BLISS WAGING WAR TO SAVE STATE COLLEGE

Enlists Aid of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce

GEORGE BLISS, assemblyman from this district, has increased his prestige decidedly by the fight he is waging to save the Santa Barbara state college from extinction, according to Secretary Herron of the Santa Barbara chamber of commerce, who has just returned from the state capitol.

The college was scheduled for elimination as a part of the legislature's strenuous efforts to lop off nearly sixty million dollars of state expenditures in order to balance a very wobbly budget. Bliss and other members of the assembly ways and means committee from the southern part of the state, sensing the unfairness to this section, fought the measure with such thoroughness and energy that indications are the institution which means so much to Santa Barbara and neighboring counties will be saved.

"Inasmuch as the proposition has not yet reached the senate, where Edgar Stowe might pick up the fight, Bliss has had to enlist his aid from southern California assemblymen who were impartial enough to perceive the validity of his arguments, but who had not the immediate interest and first-hand information possessed by Bliss," Herron said yesterday to a Chronicle representative.

"A few months ago," he continued, "all departments maintained or aided by state funds, submitted their estimates of the amounts needed to fulfill their various functions, having been forewarned that drastic economies would have to be effected. As is the procedure, these estimates were taken up and investigated by the ways and means committee of the assembly, whose reports and recommendations are then submitted to that body."

"Usually these reports, representing a great amount of study, care and knowledge of conditions, are accepted in toto by the assembly. If, as sometimes happens, a legislator who has been unable to reach or convince the ways and means committee of the soundness of some particular item contained in the budget, and which interests him especially, is able to muster enough support on the floor of the assembly and pleads his case with sufficient conviction to carry his motion, the matter is referred back to the committee for further consideration.

"From this, the importance of the committee is readily apparent, and it may be seen that membership manifestly carries with it confidence in the member's information and judgment."

Herron was warm in his praise of Bliss's fight to preserve the college.

"He enlisted the support of southern legislators so that a combined front was put up against the inroads of biased legislation engendered in a spirit of 'cut all you like, but leave my district alone,'" Herron stated.

Bliss pointed out, in his talk before the committee, that only two of California's seven state colleges are situated in the southern part of the state, and endorsed a proposal to pare Santa Barbara state college's budget by 25 percent. He maintained that if any such state institutions are to be wiped out, the action should first be taken in sections where the colleges are most numerous, thereby maintaining a fairer balance for the whole state.

As a part of the campaign, both Bliss and Herron reminded the Los Angeles chamber of commerce that the matter involved the whole of southern California, and that it was their fight as well as Santa Barbara's, whereupon that body exerted its influence in the fight to keep both southern colleges open.

"Los Angeles' support was no small item in the apparent success of the campaign," said Herron, "and I doff my hat to George Bliss for his generalship in handling the whole affair. We need more legislators like him in our governing bodies."

Our Hat is off to . . .

"BERT" McLEAN

Neighborliness without nose-iness, interest without intrusion, progressiveness without propaganda, business without buncombe, brotherliness without ballyhoo, encouragement without eulogy—he does not practice these things—he LIVES them. He is one of the reasons why Carpinteria is known as a friendly, loyal, gentle community.

ManAboutTown Saw

A huge Pierce-Arrow roll thru town carrying four midgets; one a gray-haired woman, highly painted and smoking a cigaret; two tiny men puffing on full-sized cigars.

"Big Boy" Williams, cowboy movie star, eating at Huber's with the conspicuous enthusiasm for which cowhands are noted.

Dick Hornbeck, former district manager for General Petroleum, and the whitest "boss" a man ever had, drop in the Chronicle office to say goodbye, having been transferred to Los Angeles.

Harold Cadwell swinging a mean tennis racket and trying to decide between flannels and white duck trousers.

A swell letter from Ollie Prickett, Carpinteria boy who made good in Pasadena, complimenting the Chronicle upon its first few issues.

A mysterious game of African origin being played in the window of a local shop.

Hosts of smiles on the streets this week—the banks open, a good rain in the offing, business picking up and the old optimism back in the saddle.

State College Glee Club Here Tonight

Indications are that the high school auditorium will be filled to capacity by 7:45 tonight, the scheduled time for the State College band and orchestra concert to begin.

"Clippings and favorable comments from the press are still pouring in from the towns and cities included in the orchestra's recently concluded itinerary," said Calvin Yaggy, president of the local student body, yesterday.

