Homecoming Being Planned

Only a few weeks remaining between now and the high point of the fall social season for all the Hilltoppers, the tempo of preparations for the "C" Shore Hit Parade is rapidly increasing.

The theme was chosen for homecoming by the student council during the summer. Besides the "C" for California and the reference to the seashore campus, "Hit Parade" offers possibilities for outstanding floats making use of popular song titles.

A new twist is being inaugurated this year in the choosing of the homecoming queen. Instead of voting by the students, a group of townspeople will make the choice by beauty contest standards.

The first night of the two night presentation of the Galloping Gaucho revue will see the coronation of the queen, while house decoration awards will be presented the following evening. The rally committee is in charge of the variety skits to be presented at the Revue.

Saturday is the BIG day of the week with the parade on State Street from Micheltorena to Haley, over 30 floats being entered at the present time with the possibility of several more.

Saturday evening sees TWO dances this year instead of the usual one. One is being held at the Montecito Country Club Annex while the other is being staged at the University Club.

Homecoming winds up Sunday morning with the traditional fraternity and sorority breakfasts held at each of the houses.

AWS to Elect New Vice President

Election of another candidate to fill the office of AWS vice-president will be held in the near future, according to AWS President Margaret Mueller. The office was left vacant by the recent marriage of candidate Joyce McQueen to Jim Mulick.

Those interested in entering the election may take out petitions to be circulated and signed. The AWS board will also choose a candidate to run. As yet no date has been set for the election or turning in the petitions.

Girls wishing to serve on the Secretariat are urged to contact Pauline Byard, Coordinator of Student Affairs, through the student mail box as soon as possible. Duties of Student Body secretaries include typing for Student Body Officers, answering the telephone in the Associated Student Body office, and other clerical duties. A knowledge of typing is desirable but not absolutely necessary.

Mimeograph operators are also needed, according to Pauline. This position can be filled by either men or women students. This is an excellent opportunity for students who are interested in becoming better acquainted on campus and who desire to participate in extra-curricular activities, Pauline stated.

LONG LINES were one of the new experiences of entering students as they registered Thursday. Above is the line entering the Men's Gym.

12 New Members Added to Faculty

A list of 12 new faculty members at Santa Barbara College of the University of California was announced by Dr. J. Harold Williams, provost, as the Fall semester officially got under way. A few more appointments will also be made during registration week and before classes begin Sept. 24.

Among new faculty members are Charles L. Atkinson, lecturer in art, who had previously served as a substitute teacher; Ruth A. Willard, assistant professor of education; William Frost, assistant professor of English; Paul L. Scherer, assistant professor of industrial arts; John E. Gillespie, assistant professor of music.

Also, Clara J. Lolmaugh, instructor in music, who had previously served as a substitute; Carl B. Zytowski, lecturer in music; Harry L. Findlay, lecturer in physical education for men; Elvera Skubic, assistant professor of physical education for women; Stanley K. Hamilton, lecturer in speech; Rollin W. Qumby, instructor in speech, and Edwin R. Schoell, instructor in speech.

First Co-Rec Set To Start Wednesday

The first Co-Rec night of the year will be held on Wednesday, September 26 from 7 pm to 9:30 pm at the YMCA, located at Chapala and Carrillo streets.

The cost is 25 cents per person for badminton, volley-ball, table tennis, pool, movies, swimming, dancing, and refreshments. All equipment is furnished except bathing suits, caps, and towels.

All students are invited to come. All students are invited to come, either stag or with a date, according to Barbara Houlihan, College Recreation association member. Wives or husbands of students are also welcome.

Co-Rec nights in previous years have been highly successful, and have served as an excellent way to get acquainted, Barbara stated.

PRESIDENT TO MEET NEW STUDENTS

The annual President's Reception for freshmen and new students at Santa Barbara College will be held Wednesday night, October 10th. President and Mrs. Robert Gordon Sproul heading the reception line for the traditional welcoming ceremony, along with Provost and Mrs. J. Harold Williams.

Dr. Theodore Hatlen, chairman of the college committee on public ceremonies, stated that hosts and hostesses will be departmental chairmen, administrative officers, student body officers, and member of Cal Club.

As a part of the program, each freshman and new student will be personally introduced to the President and Provost and their wives in the AWS lounge. Refreshments will be served and the cafeteria will be open for dancing.

