AWS Greets Newcomers at Beach Picnic

Counsellors Aid In Conducting Women on Campus

West beach will be the scene of the annual picnic staged by the Associated Women students tonight at 5 p.m. lasting until 8. This annual A. W. S. party is for the purpose of welcoming new women.

Present at the event will be new women, their counsellors, A.W.S. officers, prominent women on the campus and any other college women who wish to attend. The price will be 25 cents.

Program is in charge of Peggy Lou Anderson, who will be assisted by Georgia Mae Krebs, rally chairman, and Dorothy Sullivan, Jean Cook, Catherine Richmond, Lucille Wetterauer, Dorsey Stewart, Sybel Jonathan, Bettina Brenner and Dorothy Sands.

PROGRAM

From 6:30 to 7, more games will be played on the beach as new women get acquainted with other new women and returning students. From 7 until the end at about 8, there will be group singing and mass yelling around a huge bonfire. Chuck Widener and Harriet Richards will lead yells and singing.

During this same hour A.W.S. officers, deans and church counsellors representing various denominations will be introduced for the benefit of new women.

In order to help new women on the campus, another part of the annual A.W.S. program is a counselling program in charge of A.W.S. counsellor, Ruth Thompson. A women's counselling table has been in the hall of the administration building since Wednesday and will remain there through this afternoon. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

COUNSELLING

Each new woman, whether a freshman or transfer, is assigned to a counsellor who gives a name tag to the newcomer, shows her the important points of the campus, takes her to her department adviser and offers to help in any other possible way during the first weeks of the semester.

At the beach supper a girl from each church will be introduced who will meet the girls of her particular denomination and accompany them to church on Sunday morning.

Women assisting in the program of counselling include Nancy Lee Haskin, Marilee Stevens, Lois Kircher, Ruth Moody, Betty Whiting, Jean Pharoah, Alice Jayne Moulds, Marjorie Sloutenburg, Mary Katherine Lane, Helen Spurrier, Dorothy Hoffman, Lelia Thomas, Erma Lambrecht, Ruth Woods, Frances Boyton, Monica Fell, Esther Davis, Eleanor Murphy, Miriam Coombe, Mary Julia Peterson, Dorothy Sands, Jean Arthur, Gerry Hoyt, Pat Jellison, Mary Ann McNally, Edith Bell, Ruth Smith, Peggy Lou Anderson, Frances Houghton, Helen Morrison, Gerry Cockins, Mary Bennett, Eleanor Barger, Shirley Coe, Lynette Russell, Eloise Peterson and Caroline Bugg.

Vernon Silva, president and Harry Redoglia, vice-president, are in charge of the show which will be held in early November. Citizens as well as collegians may enter the show.

Thursday Pep Rally Greets Coach

In preparation for the initial pep session to be slated on campus Thursday noon, the rally committee will convene Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. in Pine hall, it was announced last night by Chairman Georgia Krebs.

Serving as an official introduction of Coach Stan Williamson, the noon rally will be conducted in the Quad. At that time, Chuck Crow, yell leader, will appear with his assistants, Chuck Widener and Dick O'Brien. Tryouts for song leaders will be held during the week to assist the yell kings. Crow, in charge of the trials, will announce a time and place, he said.

Suggestions for half-time stunts to be used at football games will be welcomed, Miss Krebs said, and these should be issued through her student mail box, "K."

Dean Paul A. Jones will this year serve as adviser to the rally committee, replacing Dr. Helen Sweet. Student members of the committee include Bob Sandfelder, Margaret Parks Mansfield, Don MacKenzie, John Caldwell, Mac Toner, Henry Garcia, Bus Brown, Howard Clapp, Frank Fieldburg, Jeanette McCallister, Roberta Oglesby, Peggie Lou Anderson, Jack Freeman, the yell leaders, song leaders and Ruth Grant who will act as secretary to the committee.

Press Adds New Fonts

Latest additions to the facilities at Santa Barbara State College press under the management of John T. Porter, are two fonts of type which have been installed this month in each of the linotype machines.

Laboratory tested, the new type, Excelsior, was proved highest ranking in readability because of the width and shape of the letters and the space around each. Comprising the face of El Gaucho, the type size is eight point, set on a nine point slug. Memphis bold type is used in combination for contrast. Another revision has taken place in the technical make-up of El Gaucho in that 10-point Textype is now being used in place of the older style 12-point Cloister, actually a book face.

Distributed by the Mergenthaler Linotype company, the recently devised type has been widely acclaimed by printers and by opticians as an innovation in legibility. In addition, working mechanics are facilitated, the time for setting type decreased.

Installation of the fonts are another progressive step toward a completely modern and fully-equipped printing plant. In 1940 the college press purchased an off-set press, revolutionary in its method of printing from a photographic plate instead of type. The yearbook has been produced through this process for the past two years.

Mrs. Hodgins Returns to P E

After a leave of absence comprising two years away from Santa Barbara State college, Mrs. Winifred Hodgins returns this fall to take up her duties as an instructor in physical education. Amherst, deck sports, technique of teaching gymnastics and the technique of teaching tennis, will be handled by Mrs. Hodgins this semester.

College Heads Greet New, Old State Students

This is the time when we are glad to welcome new faculty members and new students. The former come to us to the number 15 to 16 from all parts of the United States this year. New students apparently are quite numerous in comparison to the old. According to advance enrollments they, also, come from a large territory including many high schools from more than half the counties of the state, nearly all of the junior colleges and colleges and universities of this state and others up to a large number of collegiate institutions.

