Convention Opens on Campus

College Holds Barbecue on New Campus

Informal Dance Is Planned for Saturday Night at Rockwood Inn

Two outstanding social events of the Summer Session are scheduled for this week. Leadbetter Hill, the site of the new college, will be the scene of the first, on Friday, July 15, at 5 p.m., when the members of the C.I.E.A. convention and students of the college will meet together.

Under the trees on the hill, overlooking the breakwater, a Spanish barbecue with all the trimmings will be staged. The entertainment for the evening will comprise of games and selections by Spanish troubadours. The speakers of the evening are Dr. Edwin A. Lee and Mr. John C. Beswick. Mr. Roy Soules is chairman of the event. Tickets will be on sale at the Registration booth in the Quad.

Following the barbecue, a dance will be given in the college cafeteria. The dance will start at 8 p.m. and continue until 11 o'clock. Fred Greenough is in charge of the music. There will be no charge for the dance. All students and delegates are invited to attend.

Saturday night at 9 p.m. in Rockwood Inn, the convention delegates and State college students will meet again, this time for an informal dance following the C.I.E.A. banquet at El Paseo. Music for the dance will be furnished by Vic Janssens' orchestra.

C.I.E.A. President

Ray Casey, president of C. I. E. A., teaches in Hamilton High school in Los Angeles and is a former graduate of Santa Barbara State college.

Federation Closes Two Day Conference

Santa Barbara was host to the members of the California Vocational Federation on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 12 and 13, when a two day conference was held, preceding the C.I.E.A. convention which opens today.

The organization is composed of all vocational educational associations of the state, and this conference as their regular quarterly meeting. Many of the delegates to the conference plan to stay over for the convention.

Among the officers of the Vocational Federation are: President, Morgan Smith; first vice-president, J. E. Carpenter; second vice-president, Jayne Johnson; secretary, John George Miller; treasurer, William H. Van Dyke; editor, Jas. Hull.

State Meeting Starts Today at S. B. College

First General Assembly To Be Held in Auditorium
at 10:30 A. M.

Today marks the opening of a three day, statewide convention in Industrial Education, to be held here on the college campus, July 14, 15, 16, when delegates throughout California will gather for their annual meet. Educators and well known professional and business men will address the conference.

The California Industrial Education Association, composed of Vocational and Industrial Arts teachers, is affiliated with the California Vocational Federation and the American Vocational Association and will meet to consider problems affecting the industrial arts and vocational teacher.

General sessions, sectional and departmental conferences, and general business meetings at which officers of the association for the coming year will be elected are some of the events of the three day meet.

Social features of the convention include the Leadbetter site barbecue and dance in the College Dining hall, informal dance at Rockwood, golf tournament, exhibits, and tour of Montecito gardens.

Among those taking part in the convention are Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction; John C. Beswick, director of trade and industrial educa-

Instructor Injured in Automobile Crash

Mr. William A. Rust, instructor in the Industrial Education department, is confined to the Cottage hospital, after having received injuries in a traffic crash which occurred last Monday evening at Bath and Carrillo streets. Mr. Rust suffered two broken ribs and a wrenched back and neck.

The Rust car collided with an auto driven by Harold Arnold, 15, of 1603 San Andres street. In the Arnold car was Arnold's brother, Stanley, and Albert Wade, who was graduated from State college this year. All three occupants sustained cuts and bruises.

Former S. B. Student Sings for Assembly

Monroe Langlo, former State college student and graduate of Saint Olaf college, entertained students of the college at their regular assembly meeting last Tuesday morning.

Mr. Langlo, a member of the famous Saint Olaf choir, sang five vocal numbers. He was accompanied by Mrs. Helen M. Barnett, who accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen M. Barnett.

Following the musical program, Dr. T. A. Adam, instructor of social science at Occidental college and a member of the Summer Session faculty, gave a brief talk on economic and political planning in Australia.

Comedy Guild Gives Play Monday Night

Through the efforts of Dean William Ashworth, the Comedy Guild will present the most popular of Moliere's plays, "A Doctor In spite of Himself," in the auditorium this Monday evening, July 18, at 8:15.

Moliere's comedy is a roaring farce with plenty of funny situations, and has proven a standard favorite.

All seats will be on sale at a popular price of fifty cents, the cost of a movie, "but this is a much better show," says Dean Ashworth.

