Freshmen, Sophomores Hold Spotlight With Traditional Mud Brawl, Dance

Fur Flies as Underclassmen Strive for Campus Supremacy

Mud, insults, freshmen, and sophomores will be flying this afternoon at 4 p.m. on Phelps field when the lower division classmen stage their annual mud brawl.

Rules and regulations are thrown to the wind as the underclassmen enter the "life and death" battle to determine which group will hold power on campus for the remainder of the year. According to tradition, if the freshmen class wins they will no longer be required to wear the Green and White rooters caps on campus.

According to an announcement from the administrative offices, the mud brawl has been postponed until a later date as "members of the junior class have failed to accept the responsibility for preparing the field and selecting referees for the event." Jack Hayner, class president, explained that students would not turn out to help in digging up the field.

The brawl will consist of three events, a tug of war, with twenty men on a side; a man on horse event, allowing thirty man teams, and finally the free-for-all. The free-for-all takes the spotlight in the day's events as it combines all the finer qualities of murder, mayhem, and assault and battery.

Object of the final battle is for one team to remove all the members of the opposing class from the mud pit. The only rule seems to be that if any part of a man's body touches the outside line he is officially ruled out.

Leading a veteran team into battle will be Jack Erickson, sophomore president, while the neophytes will enter the pit under the leadership of President Bill Starr.

Debaters Hold Initial Meet

First meeting of the prospective debate squad took place Monday under the direction of Frederic W. Hile and Lou Sarracino, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensics society.

Plans were laid out for the forthcoming third annual Freshman Impromptu-Speaking contest to be held this Wednesday at 4 p.m. This contest is sponsored by the division of speech and Tau Kappa Alpha, with the intention of getting freshmen who are interested in forensics, regardless of experience to participate in debate activities. The subject for the contest will be current news events.

Several members of last year's debate team were present and the trips for this year were discussed. As yet no definite plans have been made.

WAA SLATES SUPPER

Active and associate members of the Women's Athletic association will hold a general meeting on Wednesday, at 5:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. New women interested are welcome to come. Supper will be served for 25 cents.

Swing Band Appears at Tuesday Meet

Sheldon, Ausman Hold
 Spotlight in Swingfest

Gauchos' swing band will be the spotlight attraction at the regular student body assembly to be held next Tuesday during the fourth hour in the college auditorium. Dick O'Brien, director of assemblies, has announced that Russ Haney will be the master of ceremonies.

This assembly is just what the students have been asking for," declared O'Brien, "the band is composed of music majors who are all excellent musicians." Among some of the tunes to be played are "Trumpet Blues," "I Got a Gal in Kalamazoo," "Sorgum Switch," "He's My Gog," "Ten Mile Hop," and Harry James immortal "You Made Me Love You." Rathburn Shelton will take the solo in "Trumpet Blues," and Jean Ausman will handle the vocals throughout the program.

The orchestra is composed of eleven men and two women, with Maurice Faulkner, music instructor, as leader. Shelton, Sid Le Granduer, and Bill Marvel are trumpet players with Bob Runge, Ray Wessinger, Ward King, and Tito Gorrindo in charge of the saxophone arrangements. Other spots in the band are held down by Bill Lieber, bass; Paul Kliss, piano; Vernon Leidig, drums; Jeanne Bornehurst, harp; and Bob Alderson, guitar.

Last Monday night the band held a special performance for the soldiers at Hoff hospital under the auspices of the American Red Cross. This was the orchestra's initial appearance for this year.

"It is hoped that the student body will make it a point to attend the general assemblies," concluded Dick, "as the programs for this year and the following meetings are of an excellent nature."

Local Museum Announces Fall Lecture Series

Color Films Accompany
 Scientific Discussions

Of interest to all students on campus and particularly science majors is the fall lecture series given under the auspices of the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History, which opens Sunday, October 18, at 3 p.m.

The initial lecture "Dawn Over Africa" will be given by Alva Hamilton Singer and will be supplemented by colored motion pictures.

