Students join international housing plan

Bonds of friendship, understanding and cooperation between foreign and American students will be strengthened next semester through the newly created "International Hall," a cooperative living unit for both Foreign and American students.

Combining the features of student co-ops at Cal and UCLA with the advantages of living in an international atmosphere, students will be able to come in close contact with foreign students while cutting the costs of living.

Because all the responsibilities of operating a house will be shared, from washing dishes to purchasing the property, room and board for the 22 male students will be $70 per month. For the eight women who will board there, the cost will be $35.

Dr. Epstein, foreign student advisor, hails the project as "an opportunity for students to determine the policies of the living unit for themselves, to live at a reasonable cost and to become well acquainted with a small group, the composition of which will be American and foreign, male and female."

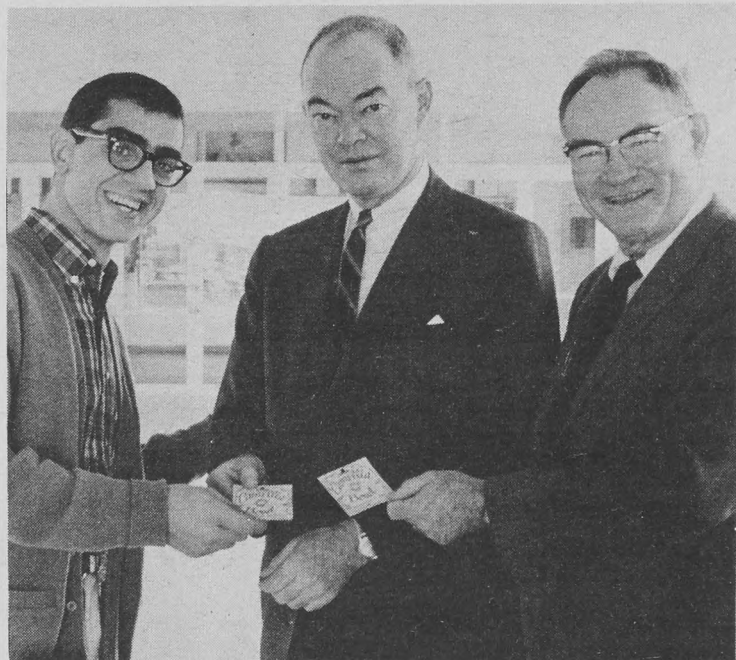

Those interested in the co-op for spring semester may meet with Dr. Epstein in his office, Adm. 3117, at 4 p.m. today. Vacancies are still available. Students may inquire about the co-op at the tables in front of the library today and tomorrow. Deadline date for applications is Thursday, December 16.

International Hall, located at 732 Embarcadero Del Norte in Isla Vista, will house about half American students and half foreign students in two-man rooms next semester after undergoing some sprucing up by students over Christmas vacation.

Financed privately and rented on a non-profit basis, the students will form a "corporation" which will handle any profits and will decide if any improvements on the house are to be made. At the end of five years, the "corporation" will have an option to buy the house at its original price. Male residents have decided that the women who will eat there will be full voting members of whatever organization is formed to direct and run the house.

These students will receive whatever assistance they request from the Dean of Students office in establishing active programs, panel discussions and other activities.

Epstein stated that the co-op would be an excellent and ideal way for American and foreign students to become acquainted.

CAMELLIAS IN MIND: A.S. President Ken Khachigian, Vice Chancellor Stephen Goodspeed, and football coach Jack Curtice grin optimistically at the prospect of a Gaucho victory over Los Angeles State in Saturday's Camellia Bowl. Camellia badges are still on sale from Honey Bears and band members, and round trip tickets to Sacramento for the game can be purchased today for the last time.

Send-off set for Gaucho gridders

With Camellias in mind, the Gaucho grid eleven embarks for Sacramento tomorrow at 5 p.m. via United Air Lines charter flight.

A send-off is slated at the Santa Barbara Municipal Airport with the Gaucho band out to give the gridders a fanfare.

"The rally will be scheduled for 4:30," commented head cheerleader Bill McKeever, "and I hope everyone can be there to demonstrate UCSB's support for a bunch of guys who have played their hearts out this season."

Meanwhile, student body president Ken Khachigian announced that many round trip train tickets on the San Francisco bound Lark express are still available.