State Secretary

Effie Jane Leatart, state secretary of C.I.E.A., is a Polytechnic special day instructor in Los Angeles and secretary of the Los Angeles Vocational association.

Women Attracted to Squabble Club

Members of the Squabble club held their third regular meeting of the Summer Session last Wednesday evening in room 45. The percentage of feminine members in the club was practically doubled.

The value of vocational associations was discussed. The question, "Should a Smith Hughes Man Teach Industrial Arts If Not Properly Qualified," was led by Dr. Lee. Mr. Townsend directed the discussion, "Should the State Share the School Costs and If So What Method Could Be Used." A fourth topic of interest, "Why Should a Smith Hughes Man Be Given Credit for Industrial Experience," was introduced by Louie Taylor.

Ashworth Reads Play to Summer Students

Dean William Ashworth's reading of Philip Moliere's play "Moliere" last Tuesday afternoon in room 45 was attended by a large group of interested students.

This is the first of a series of plays which Dean Ashworth plans to read for the pleasure of Summer Session students.

C.I.E.A. Golf Tourney Will Start on Friday

Cups, clubs, and golf balls will be given as prizes to the winners of the California Education Association Golf Tourney to be held on the Montecito Country Club course on Friday and Saturday of this week. Registration for entering the tournament will start this morning at 10 o'clock at the Registration desk in the lobby of the Administration building.

The qualifying round, in the form of a Blind Bogey, will be played Friday afternoon. The finals will be played off Saturday, with the opening matches starting at 7 o'clock.

All those wishing to enter the tournament must be registered by Friday noon, and must play in the qualifying round, according to Chairman Henry B. Cushman. The entrance and green fees covering both days will be two dollars.

Meset Starts Today

Johnson, teacher training, U.C.L.A.; Grace S. Stoermer, president of the Business Workers club, L. A.; Alma Whittaker, special writer of the Los Angeles Times; and Morgan Smith, president of the California Vocational Federation.

Tea Is Given by Mrs. Ashworth on Sunday

Visiting faculty and members of the Administrative department of the college were entertained at a tea given by Mrs. William Ashworth at her home, 1706 Olive avenue last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham helped receive. Miss Charlotte Ebbets, Miss Winifred Frye, and Mrs. Mildred C. Pyle poured.

The Eyes Have It

That Ray Casey gets along famously in the kitchen both day and night.

That Leroy Brown and Fred Larson, two tennis champs, are practicing for the Wimbledon tournament.

That Sherman Fisher and Walt Ford have taken to cutting out paper flowers and paper dolls.

That Bert Rowley has been at the beach five times and hasn't been in. What a bathing beauty!

That Charlie Townsend apparently enjoyed his dance with Effie Jane Leatart.

That many at Tucker's Grove were amused to see Dr. Stockton perform on stilts.

That Edna Cushman is always selling tickets.

That Bob Thistlewhite writes home every morning.

That Ralph Haywood's wife made him come home this week-end.

That forks at Tucker's Grove were considered relics of B. C. (before crash) days.

That Dr. Stockton made an inspection tour of the shops on Friday afternoon.

That a certain tall blonde man in a tan roadster adds a very collegiate touch to the campus.

That the crowd at Tucker's Grove was entertained by Mr. Myers with a bit of the college operetta.

Petitions for Post Session Work Asked

All petitions for post session work, accompanied by an outline of work to be completed, should be in the hands of the Credentials committee by Monday, July 25.

Anyone wishing credits evaluated for a degree should have all data in the hands of Miss Hazel Severy by Monday, July 25. This is important if findings are desired before the end of the Summer Session. Miss Severy will be in her office on Monday and Tuesday afternoons for the remainder of the Summer Session.

REGISTRATION CARDS DUE

Those who have not turned in their registration cards to the Registrar's office should do so immediately.

Picnic-Dance Given at Tucker's Grove

A large crowd and a great deal of fun marked the second event of the Summer Session social calendar, at an informal picnic and dance held at Tucker's Grove last Friday evening.

An Olympic theme was cleverly carried out in the table decorations of flags, boats, and tiny figures. Beefsteak, watermelon, and drip coffee, especially prepared by Mrs. Effie Jane Leatart, were features of the meal.

After dinner, the crowd enjoyed various games, among them baseball, volleyball, and horseshoes. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to the tunes of Carroll Corbaley's five-piece orchestra. Mixed dances were led by Morgan Smith, one of the most popular being a "lemon dance."

