Summer Session Vol. VI, No. 1 June 20, 1964 Santa Barbara, California
JUN 23 1964

WELCOME TO THE 1964 SUMMER SESSION

It is a pleasure to welcome all of you, members of the staff and the student body, to our campus for this Summer Session. I hope that this six weeks of intensive study proves to be stimulating and rewarding to you personally, as well as meaningful to you academically and professionally.

During the summer, our campus community is as varied as our curriculum. A number of you are scholars who have had a long association with university learning, some of you are year-round university students and a good number are high school students temporarily assuming the rank of freshmen to look over life and learning at the university level.

Each contributes a vital ingredient to the education of the other. The young bring with them the enthusiasm and modernity of their age, while the experience and maturity of the continuing scholar can act as guideposts for those with less exposure to university study.

We, too, benefit from your coming. The growth of our campus and the development of our programs are a reflection of your interest and your participation. May I wish you a pleasant and successful Summer Session in Santa Barbara.

Sincerely,

Vernon I. Cheadle
Chancellor

FROM DIRECTOR L. F. WALTON

As Director of Summer Sessions, I wish to join Chancellor Cheadle in welcoming you to the 1964 Summer Session. We have been planning all year for your arrival and are most anxious to do everything we can to insure a successful six weeks for each of you. We regard it as our obligation to help you work out problems which may arise in connection with your program for the summer. Your questions, criticisms and comments are invited.

L. F. Walton
Director, Summer Sessions

POLICE REGULATIONS FOR CARS, BIKES

Racks are provided for bicycle parking, and areas where riding is prohibited are clearly marked. These include central academic areas where bikes are not permitted between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. on school days.

The campus police department will continue its 24-hour service during Summer Session. In addition to maintaining a lost and found service, rendering first aid and transporting persons sick or injured, the department will continue to patrol the campus around the clock.

Summer workshops, institutes and special courses offered by University of California Extension, Santa Barbara, will attract teachers, scholars, professional people and adults interested in continuing education to the UCSB campus during the Summer Session beginning next week.

During the first week of the session five workshops will meet here and in this area. They include a Foreign Language Workshop, a Nursery Education Workshop, a Child and Youth Study Workshop, a study of The Totalitarian Challenge: Communism, Capitalism and Fascism in the Contemporary World, and the Pacific High School Debate Institute.

A special lecture series, King Lear: From Script to State, will be conducted by Dr. Homer Swander, associate professor of English, in observance of the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth.

HIGH SCHOOL SUMMER SESSION
ATTRACTS STUDENTS FROM ALL REGIONS

Some 290 high school juniors from schools throughout the United States have been admitted to the sixth annual summer program for high school students here.

These exceptional students will be afforded an academic preview of college life when they enroll in freshman and sophomore level university courses and earn up to six and one half units of credits. They may later submit the credits for evaluation when making formal application to the University.

Core courses are offered in anthropology, history, geology, music, political science, speech and psychology, and additional courses are offered in a variety of academic disciplines.

CLASS LISTINGS

Listings of classes and classrooms will be available at all department offices, in the library, bookstore, the student union, the public information office and the Summer Session office.

EXHIBIT OF FRENCH REVOLUTION MATERIALS
IN LIBRARY DURING SUMMER SESSION

From its holdings, largely in Foot and Mayer uncataloged materials, the Library has assembled a summer exhibit of contemporary materials describing events of the crucial decade, 1780-1799, in French history. July 14th this year marks the 175th anniversary of the storming and fall of the Bastille, and early pamphlets on display give eye-witness accounts of the fall of the Bastille, of the trial and execution of Louis XVI, and of the Reign of Terror that followed.

Leading figures of the revolutionary movement are represented by the publications of Mirabeau, Brissot, Louvet and Robespierre; accounts of victims (Malesherbes is notable) and refugees are also included. The daily progress of events can be followed in the Journal de Paris and L'Ancien Moniteur, two basic journals of the period displayed in volumes for 1789. Unfavorable journalistic reaction from the English at the same time is shown in the verse satire of the conservative Anti-Jacobin.