Slated for Sunday, November 1, at 3 p.m. Alfred Milotte's lecture on "Alaska's New Highway" will also be given in conjunction with supplementary color films, while the depiction of prehistoric life will be the subject of Charles R. Knight's lecture "Through the Ages" on Sunday, November 15.

"The Human Adventure" a description of the rise of man will be the fourth of the series, augmented by sound-color films, and is slated for Sunday, November 29. Fifth and final on the program will be Edward Harrison's talk on "Bird Life" also given in conjunction with technicolor films.

Tickets to these lectures may be obtained from Dr. Charles D. Woodhouse on campus this week. Science department heads urge student attendance at this educational series.

World-Famous Aviatix Sees Women's Place in Air Force

American women are not being given the chance they deserve in the field of navigation, is the opinion voiced by Bessie Owen, aviatix par excellence and new member of the Santa Barbara State college faculty.

Miss Owen, speaking in clipping tones, avered that women in America are capable of taking their places behind the controls of huge flying fortresses just as the women enlisted in the English ferry command are doing, but that they will not be allowed to do so until it is well nigh too late. She believes firmly that the so-called weaker sex deserves the opportunity to fly planes in wartime just as much as they deserve the jobs delegated them in defense plants.

In 1924 Miss Owen began flying and has been at it ever since. This aerial career reached a peak in 1936-37 when the intrepid Owen set out from Santa Barbara in her little plane, the Waco, flew cross country to New York on the first lap of a flight itinerary which was to wing her across the world. Upon her return to the Channel city and her home in Montecito, she turned writer and recounted her flying adventures in book form. Name of the book which was published last year is "Aerial Vagabond."

Instructor in navigation on the Mesa campus, Miss Owen now goes across the Sierras in order to fly a few hours once in a while. In addition to her duties as an instructor she has an airplane spotting post out in Montecito which she has staffed with capable women volunteers.

Junior Class Officers Climax 'Battle' With Survival Swing

Following the Freshman-Sophomore mud brawl, the junior class will carry out an annual tradition by sponsoring a "Survival Swing" at Junipero Serra hall tonight from 9 to 12.

Jack Hayner, junior class president, announced this affair as the first backward dance of the year. "Girls are to ask the fellows, and if there's a big enough response, we'll have other similar dances," he added.

Climax of the affair will be the awarding of the traditional victory cup. The award will be given by Hayner to the president of the class which wins the Despite postponement of the mud brawl, the junior class will sponsor a dance at Junipero Serra hall tonight.

JOHN FALXA
 Chides Lethargy

Council Urges Court Revival, Conservation

From the bubbles of a lukewarm session of routine reports, Legislative council snapped to attention when the question of Kangaroo Court's non-existence was posed. Convening in the music hall in the regular meeting last night, student leaders were aroused by the chide handed out by President John Falxa.

"Things have gone lax at some points," he said. "In the case of the Mud Brawl which was cancelled late today, it was the sole fault of the junior class." Representatives Elenita De la Cuesta and Bob Hart were instructed to inform their class of the council's sentiment.

This omission of tradition-consciousness primed Chuck Crow to inquire of Wilf Seaman, Activities Control board chairman, why Kangaroo Court had not made an appearance this year? Sophomore Squires, policemen for the court, have been inactive headed the explanation to the effect that there has been a sharp lack of cooperation in trying to put the plan in working order.

Since it was felt that Kangaroo Court is a necessary part of Gaucholand, a large group of volunteers declared their intentions to see that a court will be staged prior to the Mud Brawl, now scheduled for next Friday.

With three main points, the conservative program conceived by student representatives at a meeting Monday will be pushed, it was announced by Chairman Tom Loeffler. This program amplifies the original Walk-a-Date plan proposed by Tau Omega fraternity, and aims to encourage collegians (1) to walk whenever possible, (2) share cars when it is possible and (3) abide by all rules of safety.

mud brawl held this afternoon at Phelps field.

