Names Go on Plaques

In recognition of their services to the school during the past year, a score of students were yesterday honored with awards, presented at a special award day assembly. Heading the list of students, given of honored students is Carmel Leach, retiring president of the Associated Women Students, who received the honor copy of La Cumbre for her four years of service to the school.

For their work during the past year, Oscar Trautz, retiring president of the Student Body, and Dorothy Hodgins, editor of La Cumbre, were given the service awards, presented annually by the Men's club and the A.W.S. Honorable mention service awards were given to Dick MacQuiddy, editor of the Roadrunner; Paul Hylton, manager of the band; Marcus Cravens, recently installed student body president, and retiring president of the Men's club; Betty Ayl, social chairman; Merle Adams, prominent in women's athletics; Miss Leach, and Dorothy Dowling, a member of the A.W.S. board and the balance-the-budget committee.

The names of all of the winners will be inscribed on the award plaques which are hanging in the library. Special awards were given to Miss Dowling, and William McDavid, retiring president of the senior class, for their service to the school during the recent balance-the-budget campaign. Both Miss Dowling and McDavid are members of the extra curricular activities committee which aided in balancing the budget.

The announcement of the honor award winners was made by Dean Mildred C. Fyle and Dean William Ashworth. Three pages in La Cumbre will be devoted to an announcement of the winners, who were selected by a faculty committee on the basis of scholarship, service and personality. The names of the service award winners will be inscribed on the award plaques which hang in the college library.

Members of the retiring student council were presented with awards given annually to the council. President Phelps made the awards to Oscar J. Trautz, president; Luella Hiebert, vice president; Clare Wise, secretary; Paul Hopkins, treasurer; Lawrence Connell, chairman of Student Activities committee; Marcus Cravens, president of Men's club; Carmel Leach, president A.W.S.; Betty Thomas, manager, oratory and debate; Betty Ayl, social chairman; Dorothy Hodgins, editor of La Cumbre; Dixon MacQuiddy, editor, the Roadrunner; Francis Manis, manager men's athletics; Florence Longawa, manager women's athletics.

Ventura Grads Hear Phelps in Address

Speaking before the graduates of Ventura Junior college at their annual graduation exercises held in the southern city Thursday night, President Clarence L. Phelps of State college contrasted the present economic situation, with the situation as it will be in a few years.

In his talk, President Phelps brought out the fact that much of the scientific development and construction which is going on at the present time is opening up new fields of industry, providing new ways of earning a living.

Writers Say "30" on Final Edition

"30", to anyone acquainted with newspaper work, is a symbol which has a special meaning. It indicates the end of a story or a piece of copy.

This week ends our work and activities on the campus for another year, so what could be more appropriate than to write a sincerely heartfelt "Thirty" as our farewell?

Ted Shipkey or Harder Certain to Coach Here

By ALLAN OTTLEY

With a fair certainty that either Theodore "Spud" Harder of Bakersfield Junior college or Ted Shipkey, late coach at Tempe State Teachers college at Tempe, Arizona, would accept a position here as assistant coach to Hal Davis, the State college athletic department was thrown into a turmoil yesterday. Both men have been approached, authorities here stated, but their acceptance is pending and neither President Clarence L. Phelps nor Coach Hal Davis could make a definite statement.

It was intimated by Davis yesterday afternoon that a decision might be made today in an effort to settle the situation before the closing of school Friday. Shipkey arrived in Santa Barbara late yesterday afternoon for a conference with college authorities, and Harder is expected to arrive today.

Bakersfield Raises Ante

The possibility of securing Harder was dimmed when word was received here that Bakersfield athletic officials, getting wind of local efforts to induce the former Stanford athlete to affiliate himself with Roadrunner athletics, raised the coach's salary in an attempt to offset the State college inducement. His success at the valley institution has been noteworthy. Taking his

U.S. GOVT. MARKER PUTS COLLEGE ON MAP SAYS PETERS

Through the U. S. coast and geodetic survey, a triangulation station with a marker, has been established on the State college campus.

According to William Peters, local instructor of mathematics, the longitude and latitude has been established for the station, but official announcement of the figures has not been made as yet.

The station, which was placed here at a cost of from $200 to $300, all of which was paid for by the government, was established principally through the efforts of Mr. Peters, in cooperation with a group of local surveyors, who prevailed upon the government to establish the station here.

"The establishment of the triangulation station on the local college campus puts Santa Barbara State on the map," Mr. Peters stated.

132 Graduates to Be Presented with Diplomas in Ceremony in College Court Friday Morning

With the college court forming a colorful setting, 132 graduates will receive their diplomas Friday, in the annual commencement exercises, scheduled to begin at 10 A.M.

The commencement address will be given by Dr. Grayson Kefauver, noted Stanford educator. As a climax to the impressive ceremony, President Clarence L. Phelps will confer degrees on members of the class.

Opening the program, the college orchestra will play "Processional March" by Nessler. The procession of faculty and students will march in, and it is requested that every one stand when the graduating class enters. Following the seating of the class, the combined men's and women's glee clubs, accompanied by the orchestra, will present "Creation Hymn," by Rachmaninoff.

Kefauver Addresses
Dr. Kefauver will then deliver the address, after which Mrs. Helen M. Barnett, head of the local music department, will sing as a soprano solo, "Hills," by La Forge. The diplomas will then be presented by President Phelps.

Closing the program, the audience will join in the singing of the Alma Mater, after which Dr. Robert N. McLean will pronounce the benediction. As a final musical number, Mrs. Barnett will play "Auld Lang Syne" on the chimes.

Graduation week extended from June 10 to June 16. Included in the events of the week were numerous social events honoring the seniors; baccalaureate services in the college auditorium on Sunday afternoon; an art exhibit in the art rooms throughout this week; class day banquet at El Paseo tomorrow evening, and the senior ball last Saturday night.

