STUDENT BODY PICNIC TO BE HELD TONIGHT AT TUCKER'S GROVE

Box Lunch Feed to Feature Evening; Informal Dance Later

Tucker's Grove will be the scene this afternoon and tonight of a picnic and informal dance which promises to be one of the best socials of the year.

Featuring the affair will be a box lunch, made up by the women and purchased by the men at a price not exceeding fifty cents. In the distribution of the lunches, a "mixer" will be instituted, the men being compelled to eat with the woman who made the lunch. In order to prevent the lunches from being distinguished, each will be placed in a paper sack, to disguise identity.

Following the lunch, and beginning at 8:30, an informal dance will occupy the remainder of the evening, breaking up at 11:30 p.m. A pick-up orchestra with three varieties of syncopation will furnish the tunes.

Games during the later afternoon will precede the lunch, which will be auctioned at 6:30 p.m. under Keith Gunn's salesmanship. Ruth Chalmers has charge of the games.

The social tonight is the first one of its type in the history of the college. Next week a beach party will be held under the direction of the social committee, which is fostering the affair tonight.

Constitution Course is Compulsory Next Year

No student who is a candidate for a degree will be permitted to take the United States Constitution Examination, but will be required to take the college course covering the constitution after August 31, 1926, according to a ruling passed by President Phelps Wednesday.

This ruling does not affect June and August graduates of this year. Neither does it apply to certificate graduates. The ruling was adopted to prevent gaining credit for the course by cramming for an examination one evening.

Tea Dansant Given High School Women By A.W.S. Saturday

Santa Barbara High School's girl graduates will be elaborately entertained by the Associated Women Students of the college at the annual Tea Dansant Saturday afternoon between the hours of three and five.

The event is an annual tradition with the A.W.S. and this year Clara Parrett, who is in charge of the Dansant, has arranged a program which will prove very interesting for both the College and High School girls. It consists of vocal solos by Angelina Aliverti and Dorothy Mansfield, dances by Margaret Patrick and Pearl Crawford, a reading by Janice Irwin, and a pianologue by Helen Kirshner. Dancing and cards will also be a part of the afternoon's entertainment.

Various committees are actively at work perfecting plans for the afternoon. The chairmen are Dorothy Kimes, decorating; Edith Comstock, music; Katherine McClean, serving; Gretchen Ziegler and Margaret Kitchener, publicity; Sophia Wells, card tables; Grace Miksch, refreshments; and Charline Hord, clean up.

An orthophonic phonograph has been furnished by Bolton and Jones for the Dansant. "This firm has shown its good will toward the college again by furnishing the orthophonic," Clara Parrett stated. "This act is greatly appreciated by the A.W.S."

Miss Allison has obtained a month's leave of absence from her institution to visit schools on the Pacific Coast.

Both instructors expressed much pleasure and appreciation for the type of work carried on in this college.

MEN'S CLUB PICNIC SUNDAY AT PARADISE CAMP IN MOUNTAINS

Everyone Invited to Big Event Closing Year For Men's Club

The first outdoor affair to be given by the Men's Club this year will take place Sunday at Paradise Camp in the form of an all-day picnic. Plans arranging for the picnic are indicative of an exceptionally good time for those who attend.

Joe Kellem is in charge of the event and Ted Marshall is to be chef for the dinner, which will be served at 1 p.m. Keith Gunn, who was to have been in charge of entertainment, was unable to take this position because of other duties.

Before and after the dinner all sorts of games will be enjoyed by those present, including volley ball, indoor baseball, horseshoes, and even swimming, which is made possible by the nearness of the Santa Ynez River to Paradise Camp.

Tickets will be sixty-five cents for one person and $1.25 for two. Children will be charged half price.

Everybody intending to go to the picnic is asked to sign the notice on the bulletin board today so Mr. Marshall will be able to make arrangements for food. The list of signatures will be taken down at 3:15 this afternoon.

VOTE

President O'Reilly remarked this week, "Since citizenship is a prominent course in all schools nowadays and students are supposed to become model citizens, they certainly should demonstrate their training during the opportunity offered in school elections.

Many students haven't taken a very active interest in Student Body meetings and business during the year, but now is the chance to exercise the power to decide who will wield the gavel in the more important Student Body offices next year. The issue should extract a record vote today, but such will require the co-operation of every student.

VOTE

JOURNALISTIC COMPETITION

Establishment of college newspaper competition among the college weeklies of State and Junior Colleges in California as planned by The Eagle in cooperation with President Phelps will go a long way toward the development of high journalistic standards in the smaller college papers. It will afford a goal to work toward and should draw out the best efforts a college staff has.

There are many existing competitions among high school papers in different classes and among university dailies, but this would be the first effort toward competition in the field of secondary college weeklies in California.

