SAN FRANCISCO IN 1847. A census of the town of San Francisco was taken in June, 1847, by a Lieutenant of the New York Regiment, which exhibited a population of 459 souls, and an increase of 100 per cent. over the past year. Thirty houses of the second of the past year previous, and A series of very interesting investigations are being conducted by eminent medical men in various parts of the world to determine the good influence (if any) of certain volatile remedial agents upon the lungs, when brought in direct contact with the diseased surface. It is the opinion of some physicians who have had pretty fair opportunities of investigating, that more benefit may be derived from inhalation than has generally been experienced.

Ancient Sopularies Screenist of the past year. Thirty houses had been erected in the year previous, and mechanics and laboring men were earning from two to three dollars per day. Business was brisk, and the necessaries of life found ready sale at good prices. Unimproved lots, which had cost originally $16, sold for from $50 to $200, and some of the most central as high as $2000. In the months of July and August, 1847, forty-eight houses were erected. From March, 1845, to February, 1849, the population increased from 800 to 2000 souls. About 1000 passengers had ANCIENT SOPHISMS. Some of the sayings of the ancient sophists are sufficiently absurd to take rank with the quibbles of the arcived by sea at San Francisco, February Ist, 1849.