This is truly an interesting group of people as they assemble here. The fact that students come from so many localities so widely distributed makes an exceedingly interesting student body. We of the faculty have a great pride in it because of the fine spirit and attitude exhibited by students in maintaining an already well-established position in this community, where they are not only welcome but popular. We hope the fine standards which have been set by preceding students will be fully maintained and improve, if possible, by the addition of the new ones.

To our older students who are returning the usual hearty welcome is extended, and the hope is expressed that their well-known friendliness will be an inspiration to new students.

CLARENCE L. PHELPS, President, Santa Barbara State College

It is my hope that this little message will serve as a friendly "hello" to each one of you who are on our campus for the first time and may it carry with it a hearty welcome from each one of us who are going to be studying, playing and working with you in the year that is ahead. We sincerely hope that you will be quick to join our numerous activities so that as soon as possible we may all be pulling together to put the Gauchos on top.

It is my aim, and I hope that it will be yours also, to have a year bustling with activities in which we may all participate; for then we will be able to develop a lasting, enthusiastic school spirit.

May your coming year as a Gaucho be a happy one.
Sincerely,
HOWARD ECKLES

Las Espuelas Serve in Registration

Signifying the opening of a year of service to Santa Barbara State, Las Espuelas, sophomore women's honorary service organization, assembled last evening for dinner at the home of Miss Margaret Thompson, assistant dean of women, where the group also discussed immediate plans and activities.

Women invited to join Las Espuelas—Spanish for "The Spurs"—are chosen in the spring semester of their freshman year on a basis of scholarship, service, character, personality and leadership. They must have a 2.5 grade average prior to and during their year of membership.

Members of the organization are the Misses Jean Cook, a second semester sophomore who joined in February, Frances Bedford, Elenita de la Cuesta, Eleanor Hankey, Lois Kircher, Evelyn McDonald, Barbara McSkimming, Dorothy Sands, Angelyn Stewart and Barbara Tallant.

Services rendered by the group to date include the making and selling of green and white bows to freshman girls; informing newcomers of Gaucho traditions, assisting at the Saturday beach supper and working in the registration line.

Also attending the dinner and guiding the group in planning their activities were Faye Thompson, Associated Women Students president; Miriam Coombe, A.W.S. first vice-president; Ruth Thompson, A.W.S. counsellor; Dean Lois Bennink and Miss Thompson, sponsors.

Thirteen Receive Faculty Staff Positions; Three Assistantships

Swelling the ranks of faculty with the trend of growth at Santa Barbara State college, 13 new instructors and three assistants assume duties with the reopening of the 1941-42 season, it was announced this week by President Clarence L. Phelps. The total was estimated as 100 on the faculty staff. Almost every one of the group holds a master of arts degree or a Ph. D. representing excellent scholastic work.

Assuming her place as acting head of the home economics department is Miss Charlotte Biesler who studied at Minnesota university, University of Illinois, Chicago, Columbia. She received her bachelor of arts at Illinois, her master's from Columbia, concentrating on management, organization, consumer education, household engineering and adult education. For the past three years she has taught in the State University of Ohio.

PSYCHOLOGY

Psychology will have two new instructors, Dr. Alma Perry Beaver, Ph. D. from Columbia and Dr. William D. Altus, Ph. D., New York university. He will also teach education courses. He has studied at Kansas State Teachers college and State University of Iowa and has taught in high school, junior college and in New York university. Dr. Beaver has studied at the University of California, has taught kindergarten-primarily, conducted guidance work and has been research assistant in child development and has been an assistant professor of psychology.

Dr. Albert C. Mitchell, who teaches speech and English, studied at the University of Utah,

University of Minnesota and University of Wisconsin, receiving his Ph. D. from the latter. He has taught English and speech in high school, in three universities and one college.

Elementary education and supervision will be taught by Mrs. Genevieve W. Haight who studied at the State Normal school, Idaho, University of Idaho and Columbia University where she took her master's. She has been an instructor in public schools of Idaho, Oregon, training schools at Lewiston and Miami university and was state rural supervisor in the potato state.

Industrial education is the field of Ralph K. Nair who studied at State Teachers college, Pittsburg, Kansas, from which he holds a master's. He has taught and has been a supervisor in Kansas and in Oklahoma.

Into the department of physical education comes Stanley L. Williamson, new football coach, who studied at U.S.C. where he has a thesis complete for his master's degree. An associate professor at Kansas State, he has taught and coached in Kansas and Oklahoma.

HISTORY

Dr. Henry Wiens will teach history, having studied at Fresno State and U.C. and conducted research through a fellowship at Northwestern, there receiving a Ph. D. He has taught in high school and junior college and has recently returned from France where he engaged in relief work and study.

English will be instructed by Douwe Stuurman who studied at Calvin college and University of Oregon where he took his M.A.

AMS Fete New Gauchos This Evening

Overnight Trek To Camp Drake Acquaints Men

First strides toward what is expected to be a very successful year for the Associated Men Students will commence this evening at 4 p.m. when all new and returning men students will gather between the Quad and the administration building to leave on the annual freshman overnight trip to Camp Drake.

A traditional affair, the event has always met with success, in that a great deal of food, friendliness and frolic prevails. Most important is the fact that the trip itself gives the incoming men students an opportunity to meet members of the faculty as well as numerous returning students.

BRING BLANKETS

Fellows are asked to bring only their blankets as cots and mattresses will be furnished at the camp. If flashlights are available, it is suggested that they also should be brought.

