Fire Department, Auxiliary Lauded for Convention Aid

Members of the Carpinteria and Summerland division of the Fire Department and the Woman's Auxiliary to the Department are receiving the highest praise for the active assistance rendered in entertaining delegates to the California State Firemen's Association and Auxiliary convention which was held in Santa Barbara this week.

On Tuesday the Auxiliary entertained 135 delegates to the auxiliary convention at a delightfully appointed luncheon in the Veterans' Memorial building. Favors consisting of miniature crates containing lemonettes advertising the Carpinteria valley which were furnished by the Chamber of Commerce was distributed to the guests. Following the luncheon a program of musical numbers, dances and readings were presented by Santa Barbara and Carpinteria talent.

On Wednesday evening the Carpinteria and Summerland divisions of the fire department wound up the Fire Demonstration at Laguna park with a comedy interpretation of an untrained fire brigade's attempt to extinguish a fire. The antics of those participating in the act kept the crowd in a continuous uproar of laughter from the start of the act when Bill Udall, ably depicting the part of a drunk, accidentally set fire to a house, to the end when, after a series of mishaps which included a thorough soaking of the firemen, a weiner roast was held over the embers of the house which had burned to the ground in the meantime.

Prior to the fire demonstration a barbecue was held at the Teco-

CUB PACK FINDS LOST FORESTRY EQUIPMENT

The overnight trip of Cub Pack No. 2 of the Community church to Wheeler's gorge last Friday night proved profitable for the U. S. Forest Service. The boys, who were accompanied by Rev. Deane F. Babbitt, arose early Saturday morning for a hike before day-break. After returning to camp for breakfast they took another hike to the scene of the big Matillja fire in 1917 and found a pipe wrench and bronze sprayhead which were turned over to the Forest Ranger Station. Ranger Morgan stated that the equipment was worth several dollars and explained forest fire hazards and the damage caused by erosion following in the wake of a fire.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE IN KRAMER TRACT

The recently installed fire hydrants and the Carpinteria Fire Department again proved their worth to the community Sunday night when the house occupied by Juan Gonzales in the Kramer tract was discovered to be ablaze shortly before 1:00 a. m.

The alarm was relayed to Shell Martin by George Boverson who discovered the blaze while enroute home from Santa Barbara. When the fire was discovered a one-room building on the property had been virtually destroyed and the main house was blazing furiously when the fire department arrived on the scene.

Although it was necessary to lay between 700 and 800 feet of hose to the nearest hydrant the blaze was brought under control within a few minutes after the department arrived. Damage was estimated at $250.00.

The origin of the fire was not determined. The Gonzales family was out of town when the fire occurred.

Purposes of New High School Course Outlined

In line with a policy which has been apparent in the administration and operation of Carpinteria Union High School over a period of several years, new courses are offered from time to time which are designed to more adequately meet the needs and interests of the high school students. This fall, the operation of this policy has resulted in the organization of two double period courses in Human Relations, open to Eleventh and Twelfth grade students. The courses have become possible largely through the vision and generosity of the State and Federal educational agencies, much as have the Vocational Agriculture and Home Making courses become available to Carpinteria. Specifically, State and Federal aid takes the form of money grants to the high school district and the cooperation of the State Department of Education with the local high school administration in the organization and supervision of the work. A congressional measure known as the George-Deen Act is the basis of this contribution to the local high school program.

As to the content of the Human Relations program, the course of study is the result of the fusion of the most vital elements in several older and more traditional courses. Materials have been drawn from United States History, Civics, Economics, Sociology, Psychology, and Literature.

