Women Hold Annual Girls' Play Day Saturday

ANNUAL GIRLS' EVENT TO HAVE RECORD CROWD

Fourth Year of Event Brings Delegates From Afar
STARTED IN 1927
Hodgins, Rogers, and W. A. A. Sponsor First Meet

With over 200 girls expected from high schools in this district, the fourth annual girls Play Day will be held at Santa Barbara State on Saturday. The crowd promises to break all records for the event.

The history of Play Day, an annual event sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, dates back to 1927, when Mrs. Winifred Weage Hodgins and Miss Rogers, instructors, together with the W. A. A. members agreed to hold a day of games which they called Play Day. However, due to the difficulty in scheduling a date for the event and the lateness for sending invitations, plans for such a day did not materialize that year.

In 1928 the first Play Day, in which seven or eight schools participated, was held. "Mickey" Webster, vice-president of the W. A. A., was in charge of the event. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

EASTER CANTATA TO BE ON M. E. PROGRAM

"Triumph Divine," an Easter Cantata, composed by students of the third year harmony class, will be presented by the combined glee clubs in the auditorium of the First Methodist church Thursday night, March 26. Miss Anita Cochran, organist of the Unitarian church and composer of a section of the cantata, will accompany the clubs on the pipe organ.

Assigned as a semester project, this cantata is an entirely original piece of work done by the third year harmony class. Selecting verses from the Bible, the class wrote their own script, dividing it into six parts describing episodes in the death and resurrection of Christ. Each member was then assigned one episode, for which they composed the music.

According to Mrs. Helen M. Barnett, under whose direction the work was done, "The Triumph Divine" differs from the usual Easter Cantata, as it contains a prophecy in addition to the story of the crucifixion.

Dance On Friday, 21 Postponed To April

The regular student body dance which was to have been held at Rockwood Saturday evening, March 21, has been postponed because of the track meet which is to be held then. There will not be another dance until after Easter vacation.

STATE'S 22ND YEAR IS NOTED

New York, March 16. President Clarence Phelps, Santa Barbara State College: Joyous greetings to you and your dear ones, and to the faculty, students, and alumni on this Founders Day, which marks another successful year well rounded out and paced to go forward. With appreciation for the past and faith in the promise of future growth and success, continued best wishes. Sincerely,
EDNAH RICH MORSE,
President Emeritus.

School closes Friday, March 27, and opens April 6. These are the dates for Easter vacation for this Spring.

EDITOR SHOWS WORKINGS OF A NEWSPAPER

Martin From Morning Press Illustrates Talk To Journalists

The machine that "does everything but talk," by which news is relayed to newspapers all over the world by the Associated Press, was demonstrated to students in a talk given by G. A. Martin, editor of the Morning Press, in a special assembly last Thursday morning.

During the time Mr. Martin was talking, news flashes were continually coming in and being recorded on the machine. The invention makes it possible for the newspapers which have this connection to be informed of important events almost immediately after they have happened. Martin ventured to estimate that, due to the rapidity of the system, every city in the United States would be aware of the death of a foreign monarch within seven minutes after it was discovered.

The speaker gave a brief sketch of the making of a newspaper, and told the students some of the essentials of a successful journalist.

At the end of his talk, he invited his audience to come upon the stage and view the machine in operation, while he explained in further detail how it worked. Member of the journalism class of the Santa Barbara High School attended the assembly with their instructor, Miss E. Louise Noyes.

MOTTO, KESSLER RIVALS IN AIR

The aviation industry in miniature thrived at State last week when some of State's higher masculine intellect, seeking relaxation from the necessary strain of academic work, gave vent to its creative impulses in the dilapidated room that passes for the Men's club.

Circulars advertising the glee club concert served for materials from which, by dint of pressing and folding, the master minds evolved monoplanes, biplanes, and amphibians. In a short time the atmosphere of the Men's club (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

STATE WELCOMES YOU

TO THE girls of neighboring high schools and junior colleges who come as guests of the college to attend the annual Play Day, a cordial welcome is extended by students and faculty.

It is the hope of Santa Barbara State that you will have a good time and make many friends while here, and be sufficiently attracted by the beauty and facilities of our campus to give Santa Barbara State a place next year in considering your new alma mater.

Women of the college have given much time and effort in preparation for this event in the hope that their visitors may be impressed with the true spirit of friendliness and geniality for which Santa Barbara State is noted.

ERICSON WILL GO TO I. E. CONFERENCE

E. E. Ericson, head of the Industrial Education department of Santa Barbara State college, will attend the meeting of the Teachers Training Conference of Industrial Education to be held in Sacramento next Friday and Saturday.

J. C. Beswick, chief of division of trade and industrial education for the state of California, and Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction will conduct the meeting. Directors of vocational education from the University of California and the Los Angeles branch of the University of California, and representatives from industrial education divisions of the State Teachers colleges of the state will attend the conference.

Questions dealing with the transfer of credits from courses in vocational education in universities to industrial education in State Teachers colleges in the state will be settled at the meeting. New requirements for certification in the field of industrial (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

PICTURES OF VALUE SHOWN

Fred Payne Clatworthy presented colored pictures of old Mexico, accompanying the slides with an interesting talk Saturday evening in the college auditorium. While working as photographer of colored pictures for the National Geographic magazine, Mr. Clatworthy has spent fifteen years traveling about the world to find interesting pictures to add to his valuable collection.

Clatworthy began his talk by explaining the natural color process and followed this with scenes of historic spots in Mexico. The film took one on a trip from Southern California to lower Mexico along the main highways, showing the important points of interest.

PRIZE OFFERED TO WINNER OF S. B. PUBLICITY ESSAY CONTEST

"Sell Santa Barbara and the State college" was the theme of a brief talk given by Sherwood Hall of Santa Barbarans, Inc., to the students of the journalism class during fifth hour Friday.

Hall makes it a business to publicize Santa Barbara and environs for its attractiveness to sportsmen and others who have more leisure and money than they know what to do with. He pointed out

SENIORS ENTERTAIN WITH MYSTERY PLAY

Yesterday the Senior class presented as the main attraction of their class day a one act play by Herbert Fisher called the "Butler Murder Case."

The play was directed by Nellie Larsen, and met with favorable comment from the students of the college. John Davis, social chairman, was responsible for the stage setting, which added greatly to the success of the production.

The play was a satire of the S. S. Van Dine murder stories, but in this case, Stanley Miller, as the clever Silo Trance, discovered that the murdered man wasn't murdered, much to the astonishment of the frightened household. Helen Nauman in the role of Mrs. Lockwood gave a very convincing performance, and Ed. Jacobs is worthy of comment. Stanley Carr in the role of the detective was well cast; Wilber Day and Marie Miller as the lovers gave good interpretations of the characters. George Cutler played the role of the chauffeur and Lovell Paggett the part of the butler.

GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR SOON

Mr. A. K. Bennett, manager of Hotel El Encanto has made arrangements for the combined Glee clubs of the college to give several concerts at the hotel during the spring, according to Mrs. Barnett, director. Their first concert will be given Thursday night of this week.

The club plans for the semester do not include an operetta, Mrs. Barnett announced. The clubs have been asked to furnish music for a Passion Play sponsored by the college, which will be given in the high school stadium the last of May. They plan to work on this play instead of an operetta.

ANNUAL GLEE CLUB CONCERT APPRECIATED

Students and Townsmen Give Young Singers Much Applause

By KNUD ANDERSSON
Last Friday night the combined glee clubs of the State college, under the leadership of Mrs. Barnett, presented a rather interesting program both from the musical and technical point of view. An audience which almost filled the main floor of the auditorium came to listen to the work of the singers, and showed its appreciation of the fine performance by warm applause.

The evening showed clearly that Mrs. Barnett knows how to bring out voices to their best and to lead them over all sorts of difficulties to beautiful sound and harmony. This was proved in almost every number of the program.