"The organization has a large following in Santa Barbara, and I hope the people of the valley will be there in plenty of time for good seats."

"We have put the admission price down to 25 cents for the concert, and the same for the dance which begins at 9:30, immediately following the concert, and I feel that the low admission prices will assure a capacity audience. Any organization receiving the enthusiastic publicity the state college organization has elicited must be far above average, and the community is fortunate in having this opportunity to see and hear the college band and orchestra."

Masons to Install Monday Evening

The local lodge of Masons will install officers for the coming year Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. David Reese of Ventura, a past grand master of Masons of the state of California, will be installing officer, and Fred L. Johnson, Seventieth district inspector, will be the marshal. Preceding the ceremonies, a pot-luck supper will be held.

Chronicle to Broadcast Russell Meet Winners

Tomorrow night at 5:45, Fred Greenough will announce the results of the Russell cup meet and review the high lights of the afternoon, on the Chronicle Quarter-hour over KDB.

Greenough, who is assistant coach of the high school, will discuss the various events and outstanding participants from a spectator's as well as a coach's point of view.

Santa Barbara county will first learn of the winners of the meet and get its first news of this grammar school cinder classic from the Chronicle's broadcast.

L. F. Thompson motored to Long Beach Monday to see his father, who he reports to be uninjured by the quake.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ogan, Mrs. Harbron W. Morris and Mr. Swenson drove to Los Angeles and Compton yesterday on business, and will also visit Charles Ogan and Ralph Ogan.

Russell Cup Meet for Grammar Schools to Be Held Here Tomorrow

Fifteen Schools to Be Represented in Local Track and Field Classic; Four Weight Grades in Competition

CARPINTERIA will be a Mecca for grammar school athletes from Santa Maria to Fillmore tomorrow, when the twentieth annual Russell Cup meet for elementary schools takes place, starting promptly at 1 o'clock p. m.

"We expect about fifteen schools to be represented," said Superintendent Harry Lintz yesterday. "Entries are still coming in, but I have never known them to be as tardy as they have been this year."

"Carpinteria's chances are not quite so bright as in past years," he continued, "but we can hardly hope to maintain our record of winning four of the past five meets. Competition will be keener than ever before, a factor that will lessen our own chances but make for a more spectacular meet. Our best showing will probably be made in D class, and the C division also looks promising, but the larger enrollment of some schools will tell in the other classes. Schools such as the two Santa Barbaras junior highs, with enrollments of 1000 or so each, have a much larger group of athletes from which to pick their teams."

"Everything considered, it will be a colorful, exciting afternoon for what we expect to be a record-breaking crowd of spectators."

SUPERVISORS URGE STATE TAKE COUNTY HIGHWAYS

Measure Would Save Nearly $100,000 Yearly for Santa Barbara County, Says Dinsmore

"Santa Barbara county will save close to $100,000 a year if the measure carries which was submitted to the assembly by the supervisors at their convention in Sacramento last week," said Tom Dinsmore, supervisor from this district, yesterday.

"Certain factions in Sacramento would like to get into the gasoline tax money to bolster up their department's unbalanced budgets," he continued. "This tax was originally levied for the express purpose of building and maintaining our highways, but since other tax revenues have dropped so low, due to general economic conditions, the highway fund has been watched with envious eyes by the heads of departments whose budgets show signs of not balancing. If these departments are allowed to make inroads into the highway fund, the matter will not rest there, but the fund will become the target for attacks from every phase of state government that is experiencing difficulty in balancing its budget. Let each department clean its own house and take care of its own adjustments, leaving the gasoline tax revenue to be used to fulfill its original purpose."

The supervisors' convention submitted a resolution to the assembly proposing to the state that it take over approximately 660 miles of public roads now maintained by the counties. The measure states that the highway fund is adequate to take care of the expense incidental to the proposed action, that it would give the public better roads, and work no hardship on the property owners benefitting by the improvements.

"If the measure is adopted it would affect about 150 miles of Santa Barbara county roads, including the San Julian, San Marcos grade and considerable mileage in this district," Dinsmore pointed out. "I am particularly anxious to see the state take over the following roads in this district: Casitas road to the highway, Palm avenue to the state park at Cerca del Mar, and the Foothill road to the polo field and thence down to the highway."

