Economist Mead slams Nixon’s Phase II policies

By STEVE WINDSOR

UCSB Economics Professor Walter Mead blasted Nixon’s wage and price control program at a news conference Friday, claiming that the President’s program fails to attack the core of inflation — rapid growth in the money supply — and that it will fail. Mead believes that public support for the control program will erode quickly and will become antagonistic within a year.

Mead further maintains, “Effective price control requires a high degree of public support such as existed in the early years of World War II. This degree of public support and unity of purpose is notoriously lacking in this Vietnam War era. Cheating will be widespread and will increase with the passage of time.”

The economist also pointed out, “The President has fixed only one dimension of competition — price — while leaving sellers free to charge other dimensions, such as the quality of products, accompanying services and credit terms.”

When asked which sector of American society benefited from the wage and price control program, Mead said that the present policy was detrimental to all sectors.

Mead, a frequent expert witness before Congress, brought with it a doubled rate of growth in inflation.

Mean, who feels that Nixon’s decision to institute wage and price controls was primarily a political move, readily predicts that the price and wage control program will fail. He believes that public support for the control program will erode quickly and will become antagonistic within a year.

Meeting in emergency session, the UCSB Academic Senate debated the proposed calendar change which would lengthen academic sessions. The final resolution spurred the most controversy from the faculty.

The resolution, sponsored by Senate President James Walters and his staff, would have shortened the fall term by two weeks, extended the winter term by two weeks and extended the spring term by four days.

The final resolution spurred the most controversy from the faculty. It stated that “joining such collective bargaining agencies as California State Employes Agency, National Education Association, American Association of University Professors and the UC American Federation of Teachers is one proper means by which faculty may work to strengthen the University and improve the quality of education in California.”

Representatives from UCSB’s chapter of the AFT and other non-union faculty members included the last resolution to legitimize the union. Negotiations were felt necessary to avoid a stigma being placed on Assistant Professors for joining the Union.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, candidate for President of the United States on the new People’s Party ticket, will address the UCSB community today at noon in Campbell Hall.

Spock, the famous child psychologist who has been the subject of repeated attacks by his own anti-war views, plans to speak on “Why I ran for the Senate.”

The People’s Party, a coalition of radical organizations from across the nation (including California’s Peace and Freedom Party), met in late November in Dallas. It was decided in Dallas that a “shadow cabinet” of administration officials. In 1972 the People’s Party expects to be on the ballot, under various names, in all fifty states.

Spock is a candidate in the 1972 presidential race. He is the only candidate with a national convention in Miami Beach, immediately following the Democratic convention there that same year. It is expected that if Spock’s people win the second national convention, they may jump to the People’s Party at that time and a new candidate may be chosen.

Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm is among those most frequently mentioned as a potential People’s Party candidate. The most recent People’s Party candidate to stand out, however, Spock may well retain the nomination.

Football’s fate echoes University’s financial peril

It was indeed an unfortunate occasion Wednesday morning when Chancellor Cheadle announced his decision to eliminate intercollegiate football at UCSB. Yet, considering the $100,000 deficit run up by the program this year, Cheadle had little recourse other than cutting out the sport, and not field a Gauchos football team for the first time since World War II.

This happening was the product of more than a decade of unrealistic planning on the part of the athletic department and University administration about the potential of sports on this campus. The athletic department budget from $85,125 to the present $430,000 has not proven to be consistent with University growth, both numerically and culturally.

Football’s demise is also another example of how budgetary constraints placed by the governor and legislature have continued to water down all phases of the educational process at the University of California.

The same budgetary cuts that helped lead to football’s demise have less visibly hampered library facilities, faculty pay raises, student-instructor ratios, building maintenance, and just about every other aspect of the University.

In analyzing the deficiencies of the late football program, no good will come from blaming players, coaches, or administrators. It seems apparent that many people at fault, including the fans themselves who failed to support the team.

What we must strive to accomplish now is to learn from past mistakes and improve other athletic programs so as to better relate them to students, faculty, and townspeople.

Volleyball, in particular, has gained ever-increasing levels of fan interest, thus earning the right to be placed higher on the list of intercollegiate athletic priorities.

I hope this abrupt demise of football at UCSB serves to help the local community realize the University’s perilious financial state and help restore impaired educational programs along with bringing football back on a smaller, more financially sound basis.

Wrong impression?