The combined clubs displayed their harmonious working together in the vocal arrangements of Strauss' music in which the leading melodies usually were carried by the female voices, whereas the men's club gave admirable support in the accompaniment. Two other songs, of which the difficult "Russian Sleigh Song" was repeated upon request of the audience, were also effectively given. The four songs presented by the men's club were carefully selected for the character of male voices and did not fail to make (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

EARLY GRADUATE IN SUPERVISION

C. F. Keuzenkamp, former student of Santa Barbara State college, is now state supervisor of trade and industrial education for the state of South Dakota. Keuzenkamp graduated from this college with the class of 1914. He is now located in the State college, Brookings, South Dakota.

After graduating from Santa Barbara State college Keuzenkamp attended the University of California. He received his B.C. degree from State Teachers college, Pittsburg, Kansas, and his M.A. degree at the University of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Outside Talent To Take Prominent Roles In Rainbow Revue

RODEHAVER DIRECT
One Act Plays of Humor and Drama By College Players

"La-a-dies an' Gen-tul-men! Right this way! Get your tickets for the great Rainbow Revue! Never since Noah closed his spectacular per-form-ance in the Ark has such an entertainment been presented. Many shows for the price of one! See the amazing tricks of magic presented by prominent people under the direction of W. W. Peters, that skilled magician. Secrets of mindreading as revealed by Professor Peters! View the action of men trapped in a submarine. See the beautiful Rainbow dance. Get your tickets early. Right this way!"

This, or similar ballyhoo, is being heard on the campus this week as fraternities and sororities exert their sales ability, competing for a prize donated by downtown merchants for the organization selling the most tickets to the Rainbow Revue.

Featuring a colorful variety of entertainment, the La Cumbre benefit program will be held next Friday night at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium. A combination of local and outside talent has (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

COLORADO ANIMALS SHOWN IN ASSEMBLY

"Wild Life in the Colorado Desert" was one of the moving pictures shown last Thursday by William Rust. The inhabitants of the desert are badgers, skunks, coyotes, foxes, ringtail cats, rattle snakes, side-winders, and gila monsters. Seeing them in their native haunts was enlightening as well as amusing.

Scenes in Flanders taken several years after the World War showed conditions of desolation in ruined cities and farms. An unusual retreat for pious women, the Beguine at Ghent, was shown where seven hundred women live and work, their only remuneration being that of harsh words and anger. It is a known fact that no one has ever been dispelled although no doubt they have to pray hard sometimes.

Whittier Singers Here On March 27

Appearing for the first time at State college, the Men's glee club of Whittier college will give a concert in the auditorium at 11 o'clock Friday morning, March 27. The performance is being sponsored by the State College Glee club.

This organization has sung in Santa Barbara several times, and have earned the reputation for giving a splendid type of musical performance, according to Ben Romer, manager of the local glee club.

Pi Sigma Chi Gives Pledges New Tasks

The regular meeting of Pi Sigma Chi was held Wednesday evening, March 11, in the faculty dining room. After matters of routine business had been disposed of, the question of what to do with the pledges was taken up. It was decided that they should pay their fees, learn the Greek alphabet, learn the names of the honorary fraternities on the campus, and to present a discussion on some phase of Industrial Education.

The pledges of Pi Sigma Chi are Henry Jewell, John Nevins, Clifton Russell, Rollo Elliot, William Ezaki, and Bob Imler. Merle Jaynes was appointed counsellor for the pledges.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, March 25, in the faculty dining room. At that time the pledges are expected to perform.

Gamma Areta Makes Plans For Social Event

The members and pledges of Areta held their regular meeting on Monday night, March 9, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ferris. The pledges exhibited their skill and performed for the benefit of the members. Separate meetings of the pledges and the members were held. Plans were formulated by the pledges for a party to be given in the near future. The arrangements were not made known. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. Ferris, the patroness.

Hall told the class how through publicity he has established considerable reputation in this locality for polo, yachting, and hunt clubs. These sports have been backed up by public-minded people of wealth and have attracted many sportsmen from the East and in one or two cases from foreign countries.

In demonstrating what can be accomplished by publicity he has set a mark for any who wish to contribute to the cause. The State college has much to offer! it has made considerable progress and hopes to continue to do so. Mr. Hall wants to know something about what State has to offer and what it is doing. He wants to help it toward a goal by including the mention of educational opportunities in his publicity.

Hall and Ken Goble are offering a prize of ten dollars for the best letter or essay telling about Santa Barbara State college; what it has accomplished and how it hopes to grow; in other words sell State to those who have the ways and means to make possible the attainment of a goal. The competition is open not only to members of the journalism class but to all students of the State college, and it will last for two weeks.

Seventeen girls took the test, twelve first year and five second. These papers are sent to Leila Williams at Washington, D. C., and the results published in the June Shield. There are 29 chapters and about 4000 members in Delta Sigma, Epsilon. California has three chapters, one at Fresno State and one at Chico State, besides the local chapter. College co-eds will be seen modeling spring sports clothes in linen and wash silks suitable for wear on the campus. Afternoon chiffons with becoming hats will also be worn. Of particular interest to the women students will be the new beach pajamas.

State College Girl Is Recovering from Illness

Emily Geidner, a member of the junior class, was last week taken to the County Hospital because of scarlet fever. It is reported that she is improving rapidly and that the case is not as severe as was at first believed.

Emily came to Santa Barbara last fall, transferring from U. C. L. A. She is pledged to Alpha Theta Chi sorority.

Girls' Play Day To Draw Record Crowd

By 1929 Play Day had become well enough established that even stormy weather could not change plans and in spite of the rain Play Day was held according to the program announced; the only change made was that instead of conducting games on the outdoor athletic fields all contests were staged in the gymnasium. One hundred and ninety girls from the high schools attended the affair.

Last year two hundred people registered, including visitors and local students. The meet was worked out on the plan of international Olympic Games, in which each girl belonged to a team representing England, France, the United States, or Sweden. Points won by members of these groups, either in team games or in individual events went toward a total score in competition for a loving cup which was awarded at the final assembly.

The entertainment included dancing, singing, a skit, and a movie.

D. Z. D.'S FROLIC AT BEACH PARTY

Fifteen couples, including active member of Delta Zeta Delta sorority and their guests, attended a beach party at Cabana del Mar, near Campbell's ranch in Goleta, last Sunday.

The morning was spent in swimming, playing beach football, and baseball; and the afternoon and evening in dancing and playing cards.

Elizabeth Peacock was in charge of the picnic and Betty Greenwell of the pledges, who served the lunch.

Miniature Air Meet Brings Competition

The owners of the various craft, maintaining the superiority of their creations, decided to hold an air meet, and submitted their plans to various and hazardous forms of competition. In the end, the field narrowed down to two, a noble plane launched by Army Kessler, and a still nobler one sent forth by Herb Motto. Being unable to discriminate between their claims to supremacy aloft, the judges agreed to render a decision based upon the way the planes landed. The Kessler plane banked slowly and gracefully, and glided into a gentle stop outside the door. But the Motto plane swerved fiercely, and jerked to an abrupt halt on the head of one of the judges. It was conceded the victory.

TAU OMEGANS ARE SHOWN PICTURES

Members and pledges of Tau Omega fraternity were entertained at their meeting last Monday night with motion pictures. The subject of the movies was Santa Barbara scenery. One reel showed the first annual tennis tournament of the Montecito Country club, played in by Miss Helen Wills.

The pictures were secured by Albert Eaves, who hopes to get an eight-reel feature for the meeting next Monday.

been secured that will insure one of the most enjoyable programs given on the campus, according to Kay Bishop, editor of the La Cumbre. "Both students and downtown friends of the college have shown a cooperation and willingness to help that sets a new record at State," says Miss Bishop.

Exhibitions of all types of dancing will be given during the evening. Students of the Felger Studio of Dancing will present the Rainbow dance, from which the Revue takes its name. The Bernard-Harris Studio of Dancing has offered the services of two professionals, who will do classical dances, and is training three campus coeds in a comedy tap dance skit.

