SBPC Case Continued; Moran Ouster Fails

By Ann Haley

After a lengthy session in San Diego Friday night, the Student Body Presidents Council (SBPC) continued the matter of ASUCSB External President Neil Moran's participation on that body until their next meeting. The SBPC will reconvene Thursday October 16 following the UC Regents meeting in Berkeley.

A vote was taken on a motion to expel Moran, UCSB's undergraduate rep to the SBPC, but that motion failed, according to UCSB Graduate Student Association (GSA) President Russ Turner.

Moran was temporarily suspended from the SBPC on September 12, pending investigation of charges against him stemming from last spring's A.S. elections. An SBPC subcommittee held hearings here on September 30 and October 1, and reported to the entire Council Friday.

LATE-NIGHT HEARING

According to Turner, who represents UCSB's graduate students to the SBPC, the subcommittee reported to an executive session of the SBPC around 2 p.m. Friday.

For the next five or six hours, the SBPC discussed the report. During this time, a call was received from Yolanda Perez, a member of UCSB's A.S. Judicial Council, suspending A.S. Executive Vice President Jody Graham's vote on the SBPC, pending hearing of a case filed on behalf of the Students for Collective Action (SCA), alleging that Graham's temporary substitution for Moran violated the A.S. Constitution.

Moran's vote on the SBPC was then restored by a two-thirds majority for the Friday night hearings on his suspension. According to Turner and Mike Malachowski, a member of the SBPC Moran subcommittee from UC Berkeley, Moran's vote is still suspended until the case is finally resolved.

WITHDRAWAL?

After the expulsion motion against him failed, Moran reportedly spoke to the Council, saying that he will consider both withdrawing of UCSB undergraduate participation from the body, and appointing someone in his stead to the SBPC if UCSB stays in the SBPC.

"Naturally, I'm gratified at the outcome of the meeting," Moran stated Saturday morning. "However, this does raise some serious questions about the validity of the SBPC. I will be bringing up the question of ASUCSB participation in SBPC before our Legislative Council. I question whether SBPC can accomplish anything this year."

"The vote to expel Moran failed and is not likely to pass in the future," said Turner. Turner commented on graduate participation in the SBPC, saying, "The

Faction Wants Out

Bond Issue Creates Split in Isla Vista's R-1 Area

By Yvonne Behrens

With the park bond issue once again being presented to voters, a faction of the R-1 District in Isla Vista has submitted their wish to break away from the Recreation and Park District to the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO).

Specifically, the bond is being requested to buy open space in I.V. The amount of the bond would be 10 percent of the assessed value of land in I.V., or $1.15 million. This amount is the maximum the Park District could get in bonds. It would enable the District to buy one-third of the existing land in I.V., ensuring against any independent party coming into I.V. and buying up land for development.

FINANCES, FINANCES

Dissent has arisen over the amount the Park District is demanding. As Bruce Murdoch, an R-1 District resident and advocate for the split from the District explained, "Most of the people who live in this area have backyards, so we really don't receive the benefits of the Recreation and Park District. But most of us feel that the District is a good idea. We are willing to pay the taxes needed because it does upgrade I.V."

"However, the fees keep going up and I don't feel like being nickled and dimed to death in the process. The bond issue will become an added expense to the already rising taxes for the Recreation and Park District," Murdoch continued.