Those students who graduated in February but did not receive their degrees are: Howard Caya, Hugh Bruce, Elizabeth Burdick, Leola Mengle, Theone Moyer, Whitley Murphy, Ruth Strong, Sylvia Livingston, Faith Delamarter, Frances Merritt, James Campiglia, Herbert Baker, Dorothy Rust, Norene Cave, Mariam Pratt, Nita Watson Powers, and Alice Abbott.

Students who have completed their course of study with the ending of the present semester are: Louise Albaugh, Marjorie Brehm, Harold Buntain, Mildred Cornelius, Eileen Donovan, Faith Delamarter, Frances Fouke, Eula Fullerton, Margaret Furman, Jean Gillette, Luella Hiebert, Lucille Kaufman, Muriel

Group to Study Nature in Camp at Rocky Nook

Being primarily for teachers, yet open to all who are interested in nature study, a nature study camp, sponsored by many Santa Barbara organizations including the State college, will open August 9, in Rocky Nook behind Rockwood, for two weeks of lectures, demonstrations and field trips, as well as much lively recreation.

Harrington Wells, State college science instructor will be one of the teachers, giving a course on shore life. Any student taking Wells' summer course in nature study may earn two extra credits by attending, this two week course.

Registration will be free to all teachers and to summer school students of Mr. Wells'. For any other resident in Santa Barbara county, the fee will be $4.00. Those outside the county who wish to attend will have to pay $7.50. Any one wishing to register should see Miss Nora Morris at the Museum of Natural History.

Tents Provided

For any who wishes to live at the camp and has no facilities, camp tents are being provided free by the forestry department. Free hospitality will be given by Mission Canyon residents to those who wish to live in homes. This courtesy, however, is chiefly offered for those coming from out of town. However, anyone may bring his own tent and either cook his own meals or partake of those provided by the center.

PLAN MANY ART COURSES HERE

A variety of art courses will be given on the local campus during the current summer session, according to announcement made last week by Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, department head. The courses will be taught by Mrs. Crosswell and Walter Cheever.

Instruction in elementary design and color, public school art and pottery will be given by Mrs. Crosswell. Mr. Cheever will conduct classes in free hand drawing, landscape painting and elementary life drawing.

Yearbook Will Be Distributed Today--Hodgins

"Distribution of the 1933 La Cumbre will be made this morning from the office of Fred Allred, student body controller," according to Dot Hodgins editor of the campus publication.

"Students wishing to obtain their copy of the book, may do so by presenting their ticket books from both fall and spring semesters, one student body ticket book and $2.50, or $5.00," Miss Hodgins stated.

The new La Cumbre, an elaborate publication rumored to far surpass former issues of the book, has been in the process of publication for several months. The book, which is featured by attractive art work built around the rodeo theme, and done in pastel colors, made its first appearance on the campus last night, when members of the staff met at dinner in the college dining hall, and received their copies of the book. Nearly 700 copies are still available.

LINCOLNIANS TO BE PUT IN NEW QUARTERS HERE

That the Lincoln library now occupying a small room on the east end of the College library, will be moved during the summer, was made known this week by President Clarence L. Phelps.

President Phelps stated that it has not as yet been decided just where the new location of the library will be. "It will probably be moved to the rooms on the west end of the library now occupied by the faculty, or an enlargement of the present quarters will be made," President Phelps said.

The change is necessitated by the steady increase in the size of the Lincoln collection.

NOTES MUST BE PAID OR NO GRADES GIVEN

Fred Allred, State college controller, has announced that as in the past, all notes due the college must be paid before any grades will be issued to the note holders.

Immediate Start May Be Made on Terms of Bill Before Congress

Dedication of Field Honors Prexy Phelps

Santa Barbara State college's athletic field in Mission canyon was formally dedicated Thursday, June 8, when students, faculty and townspeople gathered on the site for a short, half-hour program. The field was named in honor of Clarence L. Phelps, president of State college, through whose efforts the location was discovered and developed. Members of the Associated students at the college presented the president with a bronze plaque commemorating the occasion. Ceremonies were to be held Monday but because of adverse weather conditions had to be postponed until Thursday.

Jacobs Speaks

Following the prelude by the State college band, Dr. Charles L. Jacobs, dean of the upper division and chairman of the dedication program was the first speaker of the day. In his opening remark Dr. Jacobs said, "We have come to honor a man whose dreams of an athletic field for Santa Barbara State college were being realized, but are as yet far from complete. There are men among us who do what they have to do and others who do what is in their line of duty, but there are others who go far beyond this and do more than that which they are compelled, it is among the latter that we can classify President Phelps."

Rev. Benjamin Goodfield, father of Llewellyn Goodfield State student, gave the invocation. Robert Wormser, former State student and instructor in the Santa Barbara Junior high school gave a short history of the field. Mr. Wormser was among the first to secure financial aid for the newly dedicated site.

Mrs. Lyans to Study Soon on Scholarship

Mrs. Florence W. Lyans, art supervisor at Jefferson school and instructor in the industrial educational department who was awarded a scholarship by the Carnegie institute early this year, is leaving the first part of next week for Eugene, Oregon, where she is to complete her studies for her M.A. degree.

This is the second scholarship Mrs. Lyans has received from the Carnegie institute.

Phelps Is Optimistic Over Possibility of Start Soon

Immediate construction of the new Santa Barbara State college buildings on the Leadbetter site, became a possibility yesterday when a letter from Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance for the state of California, disclosed that some of the money received by the State of California under the terms of the public works bill now before Congress will probably be appropriated for construction of the local college campus.

In his letter to George R. Bliss, assemblyman from Carpinteria, Vandegrift pointed out that if the bill now before Congress is passed, and if appropriations are based upon population, the State of California will receive approximately $300,000,000 to be applied to public works and reconstruction. The appropriations are to be made on the basis of population.

