Anheuser-Busch Aims to Strengthen UCSB's Academic Reputation

■ Eternal Tap To Dispense Cold Beer
to Thirsty, Deserving College Students

BY MOSTLY MOJADO
Staff Whino

Faced with an unprecedented $86 million budget deficit for the coming year, the UCSB administration has said "Whazzzzuuuuupppp!" to commercial sponsorship of the campus.

In a joint news conference Saturday, Chancellor Henry Yang and Anheuser-Busch President Augustus Busch III confirmed rumors of the beer company's official sponsorship of UCSB. On the steps of Cheadle Hall, Yang, Busch III, and a host of Budweiser girls outlined a new major, new sports facilities and a host of improvements that are expected to follow.

According to Busch III, the benefits of UCSB's official sponsorship are expected to be numerous and substantial.

"In addition to the A.A. (Alcoholic Arts) major, new university bylaws mandate the employment of Budweiser girls in the UCen. We also have plans for the renovation of Harder stadium and the Thunderdome into the Bud Bowl and the Natty Dome. We expect these developments to improve the school's reputation as well as prove profitable for Anheuser," he said.

A.S. Improvement Committee Chair Bridget Saltzman, who last year brought UCSB the Joe Camel monument to commemorate the victory for student smokers on campus, has pushed for a new monument in

A.S. Blows Its Wad on News-Press, Hookers

BY YOOBIAN TITTS
Staff Lighter

While most students were relaxing over Spring Break, the staff of the Daily Niacas was busy completing a monumental business deal that will change the face of Southern California media.

The Niacas finalized the purchase of the Santa Barbara News-Press for $99 million on Friday. The new paper, the Santa Barbara Daily Niacas, will serve the entire county from its headquarters at the News-Press's former office in downtown Santa Barbara. The Niacas will also retain its office under Storke Tower as its UCSB Bureau.

Daily Niacas Editor in Chief Matthew Randolph-Hurst said he and his staff had been considering the move ever since the New York Times Co. put the News-Press up for sale in February.

"This is only step one in our quest to dominate the global media," Hurst said. "Next, we plan to buy daily papers in Las Vegas, New Orleans and Amsterdam."

The Niacas received the money for the purchase from Associated Students Finance Bored, which voted unanimously to grant the Niacas its entire budget request of $100 million, though the News-Press cost only $99 million. According to Finance Bored documents, the remaining $1 million was earmarked for "hookers and blow."

"We appreciated that the Niacas came to us with a detailed, itemized budget," said Finance Bored Chair Mariah Hoskins. "There was some debate about the $1 million for sex and drugs — a few bored members

Yang Opens Whoop-Ass at UCSB Fight Club

BY FURIOUS
Staff Fighter

The Daily Niacas has been tracking rumors surrounding a mysterious UCSB boxing club for three months. What we found was a secret club dedicated to excellence, diversity and violence.

A violent underground club known loosely by the name "UCSB Fight Club" has recently sparked fierce animosity within the UCSB community.

Several high-ranking UCSB administrators established the local Fight Club last November after viewing Isla Vista Theater's screening of the hit film "Fight Club," Chancellor Henry "The Rubber Stamp" Yang said. Specific rules were formed at the club's inception in order to keep it a secret while maintaining its brutal reputation, he said.

"The first rule of Fight Club is: We don't talk about Fight Club. The second rule of Fight Club is: We must maintain excellence and diversity. The third rule of Fight Club is: Every meeting must start with me beating Michael Young unconscious," he said.

While the club was designed to improve student and community relations, Vice Chancellor Michael "The Man-Handler" Young said Yang's persistent trash-talking has prompted

Elian Cloned; Cuter Twin Forced to Endure Life Without Tommy Hilfiger

BY SIR M. COSINE
Staff 6-Year-Old

UCSB researchers announced Sunday that they had successfully cloned 6-year-old Cuban refugee Elian Gonzalez, and sent the clone, dubbed "Elian II," to his "father" in Cuba while the original remains in Miami with relatives.

Geneticists, working in a makeshift laboratory in the UCSB Biology Building, spliced Elian's DNA with Golden Retriever puppy DNA to make him appear "even cuter," according to Genetics Dept. Chair Alexander Chiu. Elian II was in stable condition at Cottage Hospital, and looked "as cute as the original," Chiu said.

Elian's father will not be told of the operation, and will unsuspectingly pick up Elian II when he visits the country next week. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials said Elian II will be subjected to a life of poverty, beatings, hunger and general misery in communist Cuba, while the original Elian visits Disneyworld and eats steak.