Two one-act plays, representing both light comedy and impressive drama, will be given by members of the College Players, and secrets of mindreading will be revealed in a magic presentation directed by Professor Peters.

In addition to these numbers, Fred Greenough's orchestra will furnish music during the evening, and the Revelettes will sing.

Presentation of the grand prize to the Greek letter society winning the ticket-selling contest will be made on the Revue program by Martin Bredsteen, business manager of the La Cumbre.

The Industrial Education men's quartet will sing two numbers on the program.

According to Fred Harrison, director of "Submerged," it has been necessary to make a change in the cast of the play. Albert Bevis has taken the place of Freeman Cook in the role of Shaw, the dreamer.

Sally Leonard has taken over the part of Mimi, the little French girl in the other one-act play. This was originally given to Nora Stephens, who had to give it up because of illness.

As an added feature, Vic Janssens' orchestra is to play several numbers during the evening.

Townpeople Applaud Glee Club Concert

That a modern song based on the whole tone scale is not so difficult and can be beautiful was proven by the woman's club. Among the female voices, Mrs. Barnett has brought out a considerable feeling for fine phrasing and exact rhythm which was noted with delight in the "A capella" numbers and the "Valse Triste" by Sibelius.

There were also a number of other groups of singers who won much applause. The already well known Revelettes, a humorous boys' quartet, a little girls' trio which did some delicate things with Japanese songs, and finally a mixed quartet which presented a musical sketch, "The Music Master" in a very clever arrangement by Mrs. Barnett. An item which gave much pleasure was the singing of Elbert Cochran. His voice is warm and mellow and to his ease of singing is added a very natural charm of expression. The only instrumental solo was Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso" for piano, played by Anita Cochran with much musical taste, technical fluency, and fine pedalling. She responded to the applause with a gay little sketch of her own.

The evening was an exhibition of fine musical work, joy of singing, and a carefully selected program. Mrs. Barnett is to be congratulated upon the work of her pupils. They all show the evidence of her earnest musical ideas and the State College is proud of having so fine a musician at the head of the music department.

FLICKERING SHADOWS

SPRING STYLES SHOW STRIKING INDIVIDUALITY

The reveal of pique is a summer note in couture which has become more than ever intriguing, being used as this fabric is to enliven costumes in both wool and silk. Either used as the encircling touch by way of vestee, collar and cuff sets, or as the entire blouse with, or without pepum, to project below the jacket, when the latter is of the bolero or eton cut, the use of pique, especially in the silken weave, is inspiring.

Color combinations are becoming more sophisticated—more individualized. For the rather blatant smartness there is red with violet, petunia with royal blue and more harmonizing powder pink with violet, aqua with wine red.

Silk mesh hosiery is to be included in milady's costume of sportswear, afternoon, and plaid footwear—surprising and alluring! This newest chic development presents linen or kid in white with pastel shades or in darker shades in two-toned effect.

The glove family is increasing. For active sports, it presents white pigskin in an interesting variety of styles—with black stitching or brown and black pipings, one clasp or flared pull-ons.

Beard Contest To Open At Santa Ana

SANTA ANA, March 18.—Santa Ana barbering business will see a big depression during the coming weeks while approximately 200 junior college men are competing in the annual beard growing contest to be climaxed with the Fiesta Day celebration.

The contest this year will begin March 27 when those entering the fray will be examined. All students who plan to participate in the event will appear at school clean shaven on this date.

Competition in the contest will be limited to the following classifications; the most unique growth of side-burns, mustache and goatee. Awards will also be made for fullest growth, the scrawniest beard, the ugliest and the best looking.

The contest will be approximately six weeks in length and with the large enrollment this year it is expected that more will enter the event than at any other time in the history of the school.

Other Fiesta plans are progressing rapidly, according to Marian Parsons, chairman of the day. Committees are under way and will submit their reports and budgets every Tuesday at 11:00, until May 15, the date of the Fiesta.

Latest Quirks In Co-ed Fashions

Looking for something new and ravishing in blouses? Tucked net is most attractive—likewise lace for "dressy" occasions.

White necklaces for sports wear may be more or less formal. There are glass beads fashioned branch-like into a choker, or more formally, coral and crystal combined in a triple strand necklace.

Dark blue is rivaling black for popularity in street wear. Brown in various shades will be used extensively for sports and street costumes, also.

Pajamas are to be found in generous and varied array. They range from daintiest lace and sheathing satin to gay plaids and dark crepes.

Even lingerie is fashionwise! It must have a definite waistline—usually conforming to the costume under which it is worn.

Halo hats are prominently established in spring millinery styles, and they are more chic when posed over a veil.

For evening wear and sports wear, brilliant colors are widely advocated. But one must proceed cautiously to attain brilliancy rather than blatancy.

JOURNALISTS WILL RECEIVE HONOR AWARDS

SEATTLE, March 18.—Put star students on the same basis as star athletes and let the A. S. U. W. get them jobs and sinecures—

Help good students finance their college careers by creating a number of scholarships and a loan fund not subject to multitudinous restrictions and intrigue—

Cut out the examinations and required class attendance for scholars and install a modified tutor system—

Students Answer

These are the answers the majority of Washington's most brilliant students to a questionnaire recently sent them by the student honors committee of the faculty, asking them to tell how better to honor the University's best students and to publicize them more.

Other student suggestions, to be considered by the committee, are:

Give honor students permission to use the University library stacks; the present system "makes library work a tedious and often thankless task."

Institute a system whereby scholarship is recognized sooner. It is too long to wait four years for a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Opposing the majority stand, one student wrote, "No special privileges or awards should be given students of exceptional scholastic attainment. They are just a little more fortunate than some of the rest."

Another declared, "To me the outstanding feature of Washington was that, to the greater majority of students, success in studies was the least important thing in the maelstrom of campus politics, athletics, activities and social life."

Arguments Against

A minority of the honor students write against special privileges. Do not excuse good students from examinations, as these are necessary spurs to studying, one letter read. Publicity is not the aim of those who attain good records at the University, another stated.

In this connection still another student wrote, "When a student is first established as an honor student, his chances for receiving high grades are greatly increased. Don't give any publicity whatsoever . . . professors learn who are honor students and some of them seem to be afraid of misjudging such students."

The State College telephone number has been changed from 5133 to 7139.

Santa Barbara State Reaches Twenty-Second Anniversary

FIRM FOUNDATION LAID BY ANNA BLAKE AND EDNAH MORSE

College Leaves Trail of Old Buildings In City

By William Maxwell, Ph.D.

"Despise not the day of small beginnings" might well have been chosen as the motto of the little Santa Barbara school planned for instruction in the practical values of life when the little building designed to give educational courses in Sloyd and home economics first opened its doors in what was then the village of Santa Barbara.

In the years that have elapsed since Miss Anna S. C. Blake brought to a concrete realization a school for the giving of instruction in the work in which she was interested, there has been from then until now a consistent manifestation of progress toward better and larger things. In order that the subjects in which she was concerned might be taught in a thoroughly approved manner, Miss Blake called to her aid an ambitious young Santa Barbara woman, Miss Ednah Rich. She had been adequately trained in the subjects in which Miss Blake was the sponsor, through study in Boston, Sweden, and Germany.

Curriculum Increased

With the coming of Miss Rich courses in home economics were soon added to those already selected, and not long thereafter, wood carving and sewing were offered. It was Miss Blake who first saw the possibilities of these things and it was the intensely practical mind of Miss Rich that made these possible in an educational way. It was the work of Miss Rich that has not only developed on the one hand into what is now the home economics of the State college, but on the other the influence of her efforts in those earlier years has permeated the entire system of public education in California and wherever that subject is taught in this commonwealth its results can invariably be traced back to her first efforts here in Santa Barbara.

