Musicians Rehearse Operetta

Don Coker and Mary Costa Featured in Cast

Leedy Directs Band Orchestra and Glee Clubs Take Part in Production

Leads and chorus members are rehearsing nightly preparing for the presentation of "Joan of the Nancy Lee," a comic opera in two acts to be presented by the combined musical organizations on the nights of June 6 and 7 in the college auditorium. The entire production will be under the personal direction of Mrs. Helen Barnett, head of the music department. She is being assisted by Clifford E. Leedy, director of the orchestra and men's glee club.

"Joan of the Nancy Lee" is composed by Louis Woodson Curtis, a nationally-known music writer, and director of music for the Los Angeles city school system. "The Marriage of Nanette," a comic opera also written by Louis Curtis, was presented last year by the musical organizations of the local high school.

The opening scene finds the pirates all seated in groups singing on the after deck of the good ship, Nancy Lee. The college orchestra will play the full orchestration for the opera.

Donald Coker has been chosen as the lead among the men, playing the part of Captain Dick, or more formally, Sir Richard Camden. The leading role of the woman opposite Coker will be Mary Costa as Lady Joanna Leyton.

Harry "Buppy" Moore and Mercedes Berger will take the comic roles of the opera, the former playing as Stuttering Steve and the latter as Henrietta, the lady's maid.

Other men taking leading parts are Bobby Goux, baritone, as Bill Bloody, a pirate; Paul Woods, as Monsieur Francois, a Parisian dance master; Bernard Nagleman, as Signor Doremi, an Italian singing teacher; Chester Tubbs, as Jerry, Sir Peter's son; Donald Watson, as (Turn to Page 3, Col. 2)

FINAL BREAKFAST SET FOR MAY 23

Announcement of the last informal breakfast of the senior class to be held May 23 at 7 a. m. in the college dining hall has been made by Paul Hylton, class president. Mr. Hylton stressed the importance of this breakfast since many things of importance to graduating seniors are to be discussed.

Those problems of interest to seniors to be considered are, planning the traditional gift of the senior class to the college, the importance of Senior Week which is to begin with the June formal held at Rockwood, June 9, and commencement week. The time and date of the rehearsals for the professional are to be set at the breakfast.

Senior week is to be crowded with events to honor seniors; teas, receptions, garden parties, and barbecues, stated Mr. Hylton, and it is necessary that members of the class attend this meeting in order to know the details.

Details of the annual senior banquet to be held at the El Paseo on the evening of June 14, will be planned at the breakfast next Wednesday morning, according to Mr. Hylton.

Representing the Santa Barbara State college for the first time in the history of the Pacific Student Body Presidents' Association conventions, Marcus Cravens, president of Santa Barbara State college student body and Allan "Bud" Lambourne, the president-elect, will leave early Wednesday for five days during which they will visit the University of Southern California and San Diego State college.

Before attending the four day Pacific Coast conclave, which starts May 24, the president and president-elect will be guests of Lawrence Pritchard, president of the student body at the University of Southern California, for a one day convention of the Southern California Student Body Presidents' Association, May 23. At this gathering of the executives of southern colleges, Dr. R. E. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, will be the host of honor and will entertain the visitors at dinner after the strenuous day of meetings, tours, and speeches.

Beginning Thursday, on the San Diego State Teachers' college campus, the annual Pacific Student Body Presidents' Association convention will convene. This conclave which is to last until Sunday, May 27, will be featured with many business and social events. Luncheons, barbecues, dinners, aquaplaning, boating, swimming and a dinner dance at Sal de Fiesta in Agua Caliente will be among the diversions that the student leaders will enjoy. Many business periods are slated with such outstanding topics as athletics, honor systems, student publication awards, etc., to be discussed.

Women Give Men Own Medicine at Dance

Boys Wait and Worry as Girls Take Time in Making Dates for Co-ed's Choice

At last the women of Santa Barbara State had a chance to show the men a thing or two about dances, eats, corsages and the sights of Santa Barbara. And did they show them?