More Than Two Lumps With Board Shorts

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A study done by two Harvard students found that board shorts cause testicular cancer.

The two students, seniors Dan Lipscomb and Brian MacDonald, were extremely high one night when they decided to begin the study.

"We were sitting in the living room after blazing up some chronic and I said, 'Dude, my balls itch,'" MacDonald said. "I was wearing board shorts, and my nuts were itching like crazy, so I took 'em off and sat in my boxers. Then D-Lips says that maybe it was the shorts that caused my nut itch. So, that kicked it all off."

The study revealed that after wearing board shorts for longer than 10 seconds, testicular cancer will occur. The biggest maker of board shorts — Billabong — was quick to defend its product.

"Our shorts do not make balls get cancer," Billabong President Heather Aubrey said. "In fact, I bet those two morons were high during their study and it isn't even right. We are not pulling that these board shorts cause cancer," he said. "In fact, I have a baseball-sized tumor on the right side of my hairy beanbag right now, but it's cool, because all the surfers still buy them, so I'm rich as a mother. It looks like I have elephantiasis, but I really don't. It's the tumor."

our product off the shelves."

Quiksilver, the second leading board shorts seller, has a different stance on the issue, according to spokesperson Bill Lea.

"I have always known

Surgeon General Jack Daniels refused to take the study lightly. Immediately after learning the results, Daniels, along with his team of crack monkeys, started making Surgeon General warnings that will be placed on the fly of all board shorts.

Brendan Applegate, representative for R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, denied that the shorts cause gonad cancer.

"This is ludicrous. The idea of people wearing these shorts and having their gonads get cancer is absolutely ridiculous," he said. "It's the same with smoking. Smoking does not cause any harm to your lungs." Applegate then lit up a cigarette, inhaled, and immediately coughed up a piece of his lung, which was black and charcoal-like.

Purple-'Taint'ed Dreams Make for Terrific Trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Drug Enforcement Agency has released a report of a new street drug, Dexanol Triaphamine, known on the streets as "Taint," which is surfacing in drastic numbers throughout the U.S. According to DEA Drug Czar General Barry McCaffery, Taint is a drug categorized as neither a stimulant or a depressant, showing effects characteristic of both.

"The drug's most noteworthy effects are its ability to cause a dreamlike state similar to the sleeping cycle known as R.E.M. while the user is still completely conscious, as well as increased night vision," McCaffery said. "Short-term side effects also include temporary paralysis, a loss of bowel control combined with the inability to urinate for up to 12 hours after use, as well as inability to sleep, which can last up to 48 hours."

In a press conference last week, President Clinton commented on the sudden popularity of Taint, citing it as "another sad example of the desperation of Americans to escape from themselves, through whatever means necessary."

According to McCaffery, Taint is sold in its purest form as a fine bright purple powder, which can either be sniffed or smoked, and is sold in its lowest grade as a red-dish-purple rock.

"The drug was originally developed in France in 1956 by Dr. Claude Carnaud as a cure for cataracts, which explains its odd effect of increased night vision. The drug was not utilized as a result of its drastic side effects," McCaffery said.

Unconfirmed rumors have linked Presidential Candidate George W. Bush with usage of the drug in France in the early 1960s. Bush will neither confirm nor deny these accusations, saying only, "I was a different man in those days."

Taint is being sold on the streets for under $10 a gram, and is expected to be available in California at the end of April.

Take Exotic Journey Into Leggie-land!

BY BALD BEN HUR
Staff Writer

Associated Students Legislative Council is a strange and foreign body that rarely receives tourism from the student body at large. Many would-be tourists are put off by the prospect of long meetings, uncomfortable chairs and language and customs that are, initially, weird.

But the harder tourist will discover a rich local culture offering "Lord of the Flies"- style thrills without the bothersome wooden spears, falling boulders or symbolic decapitated pig heads. Plus, legislative debates offer the sort of high-drama usually reserved for Italian soap operas!

To help any students interested in taking an exotic journey, and possibly learning where their $43.50 in lock-in fees go every quarter, the Daily Niacas proudly presents a guide to the language and customs of Legislative Council.

Term Definitions

— Leg Council (noun. ledge council) Short for "Legislative Council," the representative body of UCSB student government. Twenty-one reps sit on the council and are overseen by four executives. Together they are almost as effective as a sack of wet mice.