Vandegrift in his letter, pointed out that until such time as the bill passes Congress, the administrator is appointed, and the policies of the administrator's office set up, it will be impossible to state the amount and conditions under which the money will be granted to public works.

When asked to make a statement concerning the immediate construction of the new college buildings, President Clarence L. Phelps stated that "the chances of beginning immediately on the construction of the new campus, are better than they have ever been in the past."

Plans for the new campus on the Leadbetter site are complete, having been submitted some time ago by State engineers. The sketches provide for an elaborate system of roadways, and a large group of buildings including lecture halls, dormitories, laboratories and a large administration building.

During the first part of the year, $50,000 was appropriated for the construction of a road leading to the new college site. The new highway, which has its beginning at the site of the Plaza del Mar bathhouse on Cabrillo boulevard, winds to the Leadbetter site along the north side of the hill. Construction on the road has already been started.

Immediate construction of the college would end long negotiations between city and state authorities since the first plans for moving the college were made several years ago.

The new presiding officer will replace Marcus Cravens, student body president-elect. Cravens, in appreciation for his work during the past year, was presented with a little, silver, jeweled gavel, on which was stamped the fraternity crest. John Jackson was elected deputy grandmaster, taking over the office of Charles Ellenstein; Douglas Kirkpatrick is the new scribe, replacing Roy Davis; Douglas Tolin was named to take over John Jackson's office of treasurer; and Cravens will act as sergeant-at-arms in place of Sidney Root.

Preceding the election and installation of new officers, Bob Stuart was initiated to membership. Assisting in the installation were Dean William Ashworth, faculty advisor, and Leo R. Vernon, national committeeman.

Sessions will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Jefferson school and will continue from April 26 through August 4.

Children three to eight years of age will be accepted for study under the work of the supervised students. The course will cover the nursery, kindergarten, and the first three grades.

Hylton Elected Grandmaster of Scout Group

Paul Hylton, manager of the band during the past year, received his fourth presidential office for next year when he was elected grandmaster of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity at a final banquet and meeting in the cafeteria last Wednesday evening. Hylton is also the leader of the three other national groups to which he belongs: Kappa Delta Pi, education; Pi Sigma Chi, industrial education; and Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism.

The new presiding officer will replace Marcus Cravens, student body president-elect. Cravens, in appreciation for his work during the past year, was presented with a little, silver, jeweled gavel, on which was stamped the fraternity crest. John Jackson was elected deputy grandmaster, taking over the office of Charles Ellenstein; Douglas Kirkpatrick is the new scribe, replacing Roy Davis; Douglas Tolin was named to take over John Jackson's office of treasurer; and Cravens will act as sergeant-at-arms in place of Sidney Root.

Preceding the election and installation of new officers, Bob Stuart was initiated to membership. Assisting in the installation were Dean William Ashworth, faculty advisor, and Leo R. Vernon, national committeeman.

Childhood Education Class to Be Opened

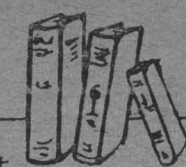

A school of early childhood education will be open to students this summer under the direction of Miss Edith M. Leonard of the kindergarten primary department of State college.

Sessions will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Jefferson school and will continue from April 26 through August 4.

A Year of Achievement

THE ROADRUNNER could not, without a sense of having failed to avail itself of a rare privilege, neglect to devote a portion of its last issue of Volume XII to the commendation of the State college for having brought to a close one of the most successful years in its history.

During a most trying period of economic and social distress, students and faculty members alike have joined hands in writing collegiate history that will designate 1932-33 as a year of great accomplishment in Santa Barbara State college, a year in which cooperation and friendliness have characterized every activity, a year in which the most strenuous and spirited efforts resulted in real and substantial progress; in short, a year in which "things were done."

In retrospect, certain things stand out as vivid examples of what can be done when an indomitable spirit prevails. The Hospitalization Follies, The Roadrunner Revue, the KDB Student forum, the Good-Will tour, the Balance-the-Budget campaign, who can question the success of these, particularly the last-named?

And these are only a few of the things to which we may point with pride. To mention them all, with justice to any, would require more space than these columns afford.

Certain names, too, stand out above all the others—names of students who deserve great credit for their parts in State's year of progress. Here again lack of space precludes mention of all who are worthy of praise. However, no list could be complete that did not contain the names of Trautz, Hylton, Leach, Hodgins, Procter, Martin, McDavid, Hopkins, Gumpertz, Cravens—how easy it would be to go on and on. Hardly a student in the college would have trouble in adding at least a dozen more names to our roll of honor. We regret that we can not lavish praise upon all who are deserving, but we know that their deeds will speak more effectively than our words ever could.

The records established this year could not have been possible without the splendid cooperation of the faculty. The instructors who entered wholeheartedly into all student undertakings, who gave much of their time, their effort and their money are worthy of the highest praise. With constant duties of their own to perform, their own battles to fight and their own sadly flattened bank accounts to preserve, they have never failed to consider the students' cause their own; they have worked with us side by side, and have opened their purses generously when called upon. We are fortunate indeed to have had them not only as intelligent instructors but as dependable friends.

State college has moved far forward at a time when to have remained stationary would have been worthy of commendation. Our greatest hope is that it will continue to progress in succeeding years, and that even our present records will be paled into comparative insignificance.

"Letting Down"

It has been called to the attention of the Roadrunner that a number of students, some of them preparing to graduate, are in danger of marring otherwise splendid records by neglecting to bring their academic and extra-curricular activities to a graceful close before the end of the college year. This is most unfortunate for the persons involved, since their negligence is quite likely to result in considerably more trouble than could have accompanied the effort necessary to write the proper "finis" to their college careers.