Two meals, this evening's supper and breakfast in the morning will be included in the price of the trip. Tickets can be obtained in the administration building throughout today for 60 cents. All those who have no transportation will be taken care of. Besides the good meals, other entertainment will include a campfire program, swimming in the pool, baseball and other games. Most of the students will be able to return by noon tomorrow.

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

A number of the prominent campus personalities will be on hand to greet the newcomers at the evening campfire. They will include the president of Santa Barbara State college, Clarence L. Phelps, Dean of Men Paul A. Jones, who has just returned to school after one year's leave of absence and Dr. Lynne C. Monroe, another popular instructor. Plans are also being formulated to have the newly appointed varsity football coach, Stan Williamson and members of his squad attend the gathering after football practice. The new mentor will probably be called upon to enlighten everyone on the prospects of this year's Gaucho football team.

In the absence of A.M.S. president Alex MacGillivray, Herb Evans, second vice president, has taken over a great deal of the duties necessary to assure everyone a good time at the annual fete.

Cafeteria Opens Monday Under New Management With Snack On Lawn

Innovations Include New Director, Chef, Menu; Gaucho Room Offers Women Only Traditional Campus Smoking Place

College cafeteria will open during registration Monday with a snack bar on the patio lawn of Ebbets hall, serving sandwiches, ice cream and hot and cold drinks. The cafeteria, completely reorganized from the standpoint of new management, a new chef and better food, will be under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth McDavis.

Mrs. McDavis, who takes the place of Mrs. Marvin J. Sands, has been manager of the Upham hotel in Santa Barbara for the past five years. She holds a teacher's certificate and a B.S. from Columbia university in New York. The cafeteria's new chef, George Strain, has for many years been the chief cook at the fashionable and exclusive El Tovar hotel at Grand Canyon.

New plans, according to Mrs. McDavis, include a greater variety in menu, the finest food that money can buy and prices as low as overhead and expenses will permit. Regular serving hours in the cafeteria will begin on Tuesday of next week, from 7:15 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon.

REDECORATION

During the summer, numerous improvements were made by redecoration of the cafeteria section, including the painting of the kitchen and steam table counter room and by the installation of sounding room insulator on the walls of the faculty dining room. The main dining room is being reserved Monday for students' registration, but will resume its regular use for breakfast and lunch on Tuesday morning.

Inasmuch as the cafeteria is run on a non-profit basis, Mrs. McDavis states that larger varieties of food can be served if the student body patronizes it. Ten to 12 men and an equal number of women will be needed for whole or part time work this year. Those students wishing to secure regular or part time work at banquets in the cafeteria are invited to contact Mrs. McDavis.

CLUB OPENS
Popular campus meeting place, the Gaucho club, will be open for business Monday, selling cakes. The clubroom's curtains have been cleaned and a paint job is promised in the near future.

The Gaucho club is traditionally the only place on campus where women are permitted to smoke. Instead of being managed financially as an independent unit, the cafeteria this semester is being managed, along with the student store and the college press by Bill Russell, Russell, new graduate manager, replaces Don Follett, who has accepted a position with the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce.

CLUB OPENS
The annual Marti Gras, costume ball, sponsored by the Beta Sigs, will be discussed at the first regular meeting Monday night at the house. The dance is slated for the month of October and is open to all student body members and their friends. President Herb Evans will conduct the meeting. During the second week of school, probably following the Occidental football game, a housewarming will be scheduled. Also to be planned is the annual fall fashion show in which the fraternity is assisted by social sorority women as models.

The fraternity was housed during the summer months at the Stow place, following the move from the old Beta Sig house on Cheltenham road where the location had been for six years.

El Gaucho staff members will convene in their regular weekly meeting Monday noon, it was announced last night by Ruthe Suggs, editor.

At that time, style books published during the summer will be issued so that writers may acquaint themselves with details in El Gaucho style. Responsibilities will be discussed in an effort for complete cooperation.

Newcomers, including freshmen, transfers and returning students, will be welcome to attend the meeting to signify their interest in newspaper work. Mrs. Margaret Burke Bennett, faculty adviser and Jack Porter, technical adviser of El Gaucho will be introduced.

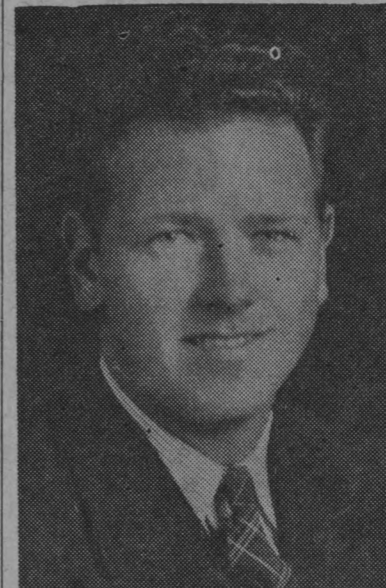

Announcement of the first meeting of Fourth Estate, social organization of newspaper and yearbook staffs, will be made by Marjorie Wetmore, president, at Monday's meet.

If the time is suitable, meetings will be held at the same time each week, the editor said.

Freshmen Elect Officers Tomorrow

Freshmen class members will assemble in the auditorium tomorrow afternoon to elect temporary class officers and receive final instructions from their deans on Santa Barbara State college moras.

The assembly will be followed by a reception for the entering students in the Quad.

Graduate manager BILL RUSSELL announces renovations which have been completed for the opening of college in the cafeteria and in the Gaucho club-room.