"Today will be the last day they can be purchased," he said, "I also urge students to purchase Camellia Bowl pins in order for us to raise the funds necessary to send our band to the game."

The badges may be obtained from band members and Honey Bears at 50 cents each.

"Support for our team this year has been fantastic," he stated, "and I only hope that it will continue to be so."

Khachigian continued, "Los Angeles State is going all out in their support, as they have cancelled their Greek Week and plan to hold it in Sacramento in conjunction with the Bowl game."

"This game is for the Western small college championship, and I can't stress enough the importance to team spirit that come from the Students backing," he pointed out.

"So much depends on our rooting section, that I hope everyone will make an all out effort to make to the Camellia Bowl on Saturday," concluded Khachigian.

CONSERVATIVE SPOKESMAN

Buckley to lecture tomorrow

William F. Buckley Jr., editor of "National Review" and former Conservative candidate in the New York mayoral election, will lecture in Campbell Hall tomorrow at 4 p.m.

"Freedom in the Welfare State" is the topic announced by the AS Lectures Committee, a change from the previous subject, "Liberalism in the Welfare State."

As editor of "National Review" Buckley has led a team of conservative writers including Whittaker Chambers, John Chamberlain, John Dos Passos, and William Rickenbacker.

The magazine has sought to revitalize the conservative outlook and in its eight years of existence has topped the circulation level of its left-wing counterpart, "The New Republic."

Public attention was first afforded William Buckley in 1951 when he published "God and Man at Yale," a best-selling book which raised the question, "What are today's students being taught?"

Other books authored by Buckley include "McCarthy and His Enemies," "Up From Liberalism," "The Committee and Its Critics," and "Rumbles, Left and Right."

Public hearings set for AS constitution

By BARRY D. RUSS
Staff Writer

Public hearings on the proposed revised AS Constitution will be held next week said Mike Leong, Chairman of the Constitutional Revision Committee, at last night's Legislative Council meeting.

Regarding these public hearings AS President Ken Khachigian pointed out that the study and development portion of the constitution revision process has ended, but the aspect of open debate and obtaining student opinion and understanding has just begun.

The hearings for all interested persons will be held Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 1 p.m. in the art building, room 2336.

Khachigian called Council's attention to William F. Buckley's lecture which will be held 3 p.m. Thursday in Campbell Hall.

Sue Osborn, non-affiliated representative, told council that arrangements would be made for limited library hours during Christmas vacation. Student need, Miss Osborn felt, should be an important factor in determination of the exact hours. She therefore suggested that students who have a preference as to vacation library hours put their suggestions in the suggestion box in the library.

Eric Roth, chairman of the Activities Calendar Board, discussed with Council a proposal for a new type of board to coordinate student group activities. Roth's proposal pointed out that there is a need for a single agency to coordinate all University groups and their activities. Presently there is confusion as to just how certain groups, such as graduate groups, ought to clear for campus activities.

OPEN HOUSE

The first of a series of Faculty open houses for students last Friday night, was an overwhelming success reported Rick Schwartz, Student Affairs Committee chairman.

The homes of Dr. Paul Barret, (physics), and Dr. Hugh Kenner, (English) held capacity gatherings of students who informally discussed many problems with these faculty members.

Because of the enthusiastic response to this first effort, Schwartz suggested that the program would be enlarged in the future. All those interested in this type of student faculty relations ought to come by the

SFPA to debate new leadership, club organization

Possible Christmas Drive for Delano, a second semester teach-in, and new leadership and reorganization of students' for Free Political Action (SFPA) will be considered at the group's meeting tonight, SH 1131 at 8:30.

At a meeting Sunday, the Steering Committee of SFPA learned that chairman Lynden Evans is considering resigning as soon as a replacement can be found. The leadership problem will be considered tonight by the group at large.

Barry Winograd, Steering Committee member, proposed at the meeting that SFPA split sometime in the future into three separate groups: a Viet Nam Day Committee chapter, Students for a Democratic Society chapter, and a Delano Farm Committee, with SFPA remaining the overall group responsible for planning special rallies, etc. Winograd's proposal also will be considered and voted on tonight.

Also considered at the Steering Committee meeting were a Delano Farm Worker's Drive to be held the last week before Christmas vacation, and a teach-in on Viet Nam during the second or third week of the new semester.