Efforts Permanent

Not only were Miss Blake and Miss Rich women whose ideas were set apart by an exceptional sense of the practical, but they were always marked by unusually high idealistic qualities. It is, perhaps, in this last respect that their first efforts have been the most permanent. In the intervening years the material aspect of their plans has undergone many changes. Courses have been added and taken away. The subjects in which they gave so freely of their time and strength have been taught now here, now there. The Anna S. C. Blake Training School has long since disappeared, due to the mutations of time. But the noble ideals that prompted these two women to action are still manifest and are carried on by others as enthusiastic as were they. Anna Blake and Ednah Rich built better than they knew, and the structure that they so unostentatiously reared still moves onward and upward, for it was first reared upon a cornerstone that is more lasting than stone itself, a noble purpose nobly planned.

Demonstration Given To Education Class

The 3A class of the College Elementary school under Ethel Olson gave a demonstration lesson in social science before the Elementary Education procedure class. The lesson was on the Sahara desert, and after the class, when the students questioned these little people, they were answered intelligently. Kenneth Roberts, president of the class, conducted the lesson, and called on the members of the 3A class. Mrs. Price remarked on the excellence of the demonstration as the type of work advocated, with the children participating to the greatest possible extent.

PORTRAIT OF S. B. FOUNDER GIVEN SCHOOL

To Create a College of National Repute, Founder's Aim

Unveiling of the portrait of Ednah Rich Morse, founder of the college, on March 16, 1929, marked the twentieth anniversary of Santa Barbara State. Monday was the twenty-second anniversary of the State college.

Ednah Rich Morse was founder and served as first president of the State Normal School of Manual Arts and Home Economics from 1909 to 1916 and from which the present institution was developed. Mrs. Morse, a native of Santa Barbara, gave many years of service to this city as a teacher in the public schools and as a social welfare worker. She studied woodwork in Sweden, Italy, and Germany. Her aim while president was to create for students of California a college worthy of recognition throughout the United States. She resigned in 1916 to become the wife of Lewis Kennedy Morse.

It was suggested by the alumni that a portrait of Mrs. Morse be presented to the faculty and students of the college. When Mr. Morse learned of this he offered to present the portrait if the alumni would secure a companion portrait of Miss Mary Tracy, first dean and co-founder of the college. Miss Tracy's health, however, prevented this.

The portrait, which is placed in the foyer of the administration building, was painted by Signor Carlo Romagnoli, noted Italian artist, while Mr. and Mrs. Morse were in Paris in 1928. The picture is a gift of her husband, Lewis Kennedy Morse. There is also an enlarged photograph of Mrs. Morse in the Home Economics building.

DAY OF BIRTH CELEBRATED IN QUIET AT HOME

Miss Santa Barbara State, daughter of Mr. California State, Pacific ocean, celebrated her twenty-second birthday in a quiet fashion Monday, March 16.

Miss State, considered by many to be the prettiest daughter of the well-known California state, was born in the old Blake Memorial building on Santa Barbara street, which was one of the landmarks of the city, and has resided on her famous Riviera estate for the past eighteen years. The land and original mansion was a present from her father on Miss Barbara's fifth birthday. Since then he has given her six additional acres of land and has erected new buildings to meet the demands of her growing interests and activities and her extended hospitality.

Among Miss Barbara's recent gifts from her father are two fine buildings of Spanish architecture, the Home Economics building, containing a splendid dining hall and roof garden where she holds receptions, and the Administration building, housing an auditorium in which her family and friends are entertained. This year Mr. California State has promised his daughter a new Science building and an up-to-date Elementary Education building.

Since her earliest years, Miss Barbara has taken a great interest in young people of college age, extending her hospitality to them and adopting them for a few years. Several thousand have

DIRECTOR OF PROGRESS

PRESIDENT C. L. PHELPS IN 14TH YEAR HERE

President Clarence Lucien Phelps was born in Jamestown, Kentucky. He graduated from the State Normal School at Stanford in 1909. In 1912 he obtained his M.A., also at Stanford, and did some further study there in 1917 and 1918.

Mr. Phelps was married in 1909 to Margaret Livengood of Ravenna, Ohio. They have two children, Waldo Woodson and Albert Kenneth, both attending the college elementary school.

President Phelps has taught state normal schools in Tempe,

Arizona, and San Diego and San Jose, California; was vice president of the State Normal School, Fresno, from 1913 to 1917. He is a member of N. E. A., California State Teachers Association, American Association of Teachers College, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Gamma Mu, and also a member of national and state organizations, studying school curricula and standards. He belongs to the University Club and the Rotary Club. Mr. Phelps has been president of Santa Barbara State since 1918.

lived with her during her life. She affectionately calls them her children, and they call her Alma Mater. Miss Barbara, through the efforts of her present guardian, Clarence L. Phelps, has secured a college education surprisingly thorough for one of her age and is imparting it to her proteges, who number about six hundred this year.

Every five years the State family holds a big celebration on Miss Barbara's birthday. Many of her children return to the Riviera estate for the event, and it is an occasion for both formality and fun. The last party was held two years ago to celebrate her twentieth birthday. At that time Miss Barbara was presented with a portrait of her godmother and former guardian, Ednah Rich Morse.

No festivity was planned for her natal day this year, and Miss Barbara spent Monday at home, performing her usual activities. But her birthday did not pass unnoticed, for the hearts of her children, old and young, paid silent homage to their beloved Alma Mater.

Benefits of School To Community Pointed Out By Dalzell

Mr. Clarence Phelps, President, State College, Santa Barbara.

Dear Mr. Phelps:

I wish to offer my sincere congratulations on the twenty-second anniversary of State college.

I have always felt that State college is a great asset to Santa Barbara, and indeed to the entire state. Young men and women who have the good fortune to equip themselves for the future at this institution, under the guidance of expert instructors and in the gorgeous scenic surroundings that you have, are indeed privileged.

Along with other citizens of this community I have watched with pride and interest the marvelous growth of State college and its constant addition of important departments.

That State college may continue to grow and prosper is the sincere hope of the Chamber of Commerce.

Cordially,

T. PAUL DALZELL, President Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce.

O'NEIL'S PLAY TO BE PRESENTED AT THE LOBERO

The search for happiness, the conflict between the present and the future that lies "beyond the horizon," an emphasis on sacrifice as the spirit of life, these are the things that stand out in Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," which the Drama Branch of the Community Arts Association is presenting this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, at the Lobero theatre.

A discussion of this drama that won the Pulitzer Prize for 1920 was given by Dean Ashworth Monday noon before the co-operating Council of the Community Arts. In his talk he pointed out the three-fold failure on the part of the leading characters, and the spiritual frustration with which the play deals.

An unusually capable cast has been selected by Paul Stephenson, the director, to take part in the drama. Helen Campen, who is remembered for her work in "No More Frontiers," will play the part of Ruth. John Edgerton will appear as Andrew, while Richard Kurvink, a newcomer, will take the part of Robert. Others in the cast include Mrs. Ralph Stevens, Mrs. Tilton, Jack Atkinson, Coleman Stewart, and Jack Hayden.

OVERRIDES OBSTACLES

"Genius never lets itself be prevented by circumstances from finding its expression."—Richard Strauss, composer.

Student Body Rivals College In Speed Of Progress

The Student Body at Santa Barbara State was organized in January, 1913. The social affairs were under the jurisdiction of the faculty and student committee. There was little social life in the early days of the school in comparison with that of today. The senior class was organized in May, 1921. The aim being to "create a real class sentiment and to promulgate enduring school spirit." From this time on the school began to show more life and spirit. An outing club was organized in the same year, and work on its cabin began in the following year. In 1924 was inaugurated its traditional Island Trip. The women students organized into the Associated Women Students' organization, while the men formed the Men's club. Both these organizations are active on the campus, and add considerable to the life of the students. Sororities and fraternities were recognized in January, 1925, and are as yet governed by the original organization of Pan-Hellenic and inter-fraternity council. There are five national societies, two of them being social. The glee clubs, orchestra, and band have developed into significant organizations of outstanding merit.

