WOMEN ATHLETES PLAN MAY DAY PROGRAM

Popularity Is Aim of Contest For La Cumbre

Beauty Contest Is Changed to Include Wider Field by Editor Hylton

Due to a decision made by Dean Mildred Pyle Monday, Paul Hylton and Dick Waterman, editor and business manager of the La Cumbre announced yesterday that the previously planned beauty contest would be changed to a popularity contest. The two managers of the contest feel that to make the change would be following out the traditions of the school since the popularity contests have been an annual affair for several years.

Nominations for the contest will be made by petition instead of the formerly planned committee. All petitions must be signed by at least twenty people and handed in to Paul Hylton by next Monday, May 2.

At the theater, Jess Joslin and his orchestra will be featured in a half hour program. He will present his novelty trio, "Sharp, Flat, and Minor" which has appeared twice before the students of the Santa Barbara State college. Tickets for the show are on sale on the campus.

Debates Planned by Forensic Club

Discussion and argument on varied topics featured the meeting of the Forum, State college forensic club, in the home of Betty Thomas Monday evening. A debate and a business meeting made up the rest of the program.

Pearl Caylor and Tom Orr were enrolled as new members of the group, and they will debate at the next meeting on the question "Resolved, that chain stores are a detriment to the economic welfare of the American public."

An open forum on capital punishment, crime, and socialism followed. Eugene Nelson presided for the debate and for the discussion.

"The Rise of Prosperity" will be the theme for the annual May Day program sponsored by the women's Physical Education department Monday afternoon May 2, at 4 o'clock in the college quad. The idea is being used in accordance with the present depression.

Pageant characters will be taken by Physical Education girls. Virginia Slicton will dance the part of Depression, Margaret Beddome will be World, Pearl Rieger will act the role of Courage, Ethel Hudson will take the part of Determination, and Prosperity will be taken by the chosen May queen.

Various countries will be represented in the dances. The Cheerful dances and Gloomy dances will be given by girls from the different gymnasium classes. The Gloomy dances will be represented by the Waltz Clog, which will be done by boys from the men's Physical Education classes and represents Spain, and an Oriental dance by Toshiko Asagura for Japan. Everyone taking part will unite in the Maypole dance. The Spanish dances are being personally directed by Byron Abraham, and will provide an added feature to the program.

Debating the women's team of the University of Southern California at eight o'clock Friday night in the college auditorium, Betty Thomas and Phyllis Welch, Santa Barbara State's women's varsity, will uphold the negative of the question "Resolved, that Congress should pass legislation providing for centralized control of industry, constitutionality waived."

Mr. S. W. Robertson, of the local Board of Education, will act as chairman for the meeting. Dr. Maxwell will be timekeeper. There will be no decision on the debate.

This is the second debate to be held on this question at State this semester, the local team having met the men's varsity of San Jose State in February, upholding the same idea. Collegians to Boost Meet in Parade, Rally

Will Assemble at Foot of State Street at 6:30 Program to Follow

Citizens of Santa Barbara are in for a surprise Friday. Between 200 and 500 students and townspeople will assemble at the foot of State street at 6:30 o'clock that evening and after organizing, will proceed up State street making as much noise as possible. The event is the gigantic Pre-Olympic meet being held in Peabody stadium Saturday, being sponsored by Santa Barbara State college and the local Junior Chamber of Commerce.

There will be prizes for those participating in the parade, according to Hal Polley, who is in charge, with everyone sharing in the big prize of the evening, which will not be announced until the revellers have assembled in the college gym after the parade. Other prizes, for the noisiest car and for the best decorated car or float, will also be presented at this time. According to those in charge, there will be entertainment to cap the evening.

The parade will form at 6:30, and will start promptly at 7 o'clock. It is planned to arrive at Sola street at approximately 7:25, where the procession will disorganize, the participants proceeding to the college gymnasium.

As a special feature, most of the participants of the track and field meet will ride in the parade, either in private cars or in special autos furnished for the occasion by the dealers of Santa Barbara.

Over three hundred athletes are expected to compete for honors in this meet with all old records expected to go into the discard and new ones rung up that should eclipse all past performances by a wide margin. Letters to the department heads of thirty institutions went from the office of the Junior Chamber of Commerce two weeks ago. The Activities Division, of which Earl W. Stewart is chairman, has been delegated the responsibility of entertaining the athletes and promoting the meet.

Columbia Starts Investigation on Editor's Charges

College Authorities Plan to Investigate Dining Hall; Editor's Case Rests

NEW YORK, April 27.—(CNS)—Supporters of Reed Harris, expelled editor of the Columbia Daily Spectator, rejoiced this week.