George Bliss, assemblyman, has stated that he is opposed to the measure unless the property owners affected signify their desire for it. "It was not in the program of the state engineers," Bliss said in reference to the Foothill road. "Personally I am opposed but I will abide by the wishes of the road residents from Cartons to Nidevers. Dinsmore and I would like to have them express themselves to either or both of us."

Houts Tells World of Carpinteria Lemons

"In 1932 Carpinteria valley produced 600 cars of lemons, valued at $900,000, and which were shipped throughout America, Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan, Hawaii and the Philippines. It is known through out the lemon-buying markets that local lemons are available during the peak consumer demand, and that they are remarkable for their keeping qualities."

"The walnut industry is rapidly decreasing, due to the fact that other crops are more profitable, but nevertheless the valley produced 160 tons of walnuts value at $30,000 in 1932. "Ninety percent of the seed planted to raise the green lima beans on the nation's summer market was harvested in Carpinteria valley. Last year the crop was valued at $48,000."

These and other surprising and enlightening figures were included in the radio talk given by Percy Houts Jr. Saturday evening on the Chronicle Quarter-hour period over KDB. Coach Mather of the Carpinteria high school spoke on the same program and sketched in an interesting fashion the history of the annual Russell Cup track and field meet, one of the oldest and largest in the state.

"Hap" Anderson, manager of the Carpinteria airport, told of his impressions of the earthquake disaster when flying over the stricken area around Long Beach, and of the damage and desolation wrought by the shock, as seen from the air.

Judging from the comments, letters and phone calls, the Chronicle has received, it would seem that everyone in Carpinteria valley, and three counties, was tuned in on KDB Saturday evening.

Tune in KDB every Saturday afternoon from 5:45 til 6:00 and hear a quarter-hour broadcast planned and given by and for Carpinterians.

Rain Would Help Bean and Pea Crop

Even a light rainfall during the next few days will assure local pea growers of pickings lasting well up into the month of May, and will bring green beans, particularly early fordhooks, into maturity during the same month, according to Chet Miller, of Miller and Humphreys, produce shippers.

"Pea prices will begin to drop by the end of next week," he stated. "By that time Pismo and Imperial valley shipments will begin to load the market and Carpinteria's corner on the pea market will come to an end. Prices for the past week have held around 11 to 13 cents, but by the end of this week 7 and 8 cents will be average."

Miller said that this year's green bean crop should amount to approximately 60 carloads, compared to 23 cars shipped last year. "Last year's crop was very poor," he added. "If the same acreage is planted to green beans this year, the crop should be more than three times the '32 production."

About 140 crates of local strawberries are being shipped weekly to San Francisco, where they are bringing as high as 30 cents per box on the retail market. These are among the first strawberries to reach the bay regions.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Carter of Santa Barbara motored to Los Angeles and vicinity Tuesday. They found Mrs. R. F. Carter's parents, in Compton, all right after the shake up.

Radio Manager Talks to Lion Club Members

"Carpinteria valley is sitting pretty for a lot of valuable publicity that would cost the chamber of commerce an enormous amount of money, were it not for the Carpinteria Chronicle's arrangement with KDB," Herb Witherspoon, manager of the Don Lee station in Santa Barbara, told the Lions' club at its meeting last night.

John Hudson and Fred Greenough, the program committee, arranged for Witherspoon to come down and address the Lions on any subject of his choosing which pertained to radio and its possibilities.

He was enthusiastic in his praise of Carpinteria and the valley's future. "A broadcasting station, like a newspaper, has but one thing to sell—good will," he stated. "The radio is divided into time periods, the newspaper's into space in column inches. The radio and newspaper are bound up in the development and progress of the community in which they are situated. Their welfare is the welfare of the public they serve. Such an identity of interests is well illustrated by the KDB Chronicle Quarter-hour broadcasts, and works for the benefit of the entire community."

POST OFFICE TO OPEN BIDS FOR WORK TODAY

Strong Rumor Hints at Still More Building Activity Soon

BIDS on Carpinteria's new post office building will be opened this afternoon, and the contracts awarded shortly after, according to Tom Fish, the owner of the site.

"Specifications went in to the contractors early this week," said Fish. "Plans and specifications have both been approved by a representative of the postal department, so most of the factors tending to delay actual construction have been eliminated, and the building should be well started by the last of this month."