To be known as one who "lets-down" when the finish line is in sight is to shoulder a handicap which may seriously defer any success in life. Prospective teachers particularly should take caution to avoid being placed in this category. Not only may they encounter difficulty in obtaining positions; they may lose positions that they have already obtained.

Those of us who have term papers to hand in, examinations to make up or any other unfinished business to take care of, should be wise to fulfill our obligations before the close of this week, or at least to make satisfactory arrangements for postponement.

This applies no less to extra-curricular work. The accounts of all student organizations should be left in perfect order for the incoming officers. Those of us who are responsible for these accounts owe it to the student body, in fulfilling our obligations, and to ourselves, in leaving a record of deeds well done, to complete this chapter before turning on to the next.

"Thirty"

With a feeling of deep regret, not unmingled with some elation, the Roadrunner now writes "thirty" to its share of the activities of 1933-34.

The past year has been a busy one for the members of the staff, and we have all looked forward to "No. 36" which designates this issue of the paper as the last to appear on the campus until the new staff resumes operations next year. Now that we see the forms about to close upon the long-awaited "36", we find ourselves becoming more than a little sentimental.

In spite of the tremendous amount of effort and the many obstacles that have surrounded the publication of the Roadrunner, it has afforded us many happy hours, and our greatest wish is that our readers have derived from the Roadrunner

PORTER STATES POLICIES FOR '33 ROADRUNNER

In his first public statement since his appointment several weeks ago, Ralph Porter who yesterday was installed as editor of the Roadrunner for the year 1933-34, has outlined his policies and those of the Roadrunner for the coming year.

"I do not believe that the Roadrunner should take sides on any political question, except when it is for the benefit of the student body as a whole. If at any time the columns of the Roadrunner are used for political propaganda, both sides of the question will receive equal space," said Porter upon being asked to tell of his opinion as to the relation between school politics and the college paper.

That there will be no increase in size of the 1933-34 Roadrunner was assured by Porter, who declared that the important thing was to keep the publication on a paying basis. "The special features which the Roadrunner carries will be designed to please the majority of the student body," he said in speaking of the contents of the paper.

Appointment of the editorial staff of the paper will not be made until the beginning of the fall semester. So far, only one appointment, that of Ed Katenkamp as business manager of the Roadrunner, has been announced by the new editor.

itself a degree of enjoyment in some measure commensurate with our efforts in producing it.

We have endeavored at all times to present the news as fairly and cleanly as possible, with bias toward none. We have done our best to direct criticism where we felt it would serve the best interests of the entire college, and to give praise where we felt that it was rightly earned. In doing so, we have both criticized our closest friends and praised those for whom we had no particular love.

Naturally enough, our policies have not met with the approval of everyone and, undoubtedly, we have incurred a few enemies. We regret this but accept it as inevitable, knowing that we have done our best and that our consciences are clear. If we have merited the approval and won the friendship of the majority of our fellow students and instructors, we are more than grateful.

As the year's work passes in review, and we recall among other things, the winning of All-American honor rating and the Alpha Phi Gamma award, certain persons stand out in sharp relief as those to whom the editor and the student body owe a deep debt of gratitude.

Words cannot express our feeling toward Allan Ottley, assistant editor of the Roadrunner, whose constant, willing effort, whose intelligence, congeniality and loyalty are in large measure responsible for whatever success may have been attributed to the paper, and without whom it would have been decidedly less worthy of commendation. Allan will forever stand out in our minds and our hearts as a real journalist, an accomplished scholar and a real friend.

To Shirley Clark, our tireless news editor we give unstinted praise. No amount of work was too great for her to assume willingly, and to accomplish creditably. Her long night hours in the print shop, writing copy, reading proof, and her constant running about the campus in search of news, always with her cheerful smile, have endeared her to us and to all with whom she has come in contact. She will leave the college this year, and we have no doubt that she will be sorely missed.

Few will ever fully appreciate the splendid work done by Mary Longawa, our business manager, and Ed Katenkamp, our advertising manager. We can think of no greater tribute to their efforts than to state that during a period of extreme financial distress, the Roadrunner has paid for itself and has reduced its inherited deficit by some $350.00.

Still other names stand out, particularly that of Howard Bradbury, whose devotion to the Roadrunner, and the time and effort that he has spent in its behalf have been second to none. And still others—Jack Porter, whose journalistic ability and professional experience have gone far toward lifting the Roadrunner from the ranks of mediocre college papers.

We are fortunate too in having had a faculty adviser whose enthusiasm and intelligent cooperation have been a source of constant pleasure. We owe much to Miss Margaret Burke.

We could go on to mention the names of every member of the staff—they are all worthy of praise, they have all done their various duties well, and we regret that we can not give to each one his deserved recognition.

Their remains one person, however, who has not been a regular member of the staff, who has heretofore received no praise nor recognition but who nevertheless has been a real friend of the Roadrunner and has sacrificed greatly in its behalf. We refer to "Dot" MacQuiddy, the wife of your humble editor, without whom he would long ago have had to abandon his journalistic efforts. With from eight to twelve hours each day spent in earning the wherewithal for her husband's education, she has nevertheless found time to be a genuine wife, housekeeper, helpmate and pal. She has been the Roadrunner's silent partner, a real "college widow." We give her a place at the top in our Roadrunner roll of honor.

In turning over the editorial duties to Ralph Porter, we feel certain that the paper is destined to rise to greater heights next year than ever before. Ralph is every inch a journalist, and every inch a man. His importance to the Roadrunner during the last year was so great as to deserve a classification of its own. What Ralph doesn't know about journalism is insignificant, and it gives us the greatest of pleasure to know that next year's editorship will rest in his hands.

Constant association with Ralph during all hours of night and day, throughout good times and bad, have convinced us that he is one whose ability and integrity are of rare quality. That the State college will profit from his sterling qualities is decidedly to its credit.