Cords and gingham are in order, and admission is thirty cents a couple plus student body cards. Stags, either men or women, will be required to pay twenty-five cents. Tickets may be purchased from Graduate Manager Bill Russell, or members of the junior class cabinet.

Refreshments will be served by the class officers. The dance will further the "conservation" idea, that is of walking your date whenever possible. The latter plan is an adaption of the former "Walk-your-date" arrangement.

Sponsors will be Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chenoweth, Dr. and Mrs. Lynne Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nair, Dr. and Mrs. Willard McRary and Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Noble.

Class officers in charge of the event are: President Jack Hayner; vice-president, Wilf Seaman; secretary-treasurer, Dorothy Hopper; social chairmen, Frances Bedford and Bob Etchart; publicity chairman, Sal Jimenez; sergeant-at-arms, Bill Jackson.

A Cappella Elects Officers

Elections of officers were held this week by A Cappella choir.

Thornton Marker was elected president; Paul Kliss, vice president; Lorraine File, secretary; Rodney Calvin, librarian; Van Vander Bie, chairman of publicity.

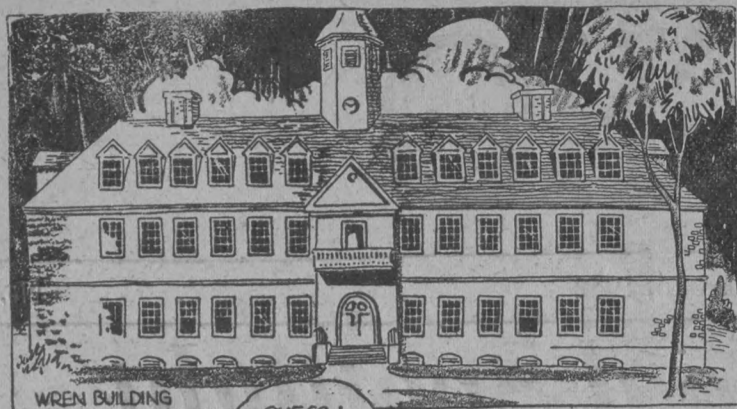

The choir, under the direction of Dr. Van A. Christy, is aiding in the production of the coming musical, "The Pirates of Penzance."

Pickers

Gauchos Aid Lemon Growers

Carpenteria Lemon association has announced the need of men and women to pick lemons on Saturdays. Pay starts at 32 cents an hour, plus eight cents extra for each box picked.

Those interested should sign on the bulletin board in the administration building before noon today and be ready to leave on a bus from the bus stop in front of the college at 7:45 a.m. Workers are advised to bring their lunch, and wear slacks and sturdy shoes.

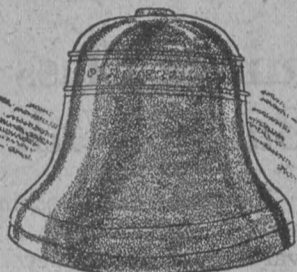

WREN BUILDING

GUESS I DIDN'T MISS MANY OF THEM!

Joe Public May Get Tires While Blabbermouths Foam

And still the gripes are being voiced! Latest gripe of the American Blabbermouth is the fact that the eight or ten tires he is hoarding are going to be taken away from him. Yeah, neighbor. Mr. Blabbermouth is screaming 'Communism' because they are taking away his tires; next door Joe Public, who was not 'farsighted' enough to lay in a stock of a dozen tires, is walking to work, his wife walks down to the corner market, and his kids walk to school—all of three blocks. Joe Public ran his tires down and out, while Blabbermouth has his extras locked up so tightly that even Jimmy Valentine couldn't get to them.

Blabbermouth says, "Aw, let him walk. He just wasn't 'farsighted' enough to stock up."

Get that. "Farsighted" enough. What the big mouth really means is that Joe Public wasn't so selfish, so mean, that he would deprive other motorists of their means of transportation. So now Mrs. Blabbermouth rides to the corner market, Mr. Blabbermouth drives to work, and the kids ride the three blocks to school.