Fish neither denied or affirmed the persistent rumors that have been prevalent this week concerning a new business block adjoining the new federal building, and said to be under serious consideration.

Things to Remember

Barney Oldfield racing an airplane at Seaside park, Ventura, back in the days when airplanes were "flyin' contraptions" and Barney's name was synonymous with automobiles and speed.

Forgetting to put on my necktie after going swimming on the way home from school. It was a dead give-away.

When the Rincon highway was being constructed—dust ten inches deep in some spots; others passable only at low tide.

When there were two telephone companies in the valley. You could only phone half the people you knew, but you could talk to Santa Barbara without paying a 10-cent toll.

Upsetting a bowl of punch at a "Pinfeather club" dance, and very nearly ruining a brand-new party dress.

A school holiday, so that Carpinteria could attend the circus in Santa Barbara, announced by a blackboard sign in front of the post office reading "No school today—Circus." Next day a wag changed the sign to "School Today—No circus."

The almost over-night change of the Rincon highway scenery after oil was discovered there.

Mobile Laboratory Visits Carpinteria

The "mobile laboratory" of the county health department visited the Aliso school last week and gave the children tuberculin tests.

The outfit consists of a car and trailer containing everything essential to a small, compact laboratory. Doctor Emery and Sanitary Inspector E. J. Stedman gave each child a complete examination for symptoms of tuberculosis. Three steps are included in giving the tests, Stedman stated. First, notices are sent to the parents, stating the purpose and procedure of the tests; next, the parent's permission to have the child tested is secured and, third, the test itself is given.

Charles Bliss will be home from U. C. L. A. over the week-end.

GROWING CONFIDENCE IN ROOSEVELT

Frank Roosevelt already enjoys the confidence, respect and admiration of the people to a greater extent, perhaps, than any president since the immortal Teddy—the "Big Stick."

This is less a criticism of later presidents than a commendation of the new President; a commentary on the fundamental differences of vastly different types of men.

Hoover, for instance, maintained his contact with the people by a host of committees, public relations counsels and heavy statements to the press. In the short time that Roosevelt has been president, he has made two radio talks, and by these has managed to get closer to the people than his predecessors ever did in four years of press statements and committee reports.

Roosevelt's messages have been clear, concise, simply worded "one-man-to-another" talks, as though he had dropped in for a friendly chat with each listener. There is no impersonal mention of "the American people and their administrative officers"; rather an attitude of "you and I are going to work this thing out together." Will Rogers says he leaves his vocabulary at home.

This treatment is effective. It instills confidence in a public woefully in need of confidence for many, many months. It enlists the sympathy and co-operation of the majority, something a lot of presidents were never able to do.

President Roosevelt has already endowed his office with a personality and human-ness that has met a hearty response from the people. And people will believe in a personality where they will not or cannot understand a personage.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

An active chamber of commerce is an inestimable asset to any town, particularly small ones really just beginning their careers as municipalities. The ideal chamber of commerce is comprised of every man, woman and child in the town who is interested in it. The ideal board of directors is composed of SEVEN of the town's leading citizens, preferably those who can and will meet weekly at luncheon and transact the chamber's business. The entire membership should never be called out except at annual meetings or at special meetings to vote on major questions—or perhaps at quarterly evening banquets with speakers, entertainment features and round-table discussion of the town's activities and ambitions.

In the selection of directors and officers, it is vital to the chamber's success that those chosen be known for their ability to work in harness—and not balk. These directors should also be selected to represent as many different phases of community life as possible—a farmer, a banker, a grocer, a teacher, a doctor, a newspaper man, etc.

These remarks are made after many years of observation upon the works of civic organizations of one kind or another. We particularly recommend the smaller number of carefully-chosen directors, and also the weekly dutch-lunch business meeting idea. It is our positive knowledge that a few men attending to business every week can do more than a great number of citizens—all with excellent ideas, perhaps. The reason, of course, is perfectly obvious. A group of people hold a meeting, say, of three hours' duration. If everyone is interested, each desires to talk. Finally, and long before the discussion is ended, the time is up—and no action is taken; or if it is, it is hastily enacted and probably ineffective.

We pass these suggestions along to the present Carpinteria Chamber of Commerce for what they may be worth—if anything.

As to the local situation, we are in receipt of several communications from officers and members, which we are forced to omit from these columns due to lack of space, but which do show a decided interest and desire to become active immediately. A meeting will probably be called soon.