"His 'death' shall not be in vain," they said. The cause for their rejoicing was the start of a formal inquiry into dining room conditions in John Jay hall on the university campus.

The investigation is being conducted by the University Commons committee, consisting of three students and three faculty members. Food experts and other witnesses were scheduled to be called before the committee to testify concerning the dining room.

Simultaneously, a medical investigation of dining halls was being conducted by Dr. William McCastline, University medical officer.

While the two inquiries progressed, the Harris case proper remained in a position of status quo. It was disclosed that Attorney Raymond L. Wise, representing the ousted editor, was carrying on negotiations with administrative officers, presumably in an effort to secure a settlement of the projected $100,000 damage suit against the University out of court or to bring about Harris' reinstatement.

Meanwhile, editorial condemnations of the Harris' expulsion continued to appear in many college newspapers last week, and on several camp petitions of protest were being circulated. In a telegram to President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, the Liberal Club of Johns Hopkins university branded the dismissal as "an unjustifiable attempt to gag student opinion."

should degenerate into a "book"? Anyone with enough intelligence to enter college can get a book and understand most of it. They spend good time and money to get additional explanation and enlightenment on the subject which no book can give. Thus the instructor must be interested in his work himself if he is to pass his interest on to his students.

No one forces us to go to college. We are here because we want to learn. If it were not for the students, there could be no college. Our money and interest is what creates positions for instructors to hold. Why do we put up with the sort of thing we are getting when better could be obtained?

BOLLING ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Friends and citizens:—It is with sincere appreciation of its significance (sic) that I, Richard Bolling, announce my willingness to become a candidate for president of the student body.

For the benefit of those persons who, because of their cloistered academic life, are unacquainted (sic) with me, I shall comply with form and list some of the highlights which have marked my career as a student at State.

(1) I recited "Gunga Din" at the Fall semester Hobo Brawl, after weeks of concentrated preparation.

(2) I endeared myself to the student body and football team by twisting a fire-engine siren in the rooster's section last fall.

(3) I enhanced the quality of forbearance (sic) in the Dean of Men, Wm. Ashworth, by being his office assistant during the Fall semester.

(4) I have made history by being the first man student in the Home Economics department.

(5) I received honorable mention for washing the east wall of the Administration Building during Clean-up Day.

This will suffice to convince you that I am of the proletariat, and at the same time, cause you to perceive my versatility.

You will now wonder what my platform is likely to be, and I shall state it simply:

(a) Not to let the faculty abuse the student body.

(b) Not to let the student body abuse the faculty.

(c) To lengthen the pressing-period from five (5) to ten (10) minutes between classes.

(d) To have some kind of music in the cafeteria at lunch time. (Let salesmen demonstrate radios if nothing else.)

(e) To maintain tow-service for cars passing room 42 during lecture hours.

And now about my campaign. I do not have a manager. You, the student body, can manage my campaign for me then we'll all know just where we are.

Remember, nothing risked, nothing gained.

KENT AIRS VIEWS ON TRAUTZ

Many students have come to me recently wanting to know how Oscar Trautz feels about athletics, what his attitude is toward fraternities and various other questions which have arisen and caused much discussion since the opening of the student election campaigns.

Since I am, perhaps, Trautz's most ardent supporter and since I have been more closely associated with him during the last year than any person on the campus, I feel that it is my duty to clear up some of these questions which have arisen and which may tend to discredit him unless a true picture of his attitude toward them is presented.

Whether or not a candidate is for athletics is beside the point. The question now on our campus is whether we are financially able to continue athletics in their present status. This is a matter which the proper school authorities are deciding and the feelings of either candidate on the subject will have small bearing on its ultimate solution.

The men in athletics, who after all are most concerned with this problem, have expressed their utmost confidence in Trautz and his ability to act wisely in the interests of the entire college, whatever the solution of this problem may be.

As to fraternities and sororities, how can O. J.'s attitude be better expressed than by indicating the attitude of many of the fraternity and sorority members themselves.

Many of these persons have come to me and said, "We're all for Trautz, even though he's not a fraternity man. He's got the stuff!"

of the office of student body president. This is our last opportunity to elect him.

In closing, let me tell you of one of the qualities I admire most in Trautz. He's just O. J. Trautz he's natural and himself at all times. His friendliness is not political friendliness but the kind that is inherent and lasting.

Sincerely, JAMES KENT, President, Associated Students.