Some of State's favorite sons were worried towards the end of last week because they didn't have dates for the Co-ed's Choice at Rockwood Saturday, May 12. And what a fuss—no dignity, no pride, but just anything for a date. About Thursday the poor unfortunates banded together and posted a list of dateless gentlemen with their respective assets and deficiencies with

Editor Asks for Supplement Copy

Material for a second literary supplement will have to be contributed abundantly this week and next or there is a possibility that plans for the publication of this Roadrunner feature will have to be dropped, it was intimated yesterday by Allan Otley, editor of the supplement.

"Students who have expressed a desire to write for the supplement have been very lax in handing in their contributions," Otley said. "In a school of this size there should be at least 50 students who are interested enough in writing to contribute some original work for the supplement," he said.

The supplement is not to uncover great literary work, but, rather, to encourage students to write, it was stated. The supplement faces discontinuance unless more contributions are made, the editor said.

Lambourne Outlines Program for Coming Semester; Plans Monthly Financial Reports

Wins Campaign

Allan "Bud" Lambourne, newly appointed student body president, has outlined a complete program for the coming year. He plans to stress treasury reports, social activities, and a "good-will" and "pep" campaign.

A.W.S. Student Director Makes Plans for Fall

A plan to introduce a system of counselors to substitute for the traditional big and little sister plan to acquaint new students with the activities of the campus was outlined by Betty Roome, second vice president for the fall semester, in the Associated Women Students' meeting held in the auditorium Tuesday during the second hour.

Betty Hopkins, presiding president, asked all the women interested in becoming a counselor to sign up in the office of the dean of women. "Plans are being made," Miss Hopkins stated, "for a series of teas for the new women during the first two weeks of the next semester."

An installation ceremony for the new A.W.S. board was conducted. Dean Lois Bennink, spoke to the new board about their duties and the student's duty and their board.

The kindergarten primary group under the direction of Miss Edith Leonard, department head, presented two skits from the program presented on their booster trip to the southland recently. The first act featured the rhythm band with Pearl Smead as director and Pat McCullough, pianist. Girls in the band were Faith Holm, Mildred Browning, Janet Hylton, Rosemary Babacker, Miriam Brown, Betty Roulston, Mary Lee Townsend and Miriam Alexander. The second act was an interpretive dance by Kay Myers with Elizabeth Leonard as pianist.

Lucille Bolton outlined the national convention of A.W.S. presidents in Tucson, Arizona recently, that she attended with Betty Hopkins and Dean Bennink.

Four Hundred and Fifty-Five Students Cast Ballots During Annual Student Body Election

"One of my first projects next fall will be to instigate an extensive pep program among the students and to create a general interest in all student projects," stated President-Elect "Bud" Allan Lambourne following his election last Monday.

"Bud" Lambourne defeated his opponent, Melville Homfeld, by the margin of 125 votes in the student body election on the campus Monday. Mary Lee Townsend received 283 votes for secretary against 157 cast for Peggy Koepf; William Ogle was chosen as manager of dramatics and debate with 208 votes,

Prexy Tells of Funds for New Leadbetter Site

An additional 12 hundred dollars has been appropriated to finish plans for the new college site on Leadbetter hill, President Clarence L. Phelps said in an interview early this week.

"Mayor Harvey T. Nielson, W. G. Herron, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and myself plan to attend a conference in Los Angeles Friday with a representative of the state department of finance. The purpose of his conference is to culminate plans for the roadway to be built from the western end of the Cabrillo boulevard, directly up to the new college site," the president said. We are also wiring Mr. Earl L. Kelly, state official who is on his way to Washington to represent the interests of the state of California, regarding the gigantic appropriation for public works. Many telegrams have been sent to Mr. Kelly with regard to the proposed college in Santa Barbara. When the money is apportioned, it is hoped that Santa Barbara State college will get its share."

The president seemed optimistic regarding the chances for the early completion of all negotiations before the actual construction takes place.