Pub Board meets

Publications Board will meet today at 3 p.m. in Music 2218. All editors and members should be present for the final meeting of this year.

Membership consists of the seven publications editors, KCSB-FM General Manager, two Legislative Council members, Student Affairs Chairman and five faculty and staff members.

Of Swords and Ploughshares

Within a matter of days, Dr. Linus Pauling's latest entreaty for peace in Viet Nam will have reached the White House from Montecito.

Acting as spokesman for the Nobel Prize winners who sent world leaders a similar peace letter last August, Pauling related to Johnson the substance of Ho Chi Minh's "peace feeler."

Especially significant, noted Pauling, was the Hanoi leader's failure to make "mention of any prerequisites to the initiation of negotiations."

By implication, Johnson is Pauling's idea of the perfect negotiator, because Johnson, if his handling of domestic problems is any true indication of his potential, seems the right man to break the diplomatic ice.

"The killing, the maiming, and the burning should cease," ran part of Pauling's urgent appeal to the President. "I believe you and your advisors are wise enough to be able to find the way to achieve the goal of a cease-fire and a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam problem."

This, then, can be the redemption of politics. All the evil, creative talent of Johnson, which has previously gone to annihilating foes and wheedling balky steel executives, can become the new hope of peace.

How appropriate that young Lyndon was raised on the Scriptures and has finally come to the day when he may beat his sword into a ploughshare.

Mincing Words, Again

Charging that the Regents had "abdicated their leadership in the fight to control 'free speech' professors," Dr. Max Rafferty gave the distinct impression last week that "free speech" was incompatible with academic freedom.

First, he directed bitter criticism at the 24-member Board for what he called a failure to crack down on University professors who have "abused and prostituted their right to academic freedom."

Dr. Rafferty says that the Regents are not facing up to the "problem" out of sheer terror that a lot of Nobel Prize winners would leave the University if the Regents reprimanded them for expressing their opinions. As everyone knows, this is bad press.

But Rafferty nevertheless seemed certain that for every Nobel professor who might leave, two would remain if the Regents "stand up to the problem."

He went on to define academic freedom as "the right of an individual professor to speak in his own field of expertise, to label opinions as such, to pursue truth."

What he means, apparently, is that having discovered truth outside one's own discipline, one should properly keep quiet about it. We thought that Dr. Rafferty meant only in the classroom, but then he cited the involvement of many UC professors in the Free Speech Movement and our disbelief mounted.

A closer look revealed that what he was really doing by charging the professors with abuses of academic freedom was actually trying to put them on the defensive for expressing opinions in public which he thinks might embarrass the University. On the contrary, responsible stands on the issues are a credit to an institution of learning.

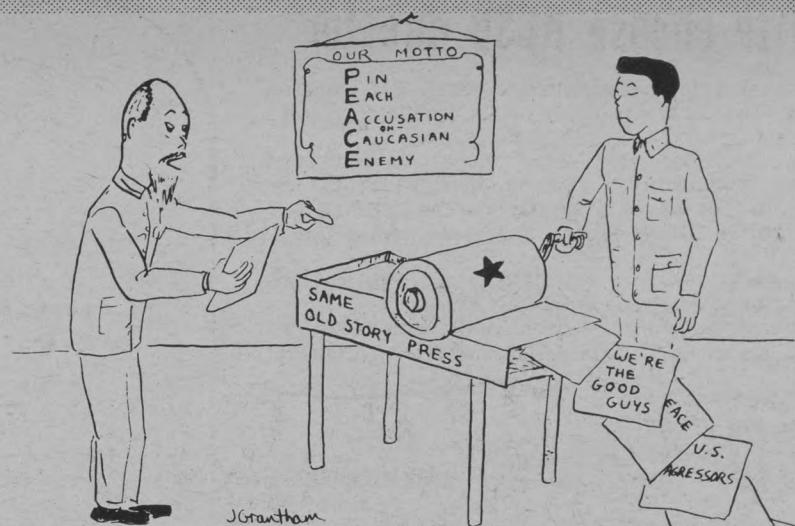

Needless to say, the ex officio political views of Dr. Rafferty--which are somehow not unknown to the public--have sometimes seemed to conflict with the views of UC faculty members.

Next time around Dr. Rafferty might emulate the straightforward example of the professors he has indirectly attacked by saying precisely what he means.

