NOON DANCE HELD

Work Planned As Part Of Better Homes Week Program

As this week is Better Homes Week in Santa Barbara, the college is cooperating with the townspeople by having its annual clean-up day on Wednesday. The students are working in divisions under the supervision of a captain. The captains were announced in Tuesday's assembly. A bulletin telling in what division each student is to work, and what tools each student is to bring was posted Tuesday on both the board in the Administration building and the one in the Quad. Most of the tools were to be obtained either from home or the housemother, however the large and unusual tools are to be furnished by the committee in charge.

Assembly was called at 8:30 Wednesday morning. Final instructions were given at this time. Work began about nine o'clock and continued until noon, at which time free lunch tickets were handed out. There was dancing from 12:30 until 1:00, when work was resumed and continued until 3:30. Another assembly was called at this time for checking up the students. Prizes according to merit will be awarded to the divisions.

Those who are in charge of the affair are: President Phelps, Miss Frye, Mr. Peters, Miss Severy, Dean Ashworth, Mrs. Price, Mr. Griffin, Shirley Mercer, and James Kent; Mrs. Abrahams and Margaret Wilson, lunch; David Watson, trucks and unusual tools; Archie Way, prizes.

Judges for Clean up Day have been announced by Dean Mildred Pyle as follows: Miss Winifred Frye, Mr. Fred L. Griffin, Dr. William Ellison, and Student Body President David Watson.

Save Water, Get O. K. On Health—Phelps

Two general announcements and warnings have been issued by President Phelps to the students of the college.

The first is a request for college cooperation in the city drive for water conservation. Students are asked to use as little water as possible, both on the campus and at home, in consideration of the possible water shortage due to the low supply in the city reservoirs.

Attention is also called to the fact that state law requires a certificate of health by the City Board of Health before a student absent from school because of communicable disease may re-enter classes. There have been three cases, one of scarlet fever and two of measles, since the beginning of the semester.

INVENTION OF FIRST REAPER SHOWN IN FILM

Education Week Picture Furnished by Son of The Inventor

To celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the McCormick reaper, the moving picture, "The Reaper," was shown Thursday in the auditorium.

It was through the courtesy of Stanley McCormick of Montecito, son of Cyrus Hall McCormick, inventor of the reaper, that Mr. William Rust was able to procure the picture.

Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine, daughter of Cyrus McCormick and a resident of Montecito, attended the picture and addressed the student body.

Because of National Education week, many other guests witnessed the picture. A delegation from the Masonic order, Dr. Richards, physician to Stanley McCormick, and the children of the college elementary school attended.

Accompanying the film was Mr. Hergsberger, division manager of the International Harvester Co., who read a speech which was given by Herbert A. Kellar, president of the McCormick association.

The development of the reaper, beginning with its invention by Cyrus McCormick, was shown in the picture. The various stages of its development beginning with a crude piece of machinery drawn by a horse and operated by two men, followed by the automatic rake, the automatic binder, the tractor-binder and ending with the harvester-binder, our present day machine, were included in this film and fully explained.

"Drudgery to mass production" and "need to world-wide plenty" were points well brought out in the picture.

WESTERN WOMAN GIVES PUBLICITY TO COLLEGE

Santa Barbara State College was given special publicity recently in the March edition of the "Western Woman," a magazine which featured Santa Barbara and contained articles about Ednah Rich Morse, founder and President Emeritus of the college, Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, registrar, and a story by President C. L. Phelps about the college.

The purpose of the "Western Woman" magazine is to acquaint its readers with women of the West who have outstanding achievements, talent, or personality. The last edition is a Santa Barbara souvenir edition, written entirely about this city.

In a brief biography of Ednah Rich Morse, written by Jane Carroll Byrd, former dean of women at Santa Barbara High school, the history of the college is sketched. A picture of the President Emeritus is shown, also a picture showing the arches and benches of the quad.

STAN WINTERS WILL BE VICE PRESIDENT OF CLUB NEXT YEAR

Yesterday's Election Selects New Club Executives

Oscar Trautz was elected president of the Men's club for the coming year in the club's annual election of officers yesterday morning.

