Beachcomber king and queen finalists told, voting set

Voting for Beachcombers' Holiday Queen and King candidates will be held tomorrow and Friday in front of the library, Saturday at the carnival. Students may vote by making donations to Camp Conestoga in the available jars.

Candidates with the most donations will win. Voting booths will also be at the carnival.

Coach "Cactus" Jack Curtis, sponsored by Honeybears, is the only King candidate.

Second annual Beachcombers' Holiday will be held Saturday in the Robertson Gym parking lot from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

From 9 to 12 Saturday night, the Tridents will play at a sock hop. Tickets are $.25 per person.

Building of the 25-30 booths will be on Friday from 2 to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The booths will be judged by an independent committee consisting of Santa Barbara citizens.

'VISION MADE VISIBLE'

Warshaw continues series

Howard Warshaw, painter and associate professor of art at UCSB, will present an illustrated discussion of "Vision Made Visible" in Campbell Hall 4 p.m. tomorrow, continuing the All-University Lecture Series on the theme "Non-Verbal Communications."

Warshaw is one of six UC faculty members who will deliver the lectures on seven campuses throughout the state.

Numerous honors and awards have come to Warshaw, whose 76-foot-long mural based on Homer's "Odyssey" in Ortega Dining Commons has attracted nationwide attention. The mural, commissioned by the University, was begun in 1959 and dedicated in 1963.

Paintings by Warshaw have been exhibited widely in leading galleries and museums in Los Angeles, Phoenix, San Francisco, New York City, Washington, and other cities. In addition, he has done illustrations for a series of books and periodicals, and his work has been reproduced in such publications as the "New York Times Book Review."

In recent years, Warshaw's work has been part of group exhibitions in the Phoenix Art Museum, the Los Angeles Municipal Art Department, a collection of "Drawings of the West Coast of the U.S.A." in Auckland, New Zealand, an exhibition of contemporary art at Principia College, and a touring exhibition of artists of the University of California.

Warshaw also is the recent recipient of a University Institute of Creative Arts grant for the 1965-66 academic year. During his leave, Warshaw plans to study elements in human form and to continue painting in his studio.

CONTEMPORARY THEOLOGY

Paul Tillich combines religion, science

By DAVE WILSON
Staff Writer

Dr. Paul Tillich has synthesized the disciplines of psychology, biology, physics, philosophy, history and art into a systematic theology in attempting to make religion relevant to contemporary society. He has defined the role of religion and science in such a way that neither has lost its identity yet he eliminates the historical conflict between them.

Impacts of his thoughts are represented in a 33-page bibliography, prepared by the Religious Department, which includes all of his writings and all of the writings about him are available in English.

FLED GERMANY

Dr. Tillich was born in Germany. His father was a Lutheran minister, which may explain the romantic and rationalistic elements which are essential to his philosophy. Since Tillich was an outspoken critic of the Nazi regime, it became necessary for him to leave Germany. Through the efforts of his close friend Reinhold Niebuhr, Tillich was able to come to America and has since taught at Union Seminary in Chicago.

"Is Theology Obsolete?" will be the topic of Dr. Paul Tillich's second public lecture to be delivered in Campbell Hall, 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Next year Tillich will be 80 years old; he has been coming to California to avoid the harsh Eastern winters. When asked why he chose to come to Santa Barbara he said simply, "I love it here." This directness as well as a dry sort of humor is characteristic of his speech.

His opening remarks to his class were, "I'm not qualified to teach a course about the theology of Paul Tillich because I don't know enough about the man."

Speaking on a current topic Tillich said that he thought the search for more freedom among college students is really a search for meaning in life. He further noted that freedom implies the responsibility for both success and failure.

NEED FOR RELIGION

This trend to look more deeply into meaning of life has turned many students towards the church in hopes of finding an answer. As a result, schools like UCSB have realized the need to teach religion as a part of the curriculum. This in turn has caused a strong questioning of the relevance of traditional Christian symbols.

Tillich defends religious symbols on several grounds. First is the need for a language which can be used for describing the infinite, as literal language only describes the finite. And second is the sense of unity symbols can give to a religious community.

Examples of the way Tillich interprets religious symbols can be found in his concept of God. "The question of the existence of God can only be answered by higher physics." The religious use of the word God is a symbol for man's ultimate concern. Therefore the religious question is not "does God exist?" but "what is man's true concern?"

As a teacher and theologian Tillich is trying to make the symbols of religion meaningful to members of modern society.