Beta Sigs Complete Move To New Home

New home of Beta Sigma Chi, social fraternity, is located at 1924 De la Vina, it was announced this week by Jim Widman, house manager. Moving was completed on Sept. 10.

Continuing as housemother and cook is Miss Jennie Turner, who has been with the fraternity for the past six years. New furniture has been added to the house, where 20 men room and board. There is room for four or six more, Widman noted.

The annual Marti Gras, costume ball, sponsored by the Beta Sigs, will be discussed at the first regular meeting Monday night at the house. The dance is slated for the month of October and is open to all student body members and their friends. President Herb Evans will conduct the meeting. During the second week of school, probably following the Occidental football game, a housewarming will be scheduled. Speech Facilities Enlarge With Move to Remodeled Quarters in Building 4

Growing Division Adds Instructor As Assistant in Play Direction Hile Lists 'Our Town' Tryouts

Paying tribute to the extensive growth of the division of speech at Santa Barbara State college during recent years, a new department is being constructed in the lower floor of education building number four. Under the direction of Ray Harris, superintendent of buildings and grounds, completion of the project is slated for the near future with moving set for Wednesday.

Facilities will include three classrooms, numbered 24, 25 and 26, a speech laboratory, four soundproof practice rooms. Frederic W. Hile, speech division head, will occupy the master office at the end of the western entrance hall. A large seminar office will house the other staff members, W. Charles Redding, Dr. John C. Snidecor and Dr. Albert C. Mitchell, newcomer to the division.

Permanent facilities for broadcasting, recording, projecting and shooting pictures will be maintained in one of the classrooms. All rooms are soundproofed, constructed for acoustic perfection. Three layers of celotex boarding are used throughout the building between which are air passages.

ENROLLMENT
The division of speech last year had an enrollment of 60 major students, while 85 minored in speech and a total of 335 took speech courses. In addition, over a hundred students participated in extra-curricular speech work, Hile announced.

Mitchell will take his place in the division instructing courses in fundamentals, radio broadcasting, stage craft and interpretation. He will direct two of the four regular session plays, relieving Hile.

Tryouts for the first play, Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," will be held Wednesday, Sept. 24 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the college auditorium. This will be Mitchell-directed, "Copperhead" by Augustus Thomas is play number two, in charge of Hile.

NEW PLAN
The plays are part of the new plan adopted by the student council last June whereby a series of entertainment is scheduled under the direct sponsorship of the Associated Students. Headed by Dean Paul A. Jones, the executive board for planning the content of each year's series includes Van A. Christy, head of the music department, Miss Elizabeth Sehon, head of the women's physical education department, Bill Russell, graduate manager and Hile.

During the 1941-42 season, 12 programs are set, including two musical concerts and one of dance, all of these professional. The professional dance program will alter with one of dramatics in the following year. From campus talent will derive a faculty musical, Orchestral dance group concert, the four plays and three musical organization presentations.

Admission to the concerts will be by student cards or 50-cents for a single admission, three dollars for a season ticket.

Space in Pine hall formerly occupied by the division of speech will this year be inhabited by the music department, improvements and alterations being made for music instruction and work.

Returning Students Register Monday

For the second time in one year, all returning students will register in one day. On Monday, all regular students with a collegiate standing higher than that of freshman, will sign into classes. Those whose names begin from A to L register from 8 a.m. to 12, while those whose names begin from M to Z register from 1 to 5 p.m.

On Tuesday, limited students, who are taking from one to five units of work, will register in the assistant registrar's office between the hours of 9:30-12 and 1:30-4.

Freshmen begin their registration at 8:30 this morning in the auditorium. Any questions in regard to registration may be answered by Miss Wilhemina Menken, assistant registrar.

Gauchos Cagers Cop Summer Tourney

Santa Barbara State college's crack basketball squad, runner-up to the USC Trojans in last year's summer tournament, sprung an upset this year on the cocky Trojan five and walked off with the annual summer cage tournament. Facing the attack for the Gauchos was Tommy Guerrero, State's All-American forward, Bod Sherman and Doug Winters.

Parking Lot Relieves Road Of Conjestion

In a concerted effort to clear Gaucho road of student parking, one new parking lot opens Monday on campus, and the Hillside lot has been leveled and cleared of rocks.

The new parking lot, which is located between the music building and Ebbets hall, has also been leveled, cleared of rocks and has been covered with a new mixture of asphalt and crude oil. This lot will accommodate 75 cars, while the Hillside lot accommodates 100 cars.

Acting on the advice of the city officers' commission, the college administration, under the direction of President Phelps, has widened Mission Ridge road three feet, thus making the road less dangerous to travel and helping to speed up traffic to and from the college.

Corp Appears With Band

Five of Santa Barbara State college's most shapely and prettiest women will be featured this football season as the feminine drum corp, it was announced yesterday by Bob Sandfelder, director of assemblies and manager of the corp.

Under the sponsorship of Maurice Faulkner, instructor of band, the corp will appear with the band and will work with the majorettes, to be similarly dressed. Two men will march with the corp playing the bass drum and symbols.

Applicants should apply to Sandfelder or to Faulkner, the former announced, the only restriction being that their height not exceed five feet, four inches.

Sandfelder Sets Program

Initial program in the series of Associated Student assemblies is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 7 under the management of Bob Sandfelder, director of assemblies. At that time, the city band, a 30-piece organization will entertain student body members with a varied program ranging from football marches to novelty arrangements of serious numbers.

Eli Farney directs the band which has appeared numerous times during the summer season at civic and out-of-town functions.

