Royal Society of Literature Confers Fellowship on Prof.

Dr. Hugh Kenner, associate professor of English, has been proffered a fellowship in the Royal Society of Literature of the United Kingdom, a society which counts as fellows a few outstanding writers in English. Dr. Elmer R. Noble, acting provost, made the announcement this week.

Historic Origin

The Royal Society, founded by King George IV in 1823, has as its patron the ruling English monarch, presently Queen Elizabeth, and as its purpose the support and encouragement of English letters. It has numbered among its fellows George Meredith, Thomas Hardy, Sir James Barrie, Prof. Sir Walter Raleigh, John Galsworthy, W. B. Yeats, Joseph Conrad, Rudyard Kipling and George Bernard Shaw.

It is essential to election to the fellowship that the author have published work which is of distinctive literary value. Fellows may append to their names the letters "F.R.S.L."

Dr. Kenner's first official association with the society occurred in November, 1956, when he was honored as a guest lecturer at the society's lofty London House.

Leave of Absence

Dr. Kenner is currently on leave from Santa Barbara College lecturing at Yale and Harvard Universities, Assumption College in Windsor, Ont., and before learned societies under a Guggenheim Fellowship. This spring he will visit the University of Dublin and the University of Bristol.

A native of Peterborough, Ont., Dr. Kenner received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Toronto and his Ph.D. from Yale University.

Deadline for applications for Associated Students appointive offices is next Tuesday.

BARBARY COAST'S DANCE CLIMAXES WEEKEND OF CAMPUS FUN AND FROLIC

Tickets for the Les Brown-Barbary Coast dance Saturday, March 15, still are on sale at a dollar apiece in the Graduate Manager's office.

The dance, winding up the Barbary Coast festivities, will be held in the campus auditorium from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Les Brown and his "Band of Renown," since forming in 1940, have consistently scored high in polls conducted by trade magazines. He was rated tops by Downbeat readers in their 20th annual Reader's Poll, and also took top spot in polls conducted by Billboard, Metronome and the National Ballroom Operators of America.

Brown has also been a part of the Bob Hope radio and television shows since 1946 and has made tours to Korea with the comedian, in addition to recording with Columbia records.

Announcement of the winning Barbary Coast booths and shows will be made at the intermission of the dance. Shows entered this year include: Pi Beta Phi with "Barbary Coast After Dark," Sigma Alpha Epsilon with "Barbary Coast SAEloon," Sigma Phi Epsilon with "Barbary Coast Pirates Go to School," Delta Gamma with an "Opera" and a "Cinderella" show by Alpha Phi.

Booths entered this year include a tattoo booth, a sail to a port of fortune, mock marriages, freak shows, old-time movies, a pie-throwing booth, a seance parlor, a hidden-treasure search, a tower of strength, a sling-shot booth and a jello-throwing booth.

Judging for the booths and shows is on Friday and Saturday evenings, with judging for the Whiskerino contest set for Saturday evening at the barker's stand. Judging will be done by townsmen specializing in the entertainment business, according to Duke Mitchell, Barbary Coast chairman. Mitchell also declared that the new location, to the seaward side of the Science Building, provides more space than in previous years.

Upperclasses Congregate for Night's 'Moon, Mist, Music'

The prom, "Moon Mist and Memories," is the culmination of the Junior and Senior Class activities during the year and the goal the two classes have been working toward during the two semesters.

The event takes place at the Coral Casino tonight at 9 o'clock.

Nine senior women are running for queen of the prom. They are: Shirley Savage, sponsored by Santa Rosa Hall; Helen Garben, Pi Beta Phi; Judy Ford, Santa Rosa Hall; Joan Strand, Chi Omega; Roberta Kidd, Manzanita; Mary Congdon, Alpha Phi; Pat Menne, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Lou Spitznaugle, Delta Gamma, and Margerie

AS LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL RE-SCHEDULES DEBATE

Constitution Amendment Proposal Tabled Following Lengthy Discussions Tuesday

Tuesday evening's Legislative Council proved to be as controversial as predicted, although not as stormy as last spring's constitutional-amendment sessions.

Debating for 75 minutes on the proposed amendments to the student body constitution, the Council ended by tabling the discussion until next Tuesday in the classroom auditorium, 7:30 p.m.

Constitution Committee Chairman Stan McGinley began the affair by reading the proposals and then moving their acceptance. The motion was the signal for the controversy to begin. McGinley made it clear the basic idea behind the amendment was to "make the Council a legislative body rather than the heads of organizations on campus."