SNCC to lobby

Atlanta, Ga. (CPS)--The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) is planning to recruit 2,000 students for lobbying in Washington, D.C. this summer.

Beginning about the middle of June, the students will be expected to spend several weeks "constantly lobbying" for the unseating of the five Congressmen from Mississippi. SNCC will attempt to recruit students for the project from all over the country "but especially from northern areas where the Congressmen will be plitically responsive to pressure."

The move, labeled "Operation Challenge," may also require members of the lobby to engage in nonviolent direct action to gain support for their demands.

"Operation Challenge" is also designed to gain support for "one man, one vote, legislation." SNCC hopes to be able to dramatize the need for legislation requiring only age and residence as qualifications for registration to vote.

In addition to "Operation Challenge," SNCC's plans for 1965 call for greater emphasis on the freedom schools and community centers which were established as part of last year's Mississippi Summer Project.

Tickets available for RRR shows

Road Runner Review, the annual spring show, will take place on March 11, 12, and 13 in Campbell Hall.

Tickets are now available at the Cashier's Window. Student, faculty, and staff tickets are $.75 for Thursday night and $1.00 for Friday and Saturday night, if purchased ahead of time; all tickets at the door are $1.50.

Hal Brendle, director of the program, encourages students to come Thursday and also said that it is advisable to purchase tickets early, as Friday and Saturday night tickets always sell out rapidly.

Also leading UCSB's traditional Spring Show are Dana Eddy, assistant director, and Joan Pratt, Teri Frollich, choreographers.

Growing pains and pleasures

Growth at UCSB is phenomenal these days.

Many of us remember when an eight-story dormitory was but an idea, when freshman English classes were limited to 30 students, and a Campbell Hall class was a rarity. We are amazed by the changes that have taken place.

Rapid growth is a reality on campus; it is an on-going process with a long way to go before it slows down. This growth has its advantages: a quickly expanding campus is fertile ground for academic and extra-curricular innovations.

There are also disadvantages, perhaps the most notable of which is the decrease in personal contact among the various members of the campus community.

Growing out of this situation, the idea of an AS Symposium was initiated last year to help to combat impersonality. Small groups of students and faculty members get together for week-end retreats to the hills for informal and unstructured discussion.

Students who have attended previous Symposiums are enthusiastic; relaxation, personal contact, and intellectual stimulation have been attained.

Applications for the third Symposium, to be held the week-end of March 26 at the Circle Bar B Guest Ranch, are due to the Dean of Students Office Monday.

Previously restricted to those with high grade points, the Symposium is now open to all students, with interest as a primary factor in the selection of participants.

We believe that the broadening of the base of participation will be an improvement facilitating greater diversity of ideas.

We encourage students interested in an unusual and rewarding experience to apply for the Symposium.

SFPA defended against Hall's attack

Mr. Elton Hall's "Open Forum" Friday, Feb. 26, would sound reasonable to anyone NOT informed of the situation, but he has unfortunately contracted at least one of the ailments which he has ascribed to others: failing "to inform himself adequately about the situations and conditions about which he is protesting."

Members of the Students for Free Political Action spent many hours in discussion with Vice-Chancellor Goodspeed and other members of the administration and faculty even BEFORE we drew up our provisional platform.

This action was taken in an effort to determine what the regulations were, who established those regulations, who had the power to change them, what changes were needed, what were the ramifications involved with each change proposed, what channels were open to us to bring about any changes, how (and why) our situation differed from Berkeley's, and to determine if our group did have a valid reason for coming into existence.

During this process we found, not "one Evil Demon," but many, including the apathetic students themselves.

HOW SPECIFIC?

As for "protesting several things at once," how specific would you have us be? We could have spent three years instead of only three months if we had taken each little item one at a time, but all of these things were interrelated. As it was, a great deal was achieved in a very short time, and now we intend to work on other issues such as "the present policies concerning the hiring and termination of faculty members," and "the publish or perish policy."

Mr. Hall also seemed upset because he had heard no recognition of "Kerr's admission that the Berkeley administration blundered in shutting down the 26-foot strip." President Kerr's admission meant no more to me than would a mass-murderer's admission that he blundered by not getting a permit to carry a gun.

Recognition was given to Kerr's admission, but it was also pointed out at the time that admission of a blunder is one thing and correction entirely another, and the correction of one blunder is not necessarily the correction of the entire situation.

