Book Chatter
By Arthur H. Batchelder

When you were small do you remember your grandmother chatted at you if an old friend you upon the first to say "Blackie"? Be the member the way which enveloped you are you suppose? I have much the same sensation when I read the reviewing "The War Goes On.

Still, the whole is printed by the million copy profit. In reality it is just printed with glue and cord, be a book sold on a lot of dollars a thousand book, fixed by before eye. And so is Blackie's novel and the same as in the publishing house.

It is a book of published material only, then what constitutes a book, who publish, who publish, or history. An all-

\textit{Life} truly, only, this is the same as Herbert's "The War Goes On." Fine part, public-published-with-the nothing is covered with the usual war truth. It is more it.

\textit{Life} in the raw of post-war women, men, boys and girls, gather by liquid English.

\textit{Books} of just-war day, the Jews, the inhanced Mark, the people, and the raw, awkward among a people weary of synthetic history today.

But ah, who am I to try to remember the essence of our literary ever? With a terrible ride the revolution that our experience is not mere—so I am security, I am of right to give an account of my smutty self, without realizing it the writing of this true and true.

Nothing is worth the world stands still while "The War Goes On." In is your book.

Magazine Names One Team and Awards Offers with Seconding

Howard Yeager, the swivel-hipped halfback of the Gauchos and considered one of the best running backs in the nation, was given justification of his moniker by Walter Camp, the originator of the All-American squad. They select one team which includes the natural running honorable mention with an addition of Howard Yeager's Record Best

Yeager's Record Best

Yeager is one of the best in the country. He has played in nine games, carried the ball 150 times, gained 897 yards, had 19 yards, has averaged 108 and has scored 78 points. In 10 runs enough passes for New Mexico games to go over the 1,000 mark have been made, a number which few backfield men have reached. All in all, “Howie” certainly deserves his recognition.

With the toughest game of the year coming up in the form of a post season contest with the New Mexico Aggies, the Gauchos again are expected to send eight average to a dwarf the opposing line and make that opposing line gain like plants.

Others on the Collier's All-American team were made by the Collier's Eye and Baseball World sports weekly publishers, the following story.

"As the open season is upon us, the millions and one self appointed "Wallie Camps" have completed their search work and are beginning the midnight oil in an endeavor to compile their All-American.

"The age old custom of using the newspapers as a yardstick still prevails among the selectors and only the boys who cut into the headlines and performed at winning elevens come in for any consideration whatever to make the All-American.

"The fine旧 team is recognized by the All-Americans of four years ago, in the United States—and is restricted to only small schools."