The method of approach is the problem type. Current individual and social problems in which the students are vitally interested are attacked in an effort to understand their nature, proposed solutions, and the individual student's personal relationship to them. The historical development of the problem and the institutions and movements of which it is an aspect, are studied, the expressions of American and English authors at various times in our history concerning such problems, are read and discussed, this activity being based upon the assumption that our better literature is a true reflection

BITTER BREAD—AND SWEET

American civilization, whatever its faults, is distinguished by the principle that dire misfortune of the individual is the concern of all. We maintain havens for the old and orphaned, tax supported hospitals for the penniless sick. In abnormal times such as these the nation assumes the enormous task of feeding and clothing millions of unemployed.

Arresting, then, and Spartan-like in sternness at first thought, is a plan quite widely advanced lately in the East, proposing to disfranchise some of those now living on public bounty.

Proponents, they make plain, do not condemn any man because he cannot obtain work or, for any reason, is incapable of holding a job. But they hold that many on relief have come to find the taste of the bread of charity, at first bitter, turning sweet in their mouths; that these do not want to return to the responsibility of the hard-earned dollar.

The proposal is hought-provoiking—if extreme. Is it fair that a citizen that refuses to do his duty to the state—to help produce the wealth from which all taxes and all relief funds must come—should at the same time retain a voice in the expenditure of that common wealth and the election of officers who administer public business?

The problem is unquestionably serious. But the happiest solution, surely, would come through some method, reflecting American civilization and wholly un-Spartan, of rekindling the zest for the sweet taste of self-earned bread in the hearts of those who have so sadly lost it.

The Churches

Carpinteria has a number of Churches, whose pastors and members will be glad to welcome you to their services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Christian Science Society, Carpinteria, a branch of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., holds service every Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., Sunday School at 9:45 o'clock. Mid-week meetings every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

A reading room is maintained in the church building, open Tuesday afternoons (except holidays) from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from the Book of Job: "Let not him that is deceived trust in vanity: for vanity shall be his recompense."

The Lesson-Sermon includes these words of God as revealed to Isaiah: "Behold, the Lord GOD will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. . . All nation before him are as nothing; and they are counted to him less than nothing, and vanity. . . Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. . . For I the LORD thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee."

Among the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, are the statements: "Where the spirit of God is, and there is no place where God is not, evil becomes nothing, — the opposite of the something of Spirit." "That only is real which reflects God."

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

BUSINESS—More so than ever, news became an important and highly valuable commodity last week to U. S. business men. Exporters, importers, speculators, farmers, in fact all businessmen whose stock in trade depends on foreign markets, literally devoured the news reports from Europe. For while normal business operations are still going on in America, it is realized that origination of constructive future plans is well nigh impossible as long as war or the fear of war rules over Europe.

Equally upsetting to U. S. business last week was a hurricane which interfered with trade and normal living for a thousand miles, from Atlantic City, throughout New England, to Montreal and Quebec. Occurring in the heart of a highly industrialized part of the country, the damage was put at more than $100,000,000. Ten thousand are homeless and at least 500 dead. Though Indian legend may record worse, it is believed to be the most severe storm ever to strike America's northeastern seaboard.

THE CARPINTERIA COMMUNITY CHURCH

Rev. Deane F. Babbitt, Pastor.
October 2, 1938.

A new quarter begins in the work of the Church School in Carpinteria. The lesson of the day will enable students to learn what the Bible tells us about the one true God and about the giving him the supreme place in our lives. Church School for students of all ages convenes at 9:45 a. m.

The Christian Gospel has ever been a "Gospel of Love." Sometimes the Christian Church has failed to make emphatic this truth. The theme of the sermon at eleven o'clock worship hour, as announced by Rev. Deane F. Babbitt, will be "He First Loved Us." Special music will be furnished by the Community Church chorus.

Christian Young people can help to improve the economic order. Miss Margaret Russell will present "Learning to Cooperate" at the 6:30 meeting of the Youth Fellowship in the Chapel of the Church. You are always in the midst of friends—young people!

Morning worship: "Life."

Missionary meeting: "The Moslem World."

Evening worship: "A Saviour for the World Needs."