We are also aware that terminated faculty members may demand that a faculty review board examine their qualifications and performance, and that there are recommendations made by committees and departments before the Chancellor decides to terminate a teacher.

RECOMMENDATIONS

This does not alter the fact that the "publish or perish" policy is still adhered to, even by some faculty members of these committees, and also, that any recommendations are only that; the administration need not heed them anymore than recommendations from anyone else. The ultimate power is still in the same hands. Excellent teachers are lost every year because of this policy, and to deny that fact is absurd.

To argue that the policy is not really harmful, and at the same time argue that it doesn't really exist (as some people have done) is equally absurd. What good is it that "teaching loads are lighter here... because of the publish or perish rule," if the lighter load does not give the teacher more time to spend with his students in individual counseling (which many students need because of this lighter teaching load)?

Mr. Hall says, "we must ask intelligible questions and present real problems." He seems to be aware of some of the real problems and I hope the enlightened knowledge that we too are aware will cause him to join us in productive means to correct these problems.

Not so mature

Editor:

Now as never before college students are trying to assert their independence and maturity. With an increasing number of sit-ins and demonstrations they are trying to show that they are able to control their own actions and that they want most restraints that are imposed upon them lifted. A person who makes these demands must be able to meet his obligations to society and to his fellow man.

I believe that the college student is not as mature as he wants others to believe. I think that he wants the privileges that are accorded to adults, but that his is not ready to accept the responsibility that they entail.

Friday night my car, a blue 1960 Austin Healy Sprite, was parked near the construction area of the new S.U. and at R.H.A. Workshop on the Circle Bar B Guest Ranch. It was at either one of these places that some inconsiderate, immature person hit the side of the car and did not have the sheer guts to leave a note saying who had done it and to offer payment by way of his insurance company.

I would appreciate it if this person would get in touch with me at 5234 San Miguel or call me at 8-5492, but I do not sincerely believe that a person who would commit such an act would have the courage to do this.

Malcolm X dies Memory Tragedy

We, his admirers, remember him best when he is without a hat, standing in the wind and the weather, his clear, gentle eyes knowing no fear.

For he could confront the cold winds of his times; he was young enough to enjoy those winds of nature, or political circumstance, or of personal danger. For this was his jihad; this was the ichor in his veins, this that kept him striving for what he knew was the truth.

One could see in his dark, brooding face, the tenacity of his critical intelligence, of the fantastic energies he released, of the things he set in motion.

His enemies said that he saw the darkness in his race and only inspired that darkness. But we who knew him realized that he sat on the shoulders of giants, knowing of our darkness and fighting for our emancipation. His brilliant oratory could impart the truth in his audience.

His style, his grace, his warmth to his family and to those that knew him inspired others. And it may be said of him, as of few others, that he imbibed the great principles of his ancestors, those ancient ties from a great people, and that he died of exposure in the raw wind, his friends and enemies around him, supporting him and shooting at him.

He exhibited a style in his office which his successors can only hope to imitate, never emulate.

We who knew him, knew of his eternal vigilance against apathy, now will sustain his drive, spread his ideas, forsaking him not in the deployment of truth, of invading the territory of unbelievers, in the everlasting strength of our god, our Allah.

HAROLD X

The true tragedy of the murder of Malcolm X seems to be slow in manifesting itself in the minds of many UCSB students. Comments on his assassination ranged from "it reminds me of President Kennedy" to "this shows the extremism of the Negro movement," but only a small minority of students realized and understood the implications of this heinous act on the American way of life.

Malcolm X was neither loved nor respected. He was a preacher of hate, racism, and apartheid, and it might well be said that he died the way he had lived -- violently.

The fact remains, however, that Malcolm X was a man with an idea, a man with something to say; he stood up behind a podium in a free country, in a country whose very essence is one of justice and liberty for all people.

Then he was killed, without justice and without the liberty of self-expression.

This is the true tragedy of his death. Although he sought to undermine the very nation whose laws "protected" him, the effects of the cold-blooded slaughter of Malcolm X may prove to be even more devastating than his personal philosophy.

With great sorrow I mark the passing of this man. It is not because I respected him, but because I believe in the constitutional liberty and human dignity to which the United States is dedicated, and which seemed to be so flagrantly violated by this compulsive act of vengeance.

No charge for recreation

By BETTY BROWN
Staff Writer

"Most communities of even 50,000 or more residents have to charge fees for their recreational activities and lessons, while here at UCSB we're able to offer free lessons to students, faculty, and staff," states Bob Kelley, recreation supervisor.