"All the decisive moves must be made this week," he confided, "we should know by the end of next week the results of these moves."

HOMFELD ISSUES INVITATIONS FOR ISLAND EXCURSION

A special invitation has been extended to members of the faculty and student bodies of all southern California colleges and junior colleges to attend the annual island trip of the Outing club, according to Melville "Humpty" Homfeld, president of the organization.

This trip, an annual affair, is to be the week-end of May 25 to May 27. A boat is to leave Stearns wharf at 12 o'clock noon, on Friday and will return from the islands Sunday evening. All food is included in the cost of transportation but persons attending are asked to bring their own plates, cups, knives, forks and spoons.

The cost of this trip is $4.50 for outsiders and $3.50 to members of the club. The fishing and boar hunting on the island at this time of year is particularly good, states Harry Killian, chairman of transportation for the trip.

Chairmen of the committees in charge of the trip are, Harry Killian, chairman of transportation; posters, Bob Foor; chefs, Bob Ash and Kim Drinnan; publicity, Doris Coker; custodian of the Bell, Willis "Tiny" McCullough; and general chairman, Melville "Humpty" Homfeld.

Chaperones on the trip are to be Ray Denno and Miss Gladys Van Fossen.

ATTEND PAGEANT IN SOUTH

Four students, Peggy Helm Madaline Straw, Conway Edwards and Bill Carder recently attended the Ramona pageant and dance in Hemet. They also visited at the home of Miss Straw in Hemet, and Miss Helm's home in Huntington Beach.

with the other candidates, Thomas Mahoney receiving 86 votes, James Murray, 92 votes and Donald Warran, 83 votes. Lois Jo McPheeters and Martin Verhoeven, sole candidates in their offices, will serve as vice-president and treasurer respectively.

Four hundred and fifty-five students cast votes at the polls. This number represents approximately 70 percent of the entire eligible student body membership.

In continuing the outline of his plans for next year "Bud" Lambourne states "I will try next year, better to acquaint the students with the working of the student officers. All financial records will be made available for a student observation. Monthly reports of the treasurer will be given in the regular monthly meetings or in the Roadrunner. I will try, too, to promote all campus activities and enhance the social and cultural value of the college to the students. Another one of my aims is to continue the program started this year to stimulate an increased contact between the college and the community and other schools."

"Bud" Lambourne is affiliated with the Sigma Alpha Kappa social fraternity and for the past two years has been managing the all-southern California college symphony concert. He has served one year on the student body council as manager of the band and has been directly connected with the past two Roadrunner Revues, and with the Hospitalization Follies.

Votes were counted Monday night by the election committee and were posted on the bulletin board Tuesday morning. The election committee was composed of Marcus Cravens, judge of ballots; Wilma Felsenthal, Charles Barnes, and Julia Lynch.

K. P. DEPARTMENT ELECTS OFFICERS

Budgeting for Next Year

As the close of the year approaches, the usual undercurrent about lack of finances to carry on student activities in the various departments seems to be circulating about the campus. According to the numerous stories of woe, almost every committee represented on the student body council has been functioning for the past seven months on a short budget.

When we investigate the list of expenditures for the present year, we find that the majority of the groups have completely depleted their funds. The money from each group has been expended in some manner. It seems that it is unbusiness like to have any money left in your department.

We elect officers to our student body posts because of their ability to carry out our business transactions efficiently, and then in turn make it unpopular for them to show this ability by having a surplus fund left in their coffers.

We all know that our increased financial income will not warrant such drastic increases. Why don't our student body officers display a bit of intelligence and pare down their department expenditures to their actual needs.

Why Not Present True Facts?

About a month ago Mr. E. N. Rowell, director of narcotic control for the state of California, gave a lecture in the college auditorium under the direction of the State Board of Education. In it he described in full detail and with illustrations the horrible effects of drugs on the human body and also gave detailed accounts of how children were enticed into becoming drug addicts.