'Floating bottle' approach to war

To the Editor:

I was amazed by Thursday night's discussion between UCSB profs and the State Department representatives. I quite expected something capable of illuminating some new facets or at least some really pertinent data on the Viet Nam question.

I'm not setting myself up as a judge of lucid reasoning or attentiveness, but I do feel that the Vietnam question was approached as if it were a bottle floating in the middle of the ocean.

One statement to the effect that our presence in Vietnam is a safeguard against further aggression in S.E. Asia seemed a bad conclusion pointing to the right reasoning, yet nothing more was said of S.E. Asia as a whole, of the character of American policy there, or of the relation of other strategic S.E. Asian countries to the Vietnam question.

As he left, I asked one of the State Department speakers something about Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore; he said that he didn't know about him. I realize that he was tired by an extensive tour, and I sincerely hope that it was his exhaustion that made him reply in that manner, for if the State Department is that unaware, we're in trouble in or out of Vietnam.

Unjust justifying

To the Editor:

In justifying Rhodesia's unilateral action by use of American history, Mr. Singleton (EL GAUCHO, Dec. 1) disregards what he has been taught since his first course in American history. Any high school student knows that American Indian policy and American slavery are indefensible in terms of modern thought.

These policies have so long been denounced and exposed that it hardly follows that Mr. Singleton can say in sincerity that Rhodesia is "only following our good example." More succinctly, what is the point of using past wrongs against humanity to excuse injustice today?

Furthermore, the Declaration of Independence is revered by Americans not because it was a unilateral declaration of independence, but because it proclaimed certain principles which still present a challenge to the modern world. (The U.S. included.)

tion they include the right of equality before the law, "Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness"--the very rights which the Rhodesian white supremacists would deny the Negro majority.

Mr. Singleton's letter is an excellent example of how history may be distorted to support present day policies which are indefensible.

OPEN FORUM

Support lack seen

This Saturday the Gauchos, with or without student support, will take on the Diablos of Los Angeles State. This single athletic event will do more for promoting the name of UCSB than any past combination of social, cultural, and academic activities. For those three brief hours the Gauchos will battle for small college supremacy on the West Coast.

Intercollegiate athletics is the backbone of any campus. Perhaps of even greater significance is the role athletics plays in a University's reputation. What is associated with UCLA? A small percentage of people may think of Dr. D. Cram or Dr. Willard Libby or Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy. But the greater percentage would instantly reply, Beban or Alcindor, or Wooden.

Before 1960, Santa Barbara was hardly known outside of Goleta; in the past five years we have made a name for ourselves on the West Coast. Saturday we reach national prominence.

SALES 'SKY-ROCKET' TO 50

And yet it is evident that the Gauchos will be the only representatives from Santa Barbara at Hughes Stadium. Ticket sales have sky-rocketed to a grand total of 50. The Camellia Bowl badges have sold barely enough to pay for their printing--let alone for the band's trip. But why should the students buy a ticket or wear a badge? So what if L.A. State is sending their band? So what if the entire L.A. State Greek system is going, in toto, to the Camellia Bowl?

But Santa Barbara has no tradition. We are a new school and there are no antiquated, ivy-covered buildings. We don't have a stadium and the high school games have greater attendance. This year the forces of change have commenced. Next year a "stadium;" this year the Camellia Bowl.

Ask the players about student support. I doubt if the screaming crowd had anything to do with Mike Hitchman fighting for that two-point conversion against Santa Clara. Likewise, the human tunnel at Cal Poly didn't have much to do with the second half annihilation of the Mustangs.

After all, our players are paid so well; they can easily afford to spend three or four hours a day on the practice field. The University has so many snap courses for the athletics; and our recruitment policy allows the enlistment of "all brawn, no brain" athletics.

LAST DAY TO BUY TICKETS

Today is the last day to purchase the train and game tickets. The Gauchos will be prepared for Saturday's game; the band and many parents will also be present--Oh yes, I nearly forgot, about 50 students will be there.

You would think that the game would be well attended. The student rationalizes that it is so far and $14.00 is a lot of money! Michigan is 2000 miles away from Pasadena. The team is going to need every student's support. They have represented us so ably for a full season. Let us help them, in this, their most important 10th game.