The Woman's Missionary society will have a series of five lessons on the Moslem world. Mrs. A. W. Horton will lead the discussion. There will be interesting highlights found in the bulletins of the "North African Mission," "A Budget from Barbary," and "What Is This Moslem World?"

Life in this day and age has a possibility to be lived on a larger scale than ever before since the beginning of time. The world has grown strangely small in the last hundred years—yes, in the last generation. The world today is a neighborhood and how far our influence can be felt time can only tell. We have a gospel that is able to save men—save them from themselves and for time and eternity. Let us use it.

in school this fall. The Department of the Interior estimates record-breaking enrollments as follows: Elementary schools, 22,400,000; high schools, 6,750,000; colleges and universities, 1,350,000. Reason for the big enrollment is traced back to the birth rate averaging 23 per 1,000 population in 1920-24. Since the rate for the five years 1931-35, was down to 17.2 per thousand, a shrinkage in school attendance a few years hence seems inevitable. The teaching profession, even now over-crowded in some areas may then be faced with reduction in the ranks of its working members, unless new avenues for employment or professorial talent such as adult education classes, and the like, can take up the slack.

LABOR VIEWS TAXES—Industry should work with labor for immediate revision of the American tax structure. That is the sense of what Watthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, told the National Small Businessmen's Association in Pittsburgh. Woll contended that "taxes can and should be distributed more equitably and so as not to stifle business or to tax incentive which is the source of new industry and new employment." Though admitting that with current government expenses and the mounting public debt, it might be necessary to increase tax revenues next year, Woll protested excessive duplication of taxes, failure of federal, state and local taxing authorities to define the use of the indirect tax revenues were to be put, and the increasing trend toward hidden taxes. He termed it a critical time in the nation's history, adding that "upon the fairness of taxing plans to be worked out will rest the success of today's recovery spending program. If that fails, what shall follow—debt repudiation, inflation, or political and financial collapse?" Observers viewed Woll's attack on the present tax structure as significant of a new trend in labor's move to further cooperation with industry.

WHAT RETAILERS ARE DOING—Wondering if the new advertising stunt of New York State could be applied to their business. The slogan, "The State That Has Everything," is being printed on the checks it uses to pay bills and salaries. More than 2,000,000 of such checks are issued annually. . . Recognizing that comfort is a more potent argument in selling shoes to men than style. This was the finding of a recent survey which tallied the opinions of 5,000 men in all sections of the country. Distributing to women in grocery stores a handbill consisting of extracts from the food and home-making articles in McCall's magazine. Each handbill features 10 or more products carried by the store. The magazine furnishes "mats" for these bills which the store turns over to the local printer.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Ice cream in cans; all that is required is to open the can, whip the contents and pour into the ice tray of a mechanical refrigerator. . . A newly introduced woolen blanket carrying a six-year written guarantee against moths. . . Larger windows and windshields in the 1939 model cars now being seen here and there on city streets, result of public demand for better driving visibility. . . WOMEN IN THE NEWS

By LEONE BAXTER

Elementary psychology coupled with a womanly knowledge of child training may give the world a new code of international ethics, if the plan of one modern school-marm is accorded a sympathetic ear by the diplomats.

Convinced that the world is a good deal like a sulky, selfish, bad-tempered youngster, and should be treated much the same, Miss Elizabeth R. Pendry, educational and vocational counsellor for a New York high school, calls on women generally and mothers in particular to help "do for a mal-adjusted world what we already are doing for maladjusted children."

According to Miss Pendry, only recently on a lecture tour in California, some of the "have not" nations, lacking raw material, markets, colonies and lands, shake their fists in selfish rage, throw rocks and keep the world in general uproar—strikingly like an exceedingly bad child. Others, eyeing more fortunate nations holding tight to their possessions, like a greedy youngster with a bag of candy—sulk, and hide their sense of inferiority behind a blustering front.