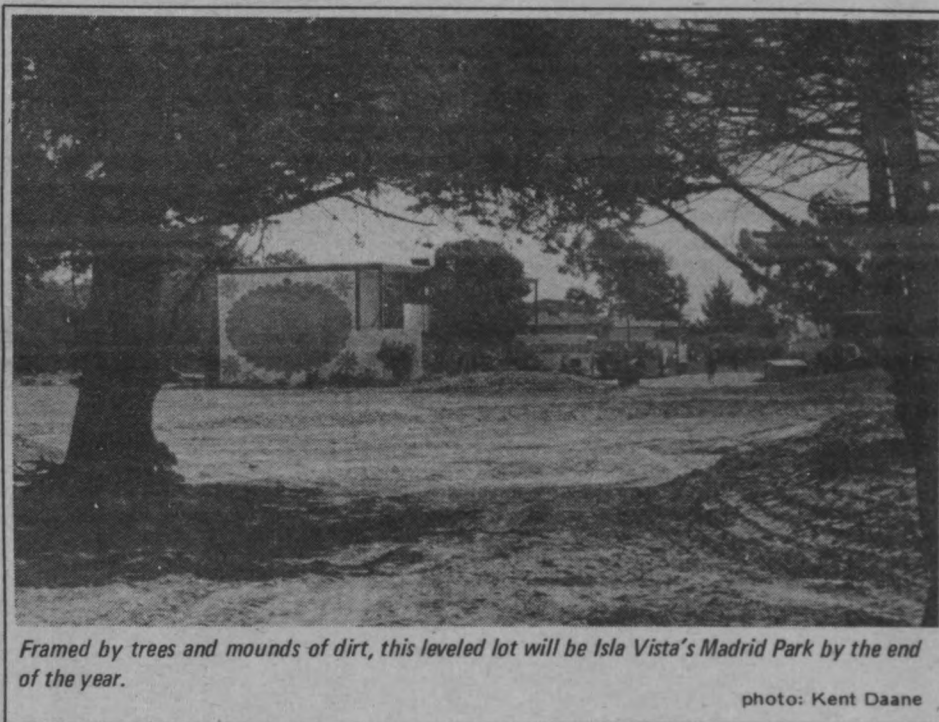

"They (the Recreation and Park District) are asking for the maximum amount in bonds, 10 percent of the assessed value of the land in I.V. This would tie their hands until the bond is paid off or until the assessed value of I.V. goes up."

According to a pamphlet made up when the bond measure was first introduced to the voters last year, the assessed value of land in I.V. has a growth rate of 2 percent a year.

Another advocate for de-annexation, R.G. "Punk" Ponedel, who is also a member of the Board of Directors for the Recreation and Park District said, "Proponents for the bond issue speak of buying open space in I.V., but I don't see how much recreational use this open space will have. It is also a 25 year bond."

"Five years ago, no one was looking at I.V. in ecological terms," he noted, "I like the change, that's why I'm on the board. But who knows what changes people will want ten years from now."

In answering the question of how breaking away from the Recreation and Park District would affect his position on the Board, Ponedel replied, "The only requisite for being on the Board is living in the county. I would stay on until my term is up, unless I'm recalled. Our breaking away would not affect the Recreation and Park District tax wise, as the R-1 District only pays about 5 percent of its taxes."

Leg Council Considers Proposal To Join National Student Lobby

By Drew Liebert

A proposal for UCSB to join the National Student Lobby (NSL) organization was submitted to Associated Students (A.S.) Leg Council last week by the UCSB Student Lobby Annex.

According to Rich Sonntag, co-director of the local lobby annex, who presented the proposal to Leg Council, "The National Student Lobby is a direct by-product of California's successful statewide Student Lobby. In contrast to the statewide Student lobby, however, the NSL deals with lobbying for or against legislation affecting students on the national level."

"The benefits of joining the NSL would be two fold," Sonntag continued. "UCSB would receive valuable up-to-date information concerning national politics and current issues affecting UC students. Moreover, the NSL would become a more effective lobbying organization by representing a larger constituency of students."

MORAN SUPPORT

The proposal for UCSB to join the NSL was drafted by the urgings of External President Neil Moran. He feels now is an ideal time for UCSB to join the NSL. "Right now," commented Moran, "UCSB is being offered the opportunity to join the NSL on a trial basis for a considerable reduction in membership fee. Moreover, with the 1976 elections coming up, this would be a particularly good time for UCSB to assess the advantages of NSL membership."

"The NSL needs us now more than ever," Moran continued. "In the upcoming primary campaigns, the NSL will need our direct assistance, both financially and in terms of human resources, to co-ordinate and educate the student voters as to where the various candidates stand on important national issues which affect students as a class."

INTERNSHIPS

Craig Lawson, local lobby annex co-director added, "UCSB will also be able to send student interns to the NSL Washington office where they will work on research and lobbying. These interns will also report regularly to the UCSB Annex."

VENEZUELA'S GOVERNMENT says it will formally offer 29 oil companies, most of them American, a total of about 900 million dollars tomorrow for their Venezuela holdings. A breakdown of payments and terms are expected to be released from Caracas this week.