Athletics

The last three years have shown predominance of the "college-on-the-hill" in athletics. Under the leadership of Coach Hal Davis it has won its way to fame. It is through his efforts that Santa Barbara was admitted to the Southern Conference.

Publications

A weekly paper was begun in 1922 as "La Aguilla." Later this was called the "Eagle," and this year it was changed to "The Roadrunner." The annual book, "La Cumbre," is an outgrowth of the bi-monthly pamphlet "Nais" of 1915, which became "Normal Life" in 1921. In 1924 a Student handbook has been published. This year's edition has been greatly enlarged and has also been extensively illustrated.

State Legislature May Give S. B. Funds

A bill appropriating $100,000 to purchase land for Santa Barbara State college has been referred to the committee on Ways and Means by the assembly Teachers' College committee. It is reported that the state department of finance favors the bill, and that this is the only special appropriation bill for a state teacher's college that has the department's support. Assemblyman George R. R. Bliss of Santa Barbara county and Harry Morrison of San Francisco were co-authors of the proposal.

Should the bill be passed by the legislature it would make possible an extensive development program on the local campus, the program having been partially outlined during the recent visit of state officials who looked over available property and discussed the matter of providing a better entrance to the school as well as the need for additional lands on which to place new buildings.

Progress Through Co-operation Features College History

GREAT DEVELOPMENT ON HILL SINCE 1912

Santa Barbara State Has Varied History and Development

As one stands on the college campus today, little would one guess of its simple beginnings with its eventful history which has made it what it is today. We owe its existence not only to the founder, but to those who have carried on the work during years as they have passed by. It was the beauty and charm of Santa Barbara, which brought Miss Anna S. C. Blake to this city, and which gave her the idea for establishing a training school for teachers.

The following year, 1891, Miss Blake erected a building on Santa Barbara street, near De la Guerra and equipped it for the purpose of starting a cooking school. The cooking school was the first of its kind to be started on the Pacific coast. Miss Blake chose from this city a young high school graduate, Miss Ednah A. Rich, to begin the work in Santa Barbara. Miss Rich had an opportunity to study these subjects in Sweden, Italy, and Germany, and so was adequately prepared for the work entrusted to her.

Practical Work

The object of the school was to train along the practical lines boys and girls of grammar school age. The work for boys consisted entirely of manual training courses. Miss Blake financed the school for eight years, and shortly before her death in 1899, she donated the school and property to the Santa Barbara school system.

The Santa Barbara board of education continued to operate the school on the same basis until 1906. At that time classes were changed to include pupils from the third grade to high school. The curriculum offered cooking, sewing, and sloyd.

During the summer of 1906, the Board inaugurated Normal work, entirely changing the purpose of the school. It was no longer for boys and girls of those who desired to teach or to supervise manual training or home economics in public schools. The admission to courses was limited to university and normal graduates, or to teachers of experience. Two types of work were given. Normal training in sloyd, which was for those who wished to familiarize themselves with this type of training. The second line of work was in subjects for classroom work in primary and ungraded schools.

Enrollment Increases

The enrollment had increased so rapidly that it necessitated a new building. In 1906, the Blake Memorial building was erected, and is at present part of the Santa Barbara Junior High School.

Santa Barbara began to feel the burden of supporting the school, and state aid was asked. The first bill was defeated by the legislature. The second bill was passed on March 2, 1909, and was approved by the governor on March 27th. The bill provided funds to establish a special state normal school in the city of Santa Barbara.

When the Normal School for Manual Arts and Home Economics began to operate it stood alone not only in California, but in the United States as the one state school devoted exclusively to the preparation of teachers of those special subjects. The school was co-educational. The enrollment of the first year of the normal was 24 women students, and 3 women teachers. Three years later there was a marked increase with 59 women, and 5 men. During the first years the curriculum included home economics which included sewing, millinery, textile, dressmaking, costume - designing, and house-furnishing.

1912 saw the introduction of a full program of courses for men. The courses gave training in supervisors position in industrial and manual arts. The rendering of degrees rested with the governing board. This same year the courses were changed to a ten months basis, with a system four quarters of twelve weeks each.

New Site Given

The rapid forward progress of the school made a strong impression on the people of the city, and it was through their interest that a new site was obtained. Considerable property was donated and the remainder was purchased, which gave a total acreage of 7.9 acres. The location chosen was the present one on Mission Ridge. The new building was complete which is today still the center of the campus, and was the main building until the completion of the administration building in 1928. It included administration offices, lecture rooms, laboratories, a library and miscellaneous rooms.

The next step in the growth of the school was the construction of the cafeteria, which was completed in October, 1913. At this time the car tracks were extended to Mission Ridge, providing transportation to students. Fifteen thousand dollars were appropriated by the state in 1915, for the construction of a machinery building to contain tool rooms, machine shop, and garage. In 1917 the gymnasium was built at a cost of $20,000, and it was considered one of the best in the state.

On the resignation of Miss Rich, Frank H. Ball became president. But ill health necessitated his resignation after a year's work. Mr. Ball extended the curriculum of the school, and it was during his presidency that the music bungalow was built by student labor.

Phelps Is President

On June 24, 1918, Clarence L. Phelps came into office as president. At the time that Mr. Phelps assumed the presidency of the Santa Barbara State Normal School of Manual Arts and Home Economics, the school was in a difficult position. The enrollment having dropped to practically nothing, criticism was coming in from all sides that the school was useless and practically ready to be abandoned. State board members were talking of closing it at any time as the need for its specialized type of work seemed to have passed.

By the permission of the board of trustees, preparation for a course of study for training of elementary teachers in accordance with the state board of requirements was made. A bill passed by the legislature May 25, 1919, changed the status of the school, and it was given the name of Santa Barbara State Normal School. Its aim was to prepare teachers for the public schools of the state in manual arts, home economics, and physical education. The addition of the general professional and music department raised the number of departments to six.

State Teachers' College

On May 27, 1921, the governor approved an act of the State Legislature converting state normals into State Teachers' colleges, and

STEPS TO KNOWLEDGE

ON FOUNDER'S DAY

A score of years ago, a fruitful seed
Was sown upon the fertile hills of green.

'Twas just the embryo of a future need
That was, in its beginning, dimly seen.

But nursed by guardian mountains
—a gentle sun;
Cooled by breezes from the moving sea,

It grew, and now it stands an abode to none

But Learning. Youth holds the precious key
To its cool halls, and charm of ancient call.

But far more precious than these gifts possessed,
Are its stores of wisdom, free to all
With eager minds delighted by the quest.

And to her by whom the fertile seed was sown,
There stands its fruit, that she might yet be known.

—M. C.

also approved an act making possible the establishment of Junior Colleges in the teacher's college.

The new department gave two years of work with credit accepted by the state university in the lower division. Its aim was to give two years of college work at a small expense, preparatory to entering the third year at the university. Lower division work was given in Engineering, Commerce, Architecture, Arts, and Sciences. At this time the English "A" examination was introduced.

The Junior College system was abolished in 1927, with the establishment of a lower and upper division. At this time a dean was provided for each division.

A great change took place in 1929 when the school was given the right to issue A.B. degrees in English, Sciences, and History. At present the school gives A.B. degrees in Home Economics, Art, Industrial Education, Junior High School Education, Physical Education, History, English, and Science.

An appropriation by the state of $200,000 provided for the college a new administration building, containing offices, an auditorium holding 750 persons, and a large library. In 1930 a $200,000 Home Economics building was finished. A science building is to be built this year, $120,000 having been appropriated for its construction. Funds are also on hand for an elementary training school to be erected in the near future.

HISTORIANS OF STATE KNOWN AS OLD GUARD

Four Faculty Members Have Become Part Of School

Creators of history and builders of tradition are members of the "Old Guard," those of our faculty who were at one time closely associated with Ednah Rich Morse, founder of Santa Barbara State college.