— Leggie(s) (noun. ledge-e/ez) Members of Leg Council. Alone, they are mostly genial and non-threatening. In groups, however, they are easily agitated by the presence of outsiders and may make accusations of intolerance.

— "Okay, peeps..." (noun. peepz) 1. "People who agree with me." 2. "People who disagree with me and will be the first against the wall when the revolution comes."

3. "I am hallucinating and see brightly-colored Easter candy everywhere."

— "It's important that we follow process." (noun. pross-es) 1. "Let's do things the way they've always been done." 2. "While I am not in open opposition to this, I demand we do it as slowly as possible."

— "You need to educate yourself on that." (verb. ed-u-kate) 1. "Everyone who agrees with me, let's get together, drink, and feel good about ourselves." 2. "Attend the one-sided workshop I and my Krishna brethren are putting on." 3. "Silence, bourgeois running dog. It is clear that you have been influenced by counter-revolutionary attitudes."

— "Seriously, you have to think about the implications of that." (noun. Imp-lick-ashions) 1. "In five seconds I will tell you exactly what the implications are and what you should think about them." 2. "You shut up, me yell now."

— "But my perspective on that..." (noun. puwr-spect-iv) 1. "I shall not be thwarted by vile reason." 2. "Society is making a martyr of me, and let me climb up on my portacross and prove it."

— "Point of order..." (noun.) 1. "Although you may be able to out-vote me, I know parliamentary procedure much better than you. Fear my wrath." 2. "This meeting is really long and I want to go home, so I'm trying to find a way to shut you up."

— "We're voting on going to a vote." (verb. vote-ing) 1. "If the radiance of a thousand suns, Were to burst at once into the sky, That would be like the splendor of the Mighty one. I am become death, The shatterer of Worlds."

University Vendor Engages in Fowl Practices

BY RAT NEEDSEN
Staff Fryer

An oven of controversy has baked recently over allegations that UCSB's Sunset Strips has raised its supply of poultry by slaughtering local fowl.

Environmental studies major Eeton Bird filed a grievance with the university Thursday, claiming that the Arbor-located food vendor instructed its employees to hunt, pluck and deep-fry campus pigeons, seagulls and ravens.

Bird said he first suspected something was afoot after witnessing two Sunset Strips employees sweep up an array of feathers and bird limbs behind the business last week. He also noted that their "chicken" is tough and tastes like crap.

"I was passing through the Arbor last Wednesday when I saw these two guys in blue-jean overalls sweeping up what looked like bird remains. ... But these weren't chicken feathers, man. There were long white ones, which looked like seagull feathers and small black and silver ones that could've belonged to pigeons or black birds," he said. "Besides, it don't take no genius to figure out that the 'chicken tenders' ain't too tender."

Full-time employees Stu Pigeon and Hunt Gull revealed possible health-code violations when questioned by the Daily Nicas. According to Pigeon, who holds the title "Tender Technician," Sunset Strips uses fresh meat everyday in both their tenders and nibblits.

"Uh ...," he said. "My job is to pluck and gut the birdies ... then I gots to cutt 'um up and throw 'em in the vat. They tell me if I work hard 'nough in spring that they'll pay me."

Gull boasted of his gun collection, which he claims to bring to work everyday, but shrugged off any premeditated knowledge of wrongdoing. "I am a strong believer of the Second Amendment ... you know, the right to killin' your own meal," he said. "I go out there every day truly believing that none of those birds can beat me. Once you have that kind of intensity, all you have to do is execute. Pull!"

When cornered for comment, Sunset Strips Executive Supervisor Colonel Sanders admitted to fraudulent advertising regarding meat distribution.

"Yeah, Hunt's been whacking some of the trespassing seagulls and pigeons. ... Hear that? Trespassing! But who could blame him for knocking off those annoying ravens with their 'Caw, Caw, Caw,'" Sanders said. "We've been doing this since October to try and cut overhead costs, and we would have gotten away with it if it wasn't for you meddling kids."

Though Bird's grievance aims to shoot down the foul treatment of local wildlife, University Attorney David Birdbaum said it is erroneous and was incorrectly filed.

"The university strongly opposes animal cruelty but strongly endorses extra-crispy and over-priced lunch menu items," he said. "Bird's claim is tasteless; I think what it needs is barbecue sauce."

In response to the consumer squawking, Sanders proposed a compromise of sorts to allow Sunset Strips to stay in business, while remedying the fraudulent advertisement charges.