Free social dance lessons--anything from the jerk to the waltz-- will be given by a three-star Arthur Murrey instructor Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 8:30 in the dance studio, Building 421.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

With the $514 earned from the film "The Ugly American," the Photography Club is now able to support a fully equipped darkroom and free photography lessons by Luther Brown of Brooks Institute. The darkroom is in 402-105.

Radio Club now has a new station in 408-108, offering code and technology lessons that enable interested students to obtain general licenses. The station is open daily from 3-5 p.m.; interested students should contact Jim Serville.

This club provides radio service in times of emergency when phone lines are unavailable, by transmitting information to a ham radio operator in another area who in turn will telephone the person to receive the message.

TABLE TENNIS

Bowling Club meets every Monday night at the Orchid Bowl at 8:45. Beginners may receive instruction from the adviser, Del Skelton of Solvang.

Brooke Williams, table tennis champion, will meet regularly with the Table Tennis Club and hold clinics and tournaments. The club meets every Friday at the east balcony of Robertson Gym, except nights when a basketball game is scheduled.

Folk Dancing Club meets Friday nights in Building 421 from 8 to 11 p.m.

AIKIDO

Aikido instruction (girl's judo) is now offered free of charge Wednesday nights from 6:30 to 7:30 in the Old Gym. A future tournament is being planned against UCLA, the only other U.S. school offering aikido instruction.

Men's judo group meets in the Old Gym Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 10. A judo suit is needed.

BRIDGE

Contact bridge lessons are given by Dr. Louie Taylor Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 10. Duplicate bridge lessons are given by Captain Roy Price and Rick Jacobs Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 10. Both are conducted in the Art Building in room 2336. Master points for duplicate bridge will be given tentatively by the middle of this semester.

CHESS

Chess is played Monday and Friday at noon in the Faculty

Lounge (X-room or pre-enrollment room). Students are invited to bring their lunches. Dr. Taylor will give lessons.

Weight Lifting Club, which meets every Wednesday night from 7:30 to 10 in building 455, features instruction with Olympic lifts and power lifts. The club will also participate in an all-school tournament in April.

Further information about recreation opportunities may be obtained from Bud Girtch or Bob Kelley in the Recreation Office.

Election planned

Special election for Men's Non-Affiliated Representative will be held on March 16. Interested candidates should sign up in the A.S. Office before 4 p.m. Friday.

Qualifications include carrying a minimum of 12 units and no affiliation with RHA or a fraternity house.

MEETINGS

Home Economics Association will meet at 7 tonight in the home economics building for a trip to the Santa Barbara Girls' Club.

Members and interested majors are invited to hear about the organization's service project, a cooking school for the Girls' Club.

KCSB

KCSB will hold a mandatory staff meeting tonight at 9 in SH 1131.

LUTHERANS

Lutheran Students Association will meet tomorrow evening at 7 at the Student Union corner tables. Fathers Lorenzo and Leonardo from the Mission will speak on Lent.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman Club will sponsor its annual retreat Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Raphael's Parish Hall. Father Xavier will speak on "Why Not Be An Atheist!" The bus will leave the S.U. at 8 a.m. Those planning to attend please call John Egler, 5-9563 by Friday.

NOON FORUM

"To be a Christian means to be a servant" is the topic to be discussed at Noon Forum tomorrow, meeting 12 to 1 at the URC, 6518 El Greco. Coffee served. Students may bring their lunches.

PI SIGMA ALPHA

Pi Sigma Alpha, Political Science Honorary, will hold a meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. at 6894 Del Playa.

Dr. Stanley Anderson of Political Science will speak on Legislative Staffing.