In an effort to enlarge the representation of assemblies, Sandfelder announced Thursday that cards have been printed for students to fill out. These will be placed at the end of the registration line and are entitled "Are You Talented?" Information is sought regarding the type of entertainment that is available from every member of the student body, Sandfelder said.

Assisting Sandfelder in addition to the rally committee of which he is a member, this season will be Jimmie Fullerton and Katie Kingsbury, secretary.

Brewster Joins Army Air Corps

Larry "Crash" Brewster, former California Collegiate Athletic association all-conference guard and first string on the Gauchos' basketball squad for the past three years, returned to the campus this week to announce that he is in the army air corps division at Moffet field.

Brewster, well known by local cage fans for his colorful tactics, appeared to like his new job and expressed confidence that he will make the grade as a number one flier for Uncle Sam.

Dream of New Gymnasium Detours with Move to 30

Santa Barbara State college proudly announces the gala opening of a new gym designed especially for the extraordinarily large feminine contingent on campus. Room 30, formerly just another room in the old industrial education building, has been converted into a women's gym to relieve congestion in the present overcrowded quarters.

For years the burning white hope on campus has been for a miraculous allocation of funds for the construction of the last word in modern gymnasiums. Room 30 seems to be the last word for the present.

Happiest about the new quarters are the physical education instructors who have been obligingly sharing offices for the past several years. With the advent of new space, Instructor Sehon and de Haan will have their offices in the new unit.

ADAPTABILITY
Of course the adaptability of room 30 to things gymnastic has yet to be proven as the new linoleum floor stands or no, the pitter-patter of countless feet engaged in dance interpretation or rhythmic analysis. But optimism runs high and time will divulge the advantages or otherwise of the new gym.

The question of dressing rooms was simply and expediently solved by continuation in service of the old ones. This will necessitate a cross country trek by Santa Barbara State's fair citizenry in many types of dress but Dean Lois M. Bennink gives her official approval so everybody's happy. Miss Sehon ventured the opinion that so much womanly pulchritude covorting out in the open might cause a rush of admiring followers in the direction of old room 30, thus making for increased class presence.

FACE-LIFTING
On the old home front or under the heading of unfinished business, the old gym will continue to serve Santa Barbara State's masculine athletes. During the summer it underwent a face lifting process which consisted of a thorough-going paint job, the removal of obsolete equipment and a new finish on the floor.

Well it was nice dreaming about a new gym but for the time being Santa Barbara State is well satisfied with the revamping process. This is the last word.

Dean of Men Supervises Employment Agency; Director Canvasses City

For the first time in the history of Santa Barbara State college an employment agency has been set up on the campus under the supervision of dean of men, Paul A. Jones. This office will be for men only. Women who want jobs may apply through the dean of women. Frank Fraine, senior and a speech major, will be in charge of this newly created office as employment manager. The office will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. One other office hour will be announced later.

All men wishing jobs are requested to file applications with this office, including those who previously filed. This is necessary in order to be eligible for any job.

Over 40 men have been placed in the first four days of operation and many more are being placed each day, according to the agency. Many jobs are opening up and everyone who applies for work stands an excellent chance for a job.

Jobs are being obtained this year by a canvass of all downtown merchants. This is something entirely new to Santa Barbara State, but it shows promise of being quite effective. Each day the employment manager phones downtown merchants to check on jobs opening up. In this way a direct contact is kept with the downtown district and more jobs are found.

Employment manager Fraine asks that any men requesting afternoon or morning work be sure to file a program schedule with this office for convenience in placing men in jobs. Men who previously applied for work, giving home town addresses should immediately report their local addresses in order to expedite matters.

Hile Calls Applicants

Applications for the Theta Alpha Phi or the Tau Kappa Alpha gift scholarship awards must be made in writing to the director of the division of speech, Frederic W. Hile, before October 15.

The scholarship awards are gifts of $25, and are open to upperclassmen who have been on this campus at least one semester, and who have shown exceptional skill in some branch of the field of speech. Applicants must have an accumulative B average, and must have a B average in speech.

These awards originate in a gift scholarship fund set up by the two honorary speech fraternities, and are granted on October 15 and March 15 of each year. As many $25 scholarships are awarded as the fund allows and as the committee sees fit to award each year. The remaining funds may be loaned at the committee's discretion.

A S Council Slates Meet

Newly elected Associated Student Body president Howard Eckles will preside over the first Student Council meeting of the fall semester next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in Pine hall. Plans will be formulated at that time concerning the activities that are to take place throughout the entire semester. The immediate task of the Council, however, will be the arrangement of an election to fill the office of student body vice-president, made vacant by the withdrawal from school of Lew Bedell, vice-president elect.

A special meeting of the council was held during the summer in order to elect a new graduate manager but since a quorum was not present it was necessary to elect the candidate, Bill Russell, a Gaucho graduate, by mail. A similar process took place in the appointment of Harold Martin, newly appointed publicity director, who served in that capacity while at San Francisco State college.

"Rated by pre-season critics as the greatest eleven ever to represent Santa Barbara State college, Coach Theo "Spud" Harder's Galloping Gauchos went through their initial practice drills today with seven All-Southern California junior college flashes dotting the lineup"—thus ran the tenor of the first publicity releases on the 1940 Gaucho grid season when 55 men answered the call for practice.

This year, however, presents a vastly different picture. Only 29 men have turned out for the squad—13 veterans, six members of the 1940 frosh eleven, and 10 junior college transfers.