This pertained primarily to the elimination of the AMS, AWS and class presidents from voting roles on Council. AWS President Judy Dean felt this divorcing would bring about a disunification of the groups, while Neil Kleinman commented that, regarding the visitation program, these individuals were going to living groups but didn't represent the groups they were visiting.

Parliamentary Stir

Dennis Naiman, Sophomore Class president, caused a stir in the parliamentary procedure by proposing an amendment which, in essence, would eliminate the entire "Tourquoise Sheet" as the proposal has become known. Naiman claimed McGinley's amendment would only change the people on Council but would not improve the representation, the primary duty as he saw it.

He added that "the only good thing about the proposal is the addition of the town representatives," and further that "the present system is working well so why change it?" Following 25 minutes of argument, Naiman's motion was defeated.

The main point of contention, when the present clarifications are ironed out, seems to be the proposed representative system. For information on this subject, see Page 2 where the amendment proposal is printed in its entirety.

NOTED SCIENTIST TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Linus Pauling, professor of chemistry at California Institute of Technology and Nobel Laureate, speaks in the main auditorium Thursday, March 13, at 4 p.m.

Dr. Pauling's topic is "Science in the Modern World." He will discuss the importance of everyone knowing something about science in order to understand what is going on in the world. He also touches upon the topic of nuclear testing.

Pauling has been an active petitioner against the testing of hydrogen and atomic bombs. A few years ago Pauling and Einstein forwarded a petition to President Eisenhower which they had circulated among American scientists. The purpose of the petition was to plea for a cessation of nuclear explosions.

Prof. Pauling is in Santa Barbara for the Western College Association convention, where he is the guest speaker at the evening banquet. There is no admission charge for his lecture.

EASTER RELAYS QUEEN CONTEST

The 19th annual Easter Relays is scheduled for April 3 and 5 at La Playa Stadium.

The event is co-sponsored by Santa Barbara College and the Santa Barbara Junior Chamber of Commerce. A queen and two princesses will reign at the two-day athletic event.

Queen candidates, nominated by women's living groups, must apply by March 19. Finalists will be selected by a group of judges from town, in preliminary judging, March 21.

Final vote is reserved for male students on campus, who vote March 24.