It seems that during the more or less dull winter season now about over, different members of the chamber have been exceedingly busy with personal affairs, but now that Spring is in the air, they are again becoming interested in promotional work, and the organization will probably become active very shortly. We again pledge the Chronicle's support.

OUR "TWO-BIT" DOLLAR

"The other day I purchased six fine pork chops in a Taft market for 13 cents," says Harvey E. Westgate in the Oilfields Dispatch. "When the farmer was prosperous those pork chops would have cost at least 30 cents, probably more—with the farmer, the real producer, getting his full share of the proceeds. Cheap food, with 13,000,000 men out of work, and farmers starving to death, isn't a sign of prosperity."

What can you expect—with "two-bits" worth of silver in an alleged dollar? A dollar that costs the laborer one to five or more hours more of his lifetime to earn than it did a few years ago. It is high time American workmen demand the abolition of this condition. It is high time editors of the free and independent press take up the cudgel of publicity against the chain-operated or controlled press and demand the REMONETIZATION OF SILVER—abolition of the crime of '73; and foreign debts settlement on a basis of standardized relative values of silver and gold. We do NOT need a war to bring back good times.—George R. Burris, in Tehachapi News.

THE SAME OLD STORY

The people of the United States today, more perhaps than ever before, are crying to high heaven of high taxes. BUT—last year the people of the United States spent $13,000,000 MORE for tobacco and cosmetics than they did for educational purposes (which constitute more than half our tax burden). We claim taxes are not much too high, considering what we receive for them. The trouble at present is not even "supply and demand." It is that there is not enough medium of exchange—not sufficient monetary value for farm produce or labor.

The new administration promises to immediately place more money in circulation, and from all we can learn, this plan is being carried out as we go to press.

The new money is secured by United States bonds, or by the very country itself. Arthur Brisbane says "You will like the new money, particularly if you get enough of it." We predict the mad scramble will soon be on again.

This summer looks like it might be the wettest dry spell we ever saw!

The GLANCER . . .

By Wes Davis Jr.

Does it pay to advertise? Draw your own conclusions—over a hundred persons have informed us they heard the Chronicle Quarter-hour of KDB last Saturday evening. If one hundred would tell us, then probably several thousand really heard it. We have reports from Ojai, Ventura, Lompoc, San Luis Obispo, Santa Maria, and, believe it or not, Hollywood!

We have come to thing perhaps this is Mecca, instead of Carpinteria.

Maybe it is.

When the Chamber of Commerce begins its campaign for the new season, we'll make 'em think this is Mecca, Eureka, Eldorado, Excelsior, Eden and the Promised Land all rolled into one. IS there a better place to live anywhere else?

Over the radio and through the newspapers, both Russell Cup meets at Carpinteria will receive much publicity. Even those who do not care a great deal about these sports should go, just to show the visiting public we support our own.

There is talk already of re-electing former Governor C. C. Young to the state's leadership. Yep, we are now having a new deal, but still "it's the same old game."

The "ins" want to stay in and the "outs" want to get in. And the public likes to daydream that it really has something to say about government.

A lot of people have learned a lot about money the past few weeks. The "ten-dollar-bill" story is going the rounds. You've probably heard it. A salesman left a ten-dollar bill with a hotel man for safe keeping. (A nice piece of caution). A creditor pulled a "rush act" on the hotel man, who gave him the salesman's ten-dollar bill. The creditor then paid his grocer, who next paid it to his barber; the barber paid his bill to a supply salesman with it, and then the barber salesman paid his hotel bill—and the hotel man had the same ten-dollar bill back again. The next morning its owner, salesman number one, tore it up, telling the hotel keeper it was counterfeit!

Just thing of all the fun we had imagining how much scrip we were going to get and how we were going to spend it.

MARINERS

The Mariner meeting March 13 opened at 6 bells in the second dog watch. After inspection the crews fell out and Margaret Rodriguez explained the "lead line"; Skipper Wymond explained the weather flags, which will be raised every morning on the new flag pole in the patio of the high school.

The sick-boy steward, Rowena Kirkwood, conducted races for the purpose of practicing first-aid. Artificial respiration was also practiced. The crews fell in, sang taps and were dismissed.