UCSB Alumni Merges With Cal Alumni

Santa Barbara College Alumni Association has completed a merger with the University of California Alumni Association, giving the local group a broader sphere of work and influence, while retaining the identity of the local group.

One of the greatest advantages of the merger, according to George Graves, president of the college group, is a publication of its own. A four-page supplement, devoted to Santa Barbara College news and alumni work, will be circulated with the monthly UC alumni publication.

Members of the local group may attend the UC operated "Lair of the Golden Bear" camp, and may obtain football ticket purchase preferences, George stated.

"We are certain that a strong alumni group will now be built up," stated Graves, "since we have the advantages provided by the bigger organization. This step in no way interferes, however, with developing our objectives dealing with Santa Barbara College."

ASB CANDIDATES MUST FILE NAMES

"Election time will be here, soon so now is the time to file petitions for office," stressed Marie Allen, ASB vice president, today.

Besides the previously announced freshman class officers and senior class president, offices are also open for AMS historian, sophomore class vice president junior class vice president. There is also an opening for a woman's representative to the AWS board.

Names should be filed in the Graduate Manager's office on Thursday, Marie stated. On October 1 the constitution test will be given to prospective candidates in the student body conference room at 4. Constitutions may be obtained in the Graduate Manager's office any time before the test. After passing the test, candidates may take out petitions which should be returned by October 5.

TUTORIAL PLAN NOW IN EFFECT

This September Santa Barbara College will inaugurate a Tutorial Program, the first of its kind to be offered by a state university.

The purpose of the Tutorial Program, according to college officials, is to give interested students a liberal education without the limitations of the traditional major in a particular subject. This goal will be achieved by rigorous training in the arts of critical reading, discussion and writing, and by individual instruction in special tutorial courses during the third and fourth years.

Details concerning the procedures in the program may be obtained by reading the college catalogue, page 153, it was pointed out by Dr. Paul Wienpahl, chairman of the faculty committee in charge. Students interested should note that it is still not too late to enroll in the program.

Dr. Elmer R. Noble, Professor of Zoology, is acting for the Division of Liberal Arts pending the appointment of a Dean of Liberal Arts, the Provost's Office announced.

PREDICTIONS EXCEEDED AS REGISTRANTS SHOW UNEXPECTED INCREASES

Registration totals soared unexpectedly from the predicted 1450 to 1589 in Friday's tally, with continued registration taking place this week.

The increase is laid to the fact that more accepted applicants actually registered this year than in previous years, according to Dr. Lewis F. Walton, registrar. The uncertainty of the number of returning students and the draft situation were also responsible for the difference between the predicted and actual totals.

Complete Total

New undergraduate students total 507 while old students number 1076 adding up to 1583. Post graduate students number six. There are 38 veterans. The complete total of 1598 is made up of 509 new student and 1080 old students.

Prediction

"I would rather not run the risk of disrupting social life on the campus by making any kind of predictions as to the ratio of men to women," said Dr. Walton. The ratio figures are being compiled and are soon to be released. New students, however, number 245 men and 335 women making an approximate ratio in this group of two to three.

Percentage

Registration totals from recent semesters were: fall 1949—2229; fall 1950—1963; spring 1951—1742, which led to the 1450 prediction for this semester. The decrease was estimated at 26 per cent, but has only reached 16 per cent to date.

Decrease

A large decrease in veteran attendance has taken place recently due to the running-out of GI benefits. Enrolled veterans have decreased from 851 in 1949 to 303 this semester.

Dr. Walton stated that if present figures are any indication of what may take place next semester, then the estimated 1300 registrants in spring may have to be upped by 10 per cent.

PLAY SCHEDULE RELEASED TODAY

Plays to be given by the Speech department this year have been announced by Dr. Theodore Hatlen, department chairman.

Winterset, by Maxwell Anderson, will be the first play of the season. It will run at the Lobero Theatre November 8, 9, and 10. Tryouts for Winterset will be held soon and will be open to all students, Dr. Hatlen announced.

Three one-act plays by Noel Coward, collectively entitled Tonight at 8:30 will be presented some time in December. These will be center-staged in the Riviera Auditorium.

April 10, 11, and 12 will be the dates for The Mad Woman of Chaillot by Giradoux. The Lobero Theatre will again be used for this play.

The Riviera Quad will provide an unusual setting for Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew, which will run May 22 through 24.

The walls of the Speech department office in Oak Hall have been newly decorated with photographs, posters, and programs of former plays. Members of the department are also getting ideas from an old scrapbook which dates as far back as 1938.