Forensics Squad In State Competition Debate Tournament

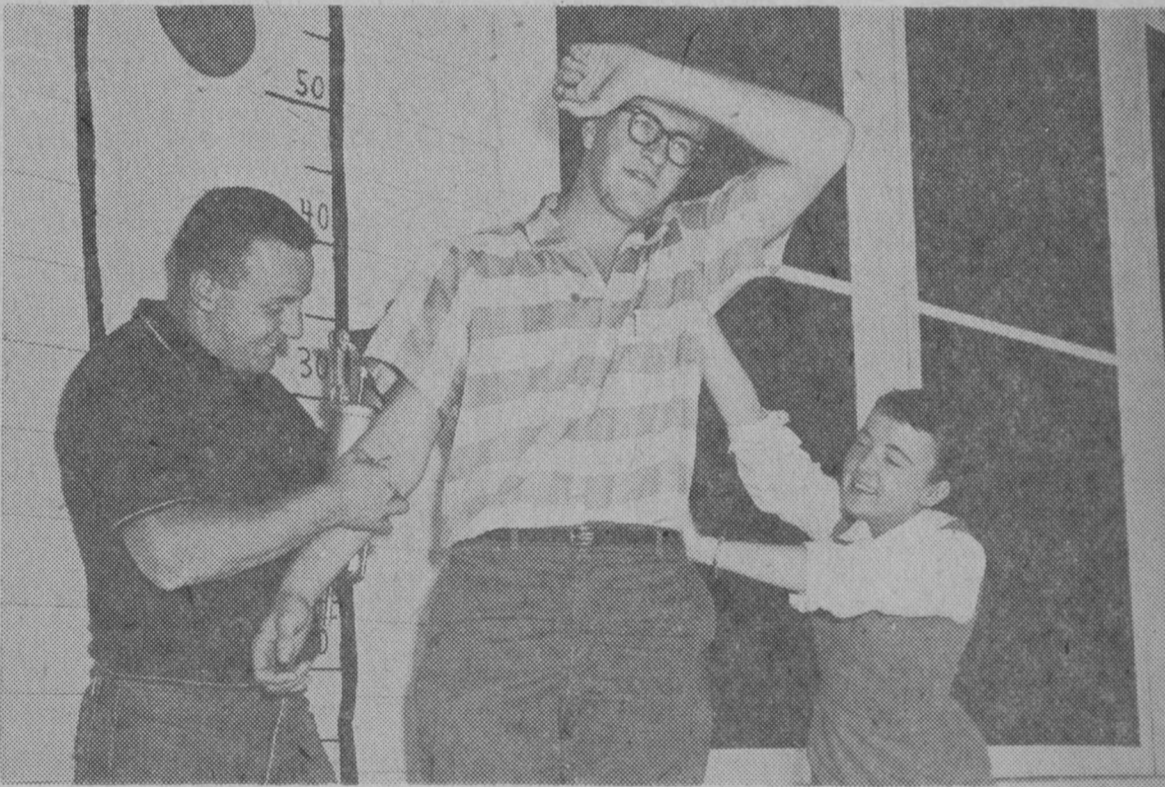

Four UCSB debate teams compete in the annual Southern California Championship debate tournament at the University of Redlands today and tomorrow.

The squads include Roxy Bell and Roberta Hart, upper-division women; David Peterson and George Hart, and Bruce Loeb and Bob Richards, upper-division men, and Joyce Mackenzie and Sue MacLellan, lower-division women.

The local debaters will be in competition with speakers from colleges and universities from the southern part of the state.

This marks the third debate tournament the University forensic squad has participated in this year. The speakers vie for plaques and certificates. Each team takes part in six rounds of debate. No other events are offered at the tournament.

LARRY ADAMS BLOOD DRIVE BEGINS TODAY; HUDDLE SITE CHOSEN FOR UCSB STUDENT CONTRIBUTION

The Tri-Counties Mobile Blood Bank will come to UCSB with the express purpose of relieving the student body and faculty of 300 pints of blood.

The annual Larry Adams Blood Drive gets under way today at 9 and will last until 3:30. The blood-letting ceremonies will take place in the Huddle.

Coffee and sandwiches will be served to all donors. In addition to the regular Blood Bank staff, three school organizations have volunteered their services.

The Colonel's Coeds will be on hand to insure that all male donors receive all the care and attention possible. The trained personnel from Kappa Sigma fraternity and Blue Key also will offer expert, efficient and understanding care to those of the fairer sex. Individuals giving blood are asked not to eat during the four hours previous to donating, and all students under 21 years of age must have a signed (legally or otherwise) minor's release form.

Students are reminded to state on the registration forms which living group they are a member of so that the respective groups will receive credit for your donation.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF RAY WARD
Managing Editor Pat Gower

Letter To the Editor . . .

Ray Ward:

I am sending the following and attached information to you concerning the organization of the intramural program. The department of physical education has hired Duane Jackman to coordinate the spring sports. We are supplying money for referees and trophies to match the team entry fees and are furnishing equipment and areas to play with or upon.

The council, headed by James Warner, is responsible for the organization of the program.

The basketball league was finished on Sunday because the two teams involved refused to play when scheduled by the council.

There were very few forfeits this past year since teams were dropped after two.

The "student" official is paid a salary to handle the games. Any complaints should be sent to the department of physical education and we will try to hire other officials.

The council would appreciate very much any help you can give the program in the paper. We have sent in many articles and none have been printed. The meetings of the council are not printed and articles on our tournaments are not printed. If we could have an intramural column the information will be sent you for printing.

The following might be mentioned soon . . . (deletion of spring schedule).

With your help in publicity, the intramural program might be improved but the council must also share in their responsibility.

E. Michael,

Coordinator, Intramurals

Ed. Note:

I didn't know how well the intramural program was organized . . . on paper. From reading the material forwarded to me, I find there is a basis for a well-organized, active program on campus. There should be an active program on campus. To achieve this the program must follow the criteria set down on paper.

Many of the present slipshod methods will have to be junked and a closer check on the program be kept.

I appreciate the letter and the enlightenment that accompanied my reading of it; however, there are four points that need reaffirming or clarification:

1) The basketball league was finished on Sunday, not because the teams refused to play on the date scheduled but because the council didn't set a date and enforce it; 2) There were several games that were termed "postponements" rather than forfeits; 3) The complaint is not with the "student official" but rather with the lack of support he receives from the league sponsors; 4) An arrangement was made at the beginning of the fall semester for the coverage of intramural news; the statement "the information will be sent to you" is merely an echo from the past.

El Gaucho is happy to help in the publicity of the intramural program, hoping that through its efforts the program will assume its proper place in campus life.

Editor, El Gaucho:

I should like to compliment Mr. George Dekker on the excellent reviews he has been contributing to El Gaucho. However, in his review of Alexander Nevski last week, he laments the lack of an American folk tradition, and the fact that our historians have been too accurate.

