money is spent may make or wreck the scheme. They should be of a kind not to compete with private industry. Roads are an example. Similarly public parks and the great forest areas are two other examples of institutions, upon which C. W. A. money can well be spent. In fact anything which the community as a whole may safely carry on as a government function better than can be carried on by private industry, is a proper subject for P. W. A. activity. The money should not be used to assist publicly owned public utilities in competition with privately owned utilities. Nor should it be used to repair or put in order government conducted stores, manufacturing plants or other government activities which are competing with similar private businesses.

There are two great major methods of attacking the problem of unemployment. One is to shorten working hours in private industries, the other is for the government to employ men liberally upon government works projects. The latter course has several things in its favor—it leaves the number of working hours in private industry to adjustment by the laws of supply and demand. It takes care of conservation of our water shed, our timber lands, our recreational facilities, which no private industry will do, because there is no profit in it to any one person or one company. The profit advantage is to the whole country, to undertake such work. Road building is in the same class.

Money for this work may be properly obtained by the government by borrowing if it is viewed as an emergency need. But all indications are that the need is permanent, and sooner or later we must set ourselves resolutely to the task of financing large public works by taxation on the pay-as-you-go basis. If private industry is allowed to develop naturally under economic laws with a minimum but yet a reasonable amount of government supervision, there should be sufficient income to make possible a system of income and inheritance taxes, bearing particularly upon those who are most favored under our capitalistic system, to finance in full a large scale public works program not only until February 15th, or during 1934, but for 1935 and all the years thereafter.

As long as we have vast natural resources, cheap power, automatic machinery, and brainy citizens, and along with all this have need for more roads, more parks and more development and care of our natural resources—as well as hungry people needing better clothes and houses—and as long as our only explanation for this anomaly seems to be that the profit motive won't work in the face of plenty, the logical solution, if we are to preserve our capitalistic system, is to encourage business to make a profit even though it be somewhat excessive; then tap the excess profit to finance the great cooperative public work projects which no private industry can afford to carry on, and in the operation of which private industry will be stimulated and kept healthy.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held on Thursday in branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Thanksgiving." The Golden Text is from II Corinthians: "All things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many rebound to the glory of God."

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from the Psalms: "Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks: for that thy name is near thy wonderous works declare . . . . Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. . . . Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. . . . O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good: for His mercy endureth forever."

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, state: "If our petitions are sincere, we labor for what we ask; and our Father, who seeth in secret, will reward us openly." "While the heart is far from divine Truth and Love, we cannot conceal the ingratitude of barren lives."

Rome,
August, — 400 B. C.

Dear Mrs. Rystrom:
I certainly have a nice home over here in Rome and have lots of fun going to feasts and seeing the gladiators fight. I went to a fight last Friday and it was the best one I have ever seen. Augustus was about to take his last stroke on his enemy, Sulla, when his sword missed and Sulla was quick to jump on him. This was the end of Augustus. It certainly was a great fight and the cheering was so loud that it almost broke my eardrums. I wish you would plan to come to see me as soon as the low rates are put into effect for the opening of the new Forum.

Your loving cousin,
Diane. (Beverly Humphreys).

Mrs. Clarence Cadwell will entertain with a luncheon tomorrow honoring John Gill and his sister, Mrs. Rolland Newman, of Santa Barbara. Mr. Ray was a resident of Santa Barbara twenty years ago and has just returned from Monterey to make Santa Barbara his home again.

Carpinteria May Get New Pleasure Pier

Frank Dunne, in considering suggested projects which fall under the Unemployment Relief Drive.

Members of the Pier Committee stated yesterday that although there is no definite assurance that the pier project will be approved, the committee hopes to assemble the data and information for submission to the State Commission so as to meet the Federal requirements of 35 percent for materials and supervision and 65 percent for labor costs.

Committee members pointed out that the present site of the "stub" pier at Cerca del Mar is not practical for several reasons, foremost among which was mentioned the fact that it is in line with the mouth of Carpinteria Creek. Heavy rains, it was stated, would result in the virtual bombarding of the pier piling by tons of debris emptying into the ocean from the swollen stream.

"There are a number of more suitable locations west of the creek mouth," declared one committeeman. "Toward Linden avenue from Palm the bathing beach is better and there is less likelihood of a pile driver encountering the strata of hard pan that was struck when the present stub was put out. The committee's task is two-fold. One job is to secure figures which will conform to the administration's proportion of 35 percent for materials and 65 percent for labor. The other task is to convince the State Park Commission and the men in charge of approving Federal Unemployment Relief projects that the proposed pier would benefit a wide surrounding area as well as afford inlanders an added incentive for utilizing the new Maricopa-Coast road and visiting our beach. If we can manage those two things, the realization of a pier for Carpinteria is only a matter of months."

The Pier Committee is composed of Charles Batsch, chairman; Clarence Sawyer, Frank Smith, Warren Tobey, George McLean and Paulsen Visel.

Grammar School

The main feature of the upper grade assembly on Friday, November 24th, will be a talk by Frank Wymond, Jr., who will tell of his recent trip to the Scout Jamboree in Hungary. The Girl's Glee club will sing and there will be a short educational film.

Playing house is a most desirable activity in the kindergarten. There are dolls to be dressed and fed, floors to sweep, dishes to wash and beds to be made. The little kindergarten mothers take the care and feeding of "their children" very seriously and in the course of their play a need for a grocery store was felt where supplies for feeding the doll family could be secured. Out of this need developed a grocery store activity which has grown until Miss Smith is now wondering where to put the children, as such quantities of supplies over-run the shelves and counters. The kindergarten children have been busy now for weeks bringing in all sorts of empty cartons and boxes. Many clay objects have been made also, such as clay avacados, apples, bananas, potatoes, strawberries, etc., as well as bakery goods. The activity has involved the learning of habits of courtesy, kindness the educational instead of the entertainment angle."

A feature of this part of the day's program will be a puppet show, staged as an example of the coordination of social study methods. The script for the show has been done by the English classes, the puppets and scenery by the art pupils, the manual training department built the stage, puppet's costumes will be by the sewing classes, while the social studies groups have done the research work and developed the material for the piece.

Following the assembly program local and visiting teachers will hold a discursive period, when various phases of social studies work will be taken up in open forum.

and cooperation. The children are learning new words for their vocabulary—neatness in store arrangement—the value of money and an appreciation for the services of the groceryman.

The following Junior assembly program will be presented today: Salute to Flag, America, Assembly; Description of Silo, second grade; The Thanksgiving Story, first grade; Song kindergarten; Original Poem, third grade; Song, first grade; Buying a Thanksgiving Dinner, third grade; Song—Mr. Duck and Mr. Turkey, third grade; Talk about their Grocery Store, kindergarten; Exhibit and description of Japanese Rainhats, third grade; Song, first grade; Good-bye Song, Assembly.

and that was the very work prescribed by the new course of study in social studies. Never could two subjects have combined with each other so satisfactorily.

The first thing we had to do, of course, was to determine just what we would need to make our unit a success. Books seemed to be first, and these were secured from the County Library. There are some very lovely ones, too. Then pictures, magazines, paper, clay, wood and countless other materials had to be collected. One of the most important and urgent needs was a very large activity table, and it seemed almost like a dream one morning when we looked up and saw four big boys bringing in the finest one we could have imagined—made especially for us.

The second graders have worked very hard on the Indian half of the unit and the fourth graders have done a splendid piece of work on the covered wagons, oxen, horses and stockades.

Indian life and California history are being absorbed in a most interesting and worthwhile way, and a