Only four of the "Old Guard" have remained at State during the past twenty years. These individuals have guided the destiny of the college, instituted changes for its progress and assisted in all its developments. They are Mrs. Byron Abraham, Miss Winifred M. Frye, Miss Charlotte P. Ebbets, and Miss Hazel W. Severy.

Early Enrollment at Blake

Miss Winifred M. Frye, director of domestic arts, became associated with the college during the summer term of 1911 and again in 1914, during which time she was a regular teacher at the Milwaukee-Downer college. Santa Barbara State was then known as the Blake Memorial School and there were enrolled 59 women and 5 men.

During these past years of service Miss Frye has taken an active part in the development of the college as well as in her own department. She has served on the housing committee, has had charge of the properties, such as gifts and loans for exhibit purposes, was faculty sponsor on the Eagle staff from 1922 to 1924, was instrumental in establishing the student co-op store watching its growth from a stock that was carried in a clothes basket and stored each night in an office, which was a room in the basement, to the present store fronting the campus. Miss Frye is at the present time a member of the credentials committee, sponsor of Gamma Areta, president of the local chapter of the California Association of State Teachers' College instructors, and has been active this year working on Senate Bill No. 683 which provides for the retirement of teachers.

When the new Home Economics building was planned Miss Frye presented plans for the beautiful Colonial Room which houses a valuable collection of textiles and early American furniture, rugs, and dishes. This room is a copy of one in Cappon House. The large fireplace in this room was dedicated in February, 1929, by the members of Santa Barbara Chapter of the American Association of University Women. They presented as a gift a Cape Cod lighter with which the first fire was kindled. The fire was replenished with fagots from the old Adobe Neighborhood House pillars and bits of wood material from the Anna S. Blake Memorial building, thus connecting the old traditions with the new and establishing a hearth which will remain a sacred spot in the hearts of students who come under the influence of this environment. They will realize the wealth of affection and endeavor expended in their association and memories may ever be happily expressed in loyalty to their Alma Mater.

Miss Ebbets Comes to State

The summer of 1912 first brought Miss Charlotte Ebbets to Santa Barbara from Simmons College, Boston, Mass. At this time she talked to the women students of the Blake Memorial School on the possibilities and openings for women trained in Institutional Management. In September, 1913, she again came to Santa Barbara to take the position of an instructor. On the day of her arrival, properties were being moved from Blake Memorial school to the Normal School of Manual Arts and Home Economics.

At this time there were no paved streets or roads leading up to the hill top. The school building had no doors or windows, no desks, chairs, or equipment beyond that used in the down town schools.

There was then little equipment in the foods laboratories and no cafeteria. The cafeteria was later erected from scraps left over from the main building.

This same year Miss Ebbets introduced and conducted classes in institutional management.

In 1916, at the time of Miss Rich's marriage, Miss Ebbets resigned, but returned in 1917 to conduct nutrition classes on the campus for the Red Cross. She then went into the Food Administration of California under Herbert Hoover, directing the home economics for the administration. In April, 1919, she returned to Santa Barbara and in September (Cont. on Page 7, Cols. 3, 4 & 5)

STATE COLLEGE WOMEN TO ACT AS HOSTESSES

Twelve High Schools, Two Junior Colleges Are To Be Represented

GAMES PLANNED

Unique Spanish Theme to Be Carried Out By Committee

Over 207 girls from nearby colleges and high schools will attend the fourth annual Play Day, to be held this Saturday, according to letters received by Mrs. Winifred Hodgins. Women of the college will act as hostesses. The event will last from 9 in the morning until 2 o'clock.

Play Day, an annual event sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, gives the girls practice in organizing and managing a day of games with outside schools, acquaints out-of-town girls with the college, fosters a feeling of friendship between the State college and high schools, and furnishes a day of real fun.

Thus far, the high schools that have accepted the invitation are Santa Maria, Ojai, San Bernardino, Ventura, Fullerton, Oxnard, Antelope Valley Union, Santa Paula, Lancaster, and Santa Barbara. Santa Maria and Ventura junior colleges also plan to attend.

A Spanish theme has been selected this year, and programs, registration cards, food, and decorations will be carried out in this idea. Spanish sombreros and sashes will be given the girls upon registering.

A full program has been arranged. The day will open with registration at 9 o'clock, followed by athletic activities. A special luncheon will be served in the college dining hall at 12:30 with entertainment offered by Spanish dancing and singing.

The following activities are offered: basketball, captain ball, kick ball, endball, dodge ball, steeplechase, and long ball.

Helen Furby is general chairman of Play Day. Maurine Moore is in charge of reception; Meryl Adams, entertainment; Winifred Jones, food; Pearl Reiger, points; Mildred Chamberlain, schedule and activities; information and check room, Louise Dunham, and advertising, Alice Warring.

Who will be Queen of the May at the May Day festival to be held April 30, by the P. E. department? It is hoped that this question will be answered next Tuesday at the A. W. S. meeting when the women students will vote for the queen.

The names of eleven girls have been selected by sororities and P. E. classes with each sorority and

Horsehide Jugglers To Hold Practices In Pershing Park

With twenty husky bat wielders ready to step into striped flannels and spiked shoes, State is due to put out a baseball team which will make its mark in Southern Conference circles.

Uniforms were issued Monday evening, and practices have already begun down in Pershing Park. Coach Davis is now busy arranging games with several local teams, to be played in the near future in order to whip a strong nine into shape for the tougher matches which are to be scheduled later with teams of the Southern Conference.

The chief difficulty that has hitherto been found in putting over a good baseball season, was the lack of competition, for the only games that it was possible to arrange were those with local amateur teams, and no interest was shown in these. Also, the material was limited to a dozen or so, but both of these obstacles seem to be overcome, so that all

A W. A. A. meeting for the purpose of holding a rally meet for Play Day and to initiate new members will be held Thursday, the 19th, in the W. A. A. room at 5:30. The girls plan to bring box lunches. A word of warning has been sent out that new members be prepared to sing the W. A. A. song. Plans for initiation are being worked out by Helen Furby, president.

SPORT COMMENT

By "Ace"

A treat is in store for Santa Barbara fans next Saturday night. The Roadrunners meet the Fresno "Tigers" at Pershing Park under the arcs in a trackfest. Competition should be keen unless the Roadrunners get weary and go to roost.

* * *

"Iron man" Reeder ought to be useful to any man's track team. He has a mania for placing first or second in any event he enters. The results of the Intramural meet read like his diary. I suggest the Decathlon, "Ted."

* * *

"Gibby" Martin, a heavy favorite in the 100-yard dash of the Intramural track meet last week, was missing at the finish of the event. Looking around we discovered "Gibby" still in his holes waiting to run. When asked for an explanation, he replied: "Where I come from we never run at the sound of a gun." Evidently "Tuffy" Treloar isn't from "Gibby's" land for he won the race in ten and two-fifths seconds.

* * *

For the benefit of all those who failed to see through last week's crack regarding the discus, the writer offers his uttermost sympathy. With that thought in mind this week we will discuss the javelin, I'm sure there's a point to that.

* * *

When Coach Hal Davis and Hal Smith reported on their adventures under the spot light, about the only fact I gathered from each of them was that "Hollywood ain't what she used to be." Just the same I'd like to get acquainted with her.

INDEPENDENTS TRIM I. E.'S IN FIRST LEAGUE VOLLEYBALL

15-2, 15-1, Are Scores: Beta Sigma Chi Defeats Tau Omega Netsters In Second Tilt Of Intramural Series

Overpowering by superior numbers the Industrial Education department team, the Independent volleyball crew easily took the first intramural league tilt of the season, 15-2, 15-1. In a later encounter, the Beta Sigs defeated Tau Omega, 15-5, 13-5, 15-7. The games were played Tuesday night in the college gym.