HYLTON HIGHLIGHTS

I am not going to set forth a lengthy discussion of why one candidate for Student Body president is more desirable than the other, because most of you have observed the qualifications of both and are perfectly capable of making your own decisions therefrom.

It is inconceivable to me how anyone who actually knows Paul Hylton could have any doubt as to his ability to successfully fill the position of Student Body president.

If you have seen him handle three, four, five jobs at once, and handle them with the precision and level-headedness of a genuine you can rest assured of the thoroughness with which "P. H." will carry out any task assigned him.

If you are acquainted with the manner in which Paul was originally suggested for president, and with the number of different groups who at various times during the past few months have come to him with the pledge of their support in a presidential election, you will agree that this man is an all-college candidate, and not, as has been hinted by the opposition, a small-group man.

In closing, let me inform those of you who are not acquainted with "P. H." that the pre-occupied look he sometimes wears during these hectic last days of La Cumbre preparation is not indicative of his true personality.

I know it to be a fact that he seldom signs off from his work before one o'clock in the morning, and is wrapped up in La Cumbre plans during the daytime.

I have noticed that this strain sometimes dims the usual friendly smile, yet he is ready instantly to go more than half way in being pleasant.

"P. H." is at heart a man of broad understanding of human nature, tolerant of the opinions of others, and genuine all the way through. I know of no man on the campus whose combination of deservedness, likeability, and experience, better qualifies him to become the president of the Associated Students.

BEN ROMER.

DAVIS FOR TREASURER

State's political campaigns have usually taken the form of a race between two for the presidency. Students are inclined to lose sight of the fact that there are other offices which must be filled by responsible people in order that the interest of the student body may be best served.

The office of treasurer is an office which will take the time and ability of someone who is willing to give his time for the benefit of the Student Body with little of the glory which it brings them.

Roy Davis has in his two years at State filled a place which only those of us who have come in direct contact with him can appreciate.

ceived as secretary to the president of a well known bank. In this position as in all others she has had, she showed herself conscientious and methodical to a marked degree.

In an unassuming way she has accomplished a great deal. Her position as staff typist on La Cumbre for the past two years is but one instance of the many things she has done, entailing much work with little recognition. This year she is also organization editor of La Cumbre, a position requiring quantities of detailed effort.

We wish to stress especially the fact that being the secretary of an organization like the A.S.B. consists not alone of standing on the platform in the auditorium once a month and reading the minutes of the previous meetings. This is indeed the smallest part of the work expected of one holding such an office. It entails the careful and selective taking of notes during the various meetings. Then too, it must be remembered that all A.S.B. correspondence comes as a matter of course to the secretary and must be promptly answered in a business like manner.

We cannot help but feel that by virtue of her training and past service to the school our candidate is the most logical person to fill the office for which she has been asked to run.

As a student in this institution I wish to register a protest. If you will only think back over your lifetime, I know that you will admit of having heard about various and sundry contests. After all, good sound competition is the spice of life that makes things more pleasant. Every year many beauty contests are sponsored throughout the United States. In these affairs a great number of beautiful women are chosen to represent their towns or states. Of course these occurrences are harmless and often lead to an ultimate good for several of the contestants.

100 Athletes Here For Pre-Olympic Meet Sat.

The frosh track team, in the person of Oscar Nicholas, scored nine points in the All-Conference Frosh meet last Friday to take seventh place in the final standings. Nick won the mile and got a tie for first in the half mile, both from large groups of competitors, and in very good times.

The varsity failed to score in their meet on Saturday. Walt Barnett, the "White-hope" of the locals, had plenty of hard luck. He placed in the trial heats in both hurdle races, but failed in the finals. He was forced to run the lows immediately after competing in the high jump, and he hit the first hurdle in the highs, his pet event and one in which he probably would have placed, and fell.

After the big affair this week-end, the varsity will have one more meet, tangling with the La Verne Leopards on the Carpinteria oval one week from Saturday. According to the dope sheet, we are about even with the invaders. The locals may crash through with their first Conference win if the men are all up on their toes. Good luck spikesters.

Tau Omegans are heading towards their second title of the year. They trounced the Beta Sig Ramblers last week in their second volleyball game to take the lead in the circuit. The Annies and the Emzies have not lost a game as yet, but they have only one victory apiece to the T-O's pair. The two independent teams were scheduled to meet last Friday, but the game was postponed because of the All-Conference Track meets.

Walt Barnett and Howard Lane go to Ojai this week to compete for Santa Barbara State in the Inter-collegiate singles and doubles. There are also two other teams of State students entering, but they are in the open events.