Pub Board to choose KCSB director

Persons interested in the position of KCSB-FM General Manager will have the chance to apply for the Spring semester, according to present General Manager Denis Dutton.

"The job runs for a full year--from January to January," explained Dutton. "Applications will be accepted from any student, whether or not he is presently on the KCSB staff."

As for the matter of experience, Dutton suggested that it "might be helpful."

The new manager will be selected by the Publications Board at a meeting to be held soon after the new year.

As head of a campus communications facility, the KCSB-FM General Manager becomes a member of Legislative Council.

THE BLUEBIRD OF HAPPINESS HAS FLOWN THE COOP

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Knut Fusco.

Knut, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A," was awarded his B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, his M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and his D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was his. His intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was he happy? The answer, alas, was no. Knut—he knew not why—was miserable; so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, he was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that he flung himself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by, a liberal arts coed named Nikki Sigafoos came by with her Barby doll. She noted Knut's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said Nikki.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Knut peevishly.

"All right, I will," said Nikki. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche."

I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Knut shook his head.

"Have you ever watched a sunset? ... and then to a justice of the peace." Written a poem? Shaved with a Personna Stainless Steel Blade?"

Knut shook his head.

"Well, we'll fix that right now," said Nikki, and gave him a razor, a Personna Stainless Steel Blade, and a can of Burma Shave.

Knut lathered with the Burma Shave and shaved with the Personna and for the first time in many long years he smiled. He smiled and then he laughed—peal after peal of reverberating joy. "Wow-dow!" he cried. "What a shave! Does Personna come in injector style, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Gloriosky!" cried Knut. "And does Burma Shave come in menthol, too?"

"It does," said Nikki.

"Huzzah!" cried Knut. "Now that I have found Personna and Burma Shave I will never have another unhappy day."

"Hold!" said Nikki. "Personna and Burma Shave alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Knut. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said Nikki.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Knut. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said Nikki and removed it.

"Land's sakes, what a relief!" said Knut, now totally happy, and took Nikki's hand and led her to a Personna vendor and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Knut is a perfectly fulfilled man, both intellectually and personalitywise. He lives in a charming split-level house with Nikki and their 17 children and he rises steadily in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, he became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, he was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and he published a best-selling book called I Was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

Miller's 'Crucible' opens tonight, Luciano to perform in leading role

SALEM, 1692--James W. Baker as Deputy Governor of Danforth taunts confession out of servant woman, Linda Raymond, while Reverend Parris, Rob Thrasher, watches. Arthur Miller's tragedy, "The Crucible," will open tonight in the New Theatre, for an eight-night run.

Play is the second of drama series

Opening tonight in the UCSB New Theatre is Arthur Miller's powerful tragedy, "The Crucible," under the direction of Dramatic Art Department chairman, Dr. Stanley Glenn. The exciting drama about the Puritan purge of witchcraft in old Salem will play December 8-11 and 15-18. Curtain time is 8:30.

"The Crucible," by the author of "All My Sons" and "Death of a Salesman," is a combined historical play and parable about certain immediate parallel issues in our contemporary society--the "irresponsible pressures" according to drama critic Walter Kerr "which are being brought to bear on men... with the evasions and dishonesties into which cowardly men are daily slipping."

In the lead role of Proctor is Dale Luciano, the Dramatic Art Best Actor of 1965, who appeared in "You Never Can Tell" under Dr. Glenn's direction last semester. Also in the cast are familiar UCSB actors James W. Walker, who appeared in this summer's production of "The Taming of the Shrew" and Rob Thrasher, also a cast member in last year's "You Never Can Tell." Maria Cordero, acclaimed by critics for her role in the Youth Production of "The Miracle Worker," appears as Mary, and Holly Vocke plays the role of the temptress Abigail.

A mature college cast has been at work on the play for six weeks readying the Miller tragedy for its opening. Sets are designed by Richard Baschky with James Eby designing the lighting. The costumes are being designed by Jack A. Byers.

Tickets are available at the Arts and Lectures Box Office on the campus and the Lobero Theatre in Santa Barbara.

Music recital presented today

Department of Music presents students in recital, Wednesday, 4 p.m. Music building, 1145. There is no admission charge to this recital which is the third of a series.