To help the Red Cross and Salvation Army in their relief work in the earthquake area, the Girl Mariners, Barbara Butler in charge, canvassed Carpinteria for clothing, food, bedding and kitchen utensils last Saturday and Monday. They collected one entire truck load with the help of several Boy Scouts. The Mariners also assisted the Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mary-Jo Wymond and Jackie Bailard, with their relief work.

Mrs. George R. Bliss and Mrs. Genevieve Shorkley plan to motor to Sacramento Monday with General Howard, commander of the national guard of California, and wife, who are stopping here on their way from Los Angeles. General Howard has been prominent in the relief work in southern California the past week.

Carp A C Wins Hard Fought Ball Game

The local nine eked out a win over the Santa Barbara Unemployed by one small, narrow, hairbreadth, but nevertheless deciding, run in Sunday's game, and sent the visitors home with the short end of a 4 to 3 score.

The game was hard fought and have-at-em from the opening gun, and was anybody's until the end of the ninth—it was tied until the seventh at 3 tallies each. The Unemps used two pitchers.

Important contributions to the good work were home runs by Tommy Dornan and Mixumup Van de Mark, while the visitors' only entry in the four-bagger column was made by Luther.

Manuel Bennett, moundsman for the locals, was right in there doing things to the extent that the Unemps failed to get within postal distance of the plate during the last four innings.

There will be no game Sunday, but on March 26 the Ventura Panthers will play the Carps here.

THREE-WAY TRACK MEET HERE

The Santa Barbara Boys' school track team laid low their rivals from Webb and Dean schools Saturday, in a three-cornered meet held on the Carpinteria high school sod. Will Rogers, famous American, was in attendance.

Final score was S. B. 77, Webb 37 and Deane 23.

Stanford Alumni Group Organize

Carpinterians claiming Stanford as their alma mater were well represented among the 85 who were present at the Stanford Alumni dinner given Saturday for the purpose of organizing an alumni association in Santa Barbara.

A feature of the evening was a talk by Tiny Thornhill, coach of Stanford university, on football prospects for the coming season. Among other unusual statements, Thornhill said in effect:

"I have a wealth of good material this year. I am in full charge and will have no alibis. If we turn out a winning team, the credit is due me—if the team fails to make a good showing the fault is mine—and I'll take it."

To Initiate Archery at Meet Tomorrow

The Russell cup meet tomorrow will have one innovation in track and field meets when from 10 until 12, on the high school lawn, contestants from six schools will compete in the first invitational archery tournament to be staged here. About 25 are expected to try their skill, including representatives from both the local schools, St. Vincent's, Santa Barbara girls' school, La Cumbre junior high and Montecito.

Former Woman's Club President to Entertain

Ezelda Sutton, formerly president of the local Woman's club, and primarily responsible for building the present clubhouse and purchasing the lot, now a resident of Los Angeles, will present a group of international characterizations at the Carpinteria high school auditorium at 8 o'clock p. m. Friday, March 24. A small admission charge will be made for benefit of the building fund.

Local Rebounds from Long Beach Shake-up

Mrs. Harry Lintz received word that at the time of the first shock her mother was on the tenth floor of the Arcade building in downtown Los Angeles—but not for long!

The store building belonging to Dick Kistler's brother, in Compton, was a total loss. The building was a brick structure, and buried a safe containing a considerable sum of cash beneath several tons of brick and plaster. Compton banks are still closed—there aren't any banks until new buildings are erected, or temporary arrangements made.

Herb Howe, writer and part-time Carpinterian, was mentioned by Harry Carr as one of the many seers who predicted the quake. Herb was staying at the Breakers hotel, Long Beach, but rumor has it that he since has moved to the ground floor of a rather solid basement in Death Valley, lowest spot in the United States.

"Tor" Nielsen was in the shaken area at the time, but refuses to estimate the number of shocks that followed the first jolt. He says that after the first quake he was never sure whether it was the ground or just his knees.

Several versions were revived of the old earthquake perennial concerning the dignified citizen who always prided himself on being so calm and collected, and who carefully donned his shirt, vest, coat, hat and necktie and walked two blocks before some observing person called his attention to the fact that he had forgotten to put on his trousers.

Every Carpinteria veteran of the Santa Barbara quake reminded every other citizen that he had commented only Thursday that we were having earthquake weather.

Visel Local Chairman of Trails Association

Paulsen Visel, of Carpinteria Motor Lodges, has just received notice of his appointment by California Mission Trails association as chairman of this district.