"Students have been eating their own friendly feathered foul this whole time without knowing it, so why should we stop deep-frying our moneymaker? But I understand that calling them 'chicken' tenders is unethical," he said. "That is why Sunset Strips is expanding our menu coming Spring Quarter. Now we have three items: Seagull Strips, Pigeon Pieces and Rotisserie Raven. All come with fries and a Budweiser, courtesy of Anheuser Busch. And don't forget to check out our coleslaw. It's deecellicious!!!"

high and pour forth cold Bud 24 hours a day."

Yang said Saturday's announcement was two years in the making and was anything but sudden or ill-conceived. After accepting applications from potential sponsors and performing a comprehensive fiscal analysis, the King of Beers became the King of UCSB.

"The official sponsorship is a result of a long process. I feel the association of Anheuser-Busch and UCSB will lead to alcoholic excellence and diversity," he said. "In addition to the new major and the rebuilt sports facilities, students will receive a discount on all Anheuser-Busch products."

Newly-named Alcoholic Arts Dept. Head Matt Schroder has been a proponent of the major since his time as an undergraduate at UCSB.

"It is about time for this major. The A.A. major will incorporate the disciplines of beer brewing and sociology," he said. "The major will include the study of bar room settings and how people socialize while under the influence of alcohol. I mean, hell, if sociology is a major on campus, why not Alcoholic Arts?"

Students interested in the Alcoholic Arts major are encouraged to start pounding early.

Elian's Miami relatives were pleased they would not have to relinquish the boy to his father and friends. "Elian told us he likes authentic Tommy Hilfiger jeans better than he likes his dad, his friends or his country," Lazaro Gonzalez said. "He's so cute."

INS officials did not inform Cuban President Fidel Castro of Elian II, but told him Elian's father would return to Cuba with a boy age six to nine. Castro said he was delighted the U.S. would allow Elian to return home, where he will live a happy life under the iron rule of the dictatorial tyrant.

"Your pathetic capitalism has caved to the overwhelming power of our communist people. Soon, we will march on your burning bourgeoisie corpses, you bastard capitalist pig-dogs," Castro said. "But we must first get this cute boy home."

In a calculated political move designed to draw Miami's Cuban voters, presidential candidate Al Gore announced that he was considering a third Elian clone as his running mate. "The American people and I are strongly in support of Elian Gonzalez," Gore said.

Gore's rival, Texas Gov. George W. Bush, responded quickly, favoring massive cloning to distribute Elians to the average American Joe. "Al Gore wants to keep Elian for himself," he said. "If I am elected President, we will make enough Elians to allow everybody an opportunity to adopt one. He's just so cute."

Disney CEO Michael Eisner also expressed interest in cloning thousands of "mini-Elians," which would be given away with Happy Meals in a new marketing campaign. "We believe Elian has what it takes to be a Disneyland spokesperson," Eisner said. "He's just so cute."

UCSB Chancellor Hank Yang said the cloning confirms UCSB's reputation as a leading academic university. Yang wrote in a statement, "Now we have twice as much excellence and diversity, because we have twice as much Elian."

Daily Niacas Staff Sues

Deformities Allegedly Caused by Variety of Workplace Hazards Including Excessive Chatter

Recently, a $14 million class-action suit was filed against the UCSB Publications Board on behalf of the Daily Niacas illustrations staff. The suit alleges that the Daily Niacas willfully and knowingly exposed its artists to dangerous contaminants, which led to sudden alterations of their genetic makeup. The university, however, contends that these loathsome freaks were already mutated, and that their employment at the Niacas has had nothing to do with their current abhorrent state.

Leading the landmark legal battle is Kazu Kibuishi, the illustrations editor. He contends that his grossly oversized head (which makes up roughly two-thirds of his body weight and occupies a staggering 27 cubic feet) was brought about by lead paint combined with a lethal dose of mindless office chatter. The incessant accolades of those around him have also contributed to the problem. When asked about his amazing artistic technique, he replied, "you don't NEED eyes where we're going!" However, friends close to Kazu say that this behavior has always been pretty typical.

Seeking $4 million in personal damages is Catia Chien. Six months ago, a four-and-a-half foot prehensile tail sprouted from her posterior, and quickly began doing her drawings for her. It has also been known to steal candy from the pockets of co-workers. Cat insists she has no control over her new appendage.

Another litigant, Lisa Doty, has been working at the Daily Niacas longer than any other illustrator. Perhaps this explains the severity of her deformation. Her belly-button is now an unsettling likeness of Don Knotts, allegedly due to wayward pencil shavings in her shirt. She wishes to be compensated for her inability to wear Rainbow Brite tube-tops.