I share with Mr. Dekker the hope that as Americans we may grow in the appreciation of the tradition which is rightly ours. There is no lack of material, but only a lack of interest on the part of the public. I suggest that the attempts that have been made to create such an interest have been for the most part unsuccessful because they have been uncritical, and childish. It is not less accuracy on the part of historians that is needed, but more. It is one of the responsibilities of the historian to protect his race from the uncritical acceptance of the myth. Such uncritical acceptance of folk myth plays a large part in the general deadening of sensibility that precedes another phenomenon, the folk crime. Had the historian among others been adequately critical and accurate and had he been allowed to speak, the American people would not have accepted the idiocy of T.R. or the German people the idiocy of Hitler.

The myth or symbol, to be of social value, must be purified by criticism. Let the myth-maker build, as long as there are accurate historians to criticize and angry prophets to chasten.

Sincerely,

Joseph C. Donohue

University History Under President Sproul Revealed In Annual Report

Although the state's population pressures have caused the eight-campus University of California to expand enormously in size and scope during the past 27 years, its academic quality has remained as high as ever.

This is the story told in "The University of California Summary Report of Operations, 1956-57," released last week by the Controller's Office of the Regents.

An introductory statement comments:

"Since this summary report of operations for the year 1956-57 is the last to be published by the Regents of the University of California before the retirement of President Robert Gordon Sproul on June 30, 1958, it provides a brief review of the progress made by the University during the 27 years of his administration."

The report points out that in 1934 a survey of the nation's universities, conducted by the American Council on Education, showed the University of California to be one of the top-ranking institutions of higher learning in the nation.

Again in 1956, a survey rated the University of California among the best in the nation for the eminence of its faculty and the scope and quality of its facilities.

These are some of the changes that have occurred since 1930:

1. Enrollment in regular sessions has increased from 19,626 to 45,303 full-time students.
2. Graduate enrollment has increased from 3,200 to 11,100.
3. More than 160,000 graduate and undergraduate degrees have been conferred during the period.
4. A total of $8,989,247, almost entirely from gifts and bequests, was expended for student aid in the form of scholarships, fellowships and other grants.
5. The UCLA campus was expanded and developed to full university stature, and a new Medical Center, including a 320-bed teaching hospital, was established there.
6. Four-year liberal arts colleges were established at Riverside, Davis and Santa Barbara.

7. Nineteen new schools and colleges were added; 144 new departments and divisions were created; 38 additional bureaus, institutes, foundations and special libraries were set up.

8. The number of major subjects of instruction was increased from 77 to 220.

During the time this unprecedented expansion was taking place, the University of California's quality of instruction did not suffer. For example, six members of the faculty are Nobel Prize winners, 58 belong to the National Academy of Sciences (10 per cent of that elite body), and the University has led all other universities in the number of Guggenheim Fellowships awarded faculty members.

In the field of public service, University of California Extension has provided instruction for some 3,000,000 adults who have participated in classes, correspondence courses, institutes and conferences. The number of California communities it serves has been expanded from 50 to 142.

In addition, the University of California's library facilities are rated as the third best in the nation. They consist of nearly 4,000,000 volumes with an aggregate value of $19,303,000.

AS I SEE IT

by Ray Ward

What goes on behind the closed doors of student body governmental committee meetings? What things of such a clandestine nature are discussed that only the ears of those elite few may hear?

Why do committee meetings become closed sessions? Have they something to hide?

These questions will probably receive many inane answers— all of them invalid from the premises:

1) These very committees represent the people they are barring; 2) The press is seldom barred short of security reasons, assuming it to have the discretion necessary in such situations; 3) Chairmen of other student body committees are not incompetent and need not be kept in the dark.

The refusal to let the press sit in on these meetings is akin to forbidding the youngsters in the family watching television because it's not in their room. After all, both the units receive their power from the same source, the Legislative Council. Why keep the right hand from knowing what the left hand is doing?

* * *

Last Tuesday's Legislative Council meeting presented a glaring weakness in the handling of committees' and boards' minutes. The procedure is to hear the minutes, then approve, revise, delete or disapprove them. The Standards Committee report concerned, in part, a motion to censure certain members of the student body. The body passed these minutes without a single question as to the nature of the offense, what the censure included or even what the term censure means.

Following the meeting I approached several members of the Council concerning this subject. None was entirely informed on the matter; either they were unaware of the offense, what happened following their approval to censure or, worse yet, they thought the term was censor. Is this student government in action?

* * *

A comment on the mass of whisker-clad individuals who seem to have sprung forth on the campus. The number of men participating in the Whiskerino for the coming Barbary Coast is certainly encouraging. Perhaps the Special Events Committee has finally succeeded in establishing this function as a tradition.