Most depressing fact of all, however, is the fact that of the 10 nuggets, only four are linemen—thus making the Santa Barbara forward wall weakest in reserve power that it has been in several years.

BACKFIELD SHAPES BEST

The backfield is shaping up well—although if a half-dozen more blocking backs showed up it would ease Williamson's worries immeasurably. Only George "Jesse" James is back for the quarterback post while the fullback post was left entirely vacant by the loss of both Mose Neely and Tom Reid.

The guard position is giving the Gaucho coaching staff its greatest worry. Although both first string guards, Larry Bemoll and Wayne Engel, returned, Williamson was forced to switch Engel to fullback to strengthen the attack—but, at the same time, Paul Siano, Steve Powell and Don McDonald, veteran guards who are all eligible for duty and were counted on to fill in for Engel, failed to show up—thereby throwing all of Williamson's plans awry.

CRITICAL STAGE

All in all, the football situation is at the critical stage. The Gauchos have only four men available for each position and at one post, the guard slots, have only three gridders to carry through for the entire 60 minutes.

On the credit side of the ledger is the fact that the Green and White eleven is exhibiting its greatest show of spirit in many a year. It may be shy of abundant material—but the Gaucho gridders are displaying the fighting heart that was prevalent in the days of "Little All-American" Howie Yeager and Doug Oldershaw.

As one of the veteran members of the squad put it, "We may not have the material of last year's squad but man, we've got twice as much fight."

COOPERATION LACKING UP ON HILL

One thing that has impressed us very unfavorably is the lack of cooperation up on the hill. This is probably one of the toughest grid campaigns facing the Gauchos—a ten game schedule with only 29 men—yet Williamson has not been getting the cooperation he deserves for the effort he and Willie Wilton, backfield coach, are making to form a winning eleven for the Hill-toppers.

On the contrary, it seems to us that a sly bit of back-stabbing is getting underway. However, knowing Williamson and Wilton as we do, we know that Santa Barbara's opponents are going to get a big surprise if they are looking for the usual lackadaisical brand of ball as dished up by the Gauchos for the past few years—this season's club is going to be a fighting eleven.

Spartans Suffer Heavy Losses

SAN JOSE, Sept. 12.—San Jose State college took one of the stiffest jolts of any college on the coast as far as losing men to the national emergency is concerned, yet strangely enough, Ben H. Winkleman, the Arkansas Dutchman who coaches the Spartans seemed in a cheerful mood.

Although he lost nine regulars from last year's club and six of the second string, the abundant junior college material that has enrolled at the Spartan institution made Winkleman foresee another great grid season.

The only two regulars returning for duty are Captain Bob Hamill, 210-pound tackle, who, however, is on call in the army air corps, and Aubrey Minter, speedy Negro left halfback.

Twenty-Nine Men Answer Williamson Call for Practice

Captain Ernie Saenz Heads List of Thirteen Veterans Returning for Action; Gauchos Weak at Guard, Fullback Posts

Twenty-nine men, just enough to form two full teams with a few reserves tossed in for good measure, greeted Head Coach Stan Williamson's initial call for practice last Saturday as the 1941 edition of the Gaucho eleven went through its first week of practice drills on secluded Phelps field.

Thirteen veterans, headed by Captain Ernie Saenz, ace passing halfback, six members of last year's frosh eleven, and ten junior college transfers composed the varsity team in its entirety as it prepared for its first game of the season against Pomona college September 19 on La Playa field.

FEW BLOCKERS

There were running backs galore but the scarcity of blocking backs was astonishing. Only George "Jesse" James, quarterback and Walt Condeley, halfback voted the "most valuable man" on the 1940 squad, returned from last year's galaxy of blocking backs.

The situation at fullback was even more critical. Both of last year's fullbacks, Hubert Neely and Tom Reid, failed to return to school, leaving the plunging position wide open.

In an effort to get a hard hitting and hard blocking gridder in the important fullback spot, Williamson was forced to switch big Wayne "Butch" Engel, 190, first string guard last year, to the plunging post.

HALL INJURED

Just when Williamson thought most of his worries were over, Rowen Hall, veteran guard, wrenched his knee in the opening week of practice and was ruled out for the remainder of the season by the team medico, leaving a wide open gap at the guard post.

Larry Bemoll, first string guard in 1939, is the only letterman to report for duty this year although pudgy Paul Siano, 200 turn out today and considerably pound letterman, is expected to ease the situation at the guard slots.

Only two newcomers Jack Vogt and Tom Laranjo, both up from last year's frosh squad, have come up as guard replacements for the varsity.

SPEEDY HALVES

The left halfback post seems the best on the squad. Besides Captain Saenz, Williamson has on call Max Diamond, triple threat back from Fullerton junior college, and Owen Van Boskirk and Vince Jacobsmeyer, two speedsters from Chaffey and Riverside junior colleges respectively.

FROSH VETERANS

Ed Craig, end; Jack Vogt and Tom Laranjo, guards; Cuppy Wallace, center; Hovis Bess, halfback and Bill Carlin, quarterback, are the six men up from the frosh eleven.

2C2A Votes Down Frosh Eligibility Rule

A proposal to allow college freshmen to play varsity football "during the present national emergency" was voted down this week by the California Collegiate Athletic association conference.

Both San Diego and San Jose voted against the proposal suggested by Theo "Spud" Harder, Gaucho director of athletics. Fresno State also favored the proposal but the motion was automatically defeated because of the stand-off vote.

The defeat of the proposal probably hurt the Green and White squad most of all because it had a classy group of frosh gridders all tagged out ready for action.