The firms, operating an oil industry averaging nearly two and a half million barrels a day are required to hand over their concessions to Venezuela by December 31, according to the terms of an oil nationalization law approved by Venezuela's congress and signed by President Carlos Andres Perez August 29.

Meanwhile, negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union for U.S. purchases of Russian oil have been interrupted by an energy conference in Paris which is set to begin today.

THE CINCINNATI REDS came from behind with two runs in the top of the ninth inning and edged the Boston Red Sox three to two in their rain splattered second game of the World Series in Boston. That tied the Series at one victory each. Dave Concepcion and Ken Griffey provided the run scoring hits for Cincinnati with two out in the ninth.

PRESIDENT COSTA GOMES of Portugal, informed sources say, may yield his post of chief of staff of the armed forces so Premier Azevedo can name a man more likely to crack down against leftist activities in the military.

JOHN CONALLY former Treasury Secretary, predicted yesterday that Ronald Reagan will challenge President Ford for the 1976 Republican nomination. Conally feels, "It's going to be a horse race."

ABOUT 1,300 DEMOCRATS attended a $125-a-plate dinner Saturday night in Los Angeles featuring most of the party's presidential hopefuls. The dinner brought in about $100,000 profit for California state campaigns next year.

But none of the six presidential candidates stole the show or made any obvious big gains over the others. They all told the partisan audience what it wanted to hear—that Republican President Gerald Ford is to blame for the nation's economic ills and that voters will elect a democrat as President next year.

Candidates who were present included Birch Bayh, Henry Jackson, Lloyd Bentsen, Fred Harris, Terry Sanford, and Sargent Shriver.

Election Validity Questioned

Entire Cal State Northridge Student Government Recalled

By Kathy Fontwit

On September 23 and 24 the student body at Cal State Northridge approved a petition for the recall of last spring's election, held in March. Jim Conran, the recalled Student Body President, explained that protesters felt that "mishaps at the polls" warranted a new election.

According to Conran the request for a recall revolved around a "serious rainstorm on March 10," the day the polls opened. As a result of the bad weather, "the polls were in disarray and there were problems in voting."

POOR ORGANIZATION

Two other complaints were heard from Brian Manning, vice-presidential candidate, at the open Constitutional Court hearing held on May 1. He stated that the Director of Elections was unavailable during the day of the elections to respond to complaints and that the poll workers were ill-advised as to who was eligible to vote. This uncertainty was not resolved until 11 a.m. the day of voting.

David Ranco, who ran with Manning as a Presidential candidate, and Nina Vance a recall petition organizer, were also responsible for securing the recall. They appealed first to the Election Committee, stating that the above complaints formed sufficient reasons for a new election. The Committee rejected their appeal by responding that "the mishaps didn't warrant a new election."

The next step was to appeal this decision to the Associated Student Senate. In upholding the previous decision, the Senate stated that "an overwhelming percentage of the vote did come in."

The persistence of the three candidates resulted in a final appeal to the Constitutional Court. This body also remained in agreement with the Committee and the Senate by ruling that the election was "valid and fair."

After failing to secure approval from these three groups, Vance appealed to the student body. She circulated a petition which asked the students if they favored a recall of the election. Three thousand signatures were obtained and Vance was able to secure a validation of the petition from the Court.

Conran stated that many candidates who were involved in the spring election were "not running again." The new elections will be held on October 22 and 23.

A.S. Bikeshop Job Goes Up For Grabs

By Christine Matchett

Two days remain to apply for the recently open Associated Students (A.S.) Bikeshop Career managerial position. Although the position of bikeshop manager is to become a career one, no change will be made in the operation of the shop. According to Peter Meyers, present bike shop manager, the change is one only of university semantics.

The position was originally managed on a casual basis in case the bike shop failed, which it didn't. Meyers says the university has created "a senior typist clerk." This is just another name for the bike shop manager. The main difference will be that the employee will not be hired on a casual, short term basis, and therefore will not be as easy to fire. There will be no difference in salary.

SELECTION COMMITTEE

The new manager will be chosen by a six person ad hoc committee composed of A.S. Internal President Howard Robinson and Carolyn Buford, Administrative Assistant for Associated Students; Jim Spangler and Jovita Valdez, Leg Council reps; Peter Meyers, present bike shop manager; and Bob Muhr, Personnel Officer. The committee will recommend persons for the position to Leg Council for approval.