These we need . . .

* * *

The letters that have flocked into the Gaucho office of late must be a sign of something— just what I can't quite define at this moment. Nevertheless, it's a positive approach on the part of the student body to make its wants and/or complaints known. El Gaucho encourages letters to the editor, provided they are relatively short and in good taste.

* * *

I'm still amazed by the vitality of the class governments this semester. The Junior and Senior Classes in particular are in the limelight at the moment with their undertaking of this evening.

Whether the turnout at the dance tonight is large or small, it will be a success.

With the work and time that has gone into it, how can it miss?

BRUBECK, BAKER TOPS AS 'PROGRESSIVE' BORN

by Clark Reynolds

Bop, the predominant jazz style during the late '40s, made a sharp division with the advent of the '50s. The wild styles practiced by Big Jay McNeely, Fats Domino and Earl Bostic created a new popular idiom, known today as Rhythm and Blues.

The other factor, "cool" jazz, went its way with men who had made their appearances in the big swing and bop bands of the post-war years. It has been called "modern" jazz but is more popularly referred to as "progressive."

New Men, New Jazz

"Yardbird" Parker and Dizzy Gillespie ushered in the style, but new men with different instruments did much to popularize this progressive mood.

Dave Brubeck opened at the Surf Club in L.A. in 1955 after successful appearances in New York and San Francisco.

His group was a quartet, a rather new innovation in the modern field, but immediately swept the country, taking top honors in Metronome's '56 Jazz Poll. Brubeck, whose popularity has not yet begun to subside, plays the piano, while his tenor saxophonist, Paul Desmond, has claimed individual glory in recent months.

Small Combo Jazz

The groups of Jerry Mulligan and Chet Baker have jumped on the bandwagon during the recent decade, and small combo jazz has flourished under the musicianship of these young artists.

The flute, guitar, organ, baritone sax, and even accordion are the experimental instruments of this music, and several men have won fame by them—Bud Shank, Harry Carney and Herbie Mann, to name a few.

IFC, PANHELLENIC PLAN ANNUAL GREEK WEEK AS APRIL EVENT

Greek Week promises to be the all-time event of the year for the fraternities and sororities on the UCSB campus, predict Gary Brown and Kitty Joyce, co-chairmen in charge of publicity.

Panhellenic President Patti Petrie and IFC President Everett Johnson are coordinating their respective organizations for the annual week's activities.

The week is to continue from April 7 to 12, with the actual planned events beginning on the 9th. Tentative plans have been made for a kick-off luncheon for all Greeks in front of the library at noon. Exchange dinners are planned for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Friday is an open day with activities centering around State Street as the Greeks band together to paint the palm bases.

Friday at Armory

A work day at Laguna Ball Park finds the guys and gals again wielding the paint brushes all day Saturday. The city sponsors a fish-fry afterwards.

Saturday night is the big dance at the Naval Armory, 9 p.m. Chip Crosby plays and the dress is dressy-sport.

Individual groups are urged to encourage mass church attendance on Sunday to wind up the great week.

Additional plans are in the offing and will be announced as they are developed.

Gaucha Horsehidiers Engage Pro-Studded Marines Today

Today at 2 p.m. the Gaucha baseball team squares off in the first of a two-game series with the pro-studded Marine Corps Recruit Depot nine. Both games will be played at the San Diego base.

Santa Barbara lost its opening game, 11-7, to the Alumni team led by Pete Walski and Neil Wright, each of whom drove across three runs. Despite the loss, coach Rene Rochelle and his assistant, El Coulter, feel the varsity has good potential and can develop into a winning ball

Sailing Season To Open Sunday With South Coast Regatta

Five top college sailing teams will converge on Santa Barbara harbor this weekend for the SBC-sponsored Riviera Regatta. Santa Barbara, Occidental, Orange Coast, Claremont and Cal Tech are expected to be on hand Sunday for a series of 10 races in SBC's South Coast 10 sailing dinghies.

Blair Francis and Dick Hendrickson are tentatively slated to take the helm for Santa Barbara and will be gunning for top-ranked Occidental, current Pacific Coast champions. Oxy has lost only one regatta since September, to Orange Coast.

In addition to Southern Series points, the winners will receive the perpetual Riviera Trophy from the SBC Sailing Club, which is sponsoring the event. A party for visiting sailors and club members is planned for Saturday evening, and sailing will get under way at 10 a.m. Sunday.

club. The weekend series will provide an opportunity for the coaches to experiment with new combinations in both the infield and outfield, and so it is more than likely that the spectators will witness a different lineup from that of the Alumni game when the team returns to Santa Barbara against Westmont March 18.