But they work hard, meanwhile, says Miss Pendry, to strengthen their muscles, in preparation for the day when they will be strong enough to conquer their enemies by force. That, in the field of adolescence, means a fist fight, with black eyes and bleeding noses. In the international scene, it means war.

And that's the thing Miss Pendry's plan seeks to outlaw.

Women, she believes, and certainly women who know anything about child-rearing, are aware that to make a good child out of a bad one requires study and understanding of his needs, an attempt to satisfy those needs if they seem justified, and to subordinate them if they don't. The plan is equally applicable, Miss Pendry is confident, and would work as successfully, on nations. "Each nation," she comments, "instead of figuring out how it can keep others from grabbing what they want, would first meet its own needs, and then help its neighbors to meet theirs. This would be done, not through governments, but through business and professional groups qualified to study and recommend help for the "have not" nations.

Miss Pendry has diagnosed the case of the ailing world pretty well, and recognized most of its symptoms. Her indictments are more than half true. However, the value of her prescription for its cure probably never will be known.

And not only because human beings, individually and collectively, are a pretty selfish lot—as psychologists and observers of human nature have been telling us a long long time. In addition to that, Miss Pendry's idealistic plan leaves one loophole big enough for a whole nation to squeeze through. Men, and nations, never would be able to agree as to just where and when the limit to "their own needs" might end.

MILK TO BE SERVED TO GRAMMAR SCHOOL PUPILS

Administration of the Community Chest milk fund among the pupils of the grammar school will begin next week under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Stombs, it has been announced by Principal Frank Wykoff. Notices have been sent to parents asking that their cooperation be given wherever possible in paying for their children's milk. Twenty cents a week provides milk for one child. The chest fund of $150 is never sufficient to cover the expense for milk for children whose parents are unable to contribute, Wykoff stated.

Carpinteria high school students will enjoy their first social event of the year this evening when Harold Hugo's orchestra will play for a "back to school" dance. The affair is in charge of the Associated Student Body of which Donald Royer is president, Dwight Babcock, vice president and Martha Thurmond secretary.

INEXPENSIVE MEAT COOKERY TO BE DEMONSTRATED

An interesting feature of the up-to-date meat cookery demonstration which Miss Charle Mae Elliott will present on Wednesday, October 5th, at 9:45 a. m. when she will be the guest of Mrs. Seaberg at her class in modern cookery, will be the variety of distinctive and appetizing ways in which inexpensive meat cuts can be served.

Miss Elliott is a member of the staff of national Live Stock and Meat Board of Chicago, a research and educational organization representing all branches of the live stock and meat industry. The information she brings is based on sound principles and is authentic. For the past few years Mrs. Seaberg has been fortunate each fall in securing the services of a member of this board to give a special demonstration in meat cutting and cooking.

The demonstration will be held in the gas company's auditorium, corner of Anacapa and Figueroa. The public is invited.

George Burns and Gracie Allen no sooner returned from a Honolulu vacation than they left for New York, where Gracie (of all things) will have a surrealist art exhibit. They will return early in October, when Gracie goes it alone in "Gracie Allen Murder Case." Having completed her role opposite Ronald Colman in Frank Lloyd's "If I Were King," Frances Dee is vacationing with husband, Joel McCrea, in the East. They will return to Hollywood in a couple of weeks, when Joel starts work in Cecil B. DeMille's "Union Pacific." Pretty Joyce Mathews, who gets her best screen break in Mitchell Leisen's "Artists and Models Abroad," is explaining to everyone that her heart interest is still Arnold Kunody. Hollywood gossipers linked her name with that of Howard Hughes when they were seen dancing together at a local night spot.

Gail Patrick will get a vacation after completing "Disbarred," and plans to go to New York. Jack Benny is teaching his daughter, Joan, how to swim. Isa Miranda, who goes into Paramount's "Hotel Imperial" soon, has just returned from a motor trip through the New England states.