Open House Today

An open house for all students interested in working on campus publications will be held in El Gaucho and La Cumbre offices today from one to three.

The open house is being sponsored by Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity, and is being held to acquaint journalistically inclined students with the publications and the people working on them.

El Gaucho, La Cumbre, and the Student Directory all have numerous staff positions open for experienced and inexperienced people. Applications for staff membership can be made at the

IFC INAUGURATES NEW RUSH SYSTEM

"After the experiences of last semester's rushing system, the members of the IFC believe that the new system of rushing and bidding will greatly improve the older system," it was stated today by Dick Bowen, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Rushing began last Wednesday evening with an orientation meeting for all prospective rushees in Ridge Hall. Dean Lyle Reynolds spoke on the part that the fraternity plays in college life and also in the community. Dick gave out pertinent information for the week of rushing to follow.

On Thursday and Friday the rushees were divided into nine groups and visited each one of the houses for an hour, inaugurating the new open-house system. The groups visited five houses on Thursday and the remaining four on Friday.

The rushees were driven to the various houses by members of the new rushing committee, composed of one member from each of the nine fraternities. This committee is an advisory one to the IFC and also to each fraternity and enforces the rules made by the Council.

Rush parties are going on all this week, open rushing starting at noon on Saturday and ending at midnight this Sunday. The bid lists will be turned into the Dean's office Monday and the rushees must sign up in the Dean's office on Tuesday between 9 and 4 pm, including the noon hour. There will be special consideration, however, to students who find it impossible to sign up on Tuesday. Dick stated that the signing up in the Dean's office will be handled strictly by personell from the office.

Dick also stressed that all rushees should check their mailboxes in the Quad daily, as this is the only way in which the fraternities can contact them.

Editorial

Organization Lacking at Prevue . . .

An example of luke-warm organization was plain to the eye at Thursday's Pigskin Prevue. It was unfortunate that things were not better integrated for the New Gauchos' first view of UCSBC extra-curricular life.

It can't be said that everyone didn't do his part for every person working on the affair seemed to put everything he had into it. The difficulty seemed to lie in the fact that not everyone knew what he was to do. There was continual confusion as to who was doing what, where, and when.

No one part of the Prevue deserves more criticism than another for each had flaws, although some stood out more than others. If the picnic, scrimmage, and dance had been timed so that each progressed smoothly into the other, the evening could have been a very enjoyable one. As it was, long delays and more than one thing going on at once caused loss of interest. Students were leaving steadily all during the evening.

Especially prominent was the food problem. Even though meal plans were based on the small number of tickets purchased early Thursday, provisions were made for additional food if needed. But even this food didn't get there until late. Perhaps it was a case of "too many cooks spoil the broth." But many cooks don't necessarily have to spoil the broth if each one has part of the broth to prepare and knows what he is to do.

A thousand rounds of ammunition can be fired from the best gun made, but unless the gun is aimed, little will be accomplished. How well this parallels the situation Thursday evening. What is the use of many Hilltoppers working hard for a good Prevue if they aren't sure of what they are to do? A little organization can go a long, long way.

Harpichord Player
New Faculty Member

Santa Barbara College now has among its faculty members one of the better harpichord players in the country in the person of Dr. John E. Gillespie, beginning his first year with the music department.

The young artist, who has studied harpichord under noted musicians in France as well as in the United States, has quite a modern attitude toward the ancient instrument.

Probably the greatest difference between the harpichord and the piano is that the harpichord plucks strings, whereas on the piano, the strings are struck. In itself, this difference gives the harpichord a highly individualistic, pizzicato tone effect. There are two keyboards as well as seven pedels on the instrument.

Dr. Gillespie was one of the first students to go abroad with a Fulbright scholarship. He specialized in German and French when he received his BA in 1941 at DePauw University in Indiana and majored in piano at the same institution a year later for a BM. He received his PhD in Musicology at the University of Southern California. He also served as instructor in music at USC.

Bach wrote considerably for the harpichord and Mozart and Haydn also did some writing for the instrument, although the latter two had access to the piano. Some contemporary composition has also been done for the harpichord.

Dr. Gillespie has played the harpichord in a recording with Dinah Shore and Tony Martin, and recently made a recording with Werner Janssen directing the Los Angeles Philharmonic and featuring Ezio Pinza.