The Gauchos collected 11 hits against the grads. Outfielder Frank Stevens and catcher Roger Keller led the array with two singles apiece. Others collecting hits were Ed Keenan, Ron Heusser, Bob Fraas, Dave Quisling, Jim Perina and Bill Wetzel. Wetzel connected for the only extra-baser, a home run.

MCRD has one of its strongest teams in the history of the camp. Eight of the starters have signed for or played professional baseball. One of their outstanding infielders is Jim Knerr, former All-CCAA shortstop from Fresno State and now property of the Boston Red Sox. The Gauchos will again be plagued by the dangerous long-ball hitting of Pete Walski. Walski holds down an outfield spot for the Marine nine. The service team is strongest on the mound. Santa Barbara is likely to face Ted Ellis, All-CCAA pitcher from Fresno State; Jack Osborne, ex-San Francisco Seal and property of the Boston Red Sox, or Earl Wilson, also of the Red Sox.

Rochelle will pitch one of four men, all of whom are expected to see plenty of action over the weekend: Bob Pope, Jim Hezlep, Fred Warracker and Wetzel. The Blue and Gold will start with Keller catching, Ellington (1b), Permenter (2b), Keenan (3b), Heusser (ss), Schumaker (lf), Stevens (cf) and Iman (rf).

UCSB SPIKESTERS VIE IN SPAAU

UCSB SHOWS STRENGTH IN WIN OVER 40-NINERS

by Ned Wilson

With their 83-to-43 victory over Long Beach State College last Saturday on the home track, Coach Nick Carter's Santa Barbara spikeesters gave good indication of their serious contention for a leading position in CCAA track ranks. Led by distance ace Bill Collins, who, after winning the mile in the nationally credited time of 4:16.9, returned to take the 880 in 1:58.8, the team ran up 12 first places against Long Beach's three.

Triple Winner

Broadjumper Duke Ellington jumped an excellent 23 ft. 3 1/2 in., while field man Don Kelliher, in winning his three events—the javelin, shotput and discus—earned the most points of the meet.

Dave Boraker, frosh sprinter from San Luis Obispo, won the 100 in 10.3 and the 220 in 22.5 to match fellow frosh Bernie Weiner's 50-second 440 and anchor lap on the victorious mile relay.

Other Gaucha trackmen cited for their early-season endeavors were lettermen Tony Brambilla, with his speedy leg of the unofficial 80-yard relay, and Jim Law, whose 880 showed up notable ability considering his two-year layoff from track. Gerry Mullin is expected to return to competition in the near future.

SPA AU Relay

This Saturday Carter's crack relay teams will compete in the Southern Pacific AAU Relays at East Los Angeles and, according to him, they have a good chance to return with two or more gold medals. They are strongest in the sprint relays with Boraker, Brambilla, Ernie Rochholt and Art Ewers, and in the mile relay with Weiner, Law, Ned Wilson and Coyt Davis. Also slated to run the two-mile and distance-medley relays are Collins and Raul Yanez.