To the Editor:

As a former student of Andrew Winnick, I would like to bring to light a few of my own observations of last year. I took Economics 1 taught by Professor Winnick fall quarter ’70, at which time I gained a great deal of respect for his ability to teach and to make a lower division course in micro-economic theory relevant to a student’s life.

The course was stiff, but it was great! In the fall, Winnick described Environmental Economics 115, which was to be taught in spring ’71. Due to my extreme satisfaction with Economics 1, I took 115. Into the second half of the spring quarter Winnick began indicating displeasure with the Economics Department at UCSB. I personally knew of no campus-wide awareness that there was friction between him and the department, but his inferences led to this impression. He further indicated that they (the department) felt he was too demanding of the department when it came to supplying his class with dittoed material.

About this time he mentioned the possibility of accepting a position in a new program (“social change”) at Antioch College, mentioning that the new position would give him the opportunity, which he felt he was being denied at UCSB, to do some work in radical economics. Just before the end of the quarter, Winnick announced to the class that he was leaving UCSB for the position at Antioch and he enthusiastically described the new program.

I later had the opportunity to personally exchange a few comments with him about the program. I wished him “good luck” and told him that it all sounded very exciting. He replied, “Yes. It’s frightening to think of the potential of the program, but I’m really looking forward to it.

At no time did I get the impression that Winnick was sorry to be leaving this institution. On the contrary, his attitude suggested to me that he was anxious to get to Antioch and get to work. For this reason I was very surprised to hear it said that Winnick requested only a “leave of absence” because he wanted to return here.

It appears to me that Winnick was trying to cushion himself against failures were the program in “social change” to prove unsuccessful. It is unreasonable to expect the Economics Department to accept the responsibility of running a program in its department for any second year faculty member.

I am disappointed in the NEXUS’ revival of an apparently lifeless issue.

Student group demands dismissal

Open letter to James Garnes, University Administration, and the news media:

WE DEMAND.....The immediate dismissal of James M. Garnes from the position of assistant to the chancellor for minority affairs: BECAUSE OF 1) Garnes, as an administrator, using his position to penalize politically active students.

2) Denying student input in policy and planning within the guidelines initially accepted by the University.

3) Failure to disclose University financial data to permit significant participation by students.

4) Garnes has shown favoritism to some students.

5) Failure to establish the kind of rapport as to make confrontations of this nature unnecessary.

WE DEMAND.....The administration act on the following:

1) To open effective channels to deal with student complaints with administrators and administrative policy.

2) To expand the role of the assistant to the chancellor for minority affairs to include all minorities not represented.

3) To make the assistant to the chancellor for minority affairs serve the students and not the chancellor.

These demands were arrived at in a meeting of many students representing different minority groups, including Whiten, in response to the fact that Garnes has not met the needs of the minorities and he has used his position to personally penalize individual students.

WITNESSES WANTED!!!!

Several people observed on Tuesday Dec. 7, a HIT AND RUN accident involving a ten-speeder and a pedestrian in front of the Speech and Drama building. The accident occurred around 11 a.m.

I was the pedestrian, was injured and may require medical attention for an extended period of time. The biker struck me in the side and upper abdomen, possibly damaging the spleen. But rather than stop to see if I was hurt, the biker rode on even though I called to him to come back.

I have a partial description of the biker and am trying to obtain more accurate descriptions from those persons who saw me calling after him. If any of you potential witnesses could meet me and the Campus Police to identify this biker (who is quite frankly dangerous to all of us who choose to walk the campus) I would be appreciative. Paying medical bills is more his responsibility than mine.

If anyone has information regarding this accident, please contact the Campus Police Department.

In this era of space exploration and the promise of new adventures on other planets, it is good to remember the possibilities still available on this planet for exciting adventures and scientific explorations. It is the thrill of these types of adventures that Edward Ingris brings to his audiences in the showing of "Survival of Kantuta (Odyssey of a Raft)."

While working as a photographer in Peru, Ingris became acquainted with Thor Heyerdahl who had sailed the Kon-Tiki. It was Heyerdahl’s theory that the Polynesian islands in the Pacific had been partially settled by South American natives who had floated the 5,000 miles on balsa wood rafts with the help of the Humboldt Current. Many skeptics passed off Heyerdahl’s success as being only good luck. Thus Ingris decided to try to confirm Heyerdahl’s theory by going on a second voyage.