And now, in leaving these pages behind, we extend the most sincere wishes for future success to our many readers, to the State college and to our successors.

It is one of our greatest privileges to have worked with you and for you.

Sincerely,
DIXON L. MacQUIDDY.

RETIRING SOLONS RECEIVE AWARDS IN LAST MEETING

Following the distribution of the council awards by President Phelps, Miss Hazel Severy installed the new members of the Student Executive council, after which each retiring officer turned his office over to his successor. The gavel which for ten years has been used by the student body presidents, was turned over to Marcus Cravens by Oscar J. Trautz.

Cravens, as president of the Associated Students, heads the new Student Executive council which is made up of Julia Lynch, vice president; Margaret Beddome, secretary; Douglas Kirkpatrick, treasurer; Inez Cash, chairman Activities committee; Bob Main, president Men's club; Betty Hopkins, president A.W.S.; James Murray, manager dramatics and debate; Helen Honigsberger, social chairman; Barbara Clark, editor La Cumbre; Ralph Porter, editor Roadrunner; Francis Manis, manager men's athletics; Kathrine Kitley, manager women's athletics; Bud Lambourne, manager of men's music.

PREXY PRAISES STUDENT SPIRIT EXHIBITED HERE

Editor of the Roadrunner:

At this closing time of the year it may be fitting for me to say a few words of appreciation. This I can very conscientiously do since I believe that this year, from the standpoint of the student organizations and activities, has been one of the most successful in the history of the institution. I wish to express my gratification at the fine spirit displayed by the student body, the council, and the various special committees of the year.

I have been much busied with other things involving problems of the college of a major character but I have felt perfectly secure in the realization that faculty and students were carrying on with the determination to make this the most successful year in the history of the college. Even the adverse publicity which we received from erroneous statements has turned to our advantage and the institution is stronger in the estimation of the community than ever before.

Certain contemplated things will undoubtedly add to the prestige of the college in the next year. Our athletic prospects are better than they have ever been, while scholarships to be offered for the first time will undoubtedly bring here some high grade students who might otherwise go elsewhere. Progress is being made toward developments on the new site and in the athletic park nearby.

All told we have come out of our difficult situation in a quite satisfactory way and the credit for all this is due in no small measure to the fine sustaining work of the student body and its officers.

C. L. PHELPS,
President.

'SPUD' HARDER OR TED SHIPKEY MAY COACH AT S.B.S.C.

squad for the first time several years ago, he won 9 out of 10 contests and has continued the record since then, winning several valley grid championships. In his university days he was an outstanding end on the Stanford eleven under Coach Glenn "Pop" Warner, and also played baseball.

Shipkey, who was released from Tempe recently because of financial difficulties, has made a fine showing during his several years in Arizona. While at Stanford, he won All-American honors as an end, and played basketball, baseball, and was prominent as a javelin thrower with the Indian track team. Shortly after graduation he went to Sacramento Junior college under Coach Schuttner, from which school he transferred to Tempe.

Davis Remains

Coach Davis, of course, will continue as director of athletics and head of the physical education department, the new man to serve as assistant coach in football and to take over completely one other sport. In the event that Harder is given the job, that other sport will probably be baseball. It is uncertain just what sport Shipkey would be asked to handle.

As early as five months ago Davis sounded out the two men. Harder was quite interested and made a visit to Santa Barbara, when he was shown the new athletic field and was acquainted with the athletic situation here. Shipkey was then but mildly interested, and his visit yesterday was his first indication of seriously considering the Roadrunner proposition.

The local mentor is well acquainted with both candidates, and it is believed would be able to work harmoniously with either. Davis has known Shipkey for years, meeting him first when Shipkey was playing for Fullerton High school and Davis was coaching at Orange High.

Jus' got a 55 in an exam—an you mugs expect me to be funny. Heh, heh, heh, pardon me while I get hysterical. We corrected each other's papers. This week's mystery: What happened to Carol Corbaley's shoes! jus ask him!

Well, this is the last colyum (ain't you glad) I shall write this year. I want to come back next year, but other people seem to have different ideas. If I don't flunk out I will be back next year with bells on (and a few bills from this year to meet me). However, as I refuse to K.A. I probably won't be back.

Games played by the Zulus: No. 4—Squirrels in the Wood Pile. Take one gallon green beer, one-fifth gin, one can of canned heat, three ounces of cayenne pepper, and mix together in iron pot. Boil mixture. Don asbestos gloves and drink while hot. Run around block to absorb mixture. Sit and wait for woodpile to appear. With woodpile will come squirrels, bats in belfry, King Tut, Lenz and Culbertson, Santa Claus, Huey Long, and Raymond G. McKelvey (known hereabouts as "By and Large"). Also other animals which cannot be described. This game is prescribed for the first day school is over. I shall be the first to play it.

All I can say is bye-bye and good luck—
HERMAN GUMPERTZ.

300 DANCE AT GRADUATE BALL

Approximately 300 students attended the senior ball last Saturday night at Samarkand. The dance was held in the lounge, which was decorated with flowers and the class numerals.

DR. BISHOP IN CORRECTION OF TRAUTZ REMARK

In response to a statement assertedly made by Oscar J. Trautz during the recent discussion of the budget, to the effect that the health committee had held a meeting and decided that they could not get along on any less money than they have had in the past year, Dr. Elizabeth L. Bishop, secretary of the Health committee, Friday issued a statement for publication in the Roadrunner, in an attempt to place before the Student Body the stand which the committee took on the question of budget reduction.

"In the heat of battle over the budget in last week's Student Body meeting, President Trautz quoted from memory a recent resolution of the Health committee dealing with the Hospitalization fund. Since Mr. Trautz's impromptu statement inadvertently gave an inaccurate impression of our decision, the Health committee requests that the Roadrunner print the actual resolution as we adopted it.