Hoping to appeal to the jury's sympathy, the team of artists is planning to put artist Rusty Yates on the stand. Although he is too malformed to speak clearly, the prosecution is betting that a settlement can be reached as soon as he unfurls his mighty red ears. An expert witness for the artists will testify that each ear uses about 17 gallons of blood per hour and emits enough heat to power a small outboard motor.

The only staff member who has chosen not to sue the Niacas is Cory Osborn. Sources close to Osborn have revealed, however, that he has undergone a transformation since becoming an artist. Exactly what has happened to Cory is unknown, but coworkers say he has started strutting around the office in increasingly tighter pants, and it appears that a large, cylindrical tumor is forming on his inner thigh. He refuses to comment on his decision not to take part in the suit, except to say, "Ahh, yeah."

In three weeks, the team of illustrators will be taking their quasi-modified appendages to court. Meanwhile, the incessant chattering in the Niacas office has turned to quiet tension. "Ever since our initial transformations, I've noticed a lot of insensitivity among our co-workers," Osborn explained, "and that's really hard on the children." ... in bed.

"and that's really hard on the children." The "children" he speaks of are the younger illustrators known as Eric Lister, Shadi Muklashy and Dave Lindsay, who are melded together in a dense, four-foot-tall figure called "the Combo." The Combo's origin remains a mystery as Yates and Kibuishi find it too painful to recount in detail. "I remember Cory dancing around us with his ... and the booze, and the Teddy Pendergrass song ..." said Kibuishi with a tear rolling down his cheek. "Oh God, I hate it when he calls those mutants our children."

Despite their dark secrets and the enormity of their body parts, the illustrators have continued to put in their time at the office with a forced smile on their faces. "Somebody has to call Korea to get this artwork done," exclaimed Kibuishi.

Uncreative use of white space.

SATAN

Greetings citizens of Isla Vista. Your dark lord here, as in Satan. You know, the artist formerly known as the Prince of Darkness, Lucifer, 666, Capt. Evil, that whole bit. Isla Vista's been one of my pet projects since the '50s and I've always looked forward to my minions' work on the pages of Anheuser-Busch's Daily Niacas.

The Opinion section and its daily dose of hatred and discontent has always been a highlight of mornings in hell. I take extra joy in my morning flogging of Nixon, knowing I could later relax with a cup of chamomile tea and the pages of such an offensive, vulgar, tasteless rag. Until now.

You kids have really been slacking off with all this Free Mumia, Organic Foods, Glenn crap, and I'm beginning to lose my faith. It seems my black herd has lost its way and I've come to provide some advice and return the section to its previous dark glory.

The nut of the problem is the inability to actually offend one another. Calling cops "pigs" and white males "oppressors" and Christians "ignorant" just isn't cutting it

The Reader's Voice is

OH MY GOD, LOOK V

WROTE A LETTER!

Editor, Daily Niacas:

Hello UCSB. This is God. (In your head, letter in a booming, Charlton Heston-ish voice loud, if you're alone.) Judging from the conter Opinion page, there has been a great deal of about Me here lately, and I'd like to clear some

First of all, I don't know this "Glenn" character. I'm not quite sure what orange T-shirts have to do with Me or My Son. In fact, I think it's a little crass to have a multi-media mass-marketing campaign to selling My love like so much fast food or diet

The folks behind this whole "Glenn" campaign are the Campus Crusade for Christ. While I appreciate their effort, I must remind these people: The last time mortals tried a "crusade" in My name, it didn't work out too well. What say we drop the whole "crusade" bit for another couple millennia?

That about sums up My views on Glenn, I'm omnipotent, don't try writing to the Niacas with them. But why should I stop at Glenn? after all, so I can say whatever the hell I want. Niacas Opinion editors have to print it. I've got dirt on them.

On the topic of campaign finance reform — well, I'm not going to talk about anything so boring as sports, either. God damn it, I don't give a rat's

Staff Editorials:

Editorials are the semi-coherent ramblings of whoever happens to be sitting around the office sober enough to write.

Columns and Letters:

All submissions become the property of the Daily Niacas upon being turned in and are edited for length, clarity and to make up for the average writer's general lack of intelligence and insight.

o increase offensiveness on your Niacas Opinion page.

any more. You need to take it up a notch. The only redeeming quality of rhetoric is its ability to offend, and frankly, seventh graders can talk better smack.