Trautz succeeds Wilbur ("Happy") Day in the presidency of the club, Day having held the position since the resignation of John Davis two months ago. The new president has been chairman of the club's social committee for two semesters, and was in charge of the two men's parties in the Y. M. C. A., the most important events on the club calendar.

Stan Winters was made vice-president of the club in yesterday's election. Bill McDavid, president of the sophomore class, was elected to the position of secretary of the organization, while Jess Rathbun was made treasurer in a closely contested vote.

Dave Larsen will succeed Trautz as chairman of the Men's club social committee.

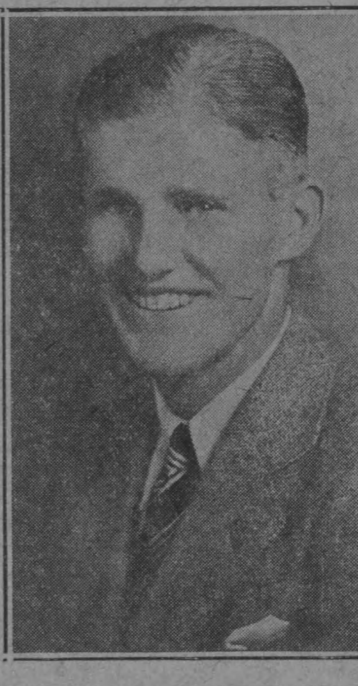

The new officers will take over their positions in September, and will form the club's executive body until a year from this June.

Mrs. Frances Linn Talks To Students

Mrs. Frances B. Linn, of the Santa Barbara Public Library, addressed the student body on "Better Homes" at the regular general assembly Tuesday morning. She was introduced by President C. L. Phelps.

Wes Dickenson

The other presidential candidate. Both men are popular on the campus.

CONCERT WINS MUCH PRAISE IN FIRST PROGRAM

All - College Symphony Draws Large Crowd Of Townspeople

Declared to be one of the most outstanding achievements of Santa Barbara State college, a unique musical event took place last Tuesday night, when approximately ninety college musicians, representing the finest talent of Southern California colleges, presented a symphony concert under the direction of Henry Eichheim, noted American composer, and director.

Making their first public appearance together, members of the All Southern California College Symphony played four numbers, Tchaikowsky's "March Slav," and "Nut Cracker Suite," Jean Sibelius' "Finlandia," and Dvorak's "New World Symphony," with a finesse which has been compared favorably by music critics to work done by regular symphony orchestras.

Credit for much of the success of this program is due to the leadership of Henry Eichheim, a highly gifted and cultured musician, who drilled the players during their six rehearsals and conducted the performance. Mr. Eichheim generously gave of his time and service to the group, winning their admiration and affection.

According to Clifford Leedy, who with Wesley Dickenson conceived and carried out the idea of the inter-collegiate orchestra, the College Symphony will probably become an annual event sponsored by State College and held here in Santa Barbara. The first concert, tried as an experiment, won the enthusiastic support of all college musicians in the south, states Mr. Leedy, and Santa Barbara State college has

Shelves Are Added To Lincoln Library

Additional room for the many volumes in the college's rapidly growing Lincoln Library has been created by a series of new shelves, constructed by men in the Industrial Education department.

The shelves extend along a whole side of the room, and will provide much-needed space for the books on Lincoln and his period, which Mr. Wyles, to whom the college is largely indebted for the Lincoln room, is constantly donating.

A short time ago Dr. Ellison, who had his office in the Lincoln room, was forced to move out due to lack of room. Now, however, the crowded conditions have been somewhat remedied by the addition of the shelves, and further development of the library will not be impeded by mere lack of space.

This year the name of the queen has been announced, and Mildred Mosher will be crowned Queen of the May.

ELEMENTARY ED. GIRL WRITES FOR BULLETIN

Have you read the poem entitled, "In Santa Barbara," appearing in the Summer Session Bulletin published a short time ago by the college print shop? The poem was written by Francella Ericson, student in the State College elementary school.

