Facilities and equipment were also inspected on the Mesa campus and the new campus site at Goleta.

An inspection of the ROTC Battalion was held at the Mesa field as the last feature of the visit.

Final payment on the yearbooks must be made upon announcement of arrival of the copies, at which time receipts may be brought to the Graduate Manager's office.

Budget Cuts May Delete New Building

An Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee voted today to knock the $840,000 music building out of the University of California's 1953-54 budget, but local college officials hope that the full committee will restore it.

"As yet we have received no information on this proposed cut. If the construction of the music building is to be deleted from the budget, it will be a great disappointment to us. In that event this request would receive priority on our 1954-55 budget," said Dean Elmer R. Noble.

The Associated Press reported that the music building cut was the second largest cut moved by Assemblyman Hinkley, and yet to be considered by the whole committee.

Legislative Auditor A. Alan Post spoke in favor of deleting the music building declaring, "Music buildings in private institutions sometimes wait 20, 30, 40, or even 50 years."

The proposed building is to be located as a part of the future auditorium on the east axis of the new campus. Temporary buildings have been provided for the music department, since the permanent structure was not expected to have been completed by the scheduled move to Goleta next year.

Assistant Graduate Manager Job Open

The position as an assistant to the Graduate Manager is open for some male student who can devote 15 to 20 hours a week doing general office work and working in the evening on the production of plays and athletics.

An upper classman who is an economics major is preferred for the job, but this requirement is not essential. The position will begin with the opening of school in September and should provide good experience. The position is now held by Bill Stoner who is graduating in June.

Any men students interested may apply in the Graduate Manager's office to Bob Lorden.

A Letter To Your Congressman...

An immediate threat to all veterans of the Korean war now attending public colleges and universities under the Korean bill has made its appearance in congress as the Nixon amendment to PL 550. It threatens to reduce subsistence benefits to veterans from the $100 a month now received, to a base of $80, $5 more than WW II veterans were getting five years ago. This will be the result of action taken by an organization of private colleges and universities under the leadership of the University of Southern California and Syracuse University, their paid lobbyists in Washington and the activities of the American Legion and Vice-President Nixon.

To understand the Nixon amendment, let us first review the GI bill for WW II veterans, or PL 346. Under this law a single veteran received $75 a month subsistence plus his books, supplies and tuition. A married veteran received proportionately more. The purpose of the bill was to provide the means for an education for any man whose education had been interrupted by the war.

As a result of the Korean conflict, the need was felt for legislation on a bill for Korean veterans. However, in view of the unfair practices that occurred with PL 346, the legislature, under the recommendation of every major educational group, veterans organization, State Department and governmental agency which has gained experience under the old act, decided to offer aid to the veteran, but not the means to an education. The result of this was PL 550 or the Korean bill. It supplies the veteran with $110 a month, but doesn't pay for his books and tuition.

What the Nixon amendment would do is this. Reduce payments to the individual veteran to $80 a month, then, pay his books and tuition fees for him to a sum not to exceed $40 a month. The result to a single veteran at UCSBC would be this. He would receive $95 a month, or $15 a month less than now. A student at Stanford or USC on the other hand would receive $120 a month or $10 a month more than he is receiving now, and $25 a month or a third more than a student at UCSBC.

The private colleges state that as the bill now stands it forces veterans to go to public colleges. Yet actually, there is only a seven percent variable in attendance between PL 346 and PL 550 veterans in favor of the public institutions and at that the public colleges are still getting half of the veterans going to school on the Korean bill.

Actually the Nixon amendment is not fully supported by the private colleges. The American Council on Education sent out an opinionnaire to member colleges, half of which are private and half are public. Of those answering, 355 either did not want to change the bill now, or in the future, while only 144 were definitely in favor of the Nixon Amendment.

For all of the above, USC and Syracuse University still have their paid lobbyists in Washington agitating for this amendment. They have also persuaded the American Legion, supposedly a veteran representative organization, to back their plan officially.

This Spring there are 48 Korean veterans registered at UCSBC. The administration expects 100 by next fall and can foresee in the future where half the student body will again be veterans as it was in 1948 when 53 percent of the student body was composed of WW II veterans. The cost of the Nixon amendment to these veterans, if it goes through, is tremendous, and largely through their action is the one possible means of curtailing it.