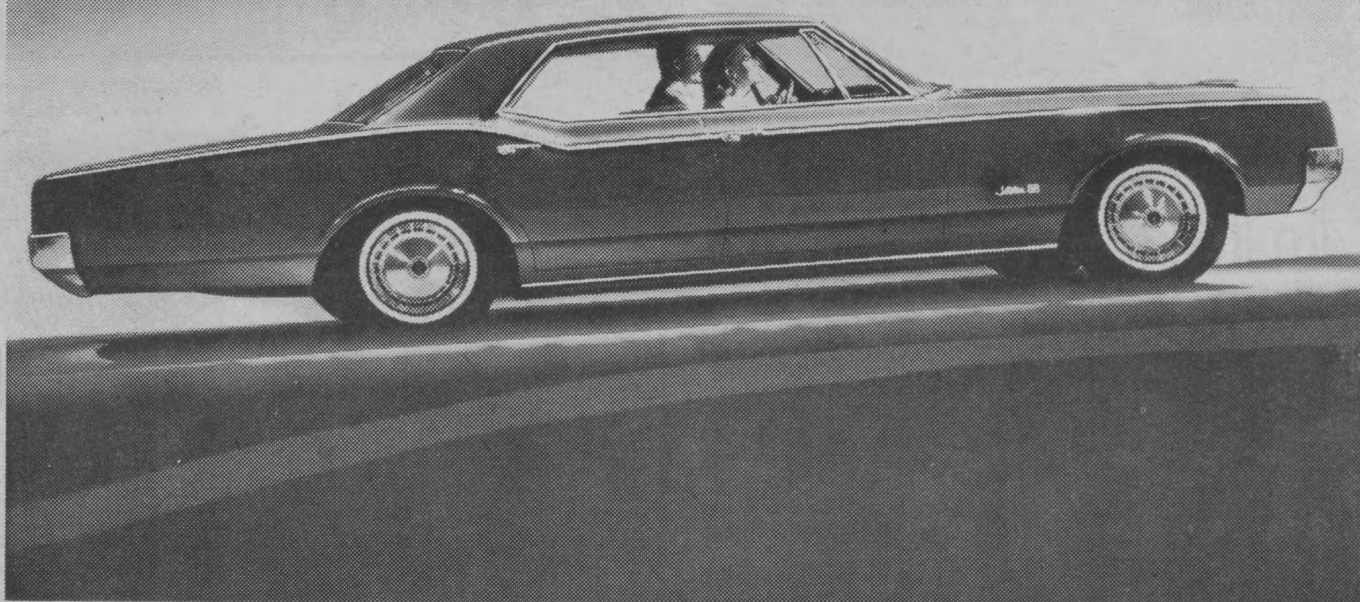

SURF

Surf Club will have its first formal meeting in the SU Quiet Lounge at 8 tonight. Officers will be elected and Severson Surf movies will be shown.

Dime-throw set

March of Dimes dime-throw, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will be held today in front of the library.

EXTENSION COURSE

Religion series is rated success

University - sponsored "moonlighting" is one way of describing the participation of UCSB professors in the current Extension Lecture Series, "Man's Religious Quest: Values in Conflict."

UCSB professors in the Extension Lecture Series, faculty from different branches of UC and other educational institutions, and other outstanding authorities are part of a statewide Extension Program of UC. The main objective is to provide lecture series, courses, seminars, and work shops for California adults interested in continued learning.

Enthusiastic local response to the University Extension Service is evident from the turnout for the series "Man's Religious Quest" being held at the Santa Barbara Women's Club Wednesday nights through April 28.

According to Lawrence Miller, program director for the UCSB Extension Service, enrollment in the course doubled expectations and includes 20 UCSB students backed by special scholarships.

TILlich SPEAKS
Paul Tillich, eminent theologian and visiting professor of religious studies at UCSB, began the series Feb. 4 with a lecture entitled "Religion as Ultimate Concern." He will speak again March 17 on "Religious Dimensions of Contemporary Art."

Dr. Herbert Fingarette will discuss "Karma, Freud, and Buddha" on April 14.

MEYER LECTURE
Dr. Donald B. Meyer, associate professor of history, UCLA, is slated for March 10 on "Business, Leisure and the Judeo-Christian Ethic."

On March 24 Dr. Robert E. Fitch, Dean of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, will speak on "The New Morality." Dr. Richard Lichtman of the Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, will discuss on March 31 "Christianity and Marx."

BERGMAN FILMS
Dr. William R. Comstock, assistant professor of religious studies, UCSB, as coordinator for the series, will analyze and discuss two Ingmar Bergman films, "The Seventh Seal" March 3 and "Through a Glass Darkly" April 7, and will lecture on "The Novel, Drama, and Existential Religion" on April 21.

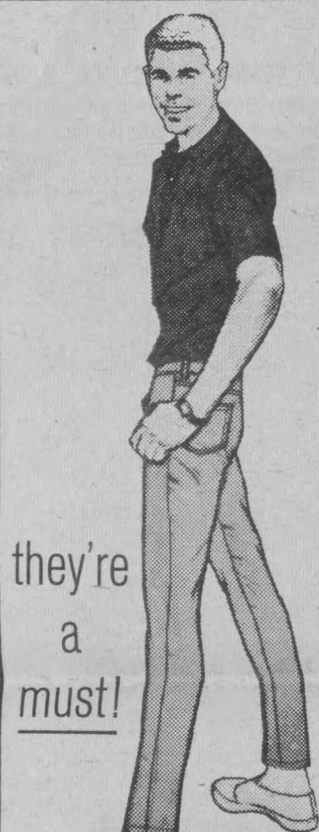

Concluding the series, with a symposium April 28 on "The Religious Situation: Ferment and Future," will be Comstock's assignment.