UNIVERSITY OPENS 84TH YEAR SINCE
CHARTERING, PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES

The Fall term of 1951 will open the eighty-fourth academic year since the charter of the University of California was granted on March 23, 1868. The establishing of the University was, in part, stimulated by the dangerous shortage of trained officers for the Union Army in the Civil War. The present character of the University has been, in part, determined by experiences during the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, and most recently in connection with the United Nations War in Korea. Moreover, the Congress of the United States has approved a new universal military training and service act which provides for the continued induction of men between the ages of 19 and 26 for active service, for their induction at the age of 18... if necessary, and for the inauguration of universal military training by about 1955, which cannot but affect both your plans and those of the University.

I mention these facts in welcoming you to the University, because I know they are on your minds, and I ask you to remember that the United Nations gives us reason to hope for a better world in the future, and that the degree of self-discipline which you exercise in your college studies and in extra-curricular activities will determine whether you will be ready for a better world, and whether you will be able to contribute toward gaining it. You won't lose a thing by keeping your chin up, and you may benefit more than you dream. Good luck.

AWES TO DISPLAY SCHOOL HISTORY

This week has been designated as Howdy Week by Frosh Indocrination head and Soph class president, Don Noble. During this week Freshmen students are also expected to become familiar with the traditions and history of their school. To do this they may use their own initiative and do extensive reading, but they may also learn all the necessary facts by watching the Quad glass cases. Associated Women Students, under Margaret Mueller, is handling the program. According to Maggie, there are some real gems to be shown; these include old pictures, annuals, football programs, newspapers, maps and histories which trace the beginning of the school until the present.

Did you know that the query "What's Cooking?" really reflected the main activity of a school that grew from a cooking school into a college of the largest university in the world? Yes, in 1891 the Anna S. C. Blake Manual Training School was started; teacher training was introduced in 1906 and the name changed to City Anna Blake Manual Training Normal School.

In 1909 the state stepped in and gave us the Santa Barbara State Normal School of Manual Arts and Home Economics. In 1911 the first man enrolled, at this time first buildings were begun on the Riviera.

The name was changed three more times until our present one of Santa Barbara College of the University of California was reached. All this makes interesting history—soooooo watch the Quad cases, especially you GREEN Frosh.

Hodgkins at Confab

Miss Jean Hodgkins, assistant professor of physical education for women at Santa Barbara College, was named one of three University of California delegates to attend the Natinal Conference on Women in the Defense Decade. The conference, to be held in New York City on Sept. 27 and 28, will discuss the role of women in homemaking and the healing arts, teaching, citizenship, defense production, the armed services, and everyday economics.

The thinnest thing in the world is flattery—and the hardest to see through.

Marriage maxim: Never tell a wife to do anything unless she already has decided to.

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

Customarily the public is warned of the appearance of a column in most types of publications. In this case Ramblings will be somewhat haphazard so such formality will be disregarded. It may run but inches, to fill a small hole, or continue at length, taking the place of a story that has been mislaid.

A look at last year's program and final record, won seven—lost three, would indicate Gaucho grid fortunes were on the up swing. The majority of players, playing the majority of games, were sophomores and juniors, good for another season or so. However, many of them failed to return. Reasons: draft in a few cases, in others just a lack of interest. Wonder why?

Line coach McPhail was to have little difficulty fielding a hot forward wall, until Little All-coast tackle Corky Johnson injured his back playing volleyball, of all things, over the summer months. West coast medical authorities vary somewhat in remedies for the bum back, running from spinal operations and complete inaction for many months, to simple exercise and game play in a couple of weeks. Either way you look at it the line won't be what it was last year.

Backfield play should sparkle, though a really proficient passer is needed for a balanced attack. Using the split T with a bevy of good running backs things will doubtlessly shape up well as the season progresses. On such a hopeful note it is probably best to say, that's thirty for now.

Jim: "You are the most beautiful girl in town."
Lou: "You'd say that even if you didn't think so."
Jim: "Yes, and you'd think so even if I didn't say it."

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-sniff experiment! Millions of smokers, on and off the campus, have discovered there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

VARSITY TO FEATURE WIDE OPEN OFFENSE FOR POMONA OPENER

Featuring a wide open attack, the 1951 Gauchos open the season this Saturday night against the Pomona Cagehens at Pomona. Game time will be 8 pm.

The Gauchos, with 19 returning lettermen, will field a strong first team, but the squad at present lacks depth, a condition which is particularly serious in the line. However a number of newcomers may remedy the situation.