The eyes of the sport world will be on Santa Barbara this week. Santa Barbara State's Second Annual Open meet, known this year as the Pre-Olympic meet, will bring to Santa Barbara more than 100 of the greatest track and field stars on the Pacific coast. Many of the men competing here on Saturday are considered as Olympic material for the 1932 Olympics.

Entries have been received from almost 20 organizations, the most famous of which are the L. A. A. C., U. C. L. A., and Southern California Conference teams. There are, in addition, approximately fifty individual entrants who will represent no athletic organization. Entries have also been received from most of the Junior colleges of southern California.

Many of the men competing are national champions. Most of the others are famous, either nationally or locally, and all the competitors are the cream of the field in their respective events. Some of the most famous of these are: Vic Williams, Lee Barnes, James De Mers, Hermon Brix, Harlow Rothert, Ross Nichols, Wendall Smith, Dick Pomeroy, Charles Sansome, Ray Alf, Maurice Guyer, Hec Dyer, and the Sherman Indians.

Fans of Santa Barbara are in for a red-letter day. The events will start off with a parade, and will carry on through with the track meet, and dances, dinner parties, theater parties, and yachting parties. There is not an event on the track and field program that is not liable to have a new record before the athletes are through for the afternoon. There will be enough competition in every event to give the competitors plenty of work and the spectators plenty of thrills. In fact, every thing that is slated to occur on Saturday will be a treat for someone.

FIVE FROSH GO TO CALIF. TECH FOR TRACK MEET

Nicholas Is Only Scorer as State Frosh Garner Seventh Place

Oscar Nicholas, State college freshman track star, scored nine points in the All-Conference Frosh Track meet held at Cal-Tech last Friday afternoon, taking first place in the one mile run and coming back later in the afternoon to tie Roberts of La Verne for first place in the 880 yard run.

Nicholas was forced to put on a powerful spurt in the latter race at the finish to tie the southern runner in 2 minutes, 6 seconds. He won the mile in 4 minutes and 45 seconds. His points gave the local squad seventh place as Whittier failed to place, while San Diego won the meet with an avalanche of points in nearly every event.

Don Fisher, promising frosh in the discus, was temporarily off form and did not place in the event, although it was won at only 113 feet. Fisher has been consistent around 120 feet all year, and his relapse Friday cost him a first place, according to Trimble.

Other Roadrunner men who made the trip with Coach Luke Trimble were Howard Craven, Roland Carter, and Nathan McCray. The latter three entered the sprints, but failed to place. The freshman will conclude their cinder program for this year on Saturday when they participate in the Pre-Olympic Track and Field meet to be held in Peabody Stadium under the direction of the State college and Santa Barbara Junior Chamber of Commerce of which Earl W. Stewart is chairman.

Gladys Thomas Weds - Is Former Student

Gladys Thomas, a former student here affiliated with Phi Kappa Gamma sorority, was married Thursday, April 14, to Arthur Cherrie of the Pacific Finance company.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Thomas, at 510 E. Micheltorena. The couple will live at 1643 Loma street.

Mrs. Thomas entertained the members of Phi Kappa Gamma at a bridge luncheon at the Vista Mar Monte on April 9. The Phi Kaps gave a china shower for the bride at the home of Virginia Horsey on Alameda Padre Serra March 23.

a week ago, and they have played two games already, winning from the Postoffice nine 5-4, and losing to Stubby Herman's All-Stars, 4-1.

The team is rapidly whipping into shape, and by the time that they reach their regularly scheduled games, they should be able to give an excellent account of themselves. They have a large turnout, and the material is all experienced.

Joe Martin got his first test of the Minors last week, when the regular season opened. His team, the Winston Salem, North Carolina, outfit, started their regular schedule almost a week and a half ago. All the games are night games. Joe is playing first-string short stop, and according to reports received here, he is going great guns.

Horse-Hiders Start Season to Win, Lose

Roadrunner baseball fans have been following the recently formed unofficial nine with a great deal of interest. The "horse-hiders" have played two games already, and are rapidly whipping into excellent form.

In their first conflict, the Staters beat out the Postoffice team in a last inning rally, winning 5-4. They were not so fortunate in their second encounter, losing to "Babe" Herman's All-Stars 4-1, after out-hitting them, 5-2.

There is a large squad out for the team, but due to lack of funds, the players are meeting all their expenses. Several games have been scheduled for the near future. Stockle is handling the mound for the Hill-Toppers, pitching a very nice brand of ball. Dick Kaime, former Webb star, holds down the other end of the battery. The infield is composed of Dornan, Way, Killian, and Keith, with Marin and Fisher alternating. Fisher is also a relief man for the mound position. Outfielders are Treloar, Stuart, Cravens, Willard, and Coultas.