He also constructed a raft of balsa wood and other materials which the natives would have used (this included using no nails). He named the raft after a Peruvian flower, "Kantuta," which the Incas had believed immortal. The raft measured 24 feet long and 12 feet wide. Kantuta I set out on what almost became a tragic voyage. The Humboldt Current disappeared and the raft was caught up in a giant 600 mile wide whirlpool. The crew of three men and one Peruvian girl were tossed about for 47 days until the crews tossed them off and they discovered natives on the island of Matahiva. The island was later renamed Island of Kantuta II landed at the Polynesian coral reef where they found two small waves and two small waves. The raft was repaired and they continued on the voyage.

Afraid that this unsuccessful voyage would only serve to disprove Heyerdahl’s theory, Ingris began preparations for a second voyage. Three years later tugboats pulled Kantuta II out of the city of Callao to the Humboldt Current. The only female on this trip was Lorita, a Peruvian girl. They decided to stay on the island. Captain Ingris and one other crew member left the raft on a small rubber boat to search for water on Napuca. They were tossed about for 47 days until the crews tossed them on an uninhabited island. Remember these ads?

We ran them in a lot of college newspapers last year. Their purpose was to answer some of the critical questions students were asking about our company. Maybe you saw them. A lot of students did. And a lot wrote to us about them. In many cases the ads triggered additional questions, questions so provocative that we've decided to expand our communications with college students.

We're doing it in several ways. We've already started to have conferences of student opinion leaders and GE people at our various plant locations. These conferences permit deep probing of sticky questions. They help us to understand the concerns of students. But they involve relatively few students and GE people.

So we're going to share some of the questions and answers (like the ones above) with you by continuing our ads in college newspapers. And we'll make sure our people see your questions, too—through company magazines and plant newspapers.

We think your concerns are important. And we think you should know how seriously we take them.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Junior Year in New York

Washington Square College of Arts and Science of New York University sponsors a Junior Year in New York.

The College, located in the heart of the city, is an integral part of the exciting metropolitan community of New York City—the business, cultural, artistic, and financial center of the nation. The city’s extraordinary resources greatly enrich both the academic program and the experience of living at New York University with the most cosmopolitan student body in the world.

This program is open to students recommended by the deans of the colleges to which they will return for their degrees.

There are strong and varied offerings in many areas, such as fine arts, urban studies, languages including non-European, mathematics in the College and at the Courant Institute, psychology, and others.

A qualified student may register for courses in all other schools of the University, including the specializations in Commerce and Education.

The University sponsors programs in Spain and France.

Cassette Recorder by Concord

Desk Model $3995

Concord F-50 Desktop Portable Recorder

It’s computer-styled, with all controls up front and the big speaker tilted towards you makes this a great machine for desktop use at home, in school, or in your office. But unplug the AC cord, and the batteries come into action, so you can use it anywhere. Either way, the electronically regulated servomotor keeps speed constant. Automatic Level Control always gives you clear, correct recording level, whether speakers are near or far away. And the dynamic microphone has a remote start-stop switch that lets you interrupt recordings without leaving telltale clicks. Complete with carrying case and shoulder strap.

Specifications:
- Recording time: 30, 60, 90 minutes on C-30, C-60, C-90 cassettes
- Microphone: Dynamic, remote control
- Headphone: Output: Earphone
- Dimensions: 60-10,000 Hz
- Wow and Flutter: Less than 0.3% rms
- Power output: More than one watt
- Input: Microphone, Magnetic Phono
- Electronics: All solid state
- Drive motor: Servo type with electronic speed regulation
- Frequency response: 60-10,000 Hz
- Weight: 4 lb.

Accessories included: Dynamic microphone, one tape cassette, carrying case with shoulder strap.

Optional Accessories: TP-2 telephone pickup.

Mead criticizes Nixon policy

committees of the U.S. Congress and the California Assembly, proposes three steps for stopping inflation:

First, the Federal Reserve System must bring the money supply under control by replacing the recent rapid growth rate and its "periodic wild gyrations" with a steady four per cent growth rate.

Second, instead of a 10 per cent surcharge on imports and adding new import quotas on such products as textiles, shoes and steel, trade barriers should be reduced. Said Mead, "The new quota system that the Nixon Administration forced Japan on will clearly increase the price Americans must pay for clothing. The balance of payments problem can be solved with floating exchange rates."