Talents Exploited

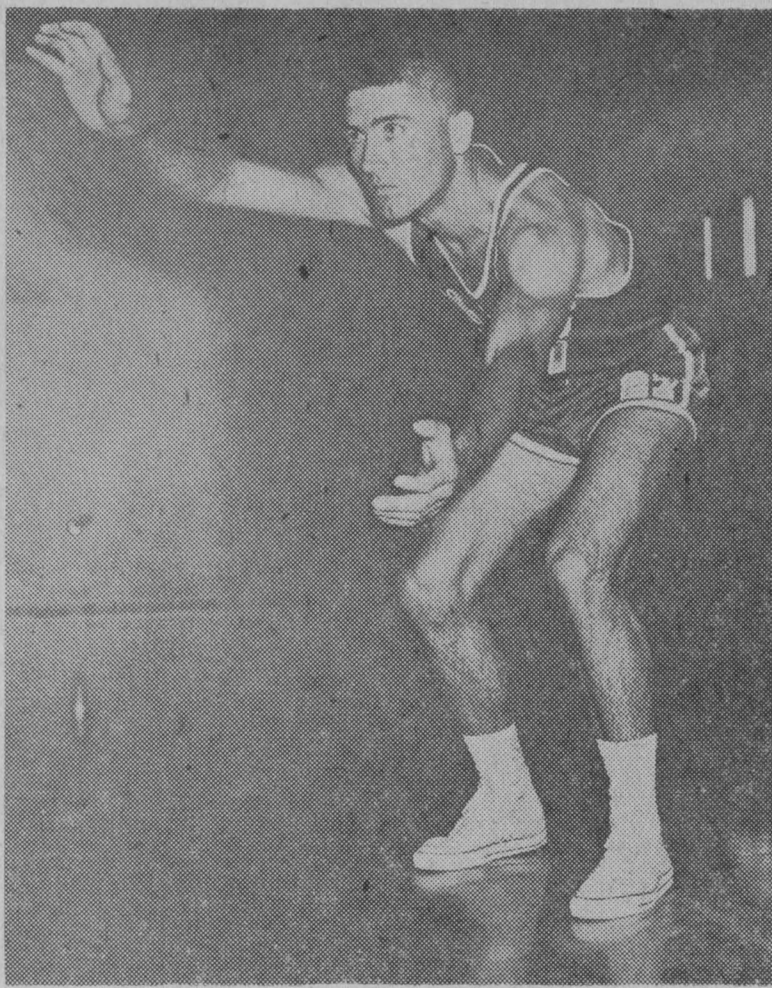

In the field events Carter plans to field Ellington, Kelliher and Gates Foss. All three will have ample opportunity to exploit their talents against the top field aces of Southern California.

The teams that are traditionally entered in the meet are UCLA, USC, San Diego State, Occidental and Santa Barbara, along with a number of junior colleges from the Southland area.

JV Thinclads Host Triangular Meet

While the varsity relay teams are making a name for themselves at East Los Angeles next Saturday, the junior varsity track team is slated to compete on the home track against Santa Barbara Junior College, El Camino JC and Ventura College, among others. The meet will give newcomers to the squad an opportunity to demonstrate their ability in competition and will give the coaching staff an idea of potential team strength.

Leading the JV competitors for the Gauchos will be Rosendo Castillo, Bob Oldham, Mike Spitzer, Bill Haskill and Gene Smith. According to JV coach Ernest Michael, the outlook is optimistic for a team victory if "everybody does his job and hustles." This should be interesting news to those who have aspirations to make the varsity squad in order to run in future meets against such championship teams as the University of California at Los Angeles, San Diego State College and Cal Poly.

GAUCHO GUARD JIM HARGROVE demonstrates his defensive abilities. One of the graduating seniors, Hargrove also played on last year's CCAA contenders for the league crown.

UCSBC MERMEN TO OPEN SEASON SOON AT PASADENA

On Tuesday, March 11, with a meet at Pasadena City College, the 1958 swimming season, under the direction of coach Frank Rhoter, will arrive at SBC. Following that meet others with Long Beach State, El Camino JC, Los Angeles State, Whittier College, Cal Tech and Cal Poly are slated for the team, which features returnees from last year as well as swimmers new to the campus.

In the sprints Al Cibula and Lester Slaback (50-yard freestyle) and Bobby Miyashiro (100-yard freestyle) will be backed up by Dave Brickner and Wallace Hannibal.