One of the big reasons it wasn't passed when first introduced was because there had been few complaints by veterans of the present set-up. If each and every veteran would write his congressman and the Veterans Administration a letter, indicating he knows the facts and is not in favor of the amendment, the private interests of the private colleges can be undermined. Two letters, now, from each veteran will do the job.

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Yesterday someone UP ON THE HILL asked me if I had filled out the evaluation sheet which was in the issue two weeks back. I had already totaled up the score of my girl friend, so he bluntly asked what score she had made. Being a rather reluctant character in view of recent happenings, I tried to keep from making a statement on the subject—knowing that by the time our rumor factory was through with my statement it would bear as little resemblance to what I had said as Marilyn Monroe resembles Gravel Gertie.

I tried carefully to explain that I am not saying anything at all now, because if I did I would be attacked for what people thought I had said, what they had thought I had implied, or even worse, I would be accused of what someone had thought that I thought. I refused to tell him my girl friend's rating.

My friend (by now an ex-friend) became angry when I refused to reveal the score. I became angry because he became angry, he became angrier because I became angry, with the result that I finally had to give in and report that my girl friend's score indicated a strong 400 plus rating, and by the score evaluations I should have immediately hustled to the altar since I am not a Naval Reservist.

This information placated my friend slightly, but being un-diplomatic again, he asked what I liked best in a girl, and which were the most important things to consider in selecting a mate. I replied that I have now made it a policy to avoid, wherever possible the subjects of politics, IFC, religion, Eisenhower, and girl friends. When I saw the first flush of anger begin to return, I took the initiative and started to walk away. He walked with me. Result, I had to talk about the oposite sex.

Unfortunately I hit many sore points in my discussion. I first told this person that I liked girls who like the finer things in life. (An unfortunate statement.)—You mean like Baseball games, and movies like "Niagara" and Guy Lombardo, and Sammy Kaye, and Vaughn Monroe, and Mickey Spillane, and Little Orphan Annie, and Earl Bostic? he asked.

—No, I said, The finer things.
—Like what? he asks.
—Like good music, the Boston Symphony, good movies like "Place In the Sun" and "Moulin Rouge." Like good books by Hemingway, and Steinbeck, and Joyce, James, Huxley, Mann, and a smattering of Descartes, or Spinoza, or Plato—not too much you understand, and maybe a girl who likes going to the theatre occasionally, and yet a girl who still likes comic strips, and Percy Faith, and Sarah Vaughn, and Louie Armstrong. A girl who would read Mickey Spillane, but wouldn't think him the only author in the world. A girl who likes to see a stage production of "The King and I", and yet still likes to walk on the beach at midnight, a girl who would like to visit Antoine's yet still like to visit Sunseri Brothers on the beach for a hamburger. Some female who could dance to Ralph Flannagan, and still like to sit home and listen to the Standard Hour on Sunday nights. A girl who could look good in a bathing suit, or in jeans, and be as pretty in formal, a Paris original, or an Orbach's special.

—Some woman, I continued, who would like to visit the Hangover and listen to Muggsy Spanier, but who would also like to sit home and exchange ideas on Bartok, or Copland, or Khatchaturian.

My friend moved a little further away.

—Some nice girl who is liked by everyone I know, yet doesn't make an attempt to flirt with or dance with or table hop with anyone who comes along.

By this time my buddy had turned his back and began to hurry down the Quad hall.

—A girl who has some smart, I hollered at him,—some gal who is smart but can be pretty and dumb, and childish at times, a gal who is a combination gypsy and angel. A gal who is kind, and considerate, and domestic, and kittenish, and friendly; yet who has enough conviction to tell me when I'm wrong and to be intelligent enough to do it in a constructive way.

He was gone by this time but I was just finishing up.