Harry Killian leads the locals on the batting list, with Kaime and Dornan pushing him hard for the honors. Cravens, with one bingle in one trip up, has the best percentage. The team average is 295.

The Staters will probably meet the Mallmen again this week.

Talk on Jade Given to Chemistry Class

Mrs. Nathan Bentz, merchant of Chinese goods at Victoria and State streets, gave a talk on jade to the third period chemistry class yesterday, according to Miss Hazel Severy, instructor.

The speaker explained the way jade is found in the mountains, how it washes down by water in the river beds, and processes of carving. Mrs. Bentz showed the difference between the new and old jade products, the old having very smooth surfaces, the new having sharp edges. A large quantity of jade is produced in Canton and Shanghai, but because such a large amount is turned out the jade is not expensive and is not valuable. However this lack of value is not due to the use of electrical devices; it is all hand-made. Apple green jade is more valuable than any other, according to Mrs. Bentz.

To illustrate her talk the speaker showed valuable jade bowls and jewels that are two or three thousand years old. One carved ring which was displayed was an exceptionally rare jewel. Even the best of Chinese shops were unfamiliar with it, it was said. Decorated in brown, apple green, and mutton fat white it symbolized prosperity, good health, and long life.

Those present were: Betty Procter, Betty Awi, Phyllis Cole, Thelma Fent, Margaret Jigergian, Esther Ibsen, Mildred Mosher, Dorothy Dowling, Emma Peck, Florence Stanyer, Barbara Seward, Barbara Clark, Alice Stephens, Audrey Moore, Garnett Herriman, Helen Honigsberger and Margaret Barnett.

20 Colleges and Clubs To Be Represented by Athletic Stars

Individual Entries in Meet Boost Total of Competitors; Many Old Records Threatened

By OSCAR NICHOLAS

It's been talked about for weeks, it's been written about, it's been heralded here and there, it's arrival has been ballyhooed as the greatest sporting event in the history of the city. Well, this titanic Pre-Olympic Track and Field meet will be held this Saturday in Peabody Stadium before what is expected to be a crowd that will remind you of football fans rather than a track meet.

The Santa Barbara State college and the Chamber of Commerce have been working overtime to put this great event through successfully, and from present indications, all records made in the Open meet last year are slated for a shellacking and new ones are due to hit the record books Saturday probably to remain on said books for a long, long time.

Already the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which Earl W. Stewart is chairman, has sent out invitations to over thirty clubs, colleges, and junior colleges, and a record turnout of over 300 athletes are expected to vie for medal honors here. The list includes the best of southern California's famous athletes, some of them known internationally and many of them with national recognition.

The latter class will include men from the strong Los Angeles Athletic club, in which there are athletes who are expected to rake in their share of points for the United States this summer in the Olympic Games, to be held in Los Angeles. Besides the L.A.A.C. team, there will be men from all the southern conference colleges, as well as another outfit from the U.C.L.A. Bruins and many junior colleges.

The colleges which have been asked to participate in the meet to date are as follows: Loyola, La Verne, Cal-Tech, Pomona, Whittier, San Diego, Occidental, Cal Christian, Redlands, and San Jose.

Junior college entrants will probably be as follows: Bakersfield, Ventura, Santa Maria, Taft, Moran, Cal-Poly, Long Beach, Pasadena, Chaffey, Riverside, Santa Monica, Compton, Citrus, and Glendale.

The list of entries in the various events received before Monday afternoon, as released by Fred Allred, are as follows:

Tau Omegans Lead in Intramural Circuit

Tau Omegans went into the lead for Intramural Volleyball honors last week by defeating the Beta Sig Ramblers in three hard fought games. The Annies and the Emzies, the two independent teams, have not as yet lost any games, but they have won only one game apiece, whereas the "Rats" have won a pair. The Annies and the Emzies were scheduled to meet each other on last Friday noon, but due to the fact that Luke Trimble, intramural director, was in Los Angeles, the game was not played. It will be run off sometime in the near future.

All games scheduled for this week have been postponed due to the fact that the gym is in use every noon of this week. The games will probably follow the same schedule as previously announced, but will be a week later than the date announced.

In the T-O vs Beta Sig game, thrills were as plentiful as the weeds in the Quad. The "Rats" lost the first game to the Ramblers by a score of 15-7, but came back strong to win the next two, 15-9, and 15-4. The Omegans are entering a "scrub" team in the league this week to fill out the schedule drawn for the Sig Alphas.