Then along came the first great equalizer—Gas Rationing. All the Blabbermouths found that their fine tires could not take them any further down the highway than could a pair of tires with the tread almost worn off. But a lot of the Blabbermouths found ways and means of getting in with the legitimate holders of cards which entitled them to larger amounts of gas. So they were set again. Now it looks as though the Blabbermouths will be forced to give up their extra tires.

That is the way it should be. There is no reason in the world for one to ride because he is a hoarder—not farsighted—but a hoarder—while his neighbor is walking. That is just about as sensible as one soldier hoarding his bullets so that when the tight spot comes along, he will have bullets, and his comrades will have none.

This is the Democratic Way—the way of life which does not allow one man to profit from another's—call it what you will—patriotism. Patriotism is the word for it. For every man who is not hoarding tires, there is another with tires for his car. Let the Blabbermouths gripe. But spread his tires around so that Joe Public can ride to Burbank, Santa Monica, Hueheme, Goleta, Richmond, Bremerton, or wherever his defense job is. G.B.

Much Ado

By GEORGE BLUMENSON

Last Sunday U. S. Attorney General Biddle made the announcement that Italian aliens would no longer be classed as enemy aliens. In some ways this edict is advantageous to the United States, in some ways it is not. Certainly it will make thousands of alien Italians more American, as the great majority of Italians living in this country have never been for Mussolini in any great numbers—nor are they war-like as are so many of the German aliens. Greater ties have been built up for the United States with these Italian aliens through this latest act of the attorney general.

But on the other side of the ledger comes the announcement from Biddle's office that only 1/20 of one percent of the Italian aliens living in this nation have been arrested for seditious and treasonable activities. Here is the fly in the ointment. Even if there is only another 1/20 of one percent of these aliens engaged in seditious or treasonable activities it may well slow down our war effort. After all, it only takes one man to blow up a munitions factory; one man to broadcast ship sailings and weather reports. All in all, this extra 1/20 of one percent would total only about 280 men, but if those 280 might cause the loss of one American life, the Italians should still be classed as enemies.

And along these lines, we read that certain confession magazines along with a batch of pulp mags have been banned from the mails for being too lurid and sensational.

But we can't help wondering if the Postmaster General is aware of the fact that there is still a goodly number of un-American, un-patriotic, just damn-downright Nazi publications still using the mails. These papers and magazines are undermining this morale. They should and must be stamped out. And their publishers and editors, who are just as guilty of sabotage, espionage, treason and sedition as were the eight men who were landed from the U-boat last June, must be taught a lesson that others of their ilk will not easily forget.

Ode to the Mud Brawl Or, Keep It Clean!

Oh, dainty little piece of mud How well you'd look say I... Reposing happily and comfortably In some poor freshman's eye.

There is the proper spirit The "Let's get in a go!" I'm sure that you are quite aware That the frosh is the sophomore's foe.

So everyone should plan to come To root for their favorite classes, And watch with glee while both sides Intercept the others muddy passes.

It is an old tradition A tradition that's held dear As an event, it is quite annual (That means it's held every year!)

It is high spot of initiation The climax of it all, And by far the dirtiest thing That's happened this fall.

So come along... The day's today The time is 4 o'clock The place is Phelp's field... just a little (oh yeah) walk!

The fellows will be fighting For much more than the glory... The scramble for the showers will Be the battle gory.

There'll be fun for all you kiddies So don't miss your chance, And here's an invitation To attend the victory dance.

Pasatiempo

By NATALIE STEWART

Reveille and not the clang of the morning alarm will awaken Ray Harris henceforth. Ray, in the immediate environs of Santa Barbara State since 1929, became acquainted with every lock and key on the campus, saw to the quick disposal of every particle of dust—Ray was head custodian here.

Ray became a State college landmark, a symbol of efficiency when something needed fixing quickly. Faculty and students alike were well acquainted with Ray for it was he who spirited around the length and breadth of the campus, needing only a pair of seven league boots in order to be twice as many places at once.

Ray was always to be found when the key wouldn't fit or a new electric light was needed, when a window was jammed or when the heater required expert attention.