If you want to offend just about anyone, start with stereotypes. You crazy college kids are so PC pussy-whipped you don't dare make a racial generalization without fear of castration. I say generalize your ass off. Example:

Why the hell can't I order a Whopper from I.V.'s Burger King without a Spanish translator and some pesos? The easiest thing to order at Jack in the Box is "dos tacos, por favor."

See, it's easy. If you're a minority writing a response, don't resort to worn-out revolution slogans like "viva la (stupid Spanish noun)." NOFX has the balls to say "kill all the white man" and so do you. Insult the white devil's sexual prowess and point to golfing as proof of impotence. A large sect of white people live in trailers, and redneck truck rally jokes go totally unused.

For those who complain about the activists who want you to sign a flyer, be really honest about your feelings on the environment. Example:

I'm too lazy to recycle. Panda bears and sea otters are a stupid luxury. All the raccoons should be made into bats and the blue whales should be floating. Chop up the rainforest and make the wood into bats to be used on the indigenous people of the rainforest.

Insensitivity is key. The more insensitive, the better the reaction. More examples:

I'm disgusted with the school's lack of attention to eating disorders. UCSB should kill two birds with one stone and feed all the anorexics to the homeless. Why is it called bulimia when you hurl in a bathroom and partying when you do it on Del Playa?

A never-fail insult tactic is the subject of your opponent's mother, her involvement with you and your friends, as well as her involvement with large farm animals. It was one of Hitler's old sayings "Never underestimate the power of accusing someone's mother of bestiality."

In these info-overloaded, watered-down cliché times it's rather hard to be new and fresh when it comes to insulting someone's religion. Most Christians have heard it all, and the best way to get them is to be honest. Try:

Jesus was a shiftless layabout carpenter who lived with his frigid psychotic mom until he was 30-something, at which point he decided to rehash age-old morals and sell them to the ugly and poor Jews no one else liked. He was crucified by Romans for raising a ruckus and his fanatical followers stole his body, altered the Old Testament, and systematically edited the gospels to ensure church control.

If that doesn't work, start talking about the Crusades and David Koresh.

For the Christians who want ammo to fire back, the whole "you will burn in hell" line is so played. To let you in on a little secret Sartre knew, you are burning in hell. Hell is other people.

The art of the perfect insult is sometimes elusive and these examples should be considered pointers; hopefully your precious little college brains can come up with your own. Remember that words were just funny looking squiggles until we all decided which ones were good and bad.

As my final example I present the following sentence, "Hopi pet elk."

It is one of the few remaining pieces of advanced literature from the Hopi tribes of the central plains. But just move around the letters, and bang — "Kill the Pope" — A great column if I ever heard one. Now you try.

sports. And when I do, I'm just as curious about the outcome as anyone else. I sure wouldn't spoil the drama for myself by rigging a sporting event in favor of one contestant.

No, today I'd like to talk about fun. That's right, fun. I think the worst thing people have done in My name is condemn fun. Whether it's pre-marital sex, drugs or masturbation, I encourage anything that makes you feel more alive. Heaven's great and all, but there's no replacement for those earthly pleasures. I'll never make an exception to My "free will" doctrine, but if I did, it would be to make people stop using the word "sin" for activities that don't harm anyone.

Well, there you have it. The word of God. I've decided to reveal Myself to you once every 2,000 years, and this time I've done it on the pages of the Daily Niacas. So until the year 4000, this is God, signing off.

THE LORD YOUR GOD

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS WIT DA ETERNAL FLAME, YO

Yo, so check dis shiznit out, yo. Last week o' so, me and my Homey decided we wanna be kickin' dat shit on campus. So what we do waz we roll a spliff and we be walkin' on campus lookin' fo' some spot to spark dat shiznit, yo.

So what weez do is go down to the Eternal Flame.

Homey sparked dat hydrochronic, endoponic shiznit and passed it down to me, ya get? So I take a rizznippitty puff and feel dat ponc peptobizmolize my endoplasmic reticulum. Ain't nuttin' wrong wit dat. But what I'm say'n iz, some crazy shit go down next. Dis spark come flyin' out of da fire and burned da fuck outta Homes. He fell on da ground and started to twitch n' shit.

So what I bizznippitty be doing is grabbin' dis UCSB groundskeeper across da way, and showin' Mr. Janitor my burned-ass buddy. But dat fool waz no help, yo. Allz dat bitch be doin' is grabbin' the roach outta Homey's fried face, and jettin' wit Mary Jane.