—A girl who likes to listen, but also one that can talk intelligently. A female who can grasp ideas and concepts, and yet make her own decision too. A person who is a girl, a woman, a pretty thing, a mature mind, a good mother, a pleasant companion, a quiet person, a talkative wonder, a sweet thing, a strong conviction, a passivity

By this time everyone was looking at me. I stopped my shouting, saw that the student was now out of sight, and I walked away a little slower than I had come—muttering to myself for the three thousandth time that I was never going to discuss politics, IFC, religion, professors or women again. But I salvaged one thing. I

Announcements of campus engagements and marriages during the past year will highlight Chi Omega's fourth annual Carnation Ring Tea, to be given for all women students. The tea will be held at Rockwood, on Mission Canyon Road near the Old Mission, on Sunday, May 21, from 2 to 5 pm. A showing of bridal fashions by Gloria Duff, a young Santa Barbara designer, will begin the afternoon program. Fashions for the bride, her attendants, the mother of the bride and guests at the wedding will be shown for three types of weddings—formal, semi-formal and informal.

Vincent DiFiore will sing, Bob Heron will play selections on the organ to lend a "bridal" atmosphere to the tea, while Sue Bullis will be mistress of ceremonies.

All girls on campus have been invited to attend, whether or not they plan to participate in the ring ceremony.

Coeds announcing engagements and marriages may pick up information blanks and instructions at the Dean of Women's office or at the Chi Omega house this week. The blanks must be returned to the Chi Omega box in the Dean's Office or to Carol Rader at the Chi Omega house by Tuesday, May 26.

Independent women who have been married or engaged previously and who have not had the opportunity to go through the Carnation Ring may do so this year, if they desire.

didn't tell him that if I ever got away from the discussion of topics like this that I might find the words to tell my girl friend that I was thankful that she liked so many different things, and happy that she had never read Mickey Spillane.

Delta Tau Delta will choose a Delta Queen to be presented at their annual Sweetheart Formal Saturday, May 30. A large perpetual trophy will be awarded to the house sponsoring the queen, and

One girl from each sorority will be selected as a candidate for the contest. Joyce Bunting, Pi Beta Phi, was last year's queen, and Molly Thomas, Delta Gamma, and Janice Macabee, Kappa Alpha Theta, were the princesses.

With a registration of 43, the sociology majors are 14 men and 29 women.

SBC NINE ENDS SEASON

Lose to SD Marines, Twice to Aztecs; Third in Conference

The Santa Barbara College baseball team wound up the season on a bizarre note last weekend, losing all three games on a two-day stay in San Diego. The Gauchos dropped an 18-2 decision to the San Diego Marines on Friday and lost a CCAA doubleheader to San Diego State on Saturday.

Jack Butefish, making his first start of the season, was breezing along in fine fashion until the seventh inning against the Marines. The game had been marred by a heavy precipitation since the first inning and then was halted for some 5 minutes at one point. When action resumed, Big Jack had trouble controlling the wet ball and the Leathernecks scored 11 runs. That was the ball game.

Gary Morris hit a fifth-inning home run for the Gauchos.