Third, monopoly power should be reduced. "This would require antitrust action against a few highly concentrated industries such as the steel industry. Also, labor union power to monopolize should be corrected. Evidence of monopoly power exists in business where firms raise prices while at the same time have a high level of idle capacity. "Likewise, evidence of monopoly power in the labor sector exists where unions force large wage increases while willing and qualified workers are without jobs," he noted.

Mead feels that these steps will bring long-run inflation under control. As for the present, he maintains that "The wage and price control program is a disaster in the making. The sooner the program collapses, the better."

Spock to speak

A voluntary donation of between fifty cents and a dollar will be requested at the Campbell Hall rally to help defray campaign costs.

Spock's speech will be preceded by a press conference in the UCen at 11 a.m.

This evening, following the Campbell Hall event, a reception for the candidate will be held at 2791 Sycamore Canyon Road in Montecito. The public is invited to attend and a voluntary $2 donation will be requested, again to meet expenses.

Spock has come to UCSB at the invitation of Charles Braddy, national chairman of the People's Party and an instructor here at UCSB.

Theta Delts' challenger still in doubt

Only two things are certain at press time for tonight's Intramural flag football championship. One is the time and place — 7 p.m. in Campbell Stadium — and the other is that the Theta Delts will be part of it.

The third hinges on the outcome of the Zie Cla-Sig Ep game, which ended in an exciting and controversial stalemate on Tuesday and was to be decided finally yesterday in an undetermined fashion.

A center-eligible sneak off the T-formation by Zie Cla tied the game at 13-13 and forced it into L.M.'s version of the sudden death. This entails measuring total offense in five plays from the 20 (or until intercepted) with highest figure declared the winner.

Apparently decisive as Jerry Chamberlain picked off Zie Cla's first pass to give them zero yardage. But the Sig Ep's could manage only three errant passes, the third of which was intercepted by Craig Clark forcing another sudden death.

With darkness descending rapidly on the already cold and windy field the Sig Ep's were to be decided finally yesterday in an undetermined fashion.

Financial Aid vouchers

Vouchers for students who are to receive financial aid for the Winter Quarter 1972 will be mailed to their campus addresses on Dec. 10. If you are a financial aid recipient, please watch your mailbox.

Gauchos win one, lose one, get ready for ISU

By DEBBY OLSON

Rebounding in more ways than one, the Gauchos' court skills occur Saturday night as UCSB hosts Iowa State. Maury John, the Cyclone's new court leader, was voted "Coach of the Year" by the Basketball Writers Association in 1969 and is the mastermind of the renowned "Belly-Button" defense. Coach Barkey feels this team "has probably the best playing personnel we'll encounter before meeting Long Beach State."

The remaining Christmas program has UCSB hosting UC Riverside, Arizona University and Chicago State University on December 18, 27 and 29 respectively, and on the road visiting Montana State on Dec. 22 and Montana University on Dec. 23. 1972 dawns a new year and the official PCAA championship struggle. Friday, Jan. 7, the Varsity duels last year's sixth place San Jose Spartans at home for hopefully their first in a long line of league wins.

Sociology Professor Richard Flacks said that there is power in the labor movement and pointed out that the AFT and UCSB meets with the Santa Barbara County Labor Council which gives it contact with organized labor.

The Senate finally voted to accept all the resolutions. However, Professor Robert Webb promised to have a mail ballot of the faculty. The track record on passing mail ballots makes passage seem dismal.

DIMENSIONS OF CHANGE
by Don Fabun

This inspired book, illustrated throughout in full color with exciting text and superb quotations, deals with technological responses to behavioral change that may take place by the year 2000. Major sections deal delightfully with ecology, shelter, energy, food, mobility, and telecommunications. A book for the entire family.

HAVE YOU GIVEN MUCH THOUGHT TO WHAT YOU'LL BE DOING TOMORROW?

Finding a job that gives you satisfaction isn't easy today. Not in a world as confusing and complex as ours.

But the Paulist finds a frequent joy in his own way of life and values that are lasting.

As a Paulist he may counsel a runaway youth, listen to the problems of a senior citizen, organize a Home Mass or conduct a forum on narcotics. Because Paulists have always been pioneers in communications, he may communicate through the printed word or through mass media such as radio, film or television.

Whatever tool he chooses, the Paulist gets his "message" through.

Can you think of any other life that will provide more inner satisfaction for you?

For more information about the Paulist priesthood write to:
Rev. Donald C. Campbell, C.S.P., Vocation Director, Room No. 200, 415 West 59th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.