Miss Ericson is eleven years old and is in the 6B class. At the age of three years, Francella began to write poetry, and at the age of seven an eastern publishing house issued a book of her poems. Her book of poems contains fifty-six pieces of her work. Since the publishing of her book, Francella has composed thirty additional poems, which are being prepared for publication.

The poem which appears in the Summer Session Bulletin is as follows:

It is Santa Barbara
The place where I would be,
Where the mountains are in back of you,
In front the wide, blue sea.

In winter in Santa Barbara
No snow is on the ground,
No frost is on the chimney tops,
And flowers can be found.

At night in Santa Barbara
The sun sets o'er the hill,
Tinting the sky in gold and pink,
Over the town so still.

It is Santa Barbara
The place where I would be,
With flowers in the garden,
It's a heavenly place to me.

primary education and kindergarten-elementary education may be earned. A number of courses in this work will be offered in the fall and more added each semester.

This is a new department of education at State. As kindergarten work is in demand it should draw many students to Santa Barbara, according to Miss Leonard who will direct the work.

With the completion of the new elementary education building, demonstration kindergarten classes will again be offered. Until that time lecture courses will be given.

M'CORMICK'S ORIGINAL REAPER ON DISPLAY

Much interest has been shown in the exhibition of an exact replica of the original McCormick reaping machine, set up in the foyer of the Administration building. The reaper was assembled in conjunction with the showing of the film "The Reaper" in last Thursday's program in the auditorium. Through the efforts of Mr. William Rust, the machine was brought here from the McCormick estate in Montecito.

According to the accompanying descriptive placard the machine was invented and built by Cyrus Hall McCormick at the age of 22 on the McCormick farm near Steele's Tavern in the Blue Ridge district of Virginia. It was first tested and found successful in July, 1831.

"Cyrus Hall McCormick's reaper," reads the placard, "combined for the first time and in their true balance and proportion the basic elements or principles which have ever since been found essential in virtually all grain-cutting machines. McCormick's seven basic principles were as follows:

1. The straight knife with serrated edge and reciprocal or vibrating motion which cuts the grain.
2. Fingers or guards extending from the platform to prevent the grain from slipping sideways while being cut.
3. The revolving reel which holds the grain against the knife and lays the cut stalks on the platform.
4. Platform behind the knife for receiving the cut grain and holding it until raked off.
5. The master wheel which carries most of the weight of the machine and, through ground traction furnishes power to operate the reel and the knife.
6. Forward draft from the right or stubble side to separate the grain to be cut from that to be left standing.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUBS SING IN M. E. CHURCH

Presenting their regular concert program, the combined Glee club appeared before a small but appreciative audience in the hall of the First Methodist Episcopal church last Thursday evening. The concert was sponsored by the Philaethea club of the Methodist Sunday School.

In addition to songs by the individuals and combined clubs, several feature numbers were given. The Revelettes sang a group of popular songs. The Women's Trio presented two Japanese songs in costume, and sang a request number, "Trees." Also appearing in costume, a mixed quartet gave a musical skit taken from the Music Master.

MOST POPULAR GIRLS TO GET DRESS PRIZES

Trenwith's, who gave the prize at the school dance are also furnishing suitable prizes for the girls with the three highest scores in this contest. The first prize will be any $16.50 dress the winner chooses, next award will be a $5 hat, and third prize will be two pairs of $1.50 hose. INDUSTRIAL ED. MEN PLAN FOR PICNIC SUNDAY

Opening the day with baseball, volleyball, and horseshoe pitching games, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning, the industrial education department will hold its annual picnic at Paradise Camp next Sunday.

The program for the day has been scheduled to fill every minute with some outdoor activity, according to Bob Imler, chairman of the industrial education social committee. "There will be something going on for every one to take part in during the entire day," declared Imler. "We plan to have no dull minutes next Sunday for those who attend the picnic," he continued.