According to Meyers, "The council will choose the applicants who most closely suit the needs" of the bike shop. He expects half a dozen to be chosen. The council will "go over their applications, check their references, then make a decision." They are going by the book to avoid problems. "Hiring will be in accordance with open recruitment and affirmative action policies," Meyers continues. An attempt is being made to "bring in minorities by widespread advertising, but with minimal results."

EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

University application forms are available in the personnel office of South Hall. Meyers warns, "Don't apply unless you are an expert mechanic with at least three years experience. Applicants should have a complete working knowledge of the industry, and be able to run all facets of a bicycle store, including supervising personnel and ordering from distributors."

Meyers specified that a potential manager should be able to "get along with students and the student community."

When queried as to why he is leaving the position, Meyers replied, "because I am moving to Berkeley."

Harris to Get Matching Funds; Makes Brief Local Appearance

About thirty local Democrats turned out Saturday to spend fifteen minutes with Fred R. Harris, New Populist candidate for the 1976 Democratic nomination, at the Santa Barbara Center.

Fortunately for Harris, his fund-raising activities around the country have drawn more interest and money elsewhere. Last week his campaign contributions made it over the $100,000 hump, qualifying him for federal matching funds on every dollar he takes in between now and the convention.

MATCHING FUNDS

Receiving the matching funds will be a bigger shot in the arm for Harris than for the herd of other Democratic hopefuls. If he is to wage any sort of battle against the raft of elected officials also seeking the nomination — let alone an incumbent, albeit non-elected, President — he will need money.

He already has an organization, "We're organized in 43 states now," he said, Saturday, "and we'll be in all of them by the end of the year."

Harris spent the summer camping his way from Washington D.C. to California, drumming up support at union meetings, county fairs, any place a group would listen. Without holding any $100 a plate dinners for party fat cats, he has managed so far to raise $205,000 in contributions averaging less than $25.

He attributes his success to the issues. Calling for a return to "Jeffersonianism," Harris says the issue is "a fairer distribution of wealth and power," this is the crux of his "New Populism."

Harris is talking eye-to-eye with middle America. In the development of geo-thermal power and cleaner coal for the short-run, solar energy for the long-run.

"We ought to turn President Ford out of office on the price of gas and oil alone," the former Oklahoma senator added.

EVANGELIST

He is often described as an evangelical politician, and the description is apt. As he spoke Saturday—eyes flashing, voice raising — one pictured a Southern preacher running the devil out of town. There was little doubt that he meant every word he said.

"All we have to do to put this country back together again is show the people what kind of country this can be," he declared. He quoted from Woody Guthrie, like Harris, a product of the Oklahoma dust bowl depression, "This land is your land, this land is my land. . . ." "If I'm elected President," he promised, "we'll make old Woody's song come true." That's a hard promise to keep, no matter how you slice it, and Harris is facing a steep uphill fight just for the chance to try.

populist tradition, he wants to take some of the cookies out of the rich folks' jars and give them to the working class.

Universal health care provided for by a progressive income tax, a public energy commission, a moratorium on offshore drilling, and more control of public utilities are a few of his suggestions.

"We ought to do what they did with the TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority); we ought to set up a public energy commission to introduce a modicum of competition where there isn't any at all, now," he stated.

"We need to get serious about alternative power sources," he said. He proposed the

If you wish to comment on any matter of interest, write a letter-to-the-editor, and bring it to the editorial offices of the Nexus beneath Storke Tower.

Barbara Coalition Against Oil Pollution are concerned as to the orientation of the person who will replace him. As you know, when the people of California overwhelmingly passed Proposition 20, they were entrusting the future of the California coastline to the men and women who stand on the commissions created by the act, with the mandate of Coastal Conservation. Unfortunately, not all of the commissioners are working toward that end.

With the resignation of Mr. Laufer, we are losing a coastal commissioner who recognized the will of the people, and used his position to carry that mandate to fulfillment. We are urging the appointment of a new commissioner; one who understands and respects not only the letter of the law, but also its spirit, and will use that awareness in his/her decision making.