Santa Barbara has proven itself vitally interested in the contemporary currents of religious thought. Though an untraditional approach to religion, as it cuts across all disciplines, "Man's Religious Quest" effectively links the UCSB campus to its surrounding adult community.

IV gets spring cleaning

By JEAN PIERCE
Staff Writer

Isla Vista is gradually getting a change of face as Circle B Company workers tackle the job of clearing bottles, cartons, and other debris deposited by thoughtless students around the apartment areas.

This new organization, in addition to helping fight ugliness in the community, is aiding 15 local men, all on welfare or unemployment rolls and some too physically handicapped to be self-supporting.

FEDERAL PROGRAM

Members of an informal co-operative group, the trainees are part of the Work Training Program supported by the federal government under the Department of Labor.

They have elected company officers for the business corporation which will form in a few weeks. They are going to school five mornings a week to learn basic skills, work methods, business practices. Afternoons they devote to work in the field.

FIRST JOB

Its first contracted job was to clean up a debris-strewn vacant lot in Isla Vista and planting it with flowers and iceplant.

Since their first assignment, the members have completed beautifying ten areas, some of which were in the Isla Vista area and others in locations around Santa Barbara.

Ignacio Reyes, counselor and teacher at the Work Training Program, commented that, while working on their first project in Isla Vista, the men were shocked with the cans, glass, and garbage thrown around the area.

In cleaning up the ugly areas of Isla Vista, the men have become contributing and productive members of society--earning their own way and handling their own affairs.

Regents request construction funds

Allocation of $10,150,800 in capital outlay funds has been requested by the Regents as part of the construction budget for UCSB. The funds were proposed by Gov. Brown in his 1965-66 budget, which has been sent to the Legislature.

Of the entire allocation proposed, $214,000 would come from general and university funds, and $9,936,800 from the state construction program fund.

Biggest item in the campus budget is $4,023,800 for construction of a classroom and office building, which is expected to be ready for occupancy in 1967.

LIBRARY UNIT

For the construction of the third unit of the library, also scheduled for completion in 1967, $3,619,500 is proposed.

Other items in capital outlay fund are $505,000 to equip the Chemistry Building, scheduled to be ready for occupancy in 1966; $100,000 to equip the natural science laboratories; $934,300 to construct utilities and site development; $448,100 to provide funds for the final payment of 89 acres of land for UCSB expansion; $113,000 to construct and equip Physical Science Building alterations.

MUSIC BUILDING

Other allocations include $71,200 for working drawings for a Music Building and Arts Library, $19,000 to convert temporary buildings for classrooms and academic offices and $25,000 for the resurfacing of Campus Road.

$30,000 will be spent to convert room in the Art Building for a laboratory for engineering, $50,000 to provide a temperature and humidity control system in small windowless practice rooms and in group rehearsal rooms of the Music Building, and $50,000 for a television data transmission cable.

Gymnastics members from UCSB journey to Stanford Friday for a meet at 7:30 p.m. in Encina Gym on the Palo Alto campus. Also participating will be the Stanford Gym Club.

Earlier this season, before the Gauchos season began, the Stanfordians downed San Francisco State. The score was the same as when UCSB dropped San Francisco in its first meet at San Jose.

Members of the UCSB team which defeated San Francisco by 10 more points Friday last in Robertson Gym include: Haven Silver, Hilary Silver, Eric Leach, Bob Hiemstra, Ron Chisom, Ralph Brown, and Bill Wenger.

In a practice volleyball session before the upcoming tournament at UCSB, the Gaucha hitters play Santa Barbara YMCA's "A" team in Robertson Gym at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Three meets lie ahead for the Gauchos netmen. Today they meet UC Berkeley at Berkeley. Foothill Junior College and San Jose State host the Gauchos on Thursday.

Track team pursues records vs. Pomona

Continued improvement will be the aim of the Gaucha spikesters as they host Pomona College Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on the campus diamond. With two records set last meet against San Fernando Valley State, improvement seems to be possible.