Tim Kraus and Peter Bressler, violins, Linda Northrup, viola and Lan Condit, cello, will perform a string quartet by Hendrichs. Cellist Judy Hanson will play part of the C Minor Concerto by Bach and James Horton, violinist, will play a movement of Handel's B Minor Concerto.

Pianist Peggy Caton will perform works by Mozart and Brahms, and Linda Mitchell and Mary Rubey will present a Vivaldi duo. Flutists Stephanie Froula, Nancy Joyce and Holly Stubbs will perform a flute trio.

Rosemary Shurte, pianist, will play a Chopin Ballade and Janet Goochs, french horn, will present a movement of Hindemith's Sonata. Program concludes with a movement of Mendelssohn's Trio performed by Gail Abercrombie, Susan Lehn and Todd Crow.

Opera Workshop performances set

Departing from its customary practice, UCSB's Opera Workshop will present scenes from Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and Verdi's "Don Carlos" in four performances tonight through Saturday in the Arena Theatre.

Tickets for the 8:30 p.m. presentations are available at the Arts and Lectures box office and the Lobero theatre.

Directed by Miss Barbara Kinsey, acting assistant professor of music, the staging varies from previous Opera Workshop productions in that it focuses on scenes from operas rather than the full work.

According to Miss Kinsey, performing major scenes will give the student performers more training in acting. At the same time, she says, "more students will have an opportunity to perform, and different levels of student ability and musical training are represented." All but two students in the 29-member cast are undergraduates, she says.

Production emphasis will be on performance and costumes, with little scenery, and the small Arena Theatre necessitates an "in the round" presentation. Accompanying the cast will be a 30-piece orchestra conducted by Peter Racine Fricker, UCSB professor of music.

Selected for their contrast between tragic, comic and romantic opera, the scenes will feature student singers Stanton Carey, James Cowell, Joyce Thomas, Gene Manners and Jarrel Belcher in "Don Pasquale." Taking roles in "Don Carlos" are guest artist Betty Kimery, with student vocalists Ed Mooney, Holly Engle, Gary Williams, Jean Campbell and Bobette Stewart.

'36 squad honors gridders at awards banquet

A sports writer usually limits his opinions to the sports world but this writer has a hot tip for you on the celluloid wonderland of the cinema. The movie "Tokyo Olympiad" is a shoe-in for a Academy Award. It tops "Hud" and "Old Yeller." Don't try to compare it with "West Side Story," "The Tar-tars," "The Huns," "My Friend Flicka," or any of the great ones . . . they don't have a chance. It's not a film of facts and figures, and it's not even a history of the 1964 Games. In fact their isn't one frame of film on Peter Snell, the hero of the Games. If you're going to see the 200 meters, the 400 meters, the 400 meter hurdles, the 800 meters, the 1500 meters, the 5000 meters, the 110 meter hurdles, the high jump, the discus, or boxing, forget it. The theme is man and the challenge.

BEN POPE

There are some dramatic close up shots of Fred Hansen's face as he was standing on the runway before making his final try in the pole vault. Had Hadsen missed he would have finished fourth and become the first American to lose the pole vault since the event was initiated into Olympic competition in 1896. If he made it he would have won. Well he made it and the theatre audience went wild.

They went wild when Billy Mills came from behind to win the 10,000 and when Bob Hayes came from behind in the 100 and the 400 meter relay to give the U.S. two gold medals.

But the audience was quiet when the members of the Japanese women's volleyball team accepted their gold medals . . . they were all crying unashamedly. They had worked 10 hours a day two years under a man so cruel and demanding that he is hated by his own countrymen. . . the girls were forbidden male company and marriage.

There are some gymnastic routines in free exercise and on the horizontal bar that leave nothing to the imagination . . . You'll see two time marathon winner Abebe Bikila step away from the world's finest running machines.

If it doesn't get the Oscar for the best picture it could still win for best photography (in color), best costumes, film editing, sound, special effects, actors, actresses, art direction, and cinematography.

L.A. State's All-Everything defensive back, George Youngblood has been removed from the Diablo roster for "disciplinary" reasons. . . all the better for our passing attack. Now his friend Don Davis has quit too. Speaking of Bowl games, Tulsa went to seven straight from 1941-1947. . . after awhile they almost had bowl games on their regular season schedule.

Typographical mistake last week. . .