Bob Burns, working in "The Arkansas Traveler" with Irvin S. Cobb and Fay Bainter, is taking a weekend fishing trip off the coast of Mexico. Ellen Drew writes from the East, where she's making personal appearances in connection with Frank Lloyd's "If I Were King," that in spite of the heat she took advantage of the fur sale in Chicago and is sending her purchases back to Hollywood. When Bob Hope heard of Shirley Ross' marriage to her former agent, Ken Dolan, he sent her a wire which read: "Thanks for the Memory," but I'll only dedicate one more song to you now—I Married an Agent." Dorothy Lamour's mother, Mrs. Carmen Lamour, is vacationing in Hot Springs, Ark. She and Dorothy plan a motor trip following completion of "St. Louis Blues." Bill Frawley is speaking with a southern accent to practice up for his role in "St. Louis Blues." Producer-Director William Wellman gave "Men With Wings" dinner for three featured men in the picture, Fred MacMurray and Ray Milland and Andy Devine. The only foods served were those grown in Wellman's own garden and the main dish was squab grown on his ranch.

"SOLILOQUY" TO BE PREMIERED AT THE LOBERO

World premiers of "Soliloquy," the Homer Curran - John Cameron-N. H. Rappaport production, will be held at the Lobero Theatre, Friday night, October 7. This new play authored by Victor Victor, features John Beal, supported by Helen Craig and Clarence Derwent. . . Staged by Eugene Schulz-Breiden, it will play only two nights in Santa Barbara, October 7 and 8, prior to its New York run.

With "Soliloquy," John Beal returns once again to the legitimate stage after a Hollywood sabbatical during which time he completed important featured roles in such hit pictures as "Double Wedding," "Beg, Borrow or Steal," "I am the Laurel and Hardy in "Blockheads" which comes to the Del Mar Theatre on Sunday. Also on the same program the Hardy Family in "You're Only Young Once."

L. A. County Fair Closes Sunday; Sets New Record

POMONA—With all previous marks beaten and having set a record to "shoot" at next season, Los Angeles County Fair officials were preparing for the largest week-end attendance in its history, and in a burst of spectacular new attractions, anticipating a scintillating finale to the great exposition, which, this year more than ever before, has claimed the attention of hundreds of thousands.

While it is near the end of the 17-day show, all displays including the 20,000 square feet of flowers, decorating the center of the agricultural building, the thousands of specimens of fruits and vegetables are just as fresh as the day the Law," and recently, "The Arkansas Traveler." He is best remembered on Broadway as the lead in "Another Language," "Russet Mantle," and "She Loves Me Not."

Helen Craig, who takes the love interest opposite Mr. Beal in "Soliloquy," is rated as one of America's most promising young actresses. She is no stranger to Santa Barbara theatre-goers, having done a number of productions at the Lobero. Her most recent work in New York, in the role of Caesar's wife in the Mercury Theatre's presentation of "Julius Caesar," won her considerable acclaim.

Clarence Derwent, who also supports Beal, is a veteran of both the London and New York stages. His last appearance on the West Coast was in the leading part in "Lady Precious Stream," which he also directed. His other plays include "The Amazing Doctor Clitterhouse," "The Late Christopher Bean," and many more too numerous to mention.

fair opened for they have been replenished and freshened. New attractions and new sights are on every hand and with all of the exposition's huge facilities for accommodating the thousands of fair visitors, ready to throw into action, officials predict that the closing days will be definitely red-lettered.

One of the most spectacular and entertaining extravaganzas ever presented on an outdoor stage, the gala "Festejo Moderno" headlining Glen Gray and his famous Casa Loma orchestra, with more than 150 of the nation's foremost entertainers, is drawing huge throngs to the grandstand for each evening's program. That is just one of the thrilling events in store for fair visitors, for throughout each day hundreds of attractions among the thirty major divisions which include more than 35,000 exhibits, present a variety of diversion.