Although not setting records, several Varsity men did better than in the interclass fracas. One was Holland Seymour in the shot put with a hurl of 50' 7" last Saturday.

Jerry Durfee brought the long jump mark out to 23 plus feet this season, and he did 45 feet in the triple jump.

Several of his jumps were over 46 feet, but he fouled slightly each time. His weight work with the legs before the season began has apparently paid off.

Freshman Paul Vallerger jumped 6' 4" on his fourth try in the high jump. This would have broken the Freshman record. He barely skinned over, but would have made 6' 3".

GAUCHO SPORTS ROUNDUP

Stoll's
Shorts

by BOB STOLL, Sports Columnist

In every collegiate athletic department certain things are necessary. Coaches, administrators, equipment managers, and trainers.

All over the Santa Barbara campus things are changing. There are bigger and more modern buildings, more bikes, less bike racks, more roads, fewer places to drive your car, and more complimentary citations from the campus police department.

One place where change has been 100% progressive has been the intercollegiate training room in Robertson Gymnasium. The reason that the training room has improved so much of late is due to the work of one man, Lindsey McClean.

Lindsey came to us by way of Vanderbilt University, Herman Hospital of Physical Therapy, and Michigan University. He graduated from Vanderbilt with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology in 1960. From Vanderbilt he traveled to Herman Hospital in Houston Texas where in 1961 he received his certificate in physical therapy.

At Michigan University he was assistant athletic trainer, and his main chores centered around their fine ice hockey team.

In September of 1963 he entered the training room here at Santa Barbara. Two of the whirlpool baths were out of order and 100 football players were pounding on the doors wanting both of their ankles taped. He was all alone with little to work.

After a while he was able to get some part time student help and this was all he had to work with his first year. Nevertheless he treated over 70 cases a day, and after the year was out he rolled 18,240 feet of tape around a countless number of wounded warriors.

Since the time Lindsey has been at Santa Barbara he has never stopped making improvements. Some of the new things that he has brought to us include: an ultra sound machine (which vibrates 1,000,000 times per second for deep heat), a muscle stimulator, moist hot packs, micro wave diathermy, knee exercisor bench, ankle exercisor, and many others. If you have a sore heel Lindsey can even make you a custom heel cup.

This year his staff has increased to three, including two student trainers and Don Hagan a certified physical therapist. But they are all part-time, and Lindsey still has few moments of rest.

He's the only guy that can tape an ankle and eat his lunch at the same time. His goal: "to have the best training room on the coast." I don't see how he can miss.

Volleyball is the main activity in intramurals. Teams in four leagues will be competing until March 18. In the background is the bowling competition.

Thus far no trends have developed. Victories are spread throughout the leagues and no team has a substantial lead.

Last week Navajo downed Pima twice. The score of this RHA I contest was 15-3 and 15-8.

Three games occurred in the RHA II division. Both Sierra-

Table Tennis Talk

WHAT ABOUT PATTY?

By BROOKE WILLIAMS

What shall I say now to Patty Martinez? Patty, at eleven, is the youngest junior champion in United States history, and -- along with Cooperman -- the most enigmatic player ("she defies the laws of physics" -- Klein). She is also a brilliant student.

I have always told her, "Never let anything interfere with your studies. Head straight for college; you would love UC-SB. And do try to remain impeccably amateur so that you may have the pleasure of bringing to your institution a national collegiate championship."

After all, the advent of the Big Game has turned table tennis into a prestigious sport with which a prestigious university would presumably wish to keep abreast. And so it does -- ours, that is.

But lo! the gentlemen whose citadel is Berkeley are at it again. For the second straight year they have proscribed UC-SB's entry of its champion in the All-Cal playoff, the current one to be held shortly at UCLA.

Why? Well because -- and only because -- she is of the opposite sex! Both Dean Reynolds and Clarence Girtch have held sprightly dialogues with the gentlemen, reminding them that the far more important Western States Inter-Collegiate Championships welcomed her participation.

At the very least, they pursued, why not, then, permit a women's division such as Berkeley itself sponsors in bowling and other sports?

The gentlemen are adamant: thumbs down on women!

Now truth to tell, the lady will live without invading the gentlemen's prerogatives. But I posit this question: what incentive is there going to be for little girls like Patty to reject hard cash along the way to higher education in order to preserve this impeccable amateurism?

A number of players, myself included, are periodically offered pecuniary persuaders in exhibition tours, television performances and prize money.