State's Lettermen Reorganize Society

Twenty-five State Lettermen met last Wednesday night at the Plantation to reorganize the Block "S" society. The new constitution was proposed and after a few minor adjustments, adopted. The following men were elected to hold offices for the remaining of this school year: Howard Schuyler, president; Victor Colton, vice president; Walter Barnett, secretary-treasurer; and Lorenz Greeson, social chairman.

The society pledged itself to support and aid the Physical Education department in promoting and officiating the Open Track meet.

The society is promoting a rally parade Friday evening which will end with a surprise. Posters giving more details, will be put on the bulletin boards.

Carnegie Students to Correct Courses

PITTSBURGH, April 27.—(CNS) Student engineers of Carnegie Institute of Technology this week turned the fire of criticism on their curriculum in an effort to correct some of its asserted ills.

Discussion at a meeting of Tau Beta Pi, scholastic engineers' honorary, to which all heads of departments in the engineering school were invited, developed the following "ills":

Lack of sufficient time outside of classroom preparation for adequate physical and cultural education, and lack of time, due to overcrowded schedules, for studies designed to give the student "a more rounded background." Doubt was expressed as to what type of corrective measures would bring about the best results.

Miss Churchill Has Discarded Crutches

Miss Edith Churchill, manager of the cafeteria, spent the week-end at Paradise Camp with friends. She made the trip without her crutches and is glad to announce that she has thrown them away for good.

The Better Homes Women's club and the Lions club are holding luncheons in the college dining hall on Thursday. These are being planned by Miss Martha Larson, who has been managing the cafeteria for the past two weeks.

D. Z. D. PLANS FORMAL

Delta Zeta Delta held a meeting at the home of Elizabeth Peacock Monday evening. Plans for their formal dinner dance to be held at El Paseo May 7 were made.

STATE TRACK MEN FAIL TO PLACE IN ALL CONFERENCE

Barnett, Treloar, and Earhart Make Trip, Only One More Dual Meet

Santa Barbara State Tracksters, competing in the Annual All-Conference Track and Field meet at Patterson Field in Eagle Rock last Saturday, failed to score, finishing in eighth place. Occidental won the meet, massing almost double the number of points that their nearest opponents scored. Last year, with the help of "Army" Kessler, the locals drew 1-2 points to finish in seventh place.

Walt Barnett, Lynn Earhart, and Tuffy Treloar made the trip, accompanied by Coach Luke Trimble and Harry Killian. Barnett entered the low and high hurdles and the high jump. He placed in the preliminaries of both hurdle races, but was forced to run the lows directly after competing in the high jump, and consequently failed to place. He lost a good chance of scoring in the highs when he hit the first hurdle and lost his stride. Treloar competed in the broad jump, and Earhart threw the discus, neither men reaching the finals.

Records were smashed in several events, and approached in all the others. Three men broke the existing shot put record, each on his last throw. Times and distances were all exceptionally good. Many of the men that placed in these events will be in Santa Barbara for the Pre-Olympic meet this week end, and local fans will probably be treated to a number of record-breaking events.

There are two more meets on the slate for the locals. Both frosh and varsity will enter the Second Annual Open meet, this year called the Pre-Olympic, this Saturday in Peabody stadium, with approximately 200 athletes competing, and the varsity will tangle with the La Verne Leopards one week from Saturday on the oval at the Carpinteria High school, the Peabody track being dated for a high school meet on that day. Although there is little probability of the locals doing much in the Pre-Olympic meet, due to the championship class of competition, there is a good chance that they may win their last meet, the La Verne team being almost equal to that of the locals on the dope sheet.

The Beauty Contest

"Students will vote on April 29 for the four most beautiful girls listed, and the winner, who will be known as the Campus Queen, will be chosen by popular acclaim at the theater..." from a story announcing State's prospective "Beauty Contest."

This from a college which is seeking to train young men and women to guide children into paths of true education, of right living and right thinking. From a college which is supposed to be turning out bright and shining products of advanced ideas of education, straight thinking young people bent upon applying enough rationalism to their lives to take them one step beyond the previous generation, or maybe a little farther, forward along the path of progress.

Parading girls across a theater stage for the acclaim of the crowd is a cheap form of entertainment for a cheap crowd, not a thing to be sponsored by a college with college girls as the subjects.

The inequality of the contest, the sense of humiliation of girls who fail to draw a large applause on the stage, the purely physical basis of the competition in an alleged seat of mental development, are a few of the reasons why this type of contest is ill advised.

"But other colleges have beauty contests"—well, other people do lots of things that we don't do; the woods, and various kinds of asylums, are full of them.

