Alex's Cantina— the Best Fajitas!!!

Give me an F! Give me an A! A J! An I! A T! An A! An S! What does that spell? Fajitas! Where should you go to get them? Alex's Cantina in Goleta!

I made my way over to the lovely eatery on Hollister Avenue last week and was seated in my favorite booth in a cozy little nook adjacent to the restaurant's famous "Tortilla Machine." My waitress presented my friend Tirso and I with menus, which we graciously accepted. However, I only pretended to look at the hundreds of items to choose from, because in my heart I knew what I wanted — chicken fajitas.

After the waitress took our orders — Tirso ordered a combination plate — another server brought us an ample supply of delicious chips and salsa.

This sustenance kept me busy for about 10 minutes until our waitress brought me a plate filled with black beans, cheese, salsa, guacamole, sour cream and Spanish rice. She also placed a stack of four piping hot Alex's tortillas directly in front of me.

I now knew that my fajitas would soon arrive. Indeed, in the middle of a discussion about thermodynamic physics with my companion, I was distracted by a distinct sizzling sound that grew louder each second.

Moments later, as the tantalizing sound grew more intense, I noticed a beautiful aroma drifting into my nasal passages — they would be here soon! As the waitress approached our booth I finally saw the magnificent masterpiece, sizzling and smoking in a giant black pan.

"Lemon on your fajitas, sir?" the waitress asked. A simple nod of my head conveyed my answer, because I was unable to speak. The majestic beauty of the chicken, onions and green peppers on my plate left me in a state of awe.

After slowly emerging from my state of shock, I took a tortilla in my left hand and began to fill it with various delicacies. First, I put down a layer of black beans, followed by a sprinkling of cheese. I then strategically put on some salsa as well as guacamole and sour cream before placing on four mouthwatering pieces of chicken with ample amounts of onions and peppers.

I transferred my creation to my right hand and then moved it slowly toward my mouth. As I took my first bite, I began to see images of a better world. I had discovered the secret of life — Alex's fajitas.

After coming down from my natural high, I ordered a jumbo strawberry margarita to wash down the wondrous fajitas and finish my perfect meal — at Alex's Cantina.

Alex's Cantina is located at 5918 Hollister Ave. in Goleta. Call 683-2577 for more information.

Need Bagels? Need Pizza? Need Beer? Got Auggie's!

LARRY MILLS/Daily Nexus

The intersection of Embarcadero del Norte and Pardall is to downtown Isla Vista what Times Square is to central Manhattan. Students from all reaches of Isla Vista pass through there daily to and from campus.

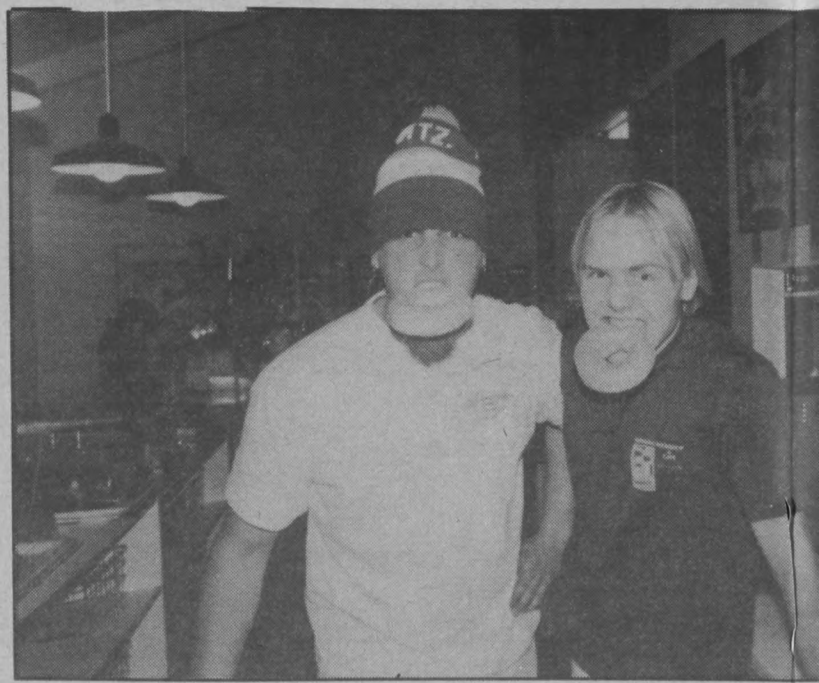

This masterfully central location is also where I.V.'s newest and most prolific restaurant has recently opened for business. Serving a variety of great food at competitive prices, Auggie's Place has the best of every culinary world.