As it must to all men, the government finally got around to calling for Ray Harris. He left State college this week as a U.S. Army recruit. Here's wishing him luck.

And finally we've heard what happened to the Women's Defense Battalion, organized on the campus last year as a voluntary group for instruction in first aid, drill, and civilian defense training. After the first flurry of excitement died, most of the enthusiasm for the venture also abated.

This year a similar program is on tap with two units of college credit making it attractive for the enrollee. Military drill and first aid will be taught. The course is being offered as a prep course for enlistment in either the W.A.A.C.s or the Waves and should be of value for the woman who plans to don a uniform shortly.

OPA Eases Gas Problem

That extra supplies of gasoline will probably be issued to students and faculty members when the Pacific coast is affected with gas rationing, was announced recently by a spokesman from the San Francisco office of the Office of Price Administration.

He reported that students and faculty members in the eastern states already affected by the gas rationing have received cards entitling them to additional gasoline. He added that West coast residents would probably have the same privilege.

Showing this week; ugly stain on the honor of the junior class. At a late hour yesterday the Mud Brawl, under that crass direction, was called off for the reason that not enough assistance was available to spade the terrain. Last year, we recall, the junior president (A/C STAN BARTLETT, now in basic flight training at Taft) did the major portion of the job alone, so that a revered SBSC tradition would not die. Apparently, that devotion is missing among leaders of this year's juniors.

United by ring-with-rock: DOROTHY HOPPER and JACK HAYNER (going steady, 2 years); PAULA FREIL and EUGENE WELLS (dating, 2 months).

LOU MORHEIM, cast principal in the forthcoming "Mr. and Mrs. North," finds himself behind the KDB mike on Wednesday nights.

SHIRLEY PARKER, eyesome frosh, according to housemate, "joined the classes to meet the boys, keeps the boys to pass the classes." Algebra and trig are worries, aided and abetted by a constantly ringing telephone.

Even the best men are bound to fall, this theory validated by the submission of rugged and beloved GEORGE ("Jesse") JAMES. She who did it: MARGE SIMMONS.

A quick telephone survey re: those tasks which are disliked most resulted in the following answers: ED ROETH, work—of any kind; ELAINE STAKS, drinking (we-lll!); CARL FISHER, having his face slapped; JOHN DOWLEY, getting up in the morning; GLORIA BRADLEY and MARION BROWN, studying; DOROTHY DEPWEG and BUCK LEVINE, doing dishes.

Fraternities Present Bids Today; Hellenes Schedule Open Houses

Varied Greek open house programs brought a close to the fall fraternity rush season this week as the four campus societies placed bids for new members in the student mailbox today.

BETA SIGMA CHI

Beta Sig held its open house on Monday evening with about 50 men attending. A meeting was held first at the house where a few words were spoken by Dean Russell A. Buchanan, President Russ Haney, and pledge captain, Werner Hutsing.

From there they adjourned to the skating rink for the evening's entertainment. Later they returned to the house where the climax of the evening afforded games, stunts, and refreshments.

GAMMA SIGMA PI

Tuesday night marked the open house of Gamma Sig held at their fraternity house. Scheduled for tomorrow night is their pledge party.

In addition, plans for a rematch football game with Sig Alph were made with the date sometime in the near future.

SIGMA ALPHA KAPPA

Meeting at the home of President Dick O'Brien, Sig Alphas made final plans for their open house held last night at Junipero Serra hall.

Also discussed was the forthcoming inter-fraternity dance to be also at Junipero Serra hall on October 30.

TAU OMEGA

Open house for Tau Omega was held Wednesday night at the Elk's club with special entertainment, novelty parlor games, and motion pictures. Their Monday evening meeting was devoted to making final preparations for the open house program and in discussing the coming pledging dinner.

Pan-Hellenic Council Holds Annual Tea

Using the traditional Chinese theme, the annual Pan Hellenic tea will be held Sunday afternoon in the AWS clubroom from 3 to 5 to acquaint all new women with the functions and activities of the campus social sororities, according to Pat Clark, general chairman.