Arrangements have been made with the college cafeteria to supply an abundance of "good eats" for the crowd that is expected at the picnic. Archie Way, chairman of the luncheon committee, has charge of preparing and serving the food at Paradise Camp. He is assisted by Gene Morgan, William Ezaki, and Lovell Pageot.

The industrial education department invites members of the school faculty and the entire student body to the picnic. "Bring your wife, husband, or friends along," says Imler.

EINSTEIN FILM WILL BE SHOWN NEXT TUESDAY

"Einstein's Theory of Relativity," the film which caused a sensation in Europe and America, will be shown in the auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday, May 5th and 6th. Students will be admitted in the Tuesday assembly by student body cards only.

In a letter received by Mr. Rust there was a press notice taken from the New York Times stating that "At its showing in New York City, the crowds were so tremendous that extra exhibitions of the film had to be shown to the overflow crowd. A stampede of 4,500 persons struggling to get into the main lecture room of the American Museum of Natural History went beyond the control of the museum's uniformed guards and necessitated the calling of police reserves.

Mr. Rust says that Einstein's Theory is something all educated and cultured people should understand. In the past it has been tremendously difficult to explain orally but in motion pictures it has been made perfectly plain.

This film has been brought directly from New York at a great expense for showing at Santa Barbara State college.

Owing to the depth of meaning of this film, the attention needed from beginning to end and the necessity of quietness during its showing, students and faculty are requested to take their places as soon as possible and not loiter in the rear of the auditorium. The doors will be closed exactly at 11:05.

Persons who are late or have to leave before the film is finished, will please sit in the balcony as moving around disturbs those whose attention is being given to the theory.

running for office, will act as the election board. Counting of votes will begin at 3:30 o'clock in the student body office. Only members of the election board will be admitted. Results will be posted on the bulletin board of the Administration building as the votes are tallied.

LATEST CAMPUS STYLES REVEAL SMART CHANGES

Planning a new golfing costume? Why not consider a knitted wool suit with sleeveless belted jacket and mesh blouse?

From the early hours of morning sports to the "wee smas" of dancing, the smart shoe is the sandal—its formality appropriate to the event.

"Button, button! Who has the button?" The answer is "the lady of fashion." On her white frock she has several of them—gay splashes of color against the snowy "blanche."

Little Orphan Annie with her gingham apron has nothing on us these days! That once lowly fabric is now fashioned into chic little frocks, hats, separate jacket, scarf and handbag set.

"I must down to the sea again!" Or if she can't really go to the sea, at least she can feel nautical in one of the many variations of the sailor hat — perhaps a white one with a gay feather adding a dash of color.

Heigh! Ho! Back to favoritism races the swagger coat with its breezy, carefree flare from shoulder to hem. But its fullness may be gathered in at the belt—and it may be developed in mixture tweeds.

Stanley McCormick Presents Picture Projector To S.B.S.C.

The student body was given a pleasant surprise in yesterday's assembly when Mr. William Rust, director of the visual education department, announced the presentation by Mr. Stanley McCormick of an up-to-date motion picture projection machine to supplement the one now in use. This came as a total surprise, even to Mr. Rust, being solely a courtesy of Mr. McCormick resulting from his great interest in visual education.

This new machine will make possible elimination of the pauses between reels which have in the past interrupted the audience's train of thought. It is, therefore, greatly appreciated by the men in the projection room and the entire student body of Santa Barbara State College.

STATE GRADUATE NOW PROMOTING HAWAII HEALTH

Miss Hazel Severy received a letter from Miss Bess Exton, '24, supervisor of nutrition of the Hawaiian Islands, in which she told her that the legislature of Hawaii decided to continue and develop health work rather than cut down on it. Due to this Miss Exton has received a considerable raise in salary as her work is recognized as some of the finest constructive health work carried on in Hawaii. Miss Exton graduated from State in January, 1924.

It was also learned that Miss Dorothy Faulkner, '21, who is teaching at Hilo, was married in March to Mr. Rex Bacchus of Honolulu. The couple expect to make their future home in Honolulu. Miss Faulkner received her teaching credentials from State in December, 1921.