You see, the average student riding to a class he or she doesn't really want to go to anyway and who is half asleep and slightly hung over at 7:58 a.m. may barely notice the colorful establishment that is Auggie's, and mistake it to be just another bagel shop.

But no — Auggie's is much, much more than that.

While Auggie's bagels are the eatery's specialty, and a welcome competitor to the wares of a similar business in town that has held a virtual monopoly over the I.V. bagel trade for years, Auggie's also specializes in tasty pizzas that are baked fresh from scratch every day.

What's more, Auggie's Place offers a full delicatessen where the diner can pick from a plethora of bagel sandwiches made to order. Lunch is always a matter of making the tough choice among the many fine selections available.

And the place has a variety of fine coffee beverages, making it a virtual must-stop for a quick breakfast (if you happened to drag your carcass out of bed early enough so you can spare 10 minutes before your lousy 9 a.m. Friday history section).

Unlike many area restaurants that close early if they serve breakfast and lunch, Auggie's Place has the daily stamina to satisfy any dinner appetite. Its pizzas are among the very best, and with each bite you can tell how fresh the dough is. The menu also offers many vegetarian options, for those of you who for some reason deny your proven omnivorous digestive system.

But I haven't even gotten to the best part yet. You see, there's one major aspect of Auggie's that makes it the fodder of classic restaurateuring — IT SELLS BEER!

Yes, it sounds strange at first that a bagel joint serves pitchers along with so many other fine delicacies, but Auggie's does. We once again have that corner to sit and spend a lazy afternoon over a couple of Sierra Nevada pitchers, watching the sun set over Anisq' Oyo' Park.

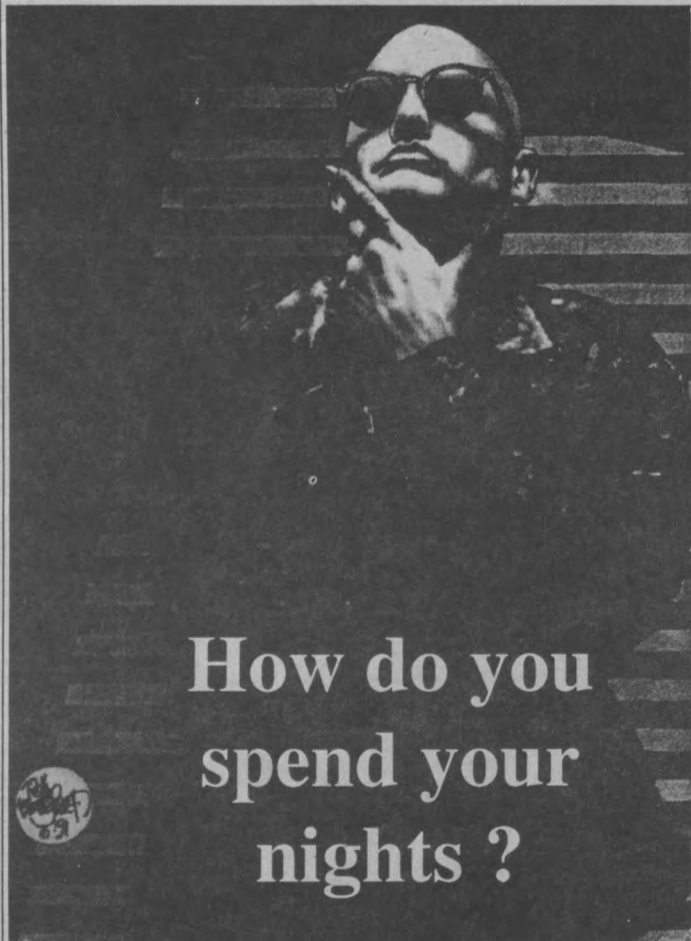

And hell, if you're that hardcore, you could probably down a cup before heading to class in the morning, along with your breakfast. Hey, the possibilities are endless, as far as Auggie's Place is concerned.

Auggie's Place is located at 910B Embarcadero del Norte in Isla Vista. Call 685-5722 for more information.