Continuing the series of state days, Friday is set aside honoring Colorado, Montana, Wisconsin and Michigan. In addition many communities from Orange county will be well represented, while school children from Riverside, Orange and San Bernardino counties are especially invited.

On Saturday, Kern, Sutter and

Shirley Temple will appear on the screen at the California Theatre for three days starting Saturday in "Little Miss Broadway." The companion feature will be "The Texans" starring Joan Bennett and Randolph Scott. The late March of Time giving the inside conditions in Czechoslovakia and a Mickey Mouse cartoon complete the program.

Placer counties are being honored and the day is also set aside as Veterans' day. Afternoon entertainment with the Casa Lomans in front of the grandstand, adds to the enjoyment of thousands.

Climaxing the beautiful panorama of agricultural progress on Sunday which been named Butte and Nevada county days, will be the million-dollar livestock parade in front of the grandstand at 1 p.m. Included will be sheriffs' poses, riding clubs with silver mounted equipment and champions in all divisions of the huge livestock show with the great Percheron draft horses taking a prominent part.

In the thirty major divisions outstanding features include a glorious flower show, a wine exhibit, representing one of the state's greatest industries; apiary, a wonderful exhibit of household arts in the women's department; an amazing machinery exhibit, a fine arts building filled with the works of foremost artists in America; arts and crafts in industry, and many others. This year, more than $193,000 was distributed in cash and trophy awards.

The Republic of Ecuador has announced a special postage stamp issue commemorating its participation in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

LETTER TELLS OF SINO-JAPANESE HOSTILITIES

Presenting a different angle than that usually found in press releases concerning the Sino-Japanese conflict is a letter received by a Carpinteria resident from a relative who is Chief Yeoman on the flagship of the Yangtze Patrol of the United States Asiatic fleet.

We have been given permission to publish the letter which is contained in these columns and present it to our readers in the belief that they will be interested in the point of view expressed by one who is actively engaged in protecting United States citizens and property in war-torn China.

Chungking, China,
August 10, 1938.

Dear Ray:

Here it is just about 8 o'clock and nothing to do so I thought that I would drop a few lines to see how things are going. We arrived here in Chungking yesterday morning and moored to a British pontoon, where we unloaded 300 cases of U. B. Beer which belongs to the British Gunboat Gannet. We brought it from Hankow for them as river traffic is very poor. Some American navy eh? They won't allow a sailor to drink on board ship, but they can haul it here and there. If a sailor gets caught with any in his possession on board ship he gets a summary court-martial. We also brought up the American Ambassador to China and his staff. Some people back in the U. S. such as the United Press made a statement to the effect that was scared, well out here we heard different and also that the United Press made an apology for the crack. The only reason that he left was because the Chinese government had moved here and he is supposed to be in contact with them at all times.

We sure had a nice trip up through the gorges of the Yangtze. You leave the lowlands as soon as you leave Ichang, that is between here and Hankow on the map you will be able to find the place by following the Yangtze River. Well as soon as you leave Ichang you come to a range of low mountains, and here is where the rapids begin. This country puts one in mind of California, the only difference here is that instead of having so many fruit trees about the only kind of trees one sees is wood oil trees. These trees produce a nut which is ground up and all the oil being squeezed out by pressure. This is one of China's most important industries. Also in the hills there is plenty of virgin coal which has never been mined because transportation is too high to export it to other provinces.

I do not know whether or not you have heard very much about Chungking but in a few words I can give you a general idea and I don't think that you will ever care to visit or live in the place. To start with the city is built on a river, so that ought to give you a general idea that the place is not very clean. The Sian river flows into the Yangtze river and the main part of the city is built on a point where these rivers meet. Near the fater line all there are, is shacks built of bamboo and wood and when high water comes they are either torn down or washed down river, also they have a great habit of catching on fire, so at least once a year they are cleaned out and this is a godsend to the city. The main part of the city is on top of a hill and they have several very modern buildings about four or five stories high. We are on the Lungmenhao side of the river, so to go to the city we have to cross in a sampan. The current is very strong and it takes about an hour to cross. Most of the foreign residents live on this side of the river.