The comment among some students and among several members of the faculty was that the speech was purely propaganda and that it was malicious in that it suggested the evils which are in reality very remote, are knocking at our gate.

In a recent issue of the Los Angeles Times, an article written by Alma Whitaker appeared in which she criticized a member of our faculty for referring to the "narcotic evil which has so seriously affected the youth of our land." The reference was made in a lecture in which the faculty member quoted an anti-narcotic campaigner who had addressed a meeting in Santa Barbara.

It seems too bad that State should insist upon college students listening to such talks, especially since many of them will fail to investigate the matter and learn the actual truth about the ideas suggested.

Roadrunner Policy

A word to the wise is usually sufficient. The Roadrunner will use this method of straightening out a problem brought to its attention a short time ago.

It has been one of the desires of the Roadrunner to handle all matters publicized in its columns in a non-partisan manner. However, comment has circulated on the campus among certain people to the effect that some social sororities have been shown favoritism in the columns of the school paper.

We cannot deny the fact that some school organizations have been mentioned more frequently in the news columns than others. This can be explained by the fact that some of the social groups have been more active than others.

The Roadrunner is not able to have a reporter attend all social functions that take place on the campus. Nor is it possible for its reporters to "run down" and secure information from individuals that have taken part in a dance, dinner or tea, but have forgotten all the details.

Smoke

By RON

Where there's smoke there's fire. We have a new captain at the helm of "State."

Now is the time for the anesthetic to be administered and the operation performed. Will it be successful? WE are the doctors.

A new era dawns for "State." This sounds idealistic. It is. The time for idealism is at hand.

Too many students are interested in nothing but loafing on the "quad" steps.

There is work to be done. Happiness at college, like anywhere else, depends largely on work.

We are slipshod from the brains that doze in class-rooms to the spikes on our track shoes. Four men out for football practice last week. Go on, laugh!

Students have asked me. What made you come to this college?

Such a remark should be distastefully superfluous.

You know what is wrong—"Lack-a-daze-ical" climate; have to earn a living; school broke—

That's not what I'm driving at. We have talent, the best of faculty, an inspiring locale.

Harder and his next year's team are drawing comment from the surrounding communities.

If you don't wake up, can the institution be blamed?

Jealousies must be forgotten. Hot football teams mean new track out-fits, a victor duo for the music department.

I am not talking to cynical upper-classmen or any who intend to transfer. I appeal to those who have pride in their college, their home for the decisive years of their lives. Where they are nurtured, developed, turned into a troubled world, strong, competent, unafraid.

Backing our new officers is not enough. Individual achievement means achievement for all.

In the timber camps of the northwest, the cables which drag the huge writhing logs in a pile are strung through blocks swung high on the trunks of trees. These trees are supported by heavy steel lines stretched from their tops to stumps nearby, like the ribbons of a May pole.

As a stunt, riggers often come down the long inclining lines, hand over hand. Jack King was one of these, blond, blue-eyed, six-feet, shoulders a yard wide. One day, hanging by his hands 200 feet in the air, he remembered a bit of bunkhouse philosophy—about physical strength giving out at any time.

The men working below heard his voice, husky, yet even. "Look out, boys. I can't hold on any longer." Feeling "doggy?" How about the pergola of El Encanto? The holiday lilt of the birds, frolics the spirit in much the same way as the festivities of a country fair.

The artistic person is also the most human. Being sensitive to conditions, he is the one who is stimulated to amend the situation.

If you could see the sunset from the campus, you'd change your dinner hour from six to nine.

The LONGBOW

By A. R. O.

Amanda Benjamin Hall has penned a squib called "Blessing," which is not lacking in a bit of humor.

Among old headstones, one in the churchyard of our town Reads: "John, beloved son Of Miss Jane Brown."

I never pass that way, In shine or rain, But I am moved to say, "God bless you, Jane!"

We wonder if there isn't more than just humor in this little joke emanating from Germany:

"He isn't intelligent, but he knows how to appear so." "Then he's truly intelligent."