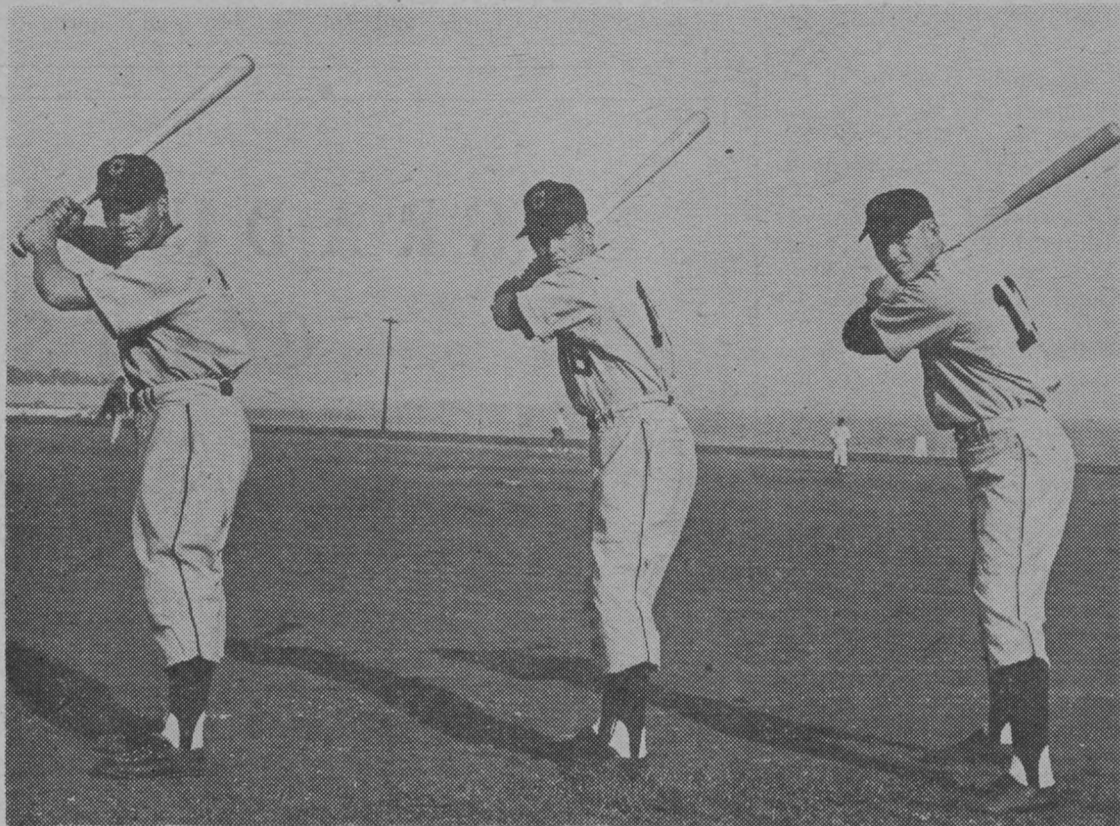

Against the Aztecs on Saturday, the Gauchos had some tough luck. In the opener Jerry McIlvaine pitched beautiful ball, but was victimized by some erratic officiating.

Going into the bottom of the fifth McIlvaine had shut the Aztecs out. Then in that inning Mac continually had trouble with the umpire on the calling of low and outside pitches. If he kept them on the corners they went for balls and if he avoided walking the batter he had to groove it and the hitters teed off.

Captain Bill Davis came to the mound to talk to McIlvaine and also directed some inquiries at the plate umpire about where the strike zone was on that day. The umpire then informed the Gaucha captain to get back to his position, but instead Davis took a couple of steps toward home plate with the intention of talking it over, whereupon the arbiter thumbed him out of the game.

That brought Coach Roy Engle off the bench, but before he could reach the plate, he too was thrown out of the game. That would seem to constitute some kind of a record for long distance ejection in any league and appears to be unusually rash for a college game.

McIlvaine apparently was unsettled by all this and the Aztecs went on to score four runs, which

THREE MAINSTAYS of the Gaucha baseball team this year have been, left to right, Bucky Baird, Gary Morris and Ken Trout. They'll all three be back next year. The Gaucha team ended the season last Saturday with a record of 13 wins and 17 losses and ended up third in the CCAA.

Sailing Recognized As Minor Sport

At a recent meeting of the Sailing Club it was announced that the sailing team, previously sponsored by the Sailing Club, has been given the official status of a minor sport on this campus. Dr. Terry H. Dearborn, coach of the team, has announced that an active schedule of competition will be set for next year in agreement with the Awards Committee's basis for determining awards.

was enough to win the game. In the afterpiece it was Bob Emirhanian, pitching his last game as a Gaucha who was the victim of Lady Luck.

Going into the final inning with a 10-lead, Em was tagged for a home run off the bat of big Walt Hasse. Then a walk, a hit, another walk and a single brought in the winning run.

The Gauchos thus ended the season with a record of 13 wins and 17 losses and a record of 6-9 in conference play, which was good enough for third place.

San Diego, by winning the twin bill, ended in a tie for first place with Fresno State. The championship will be decided this weekend.

The entire first team—not to exceed six members—will be entitled to awards if they are officially recognized as the Pacific Coast champions by the Pacific Coast Inter-Collegiate Racing Association.

A representative schedule shall consist of a series of qualifying races to be run before the first official meet of the season, official participation in the Pacific Coast Inter-Collegiate championship regatta, and at least three dual meets with other colleges or universities.

At present the college has four Southcoast Ten's (ten foot Class sailboats) for use in the competition.

Thornton and Roberts Win Doubles Title

Climaxing a highly successful season, the Santa Barbara College tennis team took second place in the annual CCAA net tourney last Saturday afternoon at the Municipal Stadium.