Right after Mr. Janitor be runnin' off wit dat shiznit, Homes be wakin' up from bein' zapped in the face. Homes took the rest of his fo'ty, and dumped dat shit on the flame. He be sayin', "Fuck the Man, yo," and then we left. True dat.

I don't know what the fuck happened dat night, but what I do know is dat waz some hydrochronic, endoponic, afro-ebonic, reefer-smokin, endo-token, dank-ass dub, yo. Fuck.

JUST ANOTHER LETTER OF BITCHING AND MOANING

Editor, Daily Niacas:

I am writing to voice my extreme displeasure with the general quality of your paper. In fact, your paper has gotten worse and worse in my six years at UCSB. Let me explain.

When I was a freshman, one page of the Niacas would line my cat's litter box for a week, and my dorm room was so odor-free my RA never found out I had a cat. By my second junior year, I was using an entire issue every other day, and now I need one Niacas every day to line that damn litter box. And still, my apartment smells like shit!

One of two things is happening here: Either my cat is shitting more or your newspaper is of lower, less absorbent quality. If things get any worse, I'll have to subscribe to the News-Press, but I think we all know my cat's shit is too good for that.

Well, this reader is fed up. I ask you: If the Daily Niacas is no good for absorbing cat shit, what could it possibly be good for?

THE MOST IMPORTANT LETTER EVER WRITTEN

Editor, Daily Niacas:

I never thought I would write a letter to the editor, but here I am. Where am I, you ask? Right here, writing a letter to the editor. And what is this letter about, you ask? I'm not really sure, but bear with me, people.

Perhaps this letter is about the rampant housing discrimination in Isla Vista. The other day I tried to rent an apartment, and the asshole landlord wouldn't rent to me, simply because I "don't have a job."

On the other hand, maybe this letter is about genetically engineered organisms in the food we eat. Just last week, I was eating my dorm lunch when the cucumber in my salad leapt off of my plate and bit me on the arm. Fortunately, my friends and I were able to subdue the voracious vegetable by drowning it in bucket of lard labeled "ranch dressing." I guess it serves me right for eating dorm food.

But that's not what this letter is about either. Maybe this letter is about Jesus. Actually, I don't know much about Jesus, but I figured if I threw His name around, my letter would get printed quicker. For, verily, "In the beginning," (Genesis 1:1) God said that you can never have too many letters about Jesus on the Opinion page.

Another thing this letter could be about is attendance at the Thunderdome. We have a world-renowned women's jai alai team, but they can't do anything without your support. Come on out to the 'Dome and make some noise for Friday's big game against the Fighting Dandelions of North Dakota Tech.

At this point, you might be asking yourself, "What in the Sam Hell is this letter about?" You might also be thinking, "Where did this itching in my groin come from?" but that's not my problem. At least I hope not. In answer to the first question, this letter is about ... um, shit ... I forgot. Well, it could be about apathy at UCSB, if you want. I don't really care.

When Sanjay Garla left college, he doubted whether his classroom lessons related to the real world. But joining AmeriCorps helped him make the connection he had been lacking. By the end of the year, he had launched a public education drive to help community residents get the health care they needed. "AmeriCorps challenged me and helped me grow," Sanjay says.

meetings to become more about personal vendettas.

"Okay. We designed the club to promote UCSB's excellence and diversity, but the Chancellor's bitch-ass started talking shit, so I had to beat that ass," he said. "He's a wily little bastard, but I broke him like a number-two pencil. Snap."

According to Fight Club Secretary Jon "The Berminator" Berman, the club also provides a forum for I.V. residents to meet with local law enforcement.

"I got a ticket for exposing myself at Friendship Manor the other night. The officer who arrested me came to the Fight Club meeting at UCSBrews, and I got to expose him to a world of hurt," he said.

Fight Club Treasurer Kris "The Crucifix" Andrews added that the club has improved relations between the I.V. Foot Patrol and I.V. residents.

"The cop who ticketed me for running a stop sign on my bike showed up at last week's Fight Club," he said. "Let's just say that I didn't just tell him where he could shove that ticket. Now I'm no proctologist, but I think that officer will be walking funny for awhile."

IVFP Lieutenant Butch "The Annihilator" Arnoldi said he encourages his officers to attend Fight Club meetings.

"Students think my officers walk around I.V. with chips on their shoulders, and that those chips are backed up only by the officers' gunbelts," he said. "This levels the playing field, and gives officers a chance to defend themselves without the weapons."