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Cushman, general managers; Dean Pyle and Mrs. Abraham, advisors; Gene Boyle, games; Ray Casey, properties; Dot Hodgins, publicity; Mrs. Effie Jane Leatart, decorations; Anna Markus, food; Dean Smith, tickets; Fred Greenough, music; and Morgan Smith, dancing.

Commercial Exhibit Staged in Gymnasium

During the C.I.E.A. convention, there will be a commercial exhibit in the college gymnasium, put on by a number of nationally known manufacturers. The exhibit will comprise displays of tools, machinery, and textbooks. Representatives of various firms will be there to explain all the latest in tools and machinery to visitors interested in industrial education.

Numbered tickets will be given to each visitor and prizes awarded to those with winning numbers. The gymnasium will be open all day Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. There is no charge for admission.

C. I. E. A. CONVENTION

Welcome to our campus, delegates!

Santa Barbara State Teachers college is honored by being chosen hostess to the California Industrial Education Association for 1932, which convenes on its campus today.

We want you to feel at home on our campus. We want you to enjoy the conveniences of the college and city, the quaintness of Santa Barbara architecture, and the beauties of Nature, which surround us on all sides. Those of you who have not become acquainted with our campus and city through previous visits, do not hesitate in asking for directions; every possible assistance will be gladly given.

The committee working out the details of the program has arranged for your entertainment, a program filled with interesting activities. Besides the regular business session, there will be a garden tour, barbecue, dinner, dance, luncheons, and teas. If every minute of your time isn't taken up with convention meetings and scheduled social events, you can profitably spend a few hours in exploring Santa Barbara's picturesque courthouse or Old Mission, by driving over some of Montecito's numerous drives or bathing in the surf.

At the business sessions, there will be able speakers and prominent educators, well known in the field of education, who will join with you in reconstructing old ideas and methods in the teaching profession and in developing new ones that will better unify the educational system of California. With such a body of men, representing school districts from all sections of California, assembled for this purpose great strides should be made in working out the difficulties that are prevalent to the instructor in the large and small schools of the state.

Members of the California Vocational Federation, who assembled on the campus on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at their annual convention, are invited to take part in the social affairs to be held this week-end.—R.P.

HAVE YOU HEARD?

That Mr. Phil Paradise is teaching in the Art department; that he studied at the Chouvinard school in Los Angeles; that he has studied with Tolles Chamberlain in Pasadena and also under Pruitt Carter and with a group of artists studying with the great Mexican mural painter David Alvara Siqueiros; that this is his first experience teaching; that he works in all mediums such as etching and water color; that his hobbies are wood carving and resting; that he is not married; that he considers Giotto the first of the great painters; that he is not used to publicity and footlights and dislikes being interviewed; that he has lived in Santa Barbara for the last three years and is leaving after Summer Session for Los Angeles where he plans to carry on professional work.

That Dr. Lester Boardman, who is teaching in the English department is a visiting professor from Columbia university; that he is exchanging with Dr. William Maxell for the summer; that he went to school at Colgate university in Hamilton, New York; that he received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from Brown university at Providence, R. I.; that he did graduate study at the University of Chicago and at Teachers college, Columbia, where he received his M. A. in education; that he is receiving his doctorate from the New York university in English; that he has taught in high school in Baltimore, Maryland, Rhode Island State college, and the Colorado State Teacher's college; that he has done special research work with the Carnegie Foundation; that he has written a book on "Modern American Speeches" and numerous magazine articles and college bulletins (Colorado) on the teaching of English; that he has been exchange professor with the University of London, Goldsmiths' college; that he spends his summers abroad as educational director for the American Institute of Education Travel; that he is now writing a book on American literature; that his hobbies are tennis and swimming; that he is married; that his wife is professor of public speaking at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn; that he considers he received his liberal education during his service in the army "where he came in contact with life as it really is".

AN ACROSTIC

O ne beast there is we should revere,
R ight royal he has always been;
N or should we fail to drop a tear
I n honor of his ancient kin.
T o see this beast you must retire
H igh up the hills at dusk of night,
O r ring yourself with walls of fire
R esplendent with a mystic light.
H ang tokens on a myrtle tree;
Y ears as an ardent lover years;
N or once forget the magic three
C arved where the vestal fire burns.
H e then will, haply, come to think us—
U nless he's trying to hoodwink us—
S weet company for an ornithorhynchus.