"The association has made two very advantageous connections this year with worthwhile organizations which promise nation-wide publicity, of which Carpinteria will receive its share," said Visel yesterday.

"The All-Year Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, whose advertising is national and potent, and amounting to $250,000 this year, and Californians, Incorporated, a San Francisco organization with similar purpose, that of developing the tourist business, southern California's third largest industry.

"Figures compiled by these organizations show that in 1932 over 7800 cars passed through Carpinteria each day, and that so far this year the average has dropped to 6100, or a decrease of 1700 cars, at least partially filled was prospective Californians.

"These associations are doing a wonderful work in telling about and bringing people to California, and a representative in Carpinteria assures this locality its share of thousands of dollars' worth of publicity."

Myron Robertson, Percy Houts Jr. and families left early this morning for a three-day trip to Death Valley points and probably Boulder dam.

Harbron Morris enjoyed a weekend at his cabin over the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Powell and son Bobby arrived last Sunday at the home of J. A. Lewis for a brief stay. They will proceed to Los Angeles next Sunday.

The Rev. C. P. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church, who has been in Los Angeles all this week, writes that he will be back in time for the church services Sunday.

We would appreciate it if you'd subscribe to the Chronicle now.

Many a man who was once a cut-up now sits quietly at home working jig-saw puzzles.

SCHOOLS

HIGH SCHOOL

The price of admission to the Twentieth annual Russell Cup track and field meet has been placed at 25 cents.

New, strange stories continue to come to light concerning the experiences of friends and relatives of some of the teachers and students in the high school who were in the midst of the earthquake of last week.

Assistant Supervisor Murphy of the Santa Barbara national forest, addressed an assembly of the students and faculty last Wednesday morning on the subject, "Fire Prevention." Murphy explained that the educational work of the forestry department has been curtailed to such an extent that demonstrations of fire prevention work, such as have been given in other years, are no longer possible. Through the courtesy of certain non-governmental agencies, he found it possible, however, to throw two reels of film on the screen as an accompaniment to his lecture. The conflagration in the Santa Barbara forest last season caused direct damage to the extent of $425,000. Additional damage to check dams, roads, reservoirs, etc., brought the total to a staggering amount. One item of great expense was the maintenance of fire fighters in the danger zone, as many as 8000 having been employed at one time during the fire. The speaker stressed the question of conservation of wild animal life, also.

In private conversations, following the lecture, he discussed the participation of the forestry officials in the organization and operation of the state camps for unemployed. Reference was made to the record of President Roosevelt as a conservator of forests in New York state, during his term as governor, and Murphy anticipates a carrying over of this policy into national affairs to the point of developing millions of marginal farm lands as new forest lands. I. A. Mather, science instructor, and coach, is guiding his students in the building up of a leaf collection and has enlisted the aid of the forestry service.

An essay contest on the conservation of natural resources, to the winner of which will be awarded a gold medal by the Montecito Garden club, and affiliated agencies, is being organized by Mather. About 20 students are expected to prepare essays.

Plans are maturing for the holding of the annual tri-county Older Boys' conference, to which delegates of the local Hi-Y group will be sent. This year the conference will convene in Ventura in about two weeks.

Little groups of adults are springing up in all sections of the country, studying economics, government, social problems, literature, drama, art, science and handicraft subjects. The most recent development is in the field of economics. The Evening high school stands ready to meet such interests in this community whenever any group of ten or more express a desire to carry on such study.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Awards were made to Thelma Bauhaus of the main school and to Domingo Saragosa of the Aliso school for winning the conservation essay contest sponsored by the Garden club of Santa Barbara. Mrs. John Manning of Montecito made the awards. Honorable mention was given to Mary Shorkley and Laura Stewart.

Quake Reconstruction Work Aids Depression

"Reconstruction work in the quake stricken areas will eventually relieve the depression in this part of the state," writes George Bliss, assemblyman for this district, from Sacramento. "But immediately it will result in more debt relief measures. There was great excitement here during the earthquake period and I was immensely relieved to learn that Santa Barbara county had not suffered from the shock."

"The ways and means committee has nearly finished its work, I am thankful to say," he continues (Bliss is a very active member of that committee). "The item-by-item inspection of the 500-page budget has been a protracted affair and has required all my time and energy for the past few weeks."