Backfield Bright

In the backfield the situation is much brighter, in fact its loaded with talent. The Gauchos may be counted upon to run the opposition ragged if the line can open up the necessary holes. Doug Gorrie, Ran Ternquist, Bob Laskin and newcomer Gary Morris will really burn up the field from the halfback spots. Their efforts will be further supported by Les Harris and speed-demon Jack Garrett.

Davis, Rice, Law

Masterminding the Gauchos will be Bill Davis who at present is showing up very well in practice. He will be strongly supported by Don Rice and George Law, both of whom will see plenty of action and will give a good deal of depth at the quarterback spot which was lacking last season.

The fullback position will be very ably held down by all-conference back Dave Gorrie. He will be given strong support by two-year letterman Gibby Dear.

Line Uncertain

While still an uncertain quantity, the Gaucho line will probably prove to be very strong offensively as has been demonstrated in recent scrimages. Such stars as Grant Gaunce and John Craven at tackles and Ray Stark at guard will help to smooth out the performances of the many newcomers.

All in all it looks as if the Gauchos can be relied upon to give a good account of themselves this season and the Sagehens will be in for a rough time this weekend.

Little information has as yet been received on coach "Fuzz" Merritt's team which the Gauchos downed in a 35-7 walloping last year. However it is known that their single wing attack will be bolstered by 15 returning lettermen and 30 freshmen out of their squad of 67 men.

ATTENTION

been a close friend of Roy's since 1941.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Pete came to the U.S. at the age of four and was reared in San Francisco. There all three McPhail boys made football names for themselves at Commerce High. The oldest, Scotty, went on to three years of varsity ball at St. Mary's; the next eldest, Malcolm, played for Santa Clara, and Pete earned his grid letters at USC.

All-City Griddler

An All-City end at Commerce High, Pete played two years of Varsity football for the Trojans. He was outstanding freshman end when he met Roy, then acting as USC's freshman backfield coach.

Like the rest of the Gaucho staff, Pete spent his time in the service, three years as a Marine lieutenant in the South Pacific. He did his first coaching there as head man of a Marine football team on Okinawa. After separation from the service, he joined Jeff Cravath at USC as assistant freshman coach, advancing the following year to the post of Varsity end coach.

His other coaching experience consists of two years at Bakersfield High in 1943-49. He has coached and played both the single wing and the T-formation.

ENGLE GUIDS GAUCHOS FOR THIRD SEASON, KELLIHER - McPHAIL ASSISTING

Santa Barbara College football teams have done well under Roy Engle, his two years with the Gauchos were his first as head coach of a college club and the job and man have meshed perfectly since he took over.

Starting his career at San Diego, the 34 year old coach graduated in 1936 and enrolled at USC. There he won the Diamond Medal, the highest honors that can go to a Trojan athlete.

After graduation Roy went into professional baseball with Tulsa, but returned after one season to coach USC's freshman baseball team. From there he went back to his home town, San Diego, to a position as football and baseball coach of Hoover High.

In the Navy

In 1942 he enlisted in the Navy as an athletic officer. He was sent to England in '44 where he played for two seasons at St. Mary's Preflight. Back in the States, he coached and played for the Olathe Kansas Naval Air Station football team.

SC Back Coach

His college coaching career began immediately after leaving the Navy. As backfield coach for USC's Jeff Cravath, he mastered

SITUATION IN HAND OUTLAND RETURNS

"Gaucho George" Outland, perennial collegian, returns again to the post of senior football manager, which position he has held for the past two seasons. The Blue and Gold's overgrown waterboy is in charge of cleats, shoelaces and general assistance to those who need it.

the T-formation offense that the Gauchos now use. He left USC to become head coach at Santa Barbara in 1949.

Roy's first year found him with a green and ill-manned squad. It had had no spring practice and was unfamiliar with the T-formation. At the end of the season they had won two, lost eight. Last season, the Gauchos won seven and lost three games, bringing Engle's record to 9 wins, 10 losses. The Gauchos took second place in their league.

ASSISTANT COACH:

M. S. KELLIHER.

Revered and respected by players and fans alike, "Doc" Kelliher is starting his fifth year as Gaucho Varsity assistant coach. Doc himself is a former Santa Barbara football star, graduated in 1933 with two letters as halfback and fullback and one in track as a sprinter.