To tell the truth about this place the sooner I can get out the better I will like it. To get any place you have to either climb up steps or climb over rocks. They have sedan chairs here and that outside of sampans is the only kind of transportation. The country is very mountainous and it seems that all the soil has been worn off so that they are very steep. They have horses or rather I should say ponies, but out here they call them horses, that stand about five feet tall and are very wild. There are few trees and what there are of them seem to have been stunted in growth. Chungking is situated in one of the most wealthy provinces of China which is the Szechwan Province, and the Chinese name for the city is Pashien.

Well so much for Chungking, we will skip it for awhile and go back to the Sino-Japanese trouble. The Japanese have started their big drive on Hankow and found that they are not making as much success of it as they thought they would. The river is causing much trouble as most of the lowlands are flooded. It seems that there is only one strip of land, being about ten miles wide, where all the fighting is being done. This is the only gateway to Hankow outside of the river and the Chinese seem to be holding their own on it. The Japanese cannot come up river because of mines and the great danger from aircraft. The last report we had was that the Japanese were 82 miles from Hankow and making very little progress.

We receive all our news from the U. S. S. Monocacy which is in Kiukiang now. They were in a bad place for a while until the Japanese took Kiukiang, as there was danger from being bombed from the Chinese and Japanese both. They could not come up river as there was a blockade on this side and the Japanese and Chinese were fighting along the river banks below them. Finally when the Japanese took Kiukiang they were allowed to go to the Standard Oil Installation which is a little way below Kiukiang. The only trouble that they have now is from mines floating down river. They stand watch with a rifle and shoot them before they reach the ship or otherwise it would be happy days.

The Commanding Officer of the Monocacy went over in the city with the Japanese Mayor of Kiukiang to see how the American and French Nationals made out during the trouble and found them all safe and sound. He also said that the city had very little damage done to it, the only damage being to the outskirts to the city. What damage had been done was being repaired by soldiers and Chinese prisoners.

That is one thing that the people out here give the Japanese credit for, as soon as they capture a city they clean out the filth and try to make it look half way decent. Also they make the Chinese take cholera and typhoid shots. There seems to be a high feeling in the states because of the Japanese trying to take China, well to my opinion they are doing the Chinese a great favor even if they are killing many of them trying to help them. As far as I'm concerned I do not care whether the Japanese kill all of the Chinese or the Chinese kill all the Japs. All I know is that it is getting mighty tiresome listening to the Chinese sing the blues about this bombing and that bombing, all I have to say is if the Japanese can bomb the Chinese, why don't the Chinese do a little bombing themselves instead of prying on the sympathy of all the other countries. They are supposed to have a leader, even if he was a coolie like the rest of the Chinese. All that he got was a break, and he certainly knew how to take advantage of it. I mean Chiang Kai Shek (Chinese Check), the wonder man of China.

Well so much for the Sino-Japanese trouble, I could tell some mighty weird tales about this trouble, but it would not interest anyone back there, so will sign off the war.

Love,

of the better thinking of our people. The effect upon the student's own personality and character is brought out. The implications of the problem as far as vocational, economic, and civic life are stressed. The heart of the program is the study of vital current social problems, recognizing the fact that, often, these problems are old problems, universal in time and scope.

A brief outline of the problems studied shows the following main fields:

1. The Social Arts
2. Learning About Ourselves
3. The Fundamental Social Unit the Family: Its Background and Development
4. Jobs, Vocations, and College Problems
5. Consumer Education
6. Health
7. Budgeting of Incomes
8. Current Economic and Social Problems of a Community Nature

At the first meeting of the High School Parent-Teachers Association which will be on Monday, October 10, at 2:30 p. m., Mr. A. E. Southworth, Principal, will discuss the total high school program, devoting considerable time to the Human Relations program during his talk.