A D Pi's over Alpha Phis, 2-0. In other Panhellenic grid action, the Pi Phis edged the Thetas 12-6. Ben Pope got 72 points in 19 outings last year, and in two games this year he has 26. . . may be a good candidate for most improved if he keeps it up. Improvement was also shown in John Mortenson's recent performance against San Diego State. His all-time best mark in the 50 yard freestyle was 23.0 before he swam 22.8 against the Aztec's. His best in the 100 yard freestyle last year was 50.9. . . his time on Saturday, 50.0 (he has a career best of 49.2).

There is talk that the trouble down at Los Angeles might mushroom into a real dsaster. With Youngblood and Davis already gone there's no telling who's going to follow them. The attitude they're displaying is a far cry from the spirit that was shown Monday night at the Gaucho Awards Banquet. Every Gaucho griddier is ready to put out 101%, and that might be an underestimate. I'm going up to Sacramento not only to support the team, but also in hopes of seeing some eyes opened. If the Gauchos win everyone will say it was because L.A. wasn't at full strength. . . that's a real shame and an injustice to the fine group of men that Cactus Jack has assembled this year.

Present game ball to Curtice's Crew

By GARY FAYSASH
Sports Editor

Monday night was home-coming for Spud Harder's '36 crew of gridders, as they returned to Santa Barbara to pay tribute to the 1965 Gaucho football team.

And a great tribute it was, as a fine group of gentlemen gathered their spirit to add to the growing enthusiasm of coach Jack Curtice's crew.

The annual awards banquet turned out to be more than the usual formal speeches and presentation of trophies, as an overflow crowd of over 400 fans, players, parents, and supporters filled the El Paseo restaurant with reminiscences and hopes for Saturday's Camellia Bowl.

Emceeing the banquet and presenting most of the awards was head coach Curtice.

SENIORS AWARDED

Seniors swept most of the honors with the most valuable player trophy going to co-captain Bob Blindbury, UCSB's leading ground gainer. Topback award went to Fred Oppezzo, whose eight interceptions this past season kept him with the nation's best defensive half-back's.

Dick Kezirian, 235 pound tackle, nabbed top lineman honors, and halfback Bob Cordero was voted as the most inspirational player. Most improved Gaucho was fullback Jim Orear, and Jim Barber collected honors as the Player's Player.

FRANCI HONORED

The newly inaugurated Stan Williamson Memorial Trophy, presented to the Gaucho footballer who has demonstrated courage above and beyond the call of duty was given to Jason Franci, UCSB's leading receiver.

Center Preston Hensley and end John Keever were voted the 1966 team captains.

Freshmen awards went to wingback Mike Blower and lineman Dick Heinz.

Don Hart, center and captain of the 1936 squad as well as a Sports Illustrated Hall of Famer, presented to the 1965 UCSB team the game football used in the Gauchos' 25-14 win over New Mexico A & M, UCSB's last opponent that year.

DONATE BALL

"I've cherished this ball for 29 years, and now I present it to you, Dick Kezirian," he said, "to be put in the school's trophy case. Let's hope you men can go out there and bring home that Camellia Bowl football to put along side of it."

All-American and All-pro Doug Oldershaw praised the outstanding job the Gauchos have done this year, while Spud Harder added his praise.

The words of coach Ken Vierra summed up the feelings of the coaches on the football squad, as he said earlier this week, "They are a fine group of gentlemen. It is a pleasure to work with them, and even if they had won only one game this year, I would still respect everyone of them for their conduct and spirit."

SAEs and Bananas lead— League races take shape

By RICH NATHANSON
Sports Writer

Big games highlighted the week's intramural basketball schedule. The independent leagues had the most action, as both races took giant steps towards establishing a leader.

The fraternity circuit also had a big contest between two undefeated clubs.

Independent I has had both favored teams fall by the way-side as both the Goleta Globe Trotters and the Goleta Beach AC have been knocked for two losses. Last week, though, the GGT still weren't out of the first place by much, until they met the first place team, Buttonwillow Merchants.

Buttonwillow grabbed an early lead, and though this lead never grew to a large advantage, they held the difference and won, 41-39. The game was marked by a violent argument in the closing seconds, in which a technical gave the GGT a free throw and the ball out of bounds, trailing by two. But they couldn't get the ball down-court, as the game ended.