After that came Oxnard High School, where he coached for five years before going into the Navy as a physical fitness officer.

Many Interests

Coach Kelliher is a man of many interests that keep him busy during and between football seasons. He is well known as a prep athletic official and has been a prime mover in staging the annual Santa Barbara Easter Relays.

In addition to his football job, Doc also acts as assistant track coach under Nick Carter.

McPHAIL REPLACES WILLIAMSON AS LINE COACH

Although a newcomer to Head Coach Roy Engle's Gaucho football staff, Pete McPhail, replacing Stan Williamson, "The Great White Father" as line coach, has

Hilltop Talk . . .

Back to classes, homework, and general fooling around come all the Gauchos . . . among them Gracie Pope with a luscious dark tan . . . claims she worked this summer, though.

The Pigskin Prevue and bean feed brought out a much larger crowd than expected. Spurs and Squires turned out in full force to see that the Frosh came prepared with their green beanies and bows . . . Bob Holland, Buzz Walker, Bob Dullea, and a flock of other Squires were all set to take cute Terry Osterhaus for a long ride 'cause she wasn't wearing her big ribbon.

We saw a big deal in the making when GeeGee Jewell and Gene Allen had their heads together. Gene left with a big smile on his face and a list of names in his pocket. At the Howdy Dance he had a great time dancing with all the girls GeeGee had picked out for him.

Keeping time to Newt Perry's organ were Pattie Reily-Adran Adams, Maridon Castanguay-Bob Estes, Jan Eli-Jim Subject, Marian March-Ray King . . .

Shanghai Low was the scene of a big gathering afterwards . . . Bob Tomlinson was just about ready to give up as Ted Parker prompted him in the fine art of eating with chopsticks. Bill Powell almost starved, but Betty Rohe and Bill Orluske didn't do too badly, considering it was their first attempt with the elusive sticks.

George Mattias's twenty-first birthday was the occasion for a surprise party. Gordon Weber-Marian Sabiron, Alec Haides-Harriet Hadley, Ken Couren-Lyn Burroughs, Mike Carrillo-Marian Combs, and the others really raised the roof while George drank 7-Up . . . football season, you know. Laugh getters were the one big over-stuffed ashtray and the big cake with pink and chocolate icing . . . Gordon, Mike, and George Everett were the cooks.

The Sig Pis were wondering what happened to Ted Troy. Seems he and Bill Grannis never got home. Johnny Popovich, Bob Rolph, Ed McCann, and all the rest really applauded Ted's rendition of "Lullaby of Broadway" out at the Spigot.

Jack Garrett is up to his old tricks again . . . with some new ones for good measure. This thoughtful boy kindly sat out in front of the sorority houses to give tired rushees a ride home.

Signing up for classes was the usual mad scramble. Barbara Lettie, Shirley Andrews, Ed Parent, and Carl Ames could be seen at various times complaining about their schedules and the long lists of books they needed.

Hal Aarset was being very helpful to cousin Joy while Joanne Loomis received all the information she needed from those same thoughtful Squires, Bob Holland and Buzz Walker . . . guess there's more to these honoraries than we thought.

Seems the faculty has some good ideas when it comes to partying. A big blowout was held to welcome back Dr. Hardin . . . Hope no one had to get up early the next morning.

THE CREEP

He made a pathetic picture as he staggered out from the Bookstore under a load of new books. A typical frosh trying to get used to a Registration week filled with new and mysterious procedures. As he walked from the Quad he peered out with bewildered eyes through hornrimmed spectacles around his stack of books and spied an iron railing, upon which sat various college Joes of both questionable and unquestionable repute.

He'd heard many stories about this famous pipe railing. This was the place where guys who were guys passed the time away, eyeing passersby and making appropriate remarks, he reflected to himself, shifting his load of books. Balancing his top-heavy stack of books with as much dignity as he could muster, he walked over to the pipe and prepared to sit down and join the fellas. Cautiously peering behind himself, he began gingerly lowering himself toward the rail, both forearms supporting the books from the bottom. Just as he was about to make it down to the rail a book in the center started to slip out.

He caught his breath. "Keep calm. Keep calm," he reassured himself. He looked around to see whether anyone had noticed his predicament, but the fellows on the bench were preoccupied with commenting on a tall blonde in a lavender cashmere.