The volleyball tournament will be played under the same schedule that was used for basketball, each team meeting all other teams twice. The best two out of three games will decide the winner of every meeting, each game being a fifteen-point contest. As volleyball is not a major sport here and there are no varsity letter men, every one on the campus is eligible to compete.

Schedule of games yet to be played are as follows:

Tonight—Beta Sigma Chi vs. Tau Omega; Independents vs. Ind. Education; Sigma Alpha Kappa vs. Beta Sigma Chi; Ind. Ed. vs. Tau Omega.

Tuesday, March 24—Independents vs. Sigma Alpha Kappa; Ind. Ed. vs. Beta Sigma Chi.

Thursday, March 26—Tau Omega vs. Sigma Alpha Kappa; Independents vs. Beta Sigma Chi.

Tuesday, March 31—Ind. Ed. vs. Sigma Alpha Kappa; Independents vs. Tau Omega.

The second round will be a duplication of the first, and will be played on the same Tuesday and Thursday plan.

INDEPENDENTS TAKE FIRST IN LEAGUE TRACK

Ted Reeder of Tau Omega Is High Digit Man With 24 Points

Taking only one first place, but having men in every event who secured lots of thirds, fourths and fifths, the Independents easily took the lead in the Intramural track and field meet last week. With only the two hurdle races and the relay yet to run off the points stand: Ind., 50 1-2; Beta Sigma Chi, 37 3-4; Tau Omega, 35; Sigma Alpha Kappa, 24 1-2; Ind. Ed., 17 1-2.

"Ted" Reeder of the Tau Omega aggregation carried off high point honors with a total of 23 1-2 points. Johnny Eckhart proved himself a first class distance man by winning the mile and half mile.

Results of the events are as follows:

100-yard dash—Treloar, first; Reeder, second; Imes, third; Harrison, fourth; Canfield, fifth. Time 10.5.

220-yard dash—Treloar, first; Harrison, second; Reeder, third; Imes, fourth; Palmer, fifth. Time: 24 flat.

YEAR'S FIRST MEET

Freshmen Will Assist Varsity; Eventful Night Planned

Night track will be introduced into Southern California colleges next Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Pershing Park when the hoofers of Santa Barbara State meet the squad from Fresno State in the first dual meet of the year.

Last season Fresno State walloped S. B. S. C. by taking 106 points out of 127. Santa Barbara should make a much better showing this year as more material is to be had and the squad as a whole seem to be in an improved condition.

The meet is not a conference competition, therefore, Freshmen and others are allowed to run with the varsity. Men that are expected to compete from Santa Barbara State are:

100-yard dash—Captain "Widdie" Ezaki, "Chappy" Harrison, Hal Smith, Stan Winters.

220-yard dash—"Chappy" Harrison, Hal Smith, "Tuffy" Treloar, Stan Winters.

330-yard—Al Bevis, "Widdie" Ezaki, "Chappy" Harrison, "Tuffy" Treloar.

880-yard—Al Bevis, John Eckhart, Lorein Meigs, James Nicklin, Bill Neidermuller, Lovell Paggeot, Chet Tubbs, Bob Winters.

MEMBERSHIP OF W. A. A. HAS INCREASED

Officers of the Women's Athletic Association this year are: President, Helen Furby; vice-president, Meryl Adams; Secretary-treasurer, May Smith; athletic manager, Mildred Chamberlain. In addition to these officers the W. A. A. has the following sport managers: hockey, Louise Dunham; archery, Mary Longawa; hiking, May Smith; swimming, Lauraine Woolman; volleyball, Maurine Moore; baseball, Helen Nauman; and Tennis, Margaret Wilson.

Mrs. Winifred Hodgins and Miss Helen Dozier are sponsors and both willing helpers of the W. A. A. Miss Dozier has just been with us a short time, but already she too has proven a great friend. Girls who have won sweaters are: Mildred Chamberlain, Louise Dunham, Evelyn Dearborn, Marilyn Jameson, Arleen Klett, Ellen Kimberley, Louise Lowry, Arleen Maxwell, Helen Nauman, Gladys Oglesby, Norma Perry, Eleanor Warren, Micky Webster, Margaret Wilson, Dora Woods.

ORGANIZATION OF WOMEN IN 1923

The first women's athletic organization to exist on the campus was the English "S" society composed of those women who had won a letter on the basis of a point system used at that time. Two years later, in the fall of 1925, work was started on the revision of the point system and on a continuation for another athletic organization. March 10, 1925, work was started on the revision of the English "S" Society who with others eligible, became charter members of the present Women's Athletic Association. A week later the first executive board took office.

On May, 1927, the second annual banquet was held at which time the first sweater to be won was presented. On March 10, 1928, the association's second birthday was celebrated by initiation of the new Women's Athletic Field and the Play Day which met with great success. Play days were held as usual in the Spring of 1929 and 1930 which proved most successful. Annual W. A. A. banquets were also held both years with several alumnae present in 1930.

Now we are passing another milestone, since on Saturday, March 21st, we are not only celebrating another birthday but also the fourth annual Play Day, and to which we heartily welcome, as our guests, the girls of the neighboring high schools and junior colleges.

Winifred Hodgins, Head of Women's Physical Education Department.

POINT SYSTEM DETERMINES W. A. A. MEMBERS

Membership in the W. A. A. is awarded to those girls who have earned fifty points according to the point system listed in the W. A. A. constitution. Points may be gained in the following manner: First team, 100 points; second, 50 points; squad, 25; team captains, maximum 15, minimum 5; manager of sport, maximum 25, minimum 10; Women's Athletic Manager, maximum 100, minimum 50. Points are also awarded to student coaches, champions of sports, and officers of the W. A. A.

ABRAHAM, FRYE, EBBETS, SEVERY WITH COLLEGE SINCE EARLY DAYS

became head of the Home Economics department.

During the intervening years and until the present time, some of the outstanding accomplishments in the department of home economics have taken place. Phi Omicron Iota, a club affiliated with state and national organizations; Kappa Omicron Phi, national honor educational sorority securing a degree for home economics, the first to be given in the state outside the universities; a degree for special courses such as dietetics, textiles, health and institutional management; a large enrollment in the department; a fine new building especially constructed and adapted to home economics work; a practice house wherein family life and home making ideals may be better studied; and a fine alumnae out in the field of work, proving the benefits of a training on this campus, have all been established under Miss Ebbets' guidance.

First Science Courses Limited Hazel Severy was called to Santa Barbara State Normal of Manual Arts and Home Economics in September, 1914, by the president, Miss Rich. Science courses were at first offered only to home economics students, but later correspondence courses were carried for the University of California in food and textile chemistry, for about two years. Not until 1920 were science courses opened to other departments.

Miss Severy served as chairman of the social committee from 1914 until 1920; she was in charge of the dramatic productions until 1918; became head of the science department in 1914 and chairman of the credentials committee in 1919. In 1916 she wrote words for the college song "Green and White."

Due to the growth of the college and science department plans for a new science building were worked out by Miss Severy and members of her department which were developed by the state architect into the plans as they now exist. Checking of the final detailed plans will mean starting of the new science building which, when completed, will be up-to-date and modern in every respect.

First of the "Old Guard" Only one of the "Old Guard" has remained consistently with the college since making her first affiliation, that is Mrs. Jane Cushing Miller Abraham, registrar. In her own words, Mrs. Abraham tells her history in connection with Santa Barbara State. "In May of 1911 I made application to Miss Ednah Rich for entrance to the Home Economics department of the Santa Barbara State Normal School of Manual Arts and Home Economics, then located in the old Blake Memorial building on Victoria street. After discussing the courses, it was decided that I should return to my Alma Mater in the East to complete a chemistry course before taking up my work in Home Economics.