The turning of the affair into a popularity contest would be advisable, if a contest is necessary. Although some of the same arguments could be used against a popularity contest, this form of competition at least gives every person a start based upon her own ability to be congenial and not her ability at making up.

Such action may already have been taken by the extra-curricular activities committee. If so, it is well-timed action.

Backwards or Forward

With new office seekers entering the field each day, the election campaign is gathering momentum as it rolls toward its conclusion.

It will be well to remember in considering the candidates for the various student body offices that the new officers will represent the entire student body in the eyes of most of the downtown or out-of-town business men and women with whom they come into contact during the coming year. Also that every office in the student organization can be made a highly responsible position if taken over by a conscientious worker who will put a little thought into his effort.

Campaign platforms seem to be the only things lacking on the parts of the two outstanding presidential candidates. Probably either one of the candidates could add the vote of one entire section of the student body by coming out with a definite plan for the conduct of his office or the improvement of the college. Without a platform, a candidate must turn entirely to his past record for support. We live in a world of a today which is rapidly approaching the tomorrow. Let us look to the future with definite planning for progress rather than to the past and records of things which are gone and which can return no more.

The Roadrunner would be glad to publish a letter from each candidate, written by himself, stating his plans or aspirations for work to be done during a year in the president's chair, in next Wednesday's paper.

A Sign of Progress

The organization of the State college Forum is a commendable action upon the part of the manager of oratory and debate and the students with whom he is working. Such an open club will give students of the college a definite organization for the discussion of current topics and of world problems, an opportunity denied them in the past through lack of student leadership and initiative in the college.

While interest in reviewing and discussing questions of the day is not widespread among the students, it is strong in certain small groups. Where students who wish to apply what they are learning in college to the discussion of topics outside of the narrow path of their own daily existence are found they should be encouraged in their thinking and given a chance to express themselves. From such groups as these come the thinkers and the real leaders of the nation.

If there are those in the college who would seek an opportunity to feel their mental way into broader fields, outside of

There are several reasons why the poles of the earth have such a low temperature despite the fact that the distance from the sun is practically the same as that of the equator. One of them might be explained in the following manner.

Let us suppose a beam of light one foot square came from the sun and hit the earth perpendicularly at the equator. This beam would then cover an area one foot square on the earth. But a similar beam, one foot square, paralleled to the first striking at or near the poles would, because of the curvature of the earth, have to cover an area of 10,000 square feet. So the energy received by one square foot at the poles is only one-thousandth of the amount received by one square foot at the equator.

From the records of 200 men condemned to death some interesting facts have been noted.

A man recently caught or condemned shows extreme agitation. The heart beat increases, sometimes as much as doubles itself. As the hour of execution approaches the heart slows down to far below normal. A mental apathy afterward sets in which neither cold nor pain is felt. A needle thrust through the skin causes no pain at this stage.

Something quite similar to this holds true for animals when caught by a beast of prey. So soon as they lose hope they cease to struggle and seem to perish without pain.

OUR SOLAR SYSTEM

Chapter II

The second and third planets in our solar system are Venus and the Earth respectively. Venus is slightly smaller than the Earth and the Earth is the largest of the four terrestrial planets, Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars.

Venus has no satellites and the Earth has only one, the moon. There is an atmosphere on Venus but there is no oxygen in it at all or a negligible amount, nor is there any vegetation. This planet has a mean temperature of some 60 degrees more than that of the Earth.

Venus rotates so slowly on its axis that it has the same face toward the sun day after day and probably week after week.

The Earth's annual revolution about the sun is at a rate of 20 miles a second. The Earth's polar radius is 13.35 miles less than its equatorial radius.

The moon is responsible for the greater part of the tides raised in the oceans of the earth. These exert a certain pull on the earth underneath, gradually slowing down its speed of rotation, with the result that the day is continually lengthening.

When, if ever, the time comes that the Earth is revolving and rotating in complete unison with the moon, as a result of this pull, the inhabitants of one hemisphere will never see the moon while the other side will be lighted by it every night.

The length of the day and month will be identical, each about 47 of our present days. Jeffreys has calculated that this state of affairs will be reached in about 50,000 million years.

For the first time a male sex hormone has been isolated in purified crystalline form. This was done by Dr. Adolph Butenandt of the University of Göttingen.

A female sex hormone was isolated in the United States for the first time by Prof. E. A. Doisy in 1929. The female hormone has been in use in medicine for several years. The male counterpart will have a similar use after a little more experimentation on animals.

With the aid of these hormones, which are obtained from urine and other substances, it is possible to direct the development of the individual toward either the male or female side.