He clutched at the stack of books with his left hand and gently shoved the center book back into place with his right. Then he breathed a sigh of relief and proceeded to finish lowering himself down to the rail. Inch by inch he went down, cautiously balancing the books all the while. Just as he could almost feel the solidity of the pipe beneath him a playful senior, who had been watching the whole process from behind, poked him suddenly in the ribs. Thrown off balance, he tumbled forward from his perch. Books cascaded from his arms and flew everywhere and he landed in the center of the sidewalk, a heap of embarrassment. Just as he was about to get up the sophomores descended in a torrent of torment. "Who do you think you are—blocking the Quad sidewalk!"

"Where's your dink?" "Are you carrying your Frosh Bible?" "Sing 'All Hail Blue and Gold' and 'On to Victory.'" "Take him for a ride to La Cumbre Peak." "Better throw him in the Quad Pool," advised a lofty senior. "This creep should be taught his manners."

Uncovering his ears the Creep started to arise from his couch of textbooks. He did not quite get to his feet, however, before eight husky sophs grabbed him by all fours and carried him to the pool.

By that time half the students on campus had heard the commotion and had come running to get in on the fun. After removing the Creep's glasses, wristwatch, and shoes the sophs prepared to give him the heave-ho.

"Please don't throw him in," begged a feminine voice from the sidelines. "Those new white cords will be simply ruined!" She wailed.

The Creep looked up to see a comely coed in a gray sweater and skirt. Her wavy brown hair was accented by a large green ribbon. He struggled violently with his captors, but it was no use. There was a splash and he hit the bottom of the shallow pool with a loud smack.

The crowd laughed and melted away. When he emerged dripping from the pool, his cords already drawing up tightly around his legs, he was greeted by the gal with the green ribbon.

"That was quite a splash you made," she smiled at him. "My name's Janie Gaucho."

Dazzled by her smile, the Creep replied menacingly, "Oh, the splash I made wasn't near as large as the one those sophomores will make when we frosh get organized and catch them . . ."

UP ON THE HILL . . .

UP ON THE HILL . . . there have been, as usual, many changes, and not just faces alone. The new color scheme is especially intriguing. After much research and consultation with a volume entitled "The Psychology of Color" I have arrived at a reasonable conclusion concerning this palatable change. If on the ordinary days of the week, you are feeling in the best physical condition, and have acquired somewhat of a Santa Barbara Tan (or pallor, as the case may be) you will be obliged to attend classes in the tan, or buff buildings. (Perhaps this color may be named re-buffed.)

However, if too frequent attendings of functions of the social type have given you that "green around the gills" feeling you may apply at the Health Cottage for treatment. The Health Cottage, you may have noticed, has been painted a very appealing, bilious green color. Therefore, it is to be deduced, you are expected to let the condition of your epidermis (skin to freshmen) determine the locality of your activities on campus.

In attempt to be slightly enigmatic, the University has tried to befoul my reasoning by painting Building B green. This I explain by the fact that the wind was blowing from the Health Cottage on the day the men were painting.

If you are envious of the better grades your fellow students are making, and become truly green with envy, you are invited to spend a few hours at the reference library, east end of the Health Cottage. This will probably alleviate the run-down condition of your academic status. If it does not, and your grades slip below the accepted standards (which often happens) you may become pink with embarrassment, and may be summoned to the pink building, also known as "Administration Hall," "Lair of the Bear," and "The Hall of the Mountain King."

Situated in the center of this edifice (building to you freshmen) are the offices of the Dean of Men, and the Dean of Women. A short discussion with either of these personages is guaranteed to alleviate the slightly pink condition. You will then pass into white. (Sometimes referred to as "Down the Tubes" . . . an obscure reference to some primitive barbaric tortures, ( for the information of the freshmen).

There are several more colors to be considered. If you are feel-blue, down in the dumps, and unhappy, seek out the relaxing blue of the quad pool, sit yourself upon the grass, and view the passing parade. One hour if this is the usual dosage required to chase the blues away. (These new coeds are cute, aren't they.)

Upon passing the front of the Men's Gym, you may notice a blue-green tint that has been affixed to the facade (front to you freshmen) of the gym. This is completely in error, and was committed by a color blind veteran of last year's San Diego game. He thought he was painting it black and blue, a color scheme most apparent to even the most unintelligent freshmen.

Any of you Gauchos who are still with us may discover other conclusions of your own to draw from the Disney-like changes in our color scheme. You people I urge to contact Dr. Altus in the psychology department. I'm sure you will find the needed consultation offered there.