Dr. Walter Damrosch, whose apparent mission in this world is to elevate America's appreciation of music, is decidedly firm and unrelenting in his estimation of this country's worst radio atrocity—the crooner. List to Herr Damrosch: "A crooner is a man who thinks he sings. You can discern a succession of tones in mezzo-voce. The words are usually banal and vulgar street talk on a threadbare theme. In short, he sounds like a love-sick cat on a back fence."

All of which has our most hearty approbation.

George Creel, who stuffed the American mind with stories of German atrocities during the World War, that outdo the yarns of Munchausen, has announced his candidacy for governor of California. With his excellent wartime experience, he should be able to sling a bag of hot air to the gullible public that would make even our chambers of commerce envious. We shall be awaiting his campaign chatter with interest.

Thomas Burke, who has introduced himself to American readers chiefly through his stories of Limehouse, has written a book called "Beauty of England," in which he remarks that England, too, has its Boston, New York, and even Bunker Hill, named after our cities in America. We are not in a position to dispute the naming of New York and Bunker Hill, but in the matter of Boston we beg to quote from the forward of a little brochure sent to us several years ago by the State Street Trust Company of Boston: "... at the same time giving a brief description of Boston, England, the town from which our city took its name."

Referring to England's Boston the little booklet on page 44 remarks: "About 1577 Lombard states that the place was then called 'Bostonstow,' though 'com-work. Or is he just showing us that he can do something different?"

To Connie—Who stands on her head in a yellow bathing suit—belongs the cleverest pre-election "crack." When offered a red tag, she aptly replied "I'm a 'Buddist.'"

I climbed up on one of those grand old mission walls, and came across a cat and kittens. While her sister felines bask in voluptuous ease this mother is providing for her family in the primitive way. Gophers were lying in the ivy beside her. She hissed at me in true "jungle-ish" fashion.

monly and corruptly called Boston." Perhaps Mr. Burke had better stick to his Limehouse.

A paragraph in a recent issue of the "Golden Book Magazine" remarks that "The bicycle is coming back into vogue, with cycling clubs springing up in all sorts of unlikely places." Which reminds us that in Denmark the unwary traveller finds them a blessing and a curse. With no part of Denmark more than 300 feet above sea level, it is delightful cycling over the dainty rolling countryside. But in the city it is a fortunate foreigner who does not at some corner run foul of the ubiquitous bicycle. A city of approximately 800,000 persons, Copenhagen boasts about 250,000 bicycles. Many of the streets and highways are bordered by secondary ways reserved for bicycles. And the apartment houses, instead of installing automobile garages, cater to patrons with a string of bicycle garages resembling tool houses or overgrown dog kennels!

Swimmers should beware; old sol, like the bogey man of childhood, will get you if you don't watch out. For those who fear sunburn, we submit this infallible remedy: smear exposed parts of the body with cocoa butter (cost 10 cents at any drugstore) before going into the water or lying about the sand.

No animosity, but here's a little note for the "College Widow" taken from Pascal: "... to talk nonsense by accident, and without reflection, is common enough; but to take pains to gossip ... is intolerable."

Doc Ellison evidently reads the newspapers, for he dished up one from the public prints for a history class the other day. One student, said the Doc, signed a test paper "Mae West"—because "She done 'em wrong."

DEAN ASHWORTH READS 'MOLIERE'

"Moliere," a romantic play in three acts, will be read by Dean William Ashworth, head of the English department, Friday at 2 o'clock in the auditorium.

The time of the reading has been changed in order that the members of the play production class under the direction of Mrs. Hal Davis may be present. Mrs. Davis hopes a large number of students will attend and she extends the invitation to any one interested.

Phillip Moeller wrote the play which deals with intrigue in the French court in the time of Louis XIV. The theme of the play is the episode of Moliere's death. Moliere was a French playwright and author living in the eighteenth century.

Students who have attended the other readings speak very highly of them. They last approximately an hour and twenty minutes and are open to the public. There is no charge.

