HEY! EAT STATE & A!

DEBI RAMOS/Daily Nexus

After noon downtown, the air gets hot and sticky and little gnats abound. Rest assured, friend, for the weary traveler or the just plain famished, when such sweltering conditions prevail, there is no better oasis of shade, salad, steak and cerveza to retreat to than the State & A Bar and Grill.

Parched and hungry, the juices of my stomach roiling for more, I made my way to the State & A one anonymous afternoon and collapsed into a chair out on the patio as a cooling blanket of shade fell across my sorry hide. Quickly, a cool breeze from the street caressed my overheated forehead. Quickly, a waitress appeared.

My order was snatched from me with lightening speed and, as if she were some Barbara Eden clone released from a '60s Technicolor bottle instead of a mere mortal hostess, food and drink appeared in a magic cloud of purple smoke. OK, so it wasn't that fast, but I sure was as satisfied as Larry Hagman when my meal appeared before me promptly and smelling fine.

What I ordered: a Philly cheese steak, steaming hot, with flowing fountains of cheese coursing over plump sliced peppers wedged between spicy strips of steak, and all between two halves of a mouthwatering crispy roll. On the side, an order of buffalo wings, which gave me just enough time — from the time the wings almost touched my lips to the time they nearly burnt my entire face off with their delectable juice inferno — to save my face, tongue and upper respiratory tract by dipping my swollen, satisfied lips into the cool relief of a cerveza or two.

What I didn't order: a pal of mine spotted me from across the street and joined me in the shade for a moment of rest, food and relaxation. It came as a wonderful afternoon surprise. After he availed himself of the State & A's salad bar, we talked of life and sampled some more of the grill's delicious appetizers. By all that was good and right and true, this was real food, a real meal — yes, an experience.

Alas, as the sun sank still lower over the horizon, we realized that, like a hearty meal through the digestive tract, all things must pass. The waitress graciously presented us with the check and we exited this little street-corner Eden, our bellies full, our appetites momentarily sated, our blood cool, one eye to the street ahead and one eye looking back, over our shoulders, to the gastronomic paradise we had left behind.

It was a good meal.

The State & A Bar and Grill is located at 1201 State St. in Santa Barbara. For more information, call 966-1010.

TRAVEL FAR EAST!

THE FRESHEST SUSHI IN GOLETA AND A WHOLE LOT MORE!

As any Isla Vistan knows all too well, the four basic I.V. fast food groups are burgers, pizzas, burritos and smoothies. What should a hungry and adventurous student, looking for a quick, cheap fix, do when they don't want another dose of the usual routine? Time to head out for some sushi and Asian cuisine at Far East.

Though there are about a half dozen or so sushi bars in the Santa Barbara and Goleta area, Far East will satisfy your specialty palate and won't leave a big dent in your wallet/purse. Sushi is definitely not as readily available as the four basic fast food groups, and neither is it as cheap, but at Far East, this is not the case.

You can choose from eight wonderful types of single orders (two pieces) of sushi, as well as 18 different types of rolls, including the traditional ones such as the California Roll, without worrying about not having enough cash for dessert (assuming you have room for it). There are even some full dinner dishes, such as sweet and sour chicken, for the less-adventurous diner.

The delicious sushi selection includes salmon, bass, shrimp, eel, tuna, hokki clam, scallop and smelt egg. Depending on whether a certain fish is in season, the menu may slightly vary, so the fairly wide selection could be easier to choose from. On top of that, the owner and cooks are constantly creating and updating new types of rolls for your pleasure.

A fine recommendation for the first-time sushi-goer is the sampler platter. Featuring various types of raw sushi and a few cooked and tempura pieces along with some fairly tame spider rolls, it allows the diner to taste a wide range of treats and not leave feeling like it was just an appetizer. The only warning is go mellow on the wasabi and soy sauce — they're pretty strong.

Another thing you'll be sure to be stoked on is the friendly service and prompt order time. But what if you don't have the time to sit and relax and enjoy the meal? No problem, Far East has take-out. And don't worry, the quality is the same as the dine-in and even faster.

So the next time you're in the mood for some quality, authentic sushi, or just want to break away from the four basic food groups and not spend a whole lot, Far East is the definite choice.

Far East Oriental Restaurant is located at 5877 Hollister Ave. in the heart of Old Town Goleta. Call 683-4341 for more information.