From the Old Bird's Nest

By FRESH EGG

WITH A LOUD CACKLE

By Embryo Peep

Enter the villain!

The Fresh Egg respectively (curses, respectfully) requests himself to print the following. After serious deliberation and heavy ponderation he decided to grant his own wish, with this result:

(Time out. A request number, sung for Stud, which he copied from the blackboard in the high school "Forge" office:

Caesar sees her

Seize her scissors,
Sees her eyes,
Sees her rise,
Sees her size,
Caesar sighs.)

To continue:

(Time out again. One for the Editor, copied from the same place: "Kissing your wife is like scratching your back where it doesn't itch." Attributed to Plato. These high school students!)

To continue:

(Thought of a good joke: Scene, Dr. Maxwell's, formerly Miss Burke's, English lit class. Class is studying Byron. Class has just recited black incidents in the poet's life. Dr. Maxwell: "He did something towards the end of his life that was really fine. What was it?" Voice from the rear of the room: "He died.")

To resume: (Ha! That did it!)

"Believing that none of the men who have announced their aspirations for the office of Student Body President to date are worthy of the office or could at all represent Santa Barbara State college in a manner worthy of the institution, I, the Fresh Egg, hereby announce that I am in the running for the position.

The only man seeking the election who has the courage to face the issues. I pledge myself to seek the execution of the following program, even after assuming office, if and when:

1. The purchase of cushions for the quad benches, and of blankets if the funds last.
2. The giving of credit for attending school dances as a course in social contact, under the department of physical education.
3. The inauguration of a gag rule to kill original ideas, if any should happen to get lost and to stray onto the campus (like white cats).
4. The removal of Dr. Maxwell and of Dr. Ellison from the faculty, of the former because he is (shshshsh! whisper it!) a scholar, and of the latter because he has some original ideas and might someday start something.
5. The change of athletics to a 100 per cent student body activity, the coaches to be students elected by the student body. This will eliminate a lot of kick and friction in the school.

6. The addition of a representative from each sorority and from each fraternity to the Executive Council.

7. The printing of photographs, phone numbers, and of free evenings, of each student in the handbook.

8. The abolition of student body elections. Anybody who wants a student body office may have it, in case of there being more than one candidate for an office the question to be decided by throwing of dice, the losing man to send a letter of condolence to the winner. This will save a lot of money, expense, trouble, time, ill-feeling, and cost.

9. An increase in assemblies, all to be compulsory and sponsored by the American Legion, the D.A.R., or other moral and patriotic groups.

10. The purchase of Life, True Confessions, Ballyhoo, Hooley, Ho-kum, Bunk, Bologney, Phooey, Judge, College Humor, Sex Stories, Romance, and Thrillers, for the library racks. This will save the students the cost of buying them at the Co-op store.

11. The granting of an annual award for the laziest student.

12. The granting of an annual award for the laziest faculty member.

13. The granting of an annual award for the student who is the greatest fourfluser.

14. The granting of an annual award for a faculty member who is the greatest—(the basis of the award to be a secret). Competition is expected to be keen.

15. No reduction in the percentage of A.S.B. funds (39 per cent) for the athletic department. This will satisfy the football men, who are fearing a decrease, and the antis, who are fearing an increase.

16. The reduction of the cost of student body tickets 61 per cent.

Contrary to popular belief, there is no law which compels the election of the candidate of the incumbent in office. Neither is it legally stipulated that the only possible substitute for a Rotarian president is a Fraternity president. In spite of unsurmountable difficulties, it would be entirely possible for the people of this school to elect a man to the presidency who would serve the common States and not the corporations.

The truth is that the only way to refrain from wasting your vote is to vote for Fresh Egg. A vote cast for either the Rotary or the Fraternity candidate will only result in the continuation of a system in discord with the needs and desires of the common student.

I am 100 per cent for the people! I wear no man's collar! Vote down the corruption and inaction of fraternalism, rotarianism, and the full dinner pail! Vote for State's only progressive, the Fresh Egg! On with the dance!

The other day,

Here's the low down on smoking at the University of Washington as completed in a survey by Clifford Marston, an industrious student of that institution. Three hundred and eighteen students were questioned—a representative group of four or five per cent of the students registered.

Fifty-three percent smoked—a little over fifty per cent of the women and over fifty-eight per cent of the men. When asked their reasons for smoking, ninety-six said for pleasure, forty-four because their acquaintances did, and three from habit. Of those who didn't smoke, twenty-five said it was for financial reasons, twenty-seven for mental reasons, and nine for religious reasons.