VOTE

Complaint has been made of the carelessness of students in leaving waste from lunches and discarded materials around the campus where it is unsightly and attracts ants. It should not be necessary to remind the students that a campus reflects the attitude of the students and a neat campus reflects a Student Body that is careful in its observation of details.

THE EAGLE SQUAWKS

LET'S HAVE SOME MINOR SPORTS

At present the only men's sports are the four major athletics: football, basketball, track and baseball. Upon these four sports hinge all possibilities for fulfillment of the men's P.E. requirements. The time which these can be taken is limited to certain restrictive hours late in the afternoons.

In addition to the major athletics, practically every college has its list of minor sport activities, such as swimming, tennis and golf. These are used also for the fulfillment of Physical Education requirements.

Thus the wide choice of sport activities makes it possible for fulfillment of these requirements without relinquishing other activities which necessarily require time during the afternoon.

An objection to minor sports is that there is no equipment on the campus for these activities. There is no swimming tank, no tennis courts, and no golf course. Therefore, it is argued, it is impossible to conduct these sports.

If that be the case, how does track and baseball exist, as a college sport? There is no diamond on the campus, and no suitable track oval exists. The answer is that the men just naturally go to a field where practice can be held.

The town has municipal tennis courts, and several swimming tanks can be obtained. Golf courses are plentiful. Why cannot these be used?

It is just as easy to fulfill tennis practice hours on the municipal courts as it would be on private college courts. Swimming classes can be conducted in the town pools as well as on the campus. Golf conditions would be identical.

Especially during this time of year such sports would be welcomed by the men of the campus. Of course, it is too late for any action this year, but it could be made ready for next year.

College to Establish Journalistic Competition Among State Colleges

Plans were initiated this week for an intercollegiate press contest to be held among the State and Junior Colleges of California. President Phelps expressed his interest in the project of competition among college weeklies in the secondary colleges of the state early this week and promised cooperation in securing arrangements for competition.

The purpose of the contest would be to develop high standards of journalism in college papers. It is believed that college papers are the organs to be moralized if the future public daily papers are ever to be placed on a high plane of ethics.

President Phelps feels that the competition would benefit the college papers and college journalism materially by the competition which would be judged on a basis of a standard of rules to be drawn up by a journalist prominent in the field of newspaper ethics. Such a set of rules would be submitted to the various colleges for approval, and the college papers would be invited to enter the contest.

In judging the contest a prominent journalist would be called upon to criticize a volume containing every number of the college paper for an entire year and award prizes according to the manner in which the paper lives up to the set of rules upon which the contest is based.

Chester Rowell May Judge

Efforts will be made at the college to establish the contest immediately. Circular letters will be sent to the editors of the college papers and President Phelps has consented to discuss the proposition with the college presidents and arrange for the services of a judge. Chester Rowell, noted syndicate writer and former editor of a prosperous California daily, will probably assume this position. President Phelps also believes that material prizes can be secured for awards to the winners of the contest each year.

Judging a complete volume of college weeklies at one time instead of merely sample issues of the publication would eliminate the possibility of awarding the prizes to publications that submit only such extraordinary issues as occasionally are published by any paper.

College Students Play in Community Production

A number of college students took parts in the latest Community Arts play, Mary the Third, at the Lobero Theater last week. Among them were Roscoe McGuire, Literary and Dramatics manager at the college, who played the role of Bobby, Adele Miles as Lettie, and Marjorie Holland, '25, as Mary the second.

Miss Glesca Marshall, a student last semester who has played in a number of Community Arts plays during the last two seasons, has gone to Boston where she will play with the Boston Repertory Company in the Copley Theater. Miss Marshall's most memorable role in Community Arts productions was that of Maria in Lilium last year.

Island Trip Called Off Due To Rough Sea

The trip to the islands planned for last Saturday and Sunday was postponed indefinitely late Friday afternoon when it was believed that the high wind blowing at that time would not quiet down sufficiently to afford the passengers of the Sea Wolf a pleasant journey the following morning. Since the rest of the college year is crowded with social events, it is extremely doubtful that the college students will be able to make the trip again before August.

Although the wind had stopped and the ocean appeared calm enough Saturday morning, the trip was not made because the return journey Sunday afternoon or early Monday morning was considered inadvisable.

Practically all of the provisions were returned and trip expenses refunded this week.

Bulletin of Courses Next Year Will be Simple

"Simplicity" will be the distinguishing feature of the bulletin of courses to be offered at the college next year which will be released within a week. Inaugurating an unusual departure from the usual college bulletin, President Phelps has arranged for a manual of courses in the simplest form possible. There will be no reference to various pages so confusing to the reader.