Decorations will be carried out with lanterns and brightly colored parasols. The guests for the event will include all new women from the spring and fall semesters, sorority women, faculty sponsors and patronesses.

Miss Lois M. Bennink, dean of women, and Miss Florence Clark, will act as faculty sponsors for the tea.

Included on the committees, made up of sorority presidents, are Barbara Edmondson, hostesses; Willa Fairfield, display case; Barbara Harrison, tables; Dorothy Swedling, clean-up; Evelyn MacDonald, decorations; Mary Roberts, serving; Peggy Lou Anderson, refreshments; Ellen Scully, tags and door; Rebecca Wyler, invitations; and Ruthe Suggs, publicity.

The display case, which shows the pin and paddle of each organization will be of special interest to all new women. Also included in the case are programs and bids from various Pan Hellenic activities of the past year.

All women interested in attending this event are urged to do so, according to Miss Clark, whether they received an invitation or not.

Sorority members were busy this week with plans for faculty and rush affairs, forthcoming parties, and many plans to help with the war effort.

TAU GAMMA SIGMA

Monday meeting of Tau Gam was held in the form of a buffet supper at the home of Dwalla May. Plans were made for members to serve as hostesses at the USO Center on Tuesdays, and three members were planned to represent the sorority at the Snack Bar next Thursday.

Final arrangements for the in-house tea were made. It will be held on October 27, at the home of Ruth Bailey.

SIGMA DELTA PHI

Sigma Delta Phi meeting was held following a dinner. Martha Jane Adcott gave the report on the work done by her committee at the Snack Bar on October 11.

Final arrangements for the informal date party to be held next Saturday were made. This will be a dinner dance at the sorority house.

DELTA ZETA DELTA

Following the brief business meeting, the Delta Zetes spent their time writing Round-Robin letters to the active members who are off the campus this semester.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON

At the regular meeting Monday night, the Delta Sigs discussed plans for the forthcoming open house parties, the first of which is to be held on November 4.

A dinner at the house, to be held on December 5 was announced and arrangements for a joint meeting with Gamma Delta Chi in the form of a potluck supper was discussed. It will be held at the Delta Sig house, next Monday.

GAMMA DELTA CHI

Plans were made at the Monday night meeting for the sorority to enlist their services to further the war effort by picking lemons on Saturdays. The proceeds will go for defense stamps and bonds.

ALPHA THETA CHI

Members of Alpha Theta Chi held a meeting at the home of Patsy Bass, on Monday evening. Plans were considered for the senior breakfast, and it was decided that the first rush tea will be held at the home of Eleanor Lawrence. Following the meeting a formal initiation was held for Mrs. Homer C. Thompson, the new patroness for the sorority.

PHI KAPPA GAMMA

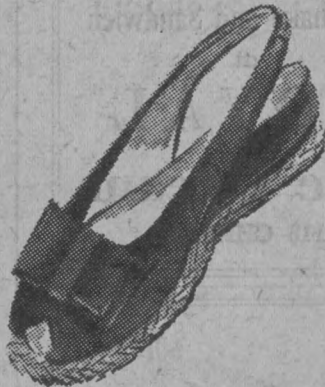

Regular meeting of Phi Kappa Gamma was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Addicott. Following dinner a business meeting was held in which the forthcoming teas were the chief topic of discussion. A breakfast was planned for tomorrow morning.

Friday Recreational Program Opens for Students, Faculty

Students and faculty will meet in a mixed volleyball game next Friday on the lawn in front of the gymnasium at 3 p.m. as the first event in the newly planned Friday afternoon recreational programs gets underway. Sponsored by the women's education department, everyone on campus is asked to participate. Individual sports of badminton and table tennis will be available for those who do not wish to take part in the volleyball game.

In answer to student's requests for such a program on campus, plans are being laid for similar programs every Friday afternoon at this time. These are to consist of one main event and individual sports. Such a program has been tried in many of the larger universities in western states.