Could it be time to face reality? By gentlemen? By ladies? And above all, by little girls??

Overheard in the hall from one professor to another: "I want to get good at this game so I can beat Dr. Jacobs."

Solano and Stanslaus-Tuolumne won by forfeits.

Meanwhile the battle for supremacy in Dos Pueblos was in progress. The victor, Dos Pueblos A, defeated the C-wing by tallies of 15-7 and 15-9.

In fraternity action the SAE's spiked the Alpha Deltas twice with 15-3 and 15-8 scores.

Phi Sigma Kappa forfeited to the Sig Ep's in the Greek sector.

Student Intramural Director, Mike Cullinane, announced that entry forms for softball are available. Deadline for entries is March 15.

Italians celebrate Dante's birthday

In order to celebrate the seven hundredth anniversary of the birth of the poet Dante, an Italian Cultural Society of Santa Barbara has just been founded.

During the months of April and May a series of lectures on the life and works of Dante will be given at the Faulkner Gallery of the Santa Barbara Main Public Library.

Three members of the UCSB faculty who are also among the founding members of the society will lecture: Dr. Douglas Radcliff-Umstead, assistant professor of Italian, will talk on "The Mystic Veil: Light in the Middle Ages."

Prof. Cheslet Mathews of the English Department will lecture on Dante's influence on American writers. The topic of Mr. Antonio Illiano, associate teacher of Italian, will be Dante's youth and its relation to the opening theme of the Divine Comedy.

On Easter Sunday, as part of the Harbor Pageant's Battle of Flowers, Dr. Radcliff will play Dante and Mr. Illiano will be Vergil for one of the floats.

Sign-ups slated

Applications for student teaching for fall 1965 semester may now be obtained from the office of Mr. J.A. Nelson, SH 1225. Applications should be returned by March 17.

Tutors distribute

UCSB Tutoring Project will be distributing information and application forms between South Hall and the library this week.

Church sponsors virtuoso organist

Dr. Alexander Schreiner, organ virtuoso of the Salt Lake Tabernacle, will give a recital at the First Methodist Church in Santa Barbara Friday at 8 p.m.

Sponsored jointly by the church and the Santa Barbara chapter of the American Guild of Organists, the program will feature compositions of Bach, Mendelssohn, and Vierne.

Funds available for student travel

Scholarship aid of $500 for a UCSB student who has applied for the Experiment in International Living this summer will be offered again this year. The Women's Committee of the Santa Barbara Council of the Experiment is the donor.

LIVE-IN, TRAVEL

Experiment's summer program offers a unique opportunity to spend two months living with a family and traveling with students in any one of 45 countries in Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, and Australia.

RESPONSIBILITY

Scholarship applicants must be full-time students at UCSB who will return to the campus next fall to assume the responsibility of communicating the Experiment story to student groups and organizations in Santa Barbara.

Deadline for scholarship applications will be March 8, 1965. For further information and application forms, contact the office of the Education Abroad Program, South Hall 2108.

Grants available

U.S. Army has been given permission by the Defense Department to grant 1,000 ROTC Scholarships per year for the next four years. It plans to offer the scholarships to freshman as well as to advance-course ROTC students.

Four hundred of the 1,000 scholarship allocations next year will be given to college freshmen, who will be able to receive scholarship assistance for their full four years. The remaining 600 scholarships are being earmarked for advance junior students and will cover a two-year period.

Scholarships, recently authorized in the new legislation, cover all tuition, fees, books, and lab expenses charged by the school.

Council to divide

Harvard's undergraduate student government has moved to abolish itself and be replaced by a Harvard Undergraduate Council and a Harvard Policy Committee, which would divide the old council's functions between them.

Undergraduate student government only is affected by the reorganization.

Interviews slated

Interviews for Frosh Camp counselors and assistant staff will be Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in South Hall 1108.

MUN holds sale

Model United Nations will sponsor a travel poster sale in the SU patio today from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

This sale is to raise money for the delegation of 13 UCSB students who will participate in a MUN to be held at Claremont College April 7-10.

El Gaucho Entertainment Page

Williams to read

Welsh actor Emyln Williams will appear in "An Evening with Charles Dickens" Saturday night at 8:30 in Campbell Hall. Tickets are available to the campus box office and at the Lobero Theater.

Included in the program will be selections from "Our Mutual Friend," "Dombey and Son," "Pickwick Papers," "Sketches by Boz," and "Christmas Stories."