Independent II's most important game of the year was between two undefeated teams. There can be little doubt that the Bananas' 54-33 triumph over the Some Kind of Budgies leaves them a solid choice for their league's crown.

Sparked by Mark Sedlacek's 16 points, the Bananas outplayed the SKB from the opening whistle.

Putting up a top battle, to lead the Sig Eps all the way, Sigma Alpha Epsilon went on to defeat SPE, 49-44, to keep their slate clean with a 5-0 record.

The Sig Eps are now tied for second place with Lambda Chi Alpha, which also dropped a game to SAE earlier this season. Both teams have a 4-1 record.

Delta Tau Delta stands in third place with a 3-2 mark, so with three games left in the Greek league, anyone of these four teams could come out on top.

Lennon won a decision in the 145 division, and Tom Hippie came up with an unexpected pin.

BRUINS DROP GAUCHOS

The match with UCLA was much the same story. The Gauchos took three of the first four matches. Rich Harker won at 137, Bill Lennon at 145, and Al Criwder by default. The Bruins shut out UCSB the rest of the way to notch a victory.

Others who have been wrestling for the Gauchos are John Heany, 123, John Lewis, 130, Jon Bell, 152, Ken Eldridge, 160, Bill Bridger, 167, and Jack Slayton, 177.

The Frosh have also lost their first two matches with SLO and UCLA. They faced the same problem as the varsity, as their opponents are tops in the state.

Gaucha wrestlers fall to Bruins, Mustangs

After weeks of preparation, and two away matches, wrestling finally comes into focus Friday when the UCSB matmen face San Francisco State in the Old Gym.

On the surface, the season so far seems rather disappointing. The team lost to San Luis Obispo, 35-8, and to UCLA, 26-11.

MUSTANGS RATED BEST

But at San Luis Obispo, wrestling is their business, as they are the best team in California. UCLA is rated at the top also. And it is a building year for the Gauchos.

At SLO, there were some impressive moments. Bill

DIABLOS LOSE SECOND STAR AS TACKLE DON DAVIS QUILTS SQUAD

Another link in Los Angeles State's rugged defense was lost last Monday with the surprise resignation of All-American tackle Don Davis, Davis, who was the San Diego Charger's number one draft choice, was one of Coach Homer Beatty's top linemen.

His resignation came two days after defensive halfback George Youngblood was suspended for disciplinary reasons. There was no reason given for the action, but it is thought that it is an outgrowth of the Youngblood incident. Davis and Youngblood are extremely close friends.

Davis did not report to practice the two days after Youngblood's expulsion and in a conference with Coach Beatty announced his resignation.

With the two players missing, the Diablos have two gaping holes in their defense which is one of the best in the nation. The team roster now stands at 30 players, five under the NCAA limit for post season bowl games.

Pre-enrollment continues; two-thirds filed Friday

6200 students, representing about two-thirds of the student body, filed pre-enrollment cards last Friday. About half that number filed prior to nine a.m.

The Registrar's office then timed the cards according to the hour they were removed from the pre-enrollment box located outside the Administration building. The box was emptied each hour during most of the day.

The earlier the student filed, the better are his chances of getting the classes he wants.

PRE-ENROLLMENT

Although the largest part of the student body filed the first day, pre-enrollment will continue until January 28.

Open registration begins Feb. 4, for those students who have not pre-enrolled or were not assigned to certain classes.

Students who desire to enroll in Subject A, English 1-A, or English 1-B, foreign languages, and physical activities, however, will be admitted to open registration Thursday afternoon, February 3. There is expected to be an especially large number of students who are not pre-enrolled in physical activities classes.

OPEN REG

Open registration is conducted on an alphabetical basis, with those whose last names begin with C, D, and E admitted to Robertson Gymnasium first. The plan is to rotate the groups each semester. This is a new system, and the only change which has been made in the open registration procedure.

Packet filing, in the usual alphabetic sequence, will take place the second week of classes.

Pass-fail studied

AS office or contact him, Schwartz advised, and look into working on a committee for this program, which is chaired by Mark Hamilton.

In an interview with Ann Robinson, Student Affairs Committee Secretary, after the Council meeting, she reported that more work had been done with regard to the pass fail system, by her committee.

Miss Robinson announced that she will compile new information gathered by Schwartz with the rest of the committee's findings into a comprehensive report which will be ready by Jan. 3.

Sorority donates educational grants