The San Diego club is to be the headquarters of the convention, and its facilities, which include swimming pool, handball courts, gymnasium and other entertainments, are offered to all delegates.

"This trip will mean a lot to 'Bud' Lambourne as he will meet many of the presidents-elect and all the present student body executives of the Pacific colleges," said Gravens. "Such an opportunity has never before been available for an incoming president."

Visual Education

By BRUCE BARTON

Most school authorities nowadays are worrying more about how they can manage to keep their buildings open and pay their teachers than about new experiments in educational methods. But eventually, when full economic health returns to the land, the question of the moving picture's place in the school and college will have to get a lot of attention.

When V. C. Arnsperger, research engineer, told the Society of Motion Picture Engineers in Atlantic City recently that proper use of educational films would teach children in half the time that books teach them, he touched on something that a lot of laymen had already thought about.

The potentialities of the educational film seem to be almost limitless; and so far they are almost entirely unexploited. Sooner or later our school leaders ought to make a thorough investigation of this new method of educating our children.

President Announces Proceeds From Revue

"Clearing approximately two hundred and fifty dollars, the annual State college Roadrunner Revue was a success from both a financial and entertainment point of view," stated Marcus Cravens, general manager of the revue.

As yet not all of the money from the sale of tickets has been turned in. Those students having money or tickets which have not been returned are urged by Mr. Cravens to bring them in to him as soon as possible so that the books may be cleared.

Proceeds from the production will be distributed between La Cumbre, State college band, and the student body. Two hundred dollars will be given to help finance the yearbook, fifty dollars will go to the band and the remainder will be used to help balance the student body budget.

He Who Laughs Last Laughs Best Is Verdict of Collegiate Critic

So, what kind of an institution is this? That's what I would like to know. Here last week, I go to the assembly and after fooling around for about five minutes I hear the president call for announcements. I listen very intently and what do I hear?

Up pops one of these "dizzy blondes." Mercedes Berger, and right away I am all ears, because I am told she is one big shot on the social committee.

And does she tell us! Very emphatically we members of the student body are told that in order to relieve Roy Davis of a lot of work, "we should all bring our student body books and p-u-l-e-z-e don't forget them."

Well, I think that is one good idea and as she is through announcing, I decide that having nothing else to do I will read the Roadrunner.

Huh! Here is another article telling of the great dilemma Mr. Davis is in because students forget their Revenge will be uppermost in the minds of the Cal-Christian athletes next Saturday afternoon when they meet the Roadrunners on the baseball diamond. Several weeks ago the State twirlers took the Cal-Christian boys for a good beating, after that team had displayed remarkable ability in beating some of the strongest teams on the coast. Whether the locals had a great amount of luck or were superior to their rivals will be proven when they meet for the second time. It will be a "wow" of a game, as both teams are determined to take this game, the last one on the State college schedule.

Although the State men have met only two conference teams the group has had a very successful season. Getting off on a poor start, the team developed steadily until at its greatest strength beat Cal-Christian several weeks ago.

At last some kind person or persons have cleaned off the tennis courts in Mission Canyon. These courts have been covered with a coat of dirt since the big shower last winter. A great amount of appreciation should be given by the players on these courts to those who did the cleaning. It is a pleasure to play, now.

Mert Miller has been smacking the old ball out for a .615 average for this ball season. This is better than most of the other conference men are doing as is revealed by the individual batting records. This average is for the entire season and not for conference games.

Ackland of Occidental, Elder of La Verne, and Potter of Cal Tech are high point men this season in batting, having an average of .500, .462, and .444 respectively. There are 24 players that have an average of over .300.

Joe Martin, former all-around athletic star is making a name for himself this year in the Southern league, being the heaviest hitter in that conference. His batting has averaged .429 so far this season. Joe will no doubt go a long way in the baseball game and should be playing with the New York Giants before long if he keeps improving.