"Resolution passed at the Health committee meeting, May 16, 1933:

"The Health committee has considered carefully the question of reducing the Hospitalization fee, and had decided that if a cut is made in the Hospitalization finances, it must of necessity make an appreciable reduction in the quantity and quality of the service offered under the fund. However, should the Student Body vote to reduce this fee, together with other student body dues, the Health committee stands ready to cooperate in fullest degree in giving as good service as possible for the funds made available to it.

"ELIZABETH L. BISHOP,
"Secretary, Health Committee."

Under the budget as passed by the Associated Student Body after heated controversy at the regular meeting last week, the Hospitalization fund receives $250 of each fee of $12.50 collected, or the sum of $3,000, on the basis of 600 fees being paid each semester.

Members of the Health committee are: Dr. Edward L. Markthaler, chairman; Dean Mildred Pyle; Dr. Elizabeth Bishop, secretary; Mrs. Winifred Hodgins, Coach Hal Davis and Oscar J. Trautz.

BLACK MARKS GO ON REPORTS IF DUES NOT PAID

In appealing to seniors to pay their class dues, Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, registrar, and Bob Hughes, class treasurer, made it known that department heads have the privilege of listing non-payment of dues as a deficiency, on their reports, should they desire to do so.

"No senior can afford to have any deficiencies listed on his record," Mrs. Abraham said. "Not only should the seniors pay their dues to keep their records clear, but they will be aiding a worthy cause by doing so. The money collected as senior dues will be converted into a scholarship to be presented to some worthy student next year."

Dues can be paid to Hughes or Mrs. Abraham.

Oddzenenz

I'm delighted to meet you again! (What else could I say?)

Everyone seems to have had a grand time at the formal, in spite of the fact that about half of those present spent most of their time in the garden. Perhaps it was fortunate for all that they did, for AFTER ALL there is a limit even to the number of sardines in a can. The large turnout proves that we DO have school spirit and that we DO like to get dressed up and look different. We will only hope that next year it will be held in a larger place, if we have to rope off the upper end of State Street, and have a real dance instead of a garden party.

"M.B." stands for Milton Burnham and Mercedes Berger. Milton is leaving us forever and a day to toil in San Francisco. Oh, no, Mercy is staying here. Don't get lost in the big city, Milt, and lookout for Austins when crossing the street.

The latest delicacy is fried flies' wings which are available on special days in the cafeteria, providing you place your reservation by nine o'clock. Really, the wings are equally as good as fried trout tails.

"What are you doing? As I live! You're splitting an infinitive! Go, get your little pot of glue, And mend the wretched creature, do!"

All this talk and the numerous pictures that are appearing in magazines of this new architecture that is supposed to be most convenient is SIMPLY SLAYING us, and we determine to be old-fashioned and say, with a fluttering sigh, "What is this world coming to?" Living in one of those things would make us feel like Exhibit A.

Our word of the week is "boistrosity": a boistrosity, an undesirable attitude.

He had to work, so a fraternity brother borrowed his car, another his tux, and a friend (you should have your hanky out by now) his very own girl. That's what one gets for being ambitious.

There is the story of the little boy who saw his father coating his face with powder after shaving, so this lad who had great talents at imitating wanted to appear to be a big man, so now he dusts powder heavily over his would-be shining countenance, with the hope to deceive. But we would recognize little Herman's WORDS anywhere, if not the face.

"In every work of genius, we recognize our own rejected thought"—Emerson.

I am a bit crispy about being forced on speaking terms with you after rounding up a lengthy goodbye last week. However, I'll forgive Eddy Torry and say "Goom-by."

MISS BOLTON HEADS SOCIETY

Lucille Bolton was chosen president of Hui Eleu to succeed Betty Hopkins, at the annual election of officers held Friday night in the home of Cornelia Richards. Club members were entertained at an informal buffet supper by Miss Richards, preceding the election.

Other officers elected include Marguerite Lambert, vice president; Mary Lloyd, secretary; Dorothy Phelps, treasurer; Miss Richards, social chairman; Evelyn Maitland, publicity chairman.

Following the business meeting, bridge was played, prizes going to Ruth Dillman, high, and Georgia Runyon, consolation.

Hui Eleu members, who were present at the meeting, the last social event of the year, were the hostess, and Ruth Dillman, Betty Hopkins, Lucille Bolton, Shirley Clark, Laurene Woolman, Dorothy Phelps, Rosemary Habacker, Barbara Clark, Rosalie Baer, Evelyn Maitland, Georgia Runyon, Edna Hansen, Marguerite Goddard, Marguerite Lambert, Barbara Boyd, Mary Lloyd, Wilna Shannon and the club sponsor, Mrs. L. C. Clark.

WOMEN STUDENTS ARE CADET DANCE GUESTS

Mayor Harvey T. Nielson and the Junior Chamber of Commerce were hosts to cadets and officers from the State of California training ship during their stay in the harbor.

The feature of their entertainment was a dance at Rockwood Friday, June 9, at which a number of Santa Barbara High school and State college young women were guests.

Seniors to Gather for Banquet Tomorrow

Members of the graduating class and their friends will gather for their final social activity before their graduation Friday, at the class banquet scheduled for 7 A. M. tomorrow night in a downtown restaurant.

With "The Cloud Lifts" as the theme, four seniors and W. G. Herron will deliver short talks following the banquet. William McDavid, president of the graduating class, will in the capacity of toastmaster, introduce the speakers in the following order: "The Clear-Sky," David Larsen; "Threatening Clouds," Clarence Dudley; "The Storm Breaks," Luella Hiebert; "The Rainbow," Dorothy Hodgins; "The Lifting Cloud," Herron. The speeches are intended to trace the progress of a student from the time he enters college as a freshman, to the time he receives his diploma as a senior.

Musical entertainment will be provided throughout the dinner by the State college orchestra, Anita Cochran, Madeline Ambrose and the combined glee clubs.