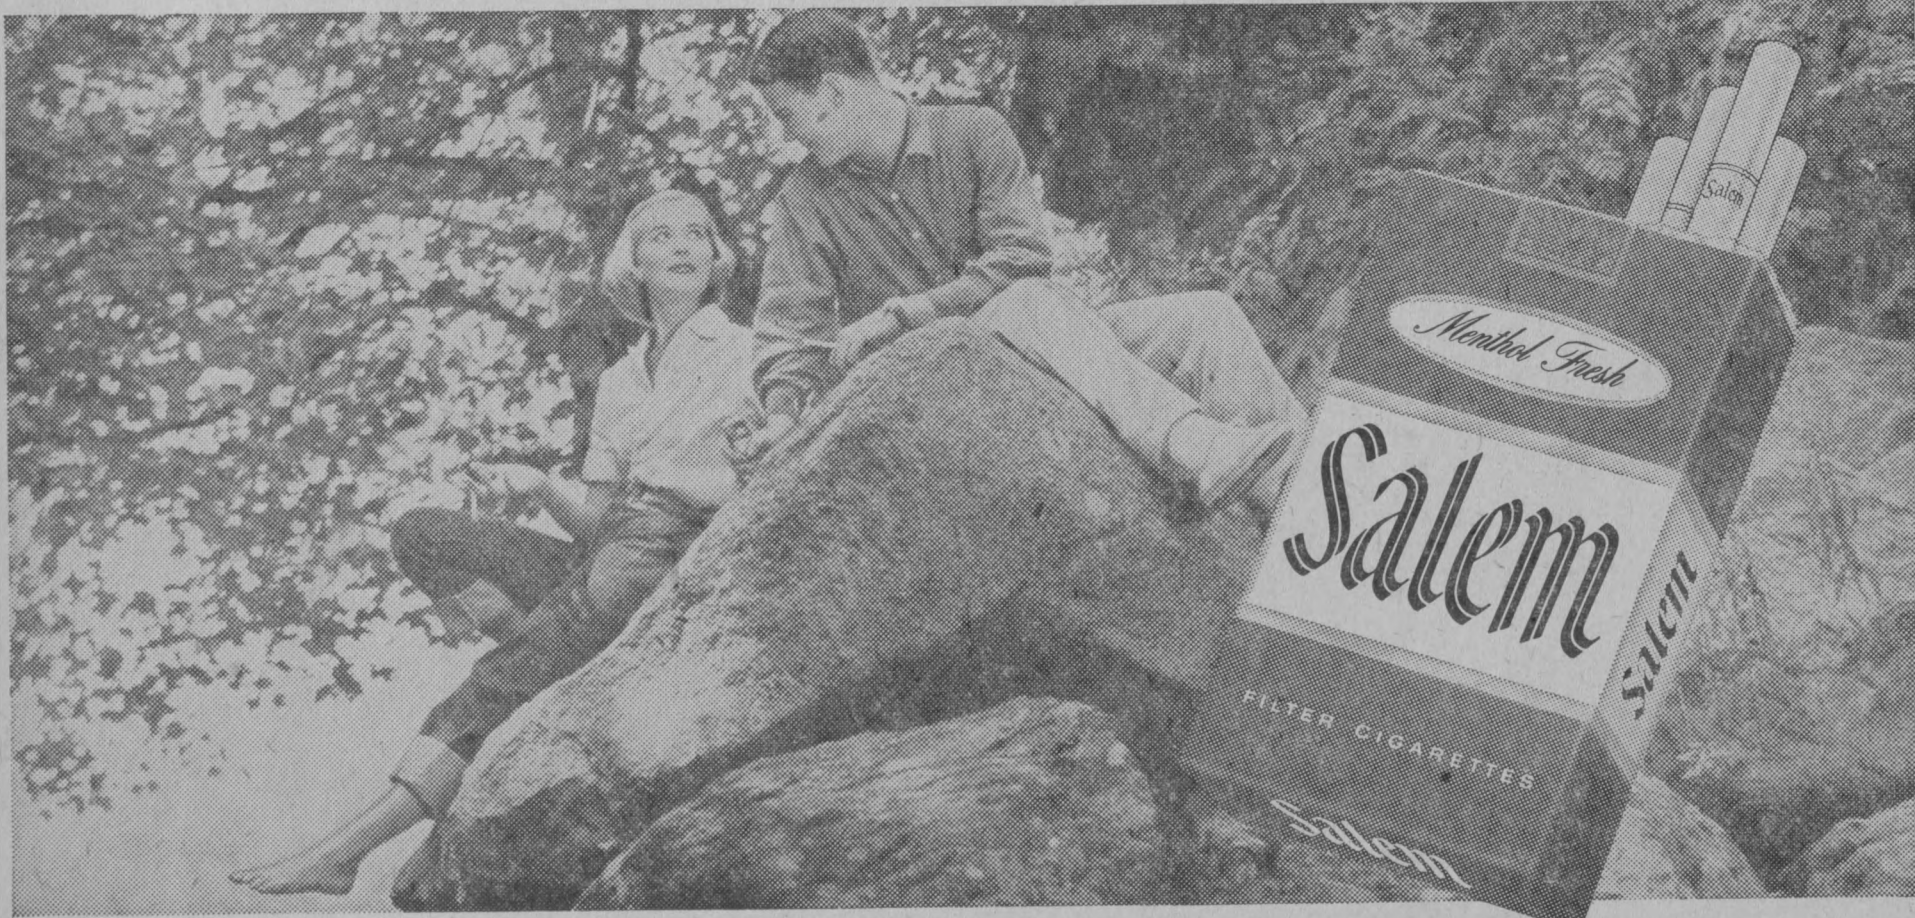

In the longer distances Mark Oliney and Paul Hodgert (200-yard backstroke and butterfly) along with George Hart (backstroke) and Russ McClain (freestyler) will compete for the Blue and Gold. Divers Ray Peterson and Rick Beguelin will provide strength in these events. Rhoter states that the team is currently working out twice daily, at noon and 3:30. Beside expecting Art Blair and Stan Guth to show up later in the season, Rhoter is on the lookout for all interested persons. He stated that "there is always room on the team for more good swimmers." As this year's schedule is a competitive one, good swimmers should be in order.