Paced by doubles squads Ray Thornton-Neil Roberts and Bob Chapman-Joe Zoller plus outstanding play by Captain Jim Flanagan in the singles, the Gauchos piled up 18 points, just four behind the winning total of Los Angeles State College.

After upsetting second-seeded Ziemer and Cowan of Cal Poly in the semi-finals earlier, Thornton and Roberts won a well earned victory over Los Angeles State's top ranked team, 6-2, 6-4, to garner the first doubles crown.

The second doubles division saw Chapman and Zoller knock off another Diablo squad, LeRoy Nelson and Isaac Berman, 6-3, 6-4, to take the division championship.

Flanagan was hard-pressed by Pepperdine's Stagner, before winning the Consolation Round of the second singles division, 6-4, 7-5.

TRIPLE THREAT MAN!

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

The Brains of the Team

Teamwork can work miracles. In a football game the man who sparks these miracles is the quarterback. He's the man who calls the signals. There's a man who calls the signals for an Air Force flying team, too! They call him an Aircraft Observer.

Do YOU have what it takes to become an Aircraft Observer?

It isn't easy. It's tough. You have to be a MAN to qualify as an Aircraft Observer. But when you are one, brother, you're SOMEBODY! The success or failure of a mission involving over a million dollars worth of flight equipment depends on you.

THE AIRCRAFT OBSERVER IS THE SOMEBODY WHO:

As Bombardment Officer, is number one man on a bombing run, the man who controls the plane in the target area!

As Navigation Officer, is the pilot's guiding hand on every flight!

As Radar Officer, is master of a new science and operator of the device that sees beyond human sight!

As Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer, is the one who "keeps the plane flying", the man who knows his plane inside and out, who keeps it fit for the skies and sees that it stays there!

If YOU can accept a challenge like this, you'll take your place beside the best—you'll find your future in the clouds!

TO BE QUALIFIED you must be single, a citizen, between 19 and 26½ years old, have had at least 2 years of college and be in tip top physical shape. If this describes you, then YOU, too, can qualify. Today!

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL GET! The world's best training. Good food and plenty of it. Uniforms, flight clothes, equipment. Medical and dental care. Free insurance. Flight training in Uncle Sam's greatest aircraft.

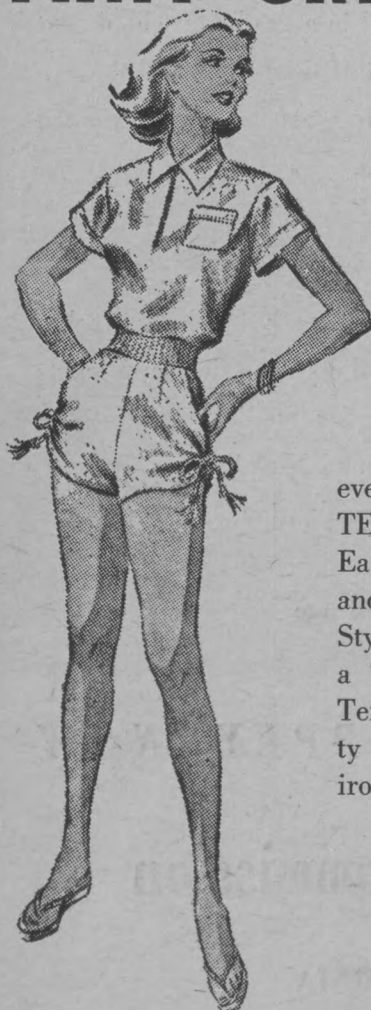

AND THEN, AFTER GRADUATION, you'll win your silver wings, and earn more than $5000 a year as an Air Force Lieutenant. You'll enjoy an adventurous, exciting career with a hand-picked crew of real men. You'll be THE BRAINS OF THE TEAM, A TRIPLE THREAT MAN . . . as a Bombardment Officer, as a Navigation Officer, as a Radar Officer, as an Aircraft Performance Engineer.

THE SOONER YOU APPLY, THE SOONER YOU FLY!

Indian Politics Topic of Final Lecture in Series

Dr. D. Mackenzie Brown, professor of political science, will speak this afternoon on "Machiavelli, Gandhi and Indian Politics". This lecture, the last one of this series, will be at 4 pm in PH 100.