Junior psychology major Matt "Tenacious" Tiffany said Fight Club is the perfect way to get involved with the UCSB community.

"I just like to fight," he said. "I had some trouble with the law when I first got here; they apparently didn't think much of my extracurricular activity. Fight Club gives me a place to show my real personality."

Associated Students Executive Director Paige "Pummeler" Anderson said he has been encouraging students to get involved at UCSB for years, and Fight Club has done wonders to drum up interaction between A.S. and the student body.

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Today is a 10 — Everything you do ends up as a failure. You should either do better, or just stop trying. Try to do one thing right in your sorry little life. Violence may be an answer, especially if it involves children or the handicapped.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Today is an 8 — A six-foot-four Latvian wrestler is on the romantic horizon. Hopefully, gender and hygiene aren't top priorities for you today. Expect a visit to the free clinic soon.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) — Today is a 12 — You're stupid, and that could hurt you. Fortunately, your peers all know how inept you are, so they will expect little. If you'd like to earn some respect, brag about crimes you haven't committed. That'll show those bastards.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) — Today is an 8 — Your sign is Cancer. That sucks. Tumors are in your future. Big, malignant tumors. Also, expect discoloration of your genitals.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Today is a 1 — Your love life has taken a dive, spice it up with some hookers and a shotgun. Get a scuba mask and fill it with Elmers, that way you can deny everything.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Today is an 8 — You can't wait to get laid. It's not going to happen. Ever. You're too fat.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Today is a 7 — A dream you've always had is going to come true this week. Unfortunately, it's the one about all those poisonous snakes living in your toilet. Eat plenty of bread and cheese and wait it out.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) — Today is a 9 — You're on a roll. Your intuition is right on target, and your intellect is working well, too. Sadly, you will be stung by a wasp at 11:24 this morning, stagger in front of a Brinks truck, and die on the unyielding asphalt, alone.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Today is a 666 — All those years spent smoking weed, cursing, and masturbating are going to finally pay off. The Dark Beast will approach you with an enticing offer. Opportunity doesn't knock twice, so don't pass this up!

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today is an F — A stalled car will bring you to the shoulder of the expressway. Follow the man to the soft leaves below. Do not look at his face, or speak to him directly.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Today is a -2 — Everybody knows that Aquariuses can't read.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) — Today is an 8 — An old friend may surface to remind you of the way things used to be. Or, you may hear some horrible news that will crush your hopes of ever finding happiness. The future is a funny, funny thing.

Today's Birthday (April 3rd). You may find yourself living in a shotgun shack. You may find yourself in another part of the world. You may find yourself behind the wheel of a large automobile. You may find yourself in a beautiful house, with a beautiful wife. And you may ask yourself, "well, how did I get here?"

"Many students come looking to physically hurt A.S. officers," he said. "I think people must realize that members of A.S. really deserve a generous helping of whoop-ass."

Daily Niacas Campus Editor Rat "Eradicator" Needsen said UCSB Fight Club has turned the rivalry between the Daily Niacas and A.S. crimson. "We used to beat their asses in sloshball, but now we just beat their asses," he said.

thought that should be at least $2 million, but we're ready to give them more if $1 million doesn't cover it."

Hurst cited proximity to downtown bars as a major advantage to the new office. "We plan to install a fireman's pole, so we can slide straight down from the newsroom to the Press Room," he said.

The Niacas staff has a few changes in mind for the paper, according to Hurst. While most of the News-Press staff will be laid off, a number of editors and writers will be re-hired with the new job title of "lackey."

"Basically, the lackeys will be there to mix us drinks, keep the office clean and cover really boring meetings," Hurst said. "If the budget permits, we hope to hire some assistant lackeys soon."

Hurst has plans to cut costs as well. In order to save money on salaries, the entire News-Press photo staff will be "shit-canned," in the words of Niacas Photo Editor Schock DeMonkie. The photographers will be replaced by monkeys trained to work for crack cocaine. "It's amazing what a monkey will do for blow," DeMonkie said.

Readers of the News-Press Opinion page may be shocked by the change in ownership, according to Niacas Opinion Editor Tony Biscotti. "Niacas readers know that the opinion page would never sell out just because of this huge new audience," he said. "I plan to work as many drug references onto the page as possible, but profanity is very important, too. I'll be happy if I can make just one Montecitan choke on his breakfast while reading our pinko commie rag."