"In August of 1911 Miss Rich asked if I cared to undertake the work. My duties began in September of that year and included keeping of accounts, all the stenographic work, official guide, social secretary, counselor, placement and alumni work, etc. When we moved from the Blake Memorial building to the present location in 1913, my official title became General Secretary of the State Normal School. My office was located in the big room on the corner, now room 41. It was then one big room with President Rich's private office on the pergola and Dean Tracy's office adjoining. These two offices were later taken away. The big office in the old days reminded one more of a bee hive. It contained the telephone exchange, the treasury department and three typewriter desks with as many busy typists. "President Rich traveled all over the country visiting schools and colleges with the idea of obtaining information to apply to the best development of this college. In exchange for these ideas she offered the services of this college to all who needed such information as we could give. The school first became widely known through this method of service and publicity.

College Gains New President "In 1916 President Rich was married and for more than a year we had no president. Dean Tracy and the regular staff of the college carried the college through until 1918 when Clarence L. Phelps became president. At that time President Phelps changed my title from Secretary to Registrar, including the work of appointment secretary and alumni secretary.

"We moved into our present offices January 13, 1928. In September 1931 I will have been a member of the State Teachers College staff for twenty consecutive years. As I review the history and development of the college I marvel at the fortitude of those in authority since there has never been sufficient funds at any time to develop the institution adequately and yet the work has developed, been standardized, and has grown with each succeeding year."

GRANADA

"Viennese Nights," Warner Brothers' romantic extravaganza, which opened Sunday at the Granada theatre, has been hailed by critics as one of the most important contributions ever made to the screen. The cast includes Vivienne Segal as Elsa, Walter Pidgeons as Franz, and Alexander Gray in the role of Otto. The music was written by Sigmund Romberg and the picture is in technicolor.

"Body and Soul" with Charles Farrell and Elissa Landi tells the story of a woman aflame with the secrets of love and a man who was still a boy. It is a war picture with love as the main theme, but there are also airplanes and spies.

CALIFORNIA

"Painted Desert," with Helen Twelvetrees, William Farnum, and Bill Boyd. The play has been advertised as a gripping drama of pioneers, trail blazers, and love. Bill Boyd, who has not been seen for some time, returns in the role of the two-fisted hero who fights with a smile and faces romance with naive simplicity. The scenes are laid in Dinosaur canyon of the Indian reservation in Arizona. Starting tomorrow is a play which is a saucy, frisky love farce, "Don't Bet on Women," with Edmund Lowe and Jeanette MacDonald. The situation deals with a much-sought-after bachelor who must resort to all kinds of subterfuge in order to escape the attentions of designing women. Joe E. Brown and Winnie Lightner will appear together in the California theatre in their latest comedy picture, "Sit Tight," starting Sunday, March 22. The play will run all week.

THE EDITOR SPEAKS

UPON READING

"A THING easily attained is rarely valued highly," an old axiom tells us. Perhaps this is the reason so many students fail to take advantage of the benefits afforded by the college library in providing a treasure of good literature just for the asking. If they, like Lincoln, were forced to walk forty miles to obtain a book to read they would realize what an opportunity is being neglected by not reading more good works of literature.

The benefits derived from acquiring the voluntary reading habit are generally known. Yet many students think themselves too busy to read any good literature while in college. It is not a question of walking forty miles for books, but of merely going to the library.

A student who goes through four years of college without learning to enjoy good books is missing an important phase of his education. The desire thus to read, if not acquired while in school, will probably never be acquired. It is not a question of finding time, for most students have plenty of time if they only use it wisely. Nothing but indifference will hinder any student from receiving the advantages offered by the college library.

If the student but realized the extent of the broadening influences and worth-while pleasure to be gained from reading, he would make room for a great deal of it in his schedule. One who does not cultivate the reading habit now, in college, where the environment is favorable and the means at hand, deliberately places a handicap on his post-college life.

WHY DO STUDENTS LEAVE COLLEGE

OF THE six hundred eighty-eight students who registered in this college in September, one hundred and two, or about fifteen percent, did not return for the spring semester. Dr. E. L. Bishop has completed for the president an investigation into the reasons which underly this student mortality. She finds that approximately one-quarter of the drop-outs were because of disqualification, and another fifteen per cent were the result of scholarship difficulties which became acute early in the semester, so that the students saw the handwriting on the wall and dropped out before the end. In thirteen per cent of the cases, the reason for withdrawal was lack of funds and the necessity for getting into immediate full-time employment. About ten per cent transferred to other institutions, in California and elsewhere; ten per cent graduated, or stopped to take advantageous teaching positions; eleven per cent, mostly married women, were kept out by illness or other duties at home; five per cent left by reason of marriage, present or imminent; seven per cent because of health, or physical disability; ten per cent for a variety of reasons ranging from travel to entering the missionary field.

Some interesting relationships were found between the causes for leaving and the scores made by these students on the college aptitude test. Of the group which left college because of poor scholarship and disqualification, over two-thirds made aptitude scores in the lowest quartile for the college, and only three students in this group scored above the average for the college. On the other hand, in the group which left for financial reasons, transferred, for teaching, or home duties, only eleven per cent were in the low quartile on the test, fifty-seven per cent were above the average, and one-third in the upper quartile for the college.

VALUES IN LIFE

"WHAT IS worth more than which? Who is great and why? What is accomplishment, and is it any good? Is it bigger and better to build a railroad than a perfectly happy hour?"

"If I were a bird I would rather sit on a twig and sing than build fourteen nests to rent out to other birds. Did you ever hear of a bird renting a nest? Did you ever hear of a squirrel trying to corner the nut crop?"

"But a man, with vastly more capacity for enjoying life than either a squirrel or a bird, must build more houses than he needs and corner crops he cannot eat. He must bridge rivers he never intends to cross and merge railroads he never cares to ride on. He must have an occupation! He is not permitted to make the most of his life, but to make the most money with it. A man is a success if he makes money, a failure if he doesn't. We measure everything with dollars. Can you imagine approaching a robin and asking him to sing two dollars worth? Or standing before a landscape and telling it to be beautiful six dollars' worth? But you go up to every man and tell him to do something a million dollars' worth if he is to be respected. A millionaire is the noblest work of God!" — From Clarence Budington Kelland's "Nincompoop," in the Saturday Evening Post.

Editor the Roadrunner:

In reading the article headed Rainbow Review in last week's Roadrunner one might gain the impression that I was to appear on the program, especially in reading the last paragraph. Such is not the case, however. I shall not appear, for two reasons: First, I believe this has come to be strictly a student entertainment and except for an unforgettable occasion the faculty have not in general appeared on these college night entertainments. Second, I would not consent to appear because of the large number of people who of necessity will be back stage this particular evening who would be in a position to gain the secret of my presentations.

I write this in order that no one gain the impression that I had failed to keep my promise. I did give a manuscript for a very delightful magical performance to a group of students. This manuscript was stolen from the back of an automobile. So that even this must be postponed until such manuscript is returned.

There will be presented, however, a number of magical nature, which, whatever merit or applause it obtains must be credited to the group presenting it, as my part in this was nothing more than a few suggestions.

Editor of the Roadrunner:

Student support in any institution is an essential factor in the success of its development and progress. Why attend an institution or belong to an organization if you are not willing to support its activities? If your interest lies only in coming to classes every day and gaining knowledge only in the class rooms, your education is warped. Students in this college, and perhaps other colleges, do not seem to realize the importance of extra curricular activities. The State Legislature of California has even gone so far as to appoint a committee to investigate the lack of cultural and moral training among graduates of high schools and colleges of California.

Last Saturday night Fred Payne Clatworthy presented colored pictures of old Mexico, accompanying the slides with an interesting talk. These pictures were the most costly that have ever been shown here, and through the efforts of William Rust were brought here for the enjoyment of the students. In the audience were exactly nineteen college students and two faculty members, the rest were townspeople. Students are not backing these worthwhile efforts of Mr. Rust. Thirty dollars were lost on these pictures and seventy dollars on the lecture by Bathie Stewart. Such a situation is deplorable, and each student should be ashamed that he is not willing to support such extra curricular activities.