And when selecting the meal, you've got a vast library of choices, including pastas, sandwiches, steaks, seafood and pretty much anything else you can find in a Land Rover while roaming the plains! Not to mention a wide variety of salads and other delights for the light eater!

As for mixed drinks, the bar is expansive and holds bottles from here to uncharted territory. From the sophisticated martini to the standard rum and Coke, each one is a delight that will get you drunk fast — so designate a driver.

But it's the accommodations Elephant Bar offers that is the tops — they've got rooms galore for parties, meetings, or even get-togethers. All you gotta do is call to reserve one, and they'll be happy to help.

THE PRESS ROOM!

Working at a newspaper requires just three things: talent, hard work and a good place to go for a stiff drink after the hustle and bustle of the office dies down at the end of each day.

I'd like to think I qualify on the first two points, but after a recent voyage to downtown Santa Barbara, I now know where to head to take care of the third — The Press Room.

Recently, after a hard week of interviews and phone calls around the office, my boss asked me to take on a new beat. What I ended up doing I would hardly call work, but my easiest, and most pleasurable, assignment to date.

A few friends came along for the ride (I always ask someone else to drive) as I investigated this quality establishment, located at 15 East Ortega St. — tucked away from the normal State Street action.

The selection at first glance seemed satisfactory. Quality domestic and import ales and stouts were easily available at reasonable prices. The Wild Turkey and Coke I ordered turned up a beverage with a generous mix, light on the cola. That was all fine and good, but we still needed to find the meat of the story. How were their mixed drinks?

We decided to run the usual undercover scheme we use when doing pieces on the local bars. John would pose as a college student out for a night on the town on his 21st birthday, looking for an unusual concoction to celebrate with.

The bartender, a British fellow, produced quite an interesting mix, served in a cocktail glass for John. He called it a Santa Barbara Oil Slick, a clear beverage with a slight layer of something darker floating on the surface. I took a taste of it and found a delectable but mysterious mix. John consumed the remaining portion with some gusto to kick-start a night of which he would have little memory the next morning.

But aside from unusual and stiff drinks, The Press Room offered something which one is hard-pressed to find in Santa Barbara bars — an unusual atmosphere. Lining the walls of the bar are front pages of various newspapers, marking the events and happenings that are the highlights of both local and national history.

Now, while my investigation turned up some impressive findings, I am sad to say that in my search for the truth I overlooked one detail that night. Never did I find out what exactly went into a Santa Barbara Oil Slick. Looks like this may require a follow-up interview.

The Press Room is located at 15 E. Ortega St. in downtown Santa Barbara. Call 963-8121 for more information.

MIMI'S CAFE!

KAZUHIRO KIBUSHI/Daily Nexus

After eating lunch in Isla Vista one starts to get tired of the traditional sandwiches, pizza, and burritos. I wanted to try something new so I ventured out into Goleta, and found Mimi's International Cafe and Deli.

Upon arriving at Mimi's I realized that this was not some fast food chain or franchised eatery. This was the epitome of what Goleta represents — family-run businesses and service with a smile.

The expansive chalkboard menu covers the length of much of one wall, while a shrine to the original "Mimi" remains in one section of the cafe.

Located on Calle Real near Fairview, Mimi's International Cafe and Deli is a quaint restaurant with meals available for dine-in, take-out, and patio eating. The menu surely lives up to the restaurant's name. No matter what your personal taste in food happens to be, Mimi's has something for everybody.

Breakfast is served all day, while entrees range from traditional oatmeal to french toast and belgian waffles. Mimi's also has breakfast combinations and extraordinary bagel concoctions.

The most extravagant breakfast menu items are Mimi's international omelettes. Specialty omelettes include flavors from Canada, Greece, Italy, Mexico and beyond. For the picky eater Mimi's also lets you create a "Whatcha-ma-omelette" with whatever contents you desire.

Lunch at Mimi's features even more selection. The afternoon variety of meals includes a list of traditional and specialty hot and cold sandwiches, several pasta selections and a wide variety of salads.

The international flare carries through at lunch time as well. Mimi's features grilled chicken sandwiches with flavors from around the globe, such as Teriyaki, Ranchero, Americana and Tropical.

With a worldly variety of foods to choose from, Mimi's International Cafe more than lives up to its name. Whether you're in the mood for bagels, omelettes, pasta, sandwiches, salads or more — Mimi's is the destination. Next time you want to stray from I.V., just say "Meet Me At Mimi's."

Mimi's International Cafe and Deli is located at 5674 Calle Real in Goleta. Call 683-2392 for more information.