Twenty-two freshmen have taken out uniforms already, among them Vic Paulson, Santa Barbara, Bud and Barney Grover, Van Nuys, ends; Mel Fuchs, Oceanside; Curtis Abel, Van Nuys, Karl McClain, Gardena, and Oren Pierce, North Hollywood, tackles; Carl Fisher, Valencia; Claude Reynolds, Gardena, and Owen Lease, Alhambra, centers.

Also Robert Fabiano, Pacific, Bob Sanchez, Manual Arts, and Jim Hamilton, Washington, quarterbacks; Bill Carpenter, Washington, and Chuck Ferraro, Van Nuys, fullbacks; and Jack Hayde, Glendale, Art Keithley, Santa Barbara, Gene Eyraud, Washington, Bill Hutchins, Manual Arts, Milo Davidson, North Hollywood, Harold O'Halloran, Van Nuys, and Jim Rumsey, Van Nuys, halfbacks.

Fresno Sustains Heavy Losses

FRESNO, Sept. 12.—National defense dealt Fresno State college's grid hopes a couple of smashing blows here this week but despite its heavy losses, Coach Rabbit Bradshaw was confident that this was the year for the Bulldogs.

Ernie Poore, halfback, and Jack Mulkey, end, both "Little All-Americans" were lost by graduation as were Merv Weiner and John Irola, first string tackles, and Ray Egelhofer, first string quarterback.

However, the most crushing blow of all was the losses of Roy Renfro, all-conference guard, John Matulich, first string guard, and Don Winder, reserve tackle, to the army.

Also taken by the army were Al Schlecht, giant reserve tackle, and Roy Patterson and Vernon Caywood, a pair of reserve quarterbacks.

from Pasadena; Francis Graham, 185 pound fullback from Riverside and Diamond, Fullerton; Van Boskirk, Chaffey; Jacobsmeyer, Riverside; Lou Sarracino, LACC, halfbacks.

STAN WILLIAMSON, new Gaucho mentor, faces a tough task in his first year as Santa Barbara State college's head coach. Only 29 men showed up as the Gauchos prepped for a tough 10-game schedule.

Stan Williamson Takes Over Post as New Gaucho Mentor

In a move designated to reestablish Santa Barbara State's position in the grid world, Stan Williamson, former U.S.C. All-American center, signed a contract in President Clarence L. Phelps' office designating him as new head football coach, replacing Spud Harder, head man for the past seven years, who remains at Santa Barbara in the capacity of director of the physical education department.

Williamson, Trojan captain in 1931, comes to State after some ten years of coaching in Oklahoma, Oklahoma City university, Kansas State college, University of Oklahoma, and more recently as line coach at the University of Southern California.

The new appointment fills the vacancy created by the departure of Howard Yeager, freshman coach, who is now playing with the New York Giants professional eleven. In taking over the Gauchos' football destinies, Williamson turned down a similar bid offered him by Marquette university.

Williamson graduated from U.S.C. with a Bachelor of Science in education in 1932 and at the same time received the diamond Trojan medal, a honor which is reserved for the student who made the greatest contribution to clean sportsmanship on the campus.

Despite his extensive coaching career, Williamson is still a young man of 32 years who possesses an unusual knowledge of just about every football system now in use.

In taking over the coaching berth this year, Williamson has a tough task facing him for the Gauchos have lined up a formidable list of opponents including Redlands, University of Nevada, College of Pacific, San Jose State and Fresno State.

Entrance of U S Into War Means Loss of 'Five Points'

The entrance of the United States into the European embroglío seems more and more eminent as ships are torpedoed and American lives and cargoes lost. Only the fact that the majority of the citizens of this country are still antagonistic towards becoming active participants in the second World war, even if only mildly antagonistic, keeps America legally neutral.

However, the majority of the people do not follow the preachings and exhortations of Lindbergh and Wheeler to keep completely isolated from the European affair. All-out aid to Britian is still the policy of most of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces. The isolationists do not share the majority of their countrymen's beliefs and have been shown many times in the past few months how much their policies are despised.

One fact that may sound isolationist, but which the isolationists have so far failed to mention, seems to be far reaching enough to deserve some study before the people's collective opinion is changed to allow a declaration of war. That is: the peace that comes after the war, if Britian is victorious, must have the saner, more detached reasoning of a nation that has not been completely embroiled in the war. The whole logic of a nation at peace changes when the young men of that country begin to die on the battlefields. Then the people cannot reason coolly enough to allow a just settlement, a peace that will insure peace or ward off war.

During the last war Germans in this country were hounded and beaten, their homes smeared with paint and mud, their names and persons defiled. This happened in many instances when they were natural born citizens of this country with a German name. That can happen again. This example shows how the attitude of the people changes when sons and brother and fathers are killed and wounded by foreign shells. This attitude prevailed during the Versailles meetings. The French and English demanded every pound of flesh they could get and they got much more than they deserved. Even the humanitarianism of Wilson failed when it bucked against the revengeful French.

Little by little England is again becoming vengeful. Many of the refugees from Europe report a changing feeling towards Germany and the Germans on the part of the English. When the war began it was not a fight against the German people, but against their leaders and the whole Fascistic policy. Today it has turned into a deep and abiding hatred of all Germans. Fascist and German have become synonymous to the English and the citizens of all of the conquered countries.

This attitude must not be allowed to prevail over any peace conference at the end of this war. An America that has gone through the whole war without having its army in the field or its navy in battle will have a much greater chance of seeing the five points of Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill realized, a greater chance of seeing a logical international organization set up to secure peace for the world in the future.