ROMER, FUTURE DRAMA MANAGER, PLAYS 'JONESY'

Ben Romer, who is the only candidate running for the office of manager of dramatics, oratory, and debate next year, is playing an important role in "Jonesy," this year's three-act play, which is to be presented at the Lobero Theatre on May 22.

According to Doris Rodehaver, manager, Ben Romer is developing the part of Mr. Jones with full appreciation of the humor. The play is a delightful comedy, according to those who have read it, and allows for much humorous interpretation.

Although Ben Romer has never acted in any of the college three-act plays, he took part in two one-acts this year, and has participated in several Community Arts plays at the Lobero Theatre.

Take advantage of the little opportunities and you won't have to wait for a big one.

IT'S WORTH KNOWING

That Mr. William Warren Peters, instructor of mathematics and physics, worked his way through college by taking care of furnaces, washing windows, mowing lawns, driving cars, and taking charge of babies, even the baby of the Greek professor; that he was born in Keokuk, Iowa on the Mississippi River; that he received his early schooling in Illinois and Iowa; that he obtained his A.B., M.S. degrees at Knox College, Illinois, and his M.S. and E.E. degrees at the University of Illinois; that after graduating from Illinois he went to work for the General Electric Co. in Schenectady much to the disgust of his employer who wanted him to go into the lumber business; that he worked for the General Electrical Co. for eight months when the European War displaced him from a position and he started teaching school since there was no work for an electrical engineer; that seven months later there was considerable work when the United States entered the War; that he started teaching in Savanna on the Mississippi River and liked it so well that he has been at it ever since; that his pet hobby is magic and experimenting and his pet aversion is people who blow their own horns; that while in college he was on the debating team and had the leading role in the senior play; that he came to California in 1920 and taught school at Santa Ana for one year; that he felt good when he beat a Stanford man out of his present position here; that he was a member of Adelphi, literary society, but he had no time for Greek honor societies or fraternities; that he likes football and baseball and has played both; that he is very much interested in good plays well done, but has no time for poor plays badly done; that he is married and has three children; that he was valedictorian of his class and therefore he hasn't amounted to much.

LETTERS FROM THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Fellow Students:

In the past the office of Student Body President has been more or less a social position due to the size of the institution. Recently this has been changed in the most drastic way; the office has been changed from that of a social position to one of executive and business leadership.

In the past the President of the College was able to handle all executive affairs, as they were small. Due to the increase in our student body, it is essential that the President of the College must have a Student Body President whom he will be able to trust in matters of business judgment and executive commissions.

No longer does the Student Body President have to be of the blustering, ballyhoo type. These qualifications are left for the song and yell leaders as part of their duties. The president must be able to officiate, to guide, to enthuse in the proper direction, to talk, must possess personality, and spirit used in the right way.

A common fallacy of public opinion, or mob-psychology is that people are very easily influenced by ballyhoo. This common trait is found in any race and in any walk of life. Obviously it should have little influence in an institution of learning, where we have a select group composed of students able to reason.

Don't forget that our College is growing and that we are coming to be classed among the highest ranking schools in the southwest. Let us get organized and give them the best we have.

—James L. Kent.

Fellow Students:

This year, with our entry into larger athletic circles, a new era in the field of sports is opened to us. Our teams have little to lose and everything to gain. Support of the students is a necessary factor to our success; not a mere handful of half-interested spectators and possibly a yell leader, but the entire student body and every song and yell leader at every athletic event.

The band was a cogent force in stimulating and developing school spirit during our last football season, but there has been no provision made for the continuation of our band next year. Cliff Leedy formed the band without any means of support. The sinking fund donated a little, and some was raised by a benefit, "Campus Revue" program, and somehow the band was able to get by.

This fall, I am heartily in favor of forming a Department of Musical Organization, to include the band, glee clubs, orchestra, etc. This organization to have a student manager, working under Mrs. Barnett and Mr. Leedy, and to have a definite part in our student body, supported partly by student body funds, and to play and entertain at our pep rallies, games and all student activities. Our college is rapidly growing, and I believe the time has come for us to include in our student body, a Department of Musical Organizations.