LEE SPEAKS AT BACCALAUREATE

Advising members of the 1933 graduating class to develop their personal religions and to keep their religions up to date, Rev. Ralph W. Lee of the First Methodist church addressed the seniors in the annual Baccalaureate sermon held in the college auditorium Sunday afternoon.

The title of his talk was "Religion and Life" and he pointed out that "although religion cannot be taught in State institutions it can be practiced." He said that the question of religion is entirely personal and must be frequently inventoried or else it will stagnate, and that a religion is of no value if it is not kept up to date.

The college orchestra played Gounod's "Professional March." Dr. Lewis C. Carson gave the invocation, and William McDavid read the scripture lesson. The Women's Glee club sang the "Cherubim Song" by Bortniansky, a double boy who saw his father coating his face with powder after shaving, so this lad who had great talents at imitating wanted to appear to be a big man, so now he dusts powder heavily over his would-be shining countenance, with the hope to deceive. But we would recognize little Herman's WORDS anywhere, if not the face.

BIBLE CLUB IN BANQUET HERE

The Bible club held a banquet Friday evening, June 2, in Ebbett's hall. Reverend Sam Sutherland installed the recently elected officers and led the group in several choruses. Plans were made for the fall term, and all those interested are urged to look for the notices of the club next fall. More than 25 members have been enrolled in the four weeks since the club has been formed and it is expected that the club will increase in size next year.

A-M SQUAD WINS INTRAMURAL TITLE

INDEPENDENTS CAPTURE QUARTET OF TOURNAMENTS FOR 251 POINTS

Beta Sigma Chi Athletes in Second Spot;
Tau Omegas Finish Third;
Sig Alphas Fourth

By BILL RUSSELL

Leading their closest rival, the Beta Sigma Chi fraternity by 165 points, the A-M independents are this year's intramural sports champions. They won four out of seven tournaments and totalled 251 tallies in winning the annual title.

While they won but one championship, the Beta Sigma Chi outfit garnered three second places to give the victors a battle and scare before the track meet, which the A-M spicksters won handily. The BEX's made 156 points.

The points were awarded on a five-three basis. Winning a match or game merited five counters while merely competing earned three points. Track points were scored 5, 3, 2, 1, first, second, third, and fourth places winning respective awards. Swimming events were run off in this manner also. Manager Howard Bradbury, and Lorenz Greeson, his assistant, together with Coach Luke Trimble, faculty advisor, were responsible for the efficient and business like manner in which the meets and tournaments were handled. Coach Trimble states that Bradbury managed the year's competition better than it ever was taken care of before.

Track Points

The winning squad piled up most of its points in track and boxing which they won by margins of 18 and 10 tallies over the Beta Sigma Chi athletes. Couple this with two other division titles and two second place awards and the winners have points which enabled them to win the year's championship with apparent ease.

The Tau Omega fraternity finished in a close third place with 170 points, followed by the Sigma Alpha Kappa fraternity with 107 markers. The N-Z independents, doped to give all the teams a battle, fell down and tallied but 89 counters. Each of the above named units won one championship, except the SAKS.

Swimming, boxing, track, and football titles were annexed by the champs; basketball was won by the BEX squad; wrestling by the Tau Omegas; and volleyball by the last place N-Z unit.

Final standings are as follows:

Team	Points
A-M's	251
Beta Sigma Chi	185½
Tau Omega	170
Sigma Alpha Kappa	107
N-Z's	89

Below are tabulated results of football, basketball, and volleyball schedules:

Football	Won	Lost	Tied	Points
A-M	3	0	1	19
T O	3	1	0	18
SAK	2	1	1	17
BEX	1	3	0	14
N-Z	0	4	0	12

Basketball	Won	Lost	Points
BEX	4	1	23
A-M	3	2	21
N-Z	2	2	16
T O	2	2	16
SAK	0	4	12

Volleyball	Won	Lost	Points
N-Z	4	0	20
T O	3	1	18
BEX	2	2	16
SAK	1	3	14
A-M	0	4	12

Starting with last fall's semester, the events were run off in the following order: Football, boxing, wrestling, basketball, track, volleyball, and swimming. Manager Bradbury had charge of all particulars in the preparation for and running off of the events, such as drawing up schedules, arranging for the place for the event to be held, publicity for the program, and other such details. All these things were taken care of in the finest order.

Cooperation among the five entered teams aided Bradbury in his efforts, and brought about a friendly, sportsmanlike competition which will be remembered by intramural fans for some time to come.

A tabulation of all the meets for all the teams will be found elsewhere on the sporting page.

JACKSON LEADS A-M MERMEN TO SWIM TRIUMPH

Led by Richard Jackson, who scored 16½ points, the A-M independent swim team paddled to a comparatively easy triumph in the final intramural competitive event, which was staged in the Y.M.C.A. pool last week. The conquerors totalled 41 digits. Tau Omega and Beta Sigma Chi fraternities tied for second place with 32 points each, while Sigma Alpha Kappa won three counters and the N-Z crew, not entering, went scoreless.

Jackson set the pace to win three events, the 200-yard swim, the under water swim, and the 20-yard breaststroke. LOCAL QUARTET PLAN TO ATTEND BIG EXPOSITION

Chicago's "Century of Progress" is drawing a number of State College students this summer. The Exposition offers many exhibits which are of especial interest to the student. They will see the growth of Chicago and the country during the past century due to the discoveries of science in all its many fields. There will be exhibits for the student and the athlete, exhibits from foreign countries which take one on a trip around the world, and amusements in every form are offered for the visitor. Another fascinating aspect of the World's Fair is the illumination of the grounds at night.

Some of the State college student body who are planning to attend "A Century of Progress" are Patricia Porter, Evelyn Maitland, and Ralph and Jack Porter.