Rollo, the University of California's radio-active robot which will be on exhibit at the California World's Fair, is a veritable "look-out," although he can't see. There are five windows in his anatomy through which fairgoers may watch his inner workings.

MERRIAM TAKES FIRST TRAIN OVER BIG BRIDGE

The first electric interurban train crossed the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge today, (Friday, Sept. 23,) with Governor Frank F. Merriam, chairman of the California Toll Bridge Authority, at the controls. The Governor, originally scheduled to make merely a formal gesture of driving the train, insisted upon operating the car the entire length of the bridge.

Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell and his staff, including Bridge Engineer Chas. E. Andrew and Engineer of Design Glenn B. Woodruff, together with newspaper men and railroad officials, witnessed the first train to ever cross the Bay, under its own power, between Oakland and San Francisco.

The trip, a successful one, was a test for signal equipment and Chief Engineer Purcell put his approval at the conclusion of the first run. "The cab signal for the run indicated a permissible speed of 35 miles per hour and the train proceeded across the bridge in accordance with this prescribed signal indication. All facilities and equipment operated as intended."

A two-unit Key System train was used for the test trip. The train started at 40th & Hollis in Oakland and terminated at Pier W-1, the tracks not having been completed into San Francisco.

It is expected that the railway facilities will be in operation by the first of the year, at a total cost of approximately $18,000,000. Trains operating across the bridge will be Interurban Electric (Southern Pacific), Key System, and Sacramento - Northern Railways. Cost of the facilities will be repaid by tolls of 2½ cents per passenger levied on these railroads. It will not increase the cost of transportation across the Bay to the passenger, who will pay the same rate as he has via the ferry system, Mr. Purcell said. Tolls will be absorbed by the railroads. Average time saving to transbay passengers, with the operation of the bridge railroad, will be approximately 15 minutes.

Features of the new railroad will be its automatic cab control

FIRE DEPARTMENT LAUDED

At the conclusion of the convention the following resolution of appreciation was presented by Chas. J. Hildebrand, chairman of the resolution committee and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas: We are cognizant of the fact that the members of the Carpinteria Fire Department and its admirable Ladies Auxiliary cooperated to the fullest extent with their friends in Santa Barbara to the end that our 1938 convention will always be remembered by those attending, as a conclave that has never been surpassed during the annals in the history of our organization, and

Whereas, Such exemplary cooperation is even more singular because of the fact that the convention was not held within the confines of the city limits although sufficiently approximate to be considered geographically kindred, now

Therefore be it resolved: The California State Firemen's Association in convention assembled at Santa Barbara this 29th day of September, 1938, that our sincere appreciation be expressed to the members of the Carpinteria Fire Department and their worthy auxiliary for the hospitality which they extended to our delegates and members attendant to this memorable occasion."

system and automatic interlocking system. Under the cab control system the motorman will not be able to exceed speeds indicated in a signal box at his left. If he does, the train automatically comes to a stop.

Two control boards, operating the interlocking system of the East Bay Yard and the San Francisco terminal respectively, will replace the old switch tower with its rows of mechanical levers. By means of the control boards, trains may be directed onto a prescribed track merely by pressing buttons on the board at the beginning and end of the designated route.

The bridge electric railway facilities were constructed by the State Department of Public Works of which Earl Lee Kelly is director for the California Toll Bridge Authority.

BRIGHT EYES SHINING

Don't Let Dim Light Harm Their Eyes. Give your children a modern study and reading lamp. See them at your electrical dealer's today. Look for the lamp with the special diffusing bowl under the shade.

CORRECT LIGHT COSTS SO LITTLE

Weak eyes are among the cruellest tragedies of childhood. A boy with weak eyes has a hard time holding his own with other boys, and a girl is at a social disadvantage. Safeguard your children's eyes by providing adequate light for reading and studying. It costs so little—and means so much.