This is not an isolationist argument, it is rather a little food for thought—H. G. S.

'Till Reveille

By HARRY STEWART

Today this column is completely dedicated to the courage and foresight of the entering freshmen who decided to continue their education instead of attempting to find work in one of the defense industries. I call it both.

I've seen quite a few of my friends decide to forget about college to get jobs and earn money while the getting is good. True, they are making more money than any of us thought was possible a few years ago. But they are losing something far more valuable, their chance to keep the light of education and the culture accompanying that education glowing.

This year, while all of the festivity of beginning a new school year is going on, a haze seems to hang overhead, the haze of fear and dread and uncertainty. This country is moving closer and closer to complete involvement in the European fiasco. Until we are completely allied with the British in World War II there will always be a sort of haze hanging above us. Once we have taken the final step, as horrible as it might be, we will all feel a relief, as if a great load had been taken off our chests. For it is the doubt and uncertainty that depresses us more than the thoughts of war and death and destruction.

If we could only have a partial picture of where we are heading, of what kind of a world we will have in the future, or whether or not this war will right the evils which we have been fighting for so many years, we could go about our separate ways with a much easier frame of mind.

For instance, I don't know whether I will be drafted next week or next year. I'm banking on next year or I wouldn't be coming back to school. But I'm not sure. After I've gone to all of the pains of becoming a fully registered student at Santa Barbara State college I may suddenly find myself ordered to report for induction into the army. It is the uncertainty about what is going to happen, the doubt in my mind as to whether or not I'm taking the right step in returning to school that depresses me.

But then I think of the many students who feel the same way, and who are also going to finish their education if they can. They, too, hope that they will be able to finish so that they will be among the small group who are concerned with something else besides the tactics of war. They want to be one of the minority who will help to recreate the world after it has gone through its purging fire.

So, this column is dedicated to all of you who will be privileged to aid in forming a more perfect world, to you who will have the training and knowledge to awaken the rest of the world to the dawn of a new era. Out of the darkness into the light, or—"Till Reveille.

Believing that freely expressed public opinion is of the greatest possible benefit to this democracy, and also believing that the opinions of the students of the nation when openly contributed will lead to the further development and growth of this democracy, editors of this paper welcome all letters and will print such comment that deals with contemporary problems whether local, national or international.

This student body government is designed to further the education of the students along democratic lines and as such needs the honest criticism of its members. All letters of such nature will be accepted and printed. Only those deletions as are necessary to comply with the libel laws and the limitations of space will be made.

Remember, all comment will be welcome, especially such as will have a direct bearing upon the affairs and government of this student body. If an unusually

Rise of New Graduate Manager Resembles Horatio Alger Tale

A driving ambition to aid the student body of Santa Barbara State college plus the combination of plenty of energy and intelligence, has resulted in the realization of a dream for William Wilson Russell, aged 26, who is more popularly known as Bill around the graduate manager's office.

Two years ago Bill Russell was appointed finance chairman for the Legislative council of the Associated Students. While holding that post, one of the most important in the student government, he became vitally interested in helping students get their money's worth and to see that all money collected should be used to the best advantage. When his hitch as finance chairman ended he thought he would have to forget his ambition to aid the students, but today he is in the position designed expressly for that purpose.

On September 2, 1939, one day before World War II began, Bill married Dorothy Poole. As he likes to state it, "Two of the world's greatest battles began within one day of each other."

Bill's like the boxer who always says after he has emerged from the ring victorious, "It was a hard fight, but I won," for Bill's struggle has been a tough and long one. He first enrolled in the college when the population was only a little over four hundred. That was in the fall of 1932. Forced by financial exigencies to leave school for five years, Russell graduated when the enrollment had doubled and quadrupled in the extremely short time to an amazing total of sixteen hundred and forty.

good letter of sufficient length is received it will be run as a guest editorial.

All letters received must bear the name of the writer, although initials will be used in the printing if the writer so desires.

This is an effort to aid the student governing bodies in following the wishes of the members of the Associated Students. Once the habit of keeping your legislators in tune with your wishes is established it may continue throughout the rest of your life. When more citizens of this country realize the immense value they will receive from keeping their legislators close to the opinions of their constituents then democracy will be assured for many, many years.

Don't forget. Send in your letters. As many as possible will be printed.

Letter from the Editor . . .

Dear Beanie Wearer:

You will, about now, be up to your ears, still undry, in the complexities of registration, medical exams, aptitude tests, English A's, housing details, conferences and the barrage of Getting Acquainted with Life at Santa Barbara State. You are far too engrossed to accept words of warning, admonition or caution.

This then, will serve as another dab of your already swelling supply of factual information; as official welcome from El Gaucho.

For more than a while you will be feted, fussed over, labelled as "Eligible," "Possible" or "Not Especially" by Campus Socialites. Sororities and fraternal orders, with an eye to the approaching Rush Season, will head the list of take-noticers. Within an outside these ranks, Campus Escorts and the Desireables will be sizing you up for entertainment value. Aside from the somewhat mercenary evaluation, you will be measured by the keen eye of instructors, deans and your department head. Your attitude in re-scholastic work will be marked, your ability to keep your head above the submerging stream of diversion.

Diversion there'll be. A-plenty. Dozens of teas, dances, rallies, games, extra-curricular activities will be hanging out to dazzle the sanest. Have fun, remembering college's major purpose (and we said no warnings!). Derive the most of the best from Everything. Knowing and abiding the traditions at S. B. S. C. will help:
