What community is best governed which is least governed—"Man has had that preached to us in, too many of the times by persons and interests who are not a bit afraid that the government might deprive them of some unjust advantage over their fellows, or put a stop to some unfair practice. We should reword that first sentence something like this, "No community should have more government than it requires for the safety and happiness of its citizens." If ten per cent of the people, order twenty policemen in such too much government. If every grocer is honest, no rooter of weakness is necessary.

New leaf we say that in all states of society we have always to be on guard. There is no government on earth, in which we have the most government, for the government collects, stores and spends the public money, and everybody for the public good. If it would work, it might mean reason for conducing excelsior to the counties, to be good in a state of capital or individual. And if it so be allowed, and my duties

ARMSTRONG TALKS TO CITRUS MEETING IN S.B.

"Just last year California produced 145,907 barrels of navel oranges valued in the United States and Canada as 4,237,000 dollars. This represents an increase of 151 percent in 15 years as compared with the average of 1919-24. Not only is the increase due to the careful and scientific culture of the fruit, but also to the high prices received for it." Armstrong said.

"The high prices have more than covered the cost of production and the growers are saving up capital for better production next year. The present market price of navel oranges is 24c to 26c a box, which is 6c to 8c above the average of the past several years. This is the result of the orange juice habit, which has been fostered by Sunkist advertising," Armstrong continued.

"It will require the utmost effort on the part of every chest worker in the entire valley to put this year’s Community Chest drive over as it did last year. "Carpinteria’s quota is $2000, but we are sure it can be done again." said Armstrong.

At the meeting, a letter was read announcing the creation of a committee of one to investigate the possibility of extending the tennis courts for the use of the entire community.

"The tennis courts are a great asset to the community and should be extended to accommodate more people," Armstrong said.

Members of the committee are Mrs. Boss Weiser, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. William Jankowsky, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baxter, Miss Jean Rebol, Miss Mary Adams, Miss Betty Johnson, Claude Norlin, Mrs. H. C. Henderson, Mrs. H. C. Hardeman, Mrs. E. A.