This is merely a suggestion in one line of development. Our opportunities in several lines are practically unlimited, so let's get behind and push, and make next year the most progressive and successful year ever.

Wesley Dickenson.

THE EDITOR SPEAKS

HONOR

THE honor system, once the pride and glory of many a college, has disappeared into the void. A striking example of this right here at home is the practice of placing students several seats apart when examinations are given in the auditorium, and the necessity of using two or more sets of questions when the small size of the classroom prevents such spacing.

A new comer might at first question the necessity of taking these precautions; but after observing the action of a class during an examination in which the questions are written on the blackboard and the students in adjacent seats, he would see that instructors are entirely justified in their distrust of the students.

Students, apparently, care not at all for the responsibility placed upon them, either to refrain from cheating themselves or making the system effective by reporting cases of same which come under their notice. It is so much "easier" to be seated alternately and have the temptation removed by the patrolling of an instructor.

A modified honor system in itself is highly desirable. But it takes an exceptionally high type of individual to keep it functioning even in a small school where students know one another well. Certainly the student in a college where personal responsibility and honesty is practised can be prouder of himself than can one whose integrity must be guarded for him.

—P. H.

BULLETIN BOARDS

THERE seems to be some misconception by certain students as to the purpose of the bulletin boards in the quad and administration building. As soon as a notice is posted, whether it pertains to "Lost and Found" or is a formal notice of an important meeting, someone is sure to write his little addition on the paper. This habit of scribbling on posted notices should have been outgrown in the entrance from high school but seems still to be present in certain members of the student body.

It should be remembered that the bulletin boards have but one purpose, and that is to convey information to the persons interested. They are not to be used as scratch paper for the students and are not posted as a means for a few "wise-crackers" to display their high school wit.—P. H.

IN MODERN CIVILIZATION

THE UNITED STATES is not the only country which has a liquor problem. Every major nation in the world recognizes that drunkenness is a great evil. That conviction is growing as civilization becomes more and more interlocking, more specialized and mechanized. Dependability is becoming a greater and greater factor in our social life, and drunkenness destroys dependability. Drunkenness, therefore, becomes a major vice.

—Professor Thomas N. Carver, Harvard University.

The annual Spanish Fiesta held at Santa Ana J. C. will be recorded by Fox Movietone this year. The pictures will be shown in theatres all over the United States.

Men at San Jose State, not to be outdone by the co-eds of the institution who have adopted the summer style of going stockingless, have established a "Knicker Day," wherein short pants and hairy legs will be in vogue.

College men no longer collect souvenirs. At least, not on the giant scale of a few years ago, for Berkeley police in their annual fraternity canvass recently found the smallest number of contraband mementos in their history. Only seven signs and two fire hose nozzles were found.

THEATRES

GRANADA

Last night marked the reopening of the Granada Theatre. The management has very wisely selected a good picture — George Arliss in "The Millionaire." The story deals with a self-made millionaire forced to take a rest-cure, tries a work-cure of his own, and takes a course of lessons from two young lovers on how to be happy though rich. Supporting Mr. Arliss are Mrs. Arliss, David Manners, Evalyn Knapp, and Noah Beery.

CALIFORNIA

Last times tonight — Douglas Fairbanks in "Reaching for the Moon" in which the famous actor portrays a sensationally successful young stock broker who cuts a swath both in the financial and love market. The cast includes Bebe Daniels, Jack Mulhall, and Edward Everett Horton.

Tomorrow night, "Hell Bound," starring Leo Carrillo, opens at the California. It is a story of gang life in which Carrillo plays with conviction the role of Nick Cotrelli, the master of men and the king of the killers.

ROSE

El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay combine forces to make a delightful comedy "Mr. Lemon of Orange," now playing at the Rose. Brendel plays two roles—the toy salesman, and the racketeer.

Opening Thursday — "Laugh and Get Rich" with Edna Mae