ATHLETIC FIELD PROGRAM HONORS COLLEGE PREXY

ground activities in Santa Barbara said, "People of this country 25 years ago lived in more or less wide open spaces but there has been a tendency in late years to flock to the more crowded centers. Cities have begun to realize the importance of having places for play and recreation and at a tremendous cost are securing these outdoor centers of recreation. When Santa Barbara State college moves to its new site on La Mesa it is my hope that some agency can take over this field we are dedicating today and use it for a park or recreation grounds for the future residents of Santa Barbara."

And Davis Speaks

Coach Hal Davis, who was next on the program was very optimistic about the future possibilities of State athletics. Oscar J. Trautz, retiring student body president, gave a resume of State college athletics 10 or 12 years ago. Telling how men were compelled to run from the college to the old race track for practice and then back again.

President Phelps in his address expressed his appreciation of the regard shown him by the student body in the presentation of the bronze plaque which was purchased by the associated students. The president also spoke of his belief in athletics properly conducted in institutions of higher learning. The program closed with the singing of the "Alma Mater" accompanied by the State college band.

Dedication of the field had been planned for two or three years ago but at that time the field was not in the proper condition for dedication. Later, money that was to have been spent in the development of the site was used to develop the Leadbetter property. It was thought that the campus would be moved to the new location in a short time. Since that time it was learned that the school will remain in the present location at least for another five years so members of the committee decided to dedicate Phelps' this year.

PAIR OF VASES NOW ADORN AUDITORIUM

Two new vases have been given to the school auditorium stage to replace those which have long adorned the stage apron. They are much larger and more graceful than the old ones which originally belonged to the quad.

These vases were purchased through the efforts of Dean Mildred C. Pyle and other faculty members by contributions from many campus organizations.

Mr. Wiles' letter is as follows:

"To the president and members of the college student body:
"I wish to acknowledge receipt of your invitation to attend the dedication of Phelps' field, which I expect came through your kindness, and which I expected to avail myself of, but for recent events which will prevent.
"I wish to say the kind remembrance is most of all appreciated.

GREENS AND WHITES DEMONSTRATE DEFENSE STRENGTH IN SCORELESS BATTLE; FALL PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Next Grid Coach to Have Wealth of Material

Centering their activities largely between the 30 yard stripes, State college's Green and White forces battled evenly up and down the middle part of Bartlett polo field in Montecito to a scoreless tie in the long heralded inter-squad football contest that concluded spring grid practice last Thursday afternoon. Carefully selected on paper to insure a parity between the two groups, the two squads in actual practice could hardly have been more evenly matched.

Fighting under a hot sun that beat down on the padded players, both elevens made several desperate but unavailing stabs at a score. While a scoring punch was lacking, the feature of the fray was the defensive ability of the two aggregations. Punting was frequent and first downs scarce, the Greens making their 10 yards only three times, and the Whites but twice.

Coons Intercept

The first quarter found both teams feeling their way cautiously, and play was rather indecisive. Shortly after the beginning of the second period, "Red" Mahoney of the Whites took a short pass for about nine yards for a first down on the Green 30 yard marker, the initial first down of the game. The drive was cut short, however, by a fumble recovered by the Greens. Determined as ever, the Whites a few moments later again worked the ball into Emerald territory, but again the attack fizzled out when Rector Coons of the Greens intercepted a pass on his own 30 yard line and went on a 35 yard gallop to the White 35 yard stripe.

The Greens now began the only real scoring threat of the day. With "Doc" Kelliher doing most of the ball toting, they carried the scrimmage line down to the White 5 yard line. But here the White clad warriors put their shoulders together and turned back the tide, taking the ball on downs when a lateral, Kelliher to Stockel, failed in its purpose. The half ended shortly after.

New Vigor

The game started with renewed vigor after the half time rest, for the sun had been rapidly wearing the players from their strength. Another White drive, stopped before it was fairly started, ended with the recovery by the Greens of a fumble on the mid stripe. But the situation was soon reversed when the pale shirted battlers crowded in and blocked Bob Rezonico's attempted quick kick, recovering it on the Green 40 yard line. Jack David at this point broke through neatly to smear Mahoney for a 15 yard loss, and the Whites punted to a spot on the Green 10 yard latitude. After a punch or two at the line, Ralph Stockel took the ball on a wild right end run from the 15 to the 39 yard line, but was forced to punt shortly thereafter, the ball dropping on the White 35. Just before the third period ended, Mahoney passed to Bell for a neat 12 yards and a first down.

With the final quarter just under way, the Whites were obliged to punt, the ball rolling over the Green goal line. A punch at the line for about two yards, and then a 15 yard penalty set the Olive jerseyed players back on their own seven, from which point they punted out on their own 33. With Marcus "Primo" Cravens lugging the oval, the Whites traversed to the 25 yard chalkmark, when Stockel ran out to intercept an aerial float-er and romp to the White 37 yard stripe. The Whites then pooled their line strength and held the Green attack, throwing Stockel back on the White 45 yard line on an attempted fourth down pass. Punching the line for little gain, the Whites booted the leather to the Green 30 yards as the game ended.

Prospects Bright

But for a couple of intercepted passes and Stockel's end run, the game was pretty free from thrills, but it indicated that whoever takes over football duties here next season should have a strong defensive squad at his command. And, perhaps, pooling the cream of the two elevens, he may be able to develop something of an offensive strength as well. With a large and fine stock of material from which to draw, coupled with a new football spirit that has been born at the State college, Coach X should be able to build the Roadrunners into quite a respectable threat in the Southern conference next fall.

The development of the respective squads, apart from the early part of the spring practice under Coach Hal Davis, has been entirely a student undertaking, the Greens training under the guidance of Edgar "Tiger" Kerrigan and George Harper, and the Whites under Johnny Eckhardt and Paul "Hoppy" Hopkins.