A few paragraphs will suffice to describe the requirements for lower division students and those for the upper division. Then the reader will be directly introduced to the course outlined in the various departments and divisions with the requirements in simplified form. Explanatory footnotes will be interspersed to aid the reader. Following the outline of courses will come the description of the courses in detail which will conclude the bulletin.

It is the opinion of President Phelps and Mr. Jacobs that the college will be criticized for making its bulletin so clear and Dr. Ellison declares that he will be robbed of his favorite pre-semester speech—that a student should be able to pass every course in the institution if he can read the bulletin intelligently.

Proofs arrived from Sacramento Tuesday and were returned for resetting of corrections yesterday. The college will continue next year on the same basis of lower and upper divisions with less stress upon departmental divisions as begun this year.

College Night Plans Are Nearing Completion

Plans for College Night are nearing completion under the direction of Miss Severy. The committees appointed have been meeting and working out their share in the program. The committees are finance, advertising, stage and properties, social, costumes, roll of colleges, program, music, court decorations and clean-up.

The stage set will not be very elaborate, but it will be suited to the play produced and will be interesting and novel. The cast of the farce is rehearsing and the skit bids fair to be a most amusing piece under the direction of Miss Severy and Roscoe McGuire; it is a typical college play and ought to find great favor here. With all of the committees working so busily College Night will no doubt be the best function of the year.

Sororities Play Baseball Tuesday Afternoon At College

Next Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 at the college has been set as the date of the sorority challenge baseball game between the Phi Kappa Gamma Allmoons and the Delta Zeta Delta Want-to-be's. The women have not practiced yet and will practice on anybody who says they have, if they hear it.

The celestial nine are the challengers and the ambitious team is the other side. Last year's inter-sorority game became more hilarious than exciting and it is predicted that Tuesday's clash will be strenuous for the spectators.

The T.B.C.'s have not withdrawn their challenge to play the winners of this stick-fest according to the latest reports. This game will come off in the future, let us hope.

Ericson to Meet Abbott In Final Frame of Net Tournament

Another stage in the faculty tennis challenge tournament was reeled off Wednesday afternoon when Dr. Ellison and Mr. Ericson, challengers, succumbed to the varied attack of Philip Brotherton and Michael Abbott 6-3, 6-3, in a fast match of doubles. Since Dr. Ellison defeated both Brotherton and Abbott last week and Brotherton defeated Mr. Ericson early this week, the student win in the doubles match Wednesday makes the score even all around.

Now it remains for the match of singles between Mr. Ericson and "Mike" Abbott this afternoon to finish the tournament. Whoever wins this match wins the tournament, for it is the deciding contest. Mike has promised to fight for the students, but Mr. Ericson also intends to keep his feet under him. The outcome is rather in doubt.

Permanent Posters Made To Announce Meetings

Several permanent posters to announce meetings of the various college organizations were made this week under the authorization of the Pep Committee. These posters merely announce the meetings that will take place on the day on which they are exhibited in the corridor, being placed conspicuously whenever a meeting is scheduled.

It is hoped, by this arrangement to eliminate excuses for failure to attend the meetings of the various organizations.

BASEBALL SQUAD TO PLAY LOYOLA AT LOS ANGELES TOMORROW

Team in Good Condition For Second Game Of Season

The Roadrunners are to play their second game of the season tomorrow with Loyola at Los Angeles. The game starts at 2:30 and will be played at Loyola. There isn't very much known about the Lions but it is conceded that they will have a strong gang for competition tomorrow.

Last season the Lions came north and took a 5 to 1 decision from the Roadrunners by dint of fast fielding and base-work. Although Anderson struck out eight men to McDermott's six and allowed only three hits while Mac was touched for seven, the Lions used their hits to an advantage and made good use of Santa Barbara's errors. Loyola rallied for four tallies in the fourth frame when McDermott walked, Lowry gained the first sack by failing to dodge a wild pitch, Marshall brought McDermott home with a single, Lowry and Marshall scored on an overthrow at first which let Harvey on, and Duffy drove in Harvey with a second hit.

That was enough to cinch the game last year and it is believed that a repetition will be attempted by the Catholics tomorrow. At any rate, the Roadrunners know the brand of baseball played by the southern team and should put up a strong defense.

This year the Roadrunners will present a strong team for the Loyola contest. The probable lineup will be Furman behind the club, Anderson on the mound, Hartley on the initial sack, Asakura on the second heap, Aquistapace at short, Clemore on the third hill and Sawyers, O'Reilly and Leedy in the outer gardens. The gang has been working out hard for the past two weeks at West Peabody field, and should come through tomorrow's contest in fine shape.

Loyola has practically the same team this year as it had last year and Caltech is already listed among its victims this year. If the Roadrunners succeed in holding Loyola tomorrow, it will mean a feather in their cap for the rest of the season.