Last week Dr. Kurt Baer's "guided tour" showed the most outstanding works of art at the Mission, many of which are seldom seen by the public. "In our missions", he said, "we have what amounts to the oldest permanent art collection in the country. The missions unwittingly became the first repositories of art in the United States."

"These paintings and sculptures were not gathered as collections, but to enrich the church and for the inspiration of the congregation, whether Spanish, Mexican or Indian," he continued. "The first missions were but temporary buildings. It stands to reason that the first pieces of art sent out were not always of the finest nor the most expensive quality, in spite of Padre Serra's requests." The Santa Barbara College art authority said the paintings and sculpture, which began coming to Mission Santa Barbara more than 150 years ago vary considerably in artistic merit. "Some pieces are outstanding examples of Spanish colonial art," he declared, "and others are merely hack work."

He compared the frigid, unemotional art in New England of the 17th century with the Spanish and even Flemish art which was emotional and intensely religious when concerned with religion and secular, earthy, worldly and pagan when not concerned with religion. Both these characteristics found indigenous adaptation in Colonial America in both painting and sculpture.

"The most remarkable fusion of artistic techniques, ideals and expressions in art history," Dr. Baer stated, "was the collision of the culture of Spaniards with the Aztec and Inca. Great numbers of craftsmen were developed out of the fabulous heritage of the Aztec civilizations. The result was a much stronger indigenous character in 18th century art in the west than anywhere else."

"Fr. Serra", he said, "was the first to request, at repeated intervals, works of art for the Missions. These requests went to Mexico by boat or mule train, were commissioned and after long intervals finally reached the mission."

The colored slides of the Mission sculpture and painting were shown chronologically beginning with a polychromed wood sculpture, a figure of St. Anthony of Padua, having arrived at the Mission in 1790 from Mexico. In an interesting manner, Dr. Baer described the stylistic characteristics

Piano Concert Given By Lloyd Browning

Pianist Lloyd Browning presented a Santa Barbara College faculty recital last night in the Riviera Auditorium.

A free public concert, it was provided as a public service cultural activity by Santa Barbara College. Browning is an assistant professor of music and has been heard in scores of concerts locally during his residence of more than 15 years in Santa Barbara.

He selected for his program music of the 19th century and performed works of Brahms, Schumann and Chopin.

This was the second faculty recital to be presented this spring. Last month John E. Gillespie, pianist, along with Clayton Wilson and Stefan Krayk, played selections from the 18th and 20th century music.

From Brahms, Browning performed four short piano pieces written during the last decade of the great composer's life. Schumann's greatest work in large form for piano solo, Phantasie, was also included in the concert.

The last of the four Ballades by Chopin was chosen to conclude the concert. This is considered the most beautiful of the four and was long in attaining the popularity enjoyed by its forerunners.

Browning's appearances in Santa Barbara have run the gamut from full solo concerts to chamber music presentations, and occasionally he has been accompanist for outstanding touring vocalists and instrumentalists.

Otolaryngologist Visits SBC Campus

Dr. Paul J. Moses, distinguished Otolaryngologist from San Francisco, was a visitor to Santa Barbara College last week as the guest of Dr. John C. Snidecor, Professor of Speech. He addressed the advanced speech correction class in regard to "Functional Aspects of Voice Problems, and Cooperation of the Physician and the Speech Therapist."

Dr. Moses discussed the close relationships that should exist between the specializing physician, the speech therapist, and the psychological specialist. From the complete analytical study of vocal attributes, the specialist learns not only a great deal about the vocal mechanism, but also a great deal about the individual who is speaking.

More Talkative Women

Women lead in the count of speech majors with 24, while 14 men bring the total to 38.

Housemothers Honored At Tea Held Recently

Almost 100 Santa Barbara College housemothers were honored at a tea held at the Riviera Campus recently in appreciation of the service they have given to college students and administration.

Guests of honor for their long and able service as housemothers were Mrs. Inga Sandell, Mrs. Julius A. Potter, and Mrs. Inga Van Meter.

Hostesses at the event were Dr. Helen E. Sweet, dean of women; Miss Velma Morrell, housing supervisor; and Miss Ellen E. Bowers, counselor of women students.