It is hoped that arrangements can be made for the use of the bowling alleys for one afternoon's main event. Old time dancing, horseback riding, baseball and other activities will be sponsored throughout the year, always accompanied by badminton, table tennis and shuffleboard.

Faculty and students of the women's physical education department will act as hostesses, according to Miss Elizabeth Sehon, head of the department. She advises that those who come out wear comfortable sportswear or gym costume and low-heeled shoes, preferably tennis shoes. Activities will terminate at 5.

Women Athletes Aid Grop-Gathering

Women of the physical education department will answer their country's call tomorrow by an all-out turn out to the lemon groves.

Because of the shortage of men to pick lemons many growers associations have found it successful to hire women to do the work. In an effort to keep crops from rotting on the trees students are volunteering to work on Saturdays, it was announced.

US Air Corps Enlists Men For Training

Gauchos Prepare Papers For Campus Enlistment

An opportunity to qualify as an Army Aviation cadet will be given Santa Barbara State college students on October 29, 30 and 31, it was announced yesterday.

The Los Angeles Aviation Cadet examining board will travel to Santa Barbara on those dates and give both physical and mental examinations to those young men who wish to become commissioned officers in the air forces.

Aviation cadets receive $75 monthly and $1 a day subsistence pay during their seven month training period. Upon completion of the course as either a pilot, navigator or bombardier they receive commissions and up to $327 per month salary, it was announced. In addition, cadets receive free life insurance, free hospitalization and medical care in case of illness.

Upon receiving their commissions aviation cadets are allowed $150 for the purchase of uniforms and are also given all other privileges granted regular army officers.

In order to qualify as an aviation cadet students must present, with their application, three letters of recommendation and their birth certificate. They must pass a screening examination of the multiple answer type of 150 questions with a grade of at least 80. This examination covers general knowledge in vocabulary, current events, simple math, and mechanical problems. The regular army physical examination with the exception that cadets must have 20/20 vision and normal color perception.

Examinations will be given on the dates mentioned at the high school armory (south end of Peabody stadium). Application blanks and further information may be obtained from Joe McFarland, 1019 State street.

Applicants under 21 years of age must have their parents' consent.

CHARLES D. WOODHOUSE Directs War Training

Women Join Science Class

In compliance to the needs of women entering the auxiliary military services of the army, navy, and air force, a new course has been added to the curriculum of Santa Barbara State college this year. Listed as military science for women, work given includes first aid and military drill.

Meeting 8th and 9th hours on Wednesdays, in room 30, the first hour is spent in marching. Students study first aid during the last part of the period.

The enrollment in this class is as yet small. It is hoped by C. D. Woodhouse, defense coordinator on campus, and instructor of the class, that there will be many more taking part in this activity within the next month. "It is excellent training for those entering the W.A.A.C. and W.A.V.S. It is a stepping stone to receiving a better rating on enlistment," Woodhouse commented.

Dirty Sevens, Sig Alphas Vie For Title

Campus Squads Open Second Week of Play

Resulting from last week's bitterly fought games, top honors in the intramural football circuit are now claimed by the Dirty Sevens and the Sig Alphas, both of whom have two wins and no losses. Both grid teams boast the percentage of 1.000 to date.

Second place is also claimed by two teams, namely the Beta Sigs and the Independents, with one win and one loss apiece, with a percentage of .500.

Sparked by ex-varsity gridders Ernie Saenz, Butch Engle and Jessie James, the Dirty Seven sextet swamped the Gamma Sigs, 15-6 last week, while this week they soundly trounced the Naval Section base, 21-7.

Beta Sig gridders eked out a 7-0 win over a hard-fighting Independent squad, and the Sig Alphas nosed out the Gamma Sigs, 14-12 in a bitterly-fought contest this week.

Monday the Dirty Sevens will try to cop first place when they tangle with the Freshman A's, while on Tuesday the Independents meet the Gamma Sigs. Wednesday the Sig Alphas and the Navy Section base clash and Beta Sigs meet Freshman B's on Thursday.