Sport Comment

In the All Conference tennis tournament held at Pomona last week, Leonard Patterson of Cal Tech won the singles, defeating Overton Pratt of Redlands 6-2, 6-4, and in the doubles finals Pratt and Spears of Redlands defeated Patterson and Grimes of Cal Tech, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Conference entries for Fresno relay this week were: Occidental, Vincent Reel, 100 and 220; Jack Hallett, pole vault.

Pomona, Don Plumb, 100 and 200; Dray Williams, high and low hurdles; Phil Newman, high and low hurdles; Dray Williams and Phil Newman shuttle high; John McWethy and John Shelton, hurdle relay.

Cal Tech, Greer Ferver, high jump.

San Diego, Jack Rand, pole vault.

In track, co-captains seem to be all the rage. Last year Pomona started the idea when Don Plumb, sprinter, and Dray Williams, hurdler, were elected co-captains.

Now San Diego has elected Jack Rand, holder of Conference record in the pole vault, and Aubrey Bates, star hurdler, as 1935 co-captains. Rand was the 1934 captain, having been appointed after Harry Jones, who was elected, found it impossible to return to school.

Cal Tech has elected Claude Scott, miler, as 1935 captain.

SANTA MARIA BOWS TO ROADRUNNERS

NINTH INNING RALLY OF NORTHERN SQUAD FAILS TO HALT STATE TEAM

Southerners Expect to Revenge Trouncing Received From Roadrunners in Previous Game

Continuing the heavy hitting and good fielding that has been in evidence for the past month, Coach Hal Davis' State baseballers won their fourth consecutive game by trimming the Santa Maria Junior college nine 4-2 in a contest played Saturday in Pershing park.

The Saints had previously beaten the Roadrunners in early season, before the locals had hit their winning stride, and the revenge victory of last week evened the game score for the year between the two schools.

J. C. Rally

The Staters had a full afternoon's job in downing the stubborn Saints, and not until the J.C. rally in the ninth inning fell short did victory look certain.

The green and white diamond-men garnered a run in each of the first four innings to total their runs, while the visitors scored one each in the fourth and ninth frames. The home aggregation touched the invading pitcher for 10 hits, among which was a triple along the left field foul line by Jimmy Lebeck, second baseman. Stockel, Ball, Miller, and Lebeck were the hitting stars of the day, each connecting for two bingles. Rezzonico and Aspitte accounted for one each.

Rouse on Mound

Warren Rouse was chosen for mound duty by the State mentor and the husky "slabster" turned back the northern men with but four safeties. He was never in serious difficulty and proved the fact that the locals have one of the best pitching staffs in the conference. Either Rouse or Boucher can be depended upon as an effective starting pitcher and Mert Miller completes the trio as a sterling relief hurler.

Ralph Stockel and Joe Ball were as important in the fielding department as they were in hitting, each handling several hard hit ground

The Clout shoot was won by Vivienne Sims with a score of 59-289. Viola Tucker took the Flight shoot at 135 yards. The meet was sponsored by Las Alturas Palmas archery club, and medals were awarded to the winners of the various shoots. Those who participated were Georgia Baldwin, Vivienne Sims, Evelyn Maitland, Gladys Strickland, Margaret White, Betty Roome, Catherine Boyton, Viola Tucker, Alberta Stow, Geraldine Slayton, Marguerite Hansen, Ruth Rizer, and Loraine Wilkerson.

There will be another archery tournament on Saturday, June 2, at which time the winners will defend their medals against all comers. Any woman in college is eligible to enter the contest.

Baseball is not being played off according to class teams this year but rather as groups according to periods. The first game will be played tonight. Francis Warring and Mervilyn Shaw are captains of the two teams that will play. There will be six games in all.

S. C. Sponsors All-Conference Track Meet in L. A. Stadium by State Staff

The N.C.A.A. track and field championships will be held in Los Angeles Coliseum under the sponsorship of the University of Southern California on June 22 and 23.

Southern California plans to make the N.C.A.A. meet the greatest inter-collegiate track and field championships ever held, and the list of entries coming in for it, and the nation-wide interest in the meet indicates that the Trojans' ambitious hopes are to be fulfilled.

Among the features of the meet will be the mile run between Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, Bill Bonthron of Princeton, and Gene Ventzke of Pennsylvania; the shot put duel between Jack Torrance of Louisiana State and John Lyman of Stanford; the quarter-mile race between all six of the place winners of last year, headed by Glen Hardin of Louisiana State, who won last season in 47.1 seconds, and such additional stars as Jimmy LuValle of U.C.L.A., Al Blackman of Stanford and Johnny McCarthy, Ed Ablo-wich and Al Fitch of Southern California; the two-mile run with Ray Sears of Butler going after Paavo Nurmi's world's record, and the half-mile with defending champion, Charles Hornbostel of Indiana seeking a new record against Cunningham.

The battle between Louisiana State, defending champions, Southern California, Stanford, Michigan, Indiana, Kansas, and other outstanding squads for the team championships will be another big feature of the meet.

Insuring real national intercollegiate championships for the first time, the University of Southern California is putting up a guarantee of $20,000 to bring the nation's best college athletes to the meet.

The Southern California conference baseball season being completed, the coaches of the various teams are this week sending in their selections for an All-Conference team and the official aggregation will be announced next week.

Because of only three scheduled conference games, the players of Santa Barbara State will in all probability be omitted from the team. This is entirely fair as the coaches of the other teams, not having seen the local lads in action, would have no basis for choosing one of Coach Hal Davis' men for the honored group.

The sports department of the Roadrunner, after having considered the merits of the players in the conference, is taking this opportunity of giving local honor to the State players, who in our opinion deserve it.

The green and white players, regardless of not playing many conference tilts, have played teams that have been at least on a par with the teams in the league, if not above. The following selections were made from official reports, batting averages, and personal observation.

Right field—Griffiths, Redlands. This team would present a personnel that would have a batting average of .410. Each of the outfielders selected are hitting better than .450 and the poorest hitter on

SECOND GAME WITH CAL-CHRISTIAN TO END SEASON FOR STATE COLLEGE

Rouse on Mound Proves That Santa Barbara Has One of Best Pitching Staffs in League

Ernie Boucher and "Lefty" Towson in the place of Yale Lorden. State's nine will consist of Stockel, shortstop; Ball, first base; Miller, left field; Rezzonico, third base; Willard, center field; Muegenburg, right field; Lebeck, second base; Aspitte, catcher; and Boucher, pitcher.

Coach Hal Davis' hard-hitting nine trounced the southerners Saturday, May 5 in Pershing Park by a score of 3-1. Boucher, State's pitching ace, limited the visitors to two hits. The game Friday will be a harder job for the Davismen as they will be playing on foreign territory. Cal-Christian was the only school to defeat Oxy's ball club, which won eight conference games.

The game is the feature of the annual spring semester home-coming for Cal-Christian and is one which State has played for three years, being beaten each time. The game will be played on the Vermont avenue field and will start at 2:30.

If the State team captures this game, it will be the fifth in succession that they have won. They have recently trounced Redlands university, Santa Maria Junior college, San Marcos C.C.C. Camp, and Cal-Christian. This game is a non-conference tilt.

The line-up for the squads will be the same as in the last game, with the alteration of Tex Willard the team is hitting .343. Boucher has a lower earned run average than any pitcher in the league with the exception of MacMillan, who has won eight straight conference games.

League in Batting Joe Martin Leads

Last spring, while training in Los Angeles, John McGraw, then manager of the New York Giants, gave Joe Martin of Santa Barbara State a tryout. Showing possibilities, "Smoky Joe" was offered a New York contract, which he promptly signed. He was farmed out to the Piedmont league for the summer, and was recalled last fall. This spring, after training with the Giants at Miami, he was farmed out to Nashville in the Southern league, and where, according to figures just released, he is leading the league in hitting, with an average of .429.