Environmental Watercolors

Editor, Daily Nexus:

Among the many things happening at the I.V. Fall Festival was the appearance of the candidates for the Goleta Water Board. After talking with both sides and looking at the material distributed, we clearly going to vote for the incumbents Sherman, Martinez, and Wyner.

We came to this conclusion primarily because of the blatantly misleading "environmental" position taken by their opponents. We are sick and tired of candidates for public office who try to hide their true colors behind an environmental cover. The incumbents have done more to protect and preserve our area's environment than any other local officials. Their opponents are simply confusing the issue because they are backed by developers and land speculators.

Indeed, one of the challengers, Mr. Weaver, recently bought 25 acres of agricultural land that is zoned and approved for houses. This man stands to personally profit from being on the Water Board, giving his land water, and then selling it at a large profit.

We hope all students will vote for the incumbents — Sherman, Martinez, and Wyner.

Neuromuscular Junction

Editor, Daily Nexus:

It thoroughly amazed me to find out that President Saxon couldn't believe that we still teach Physical Education on this campus. Apparently he's unaware that Physical Education is more than being able to "hit a homerun" or "shoot a basket."

There's an ancient ideal behind Physical Education that originated with the Greeks. They felt that there existed a strong unity between body/mind/spirit. Not only are they noted for their physical endurance but also for art, architecture, literature, medicine and countless other "academic" endeavors.

Our western culture though has taken a totally creative subject and structured it so that only those who could endure dress and shower regulations would be worthy of it's benefits. Not only is there an organic and neuromuscular basis behind movement but also a social and emotional one. We are living, moving bodies and that half unit P.E. class where you run around chasing balls seems to

Alternative Responsibility

By Greg Phillips

The Press Council would like to clear up any misconceptions that may have arisen from the Nexus editorial of October 8. The central question in our dealings with the Alternative Newspaper is not "whether or not students can determine the structure of their own newspaper," but what working relationship will there be between the Alternative Newspaper, its board of directors, and the Press Council.

Chancellor Cheadle has charged the Press Council to oversee the "campus student press;" in subsequent correspondence with A.S. Administrative Vice President Tom Hicks (Nexus 10/8), he declared that this term embraces the proposed Alternative Newspaper. Last spring Legislative Council agreed to allocate $10,000 to the Alternative with the stipulation that their budget and by-laws first be approved by Press Council.

Our problem is relatively simple. In their by-laws and proposals the Alternative gives to their board of directors what are essentially the powers of Press Council, and concedes to the council only an advisory role. Our prime concern here is the legal responsibility for the campus student press: the Regents hold the Chancellor responsible, and he handed this responsibility to us. A student-elected board of directors would have no such responsibility in case of a lawsuit, and such a body, open to political manipulation, could not be held accountable to the University or to the paper itself. We feel it unwise to give away what little influence we have to insure the Alternative's credibility and integrity when we will still be held legally accountable for its actions.

The internal structure of the Alternative, how it is staffed and how it arrived at whatever its editorial decisions will be is strictly an "in-house" matter not under the purview of the Press Council. Our charge only cedes us the final selection of editor/coordinators, who follow us in the chain of legal responsibility, allowing us to work directly with them in our capacity as mediators between the press and the campus community.

We also have final approval of budgetary and by-law changes, but these things, in all the history of Press Council and Communications Board, have never given cause for provocation before.

We agree that there has been too much emphasis placed on Press Council as a disciplinary body; however, such emphasis has come from sources outside the Council.

In the past the Council has been criticized for its reluctance to take punitive action against the Nexus, and we replied that such action would have been a violation of the press' Constitutional rights. Press Council stands firm in the conviction that the campus student press should be free of control of any kind by any segment of the campus community — a concept which is apparently misunderstood at UCSB.

We propose to work not against the Alternative Newspaper but with them to achieve and maintain high journalistic standards, and to protect their inherent freedoms so that they can provide the alternative in opinions and news coverage that the students have asked for.

We join the Nexus in the hope that compromise solutions to our differences can be worked out with the Alternative Newspaper. We are exerting individual as well as Council efforts to this end.

carry with it an inappropriate title.

There's a concept behind Physical Education that an anthropology or political science (or any major) might not ever think of while they're playing badminton. George Leonard, author of "The Ultimate Athlete" said, "We do not have bodies. We are bodies." To exercise your body is one thing but to become the exercise itself unifying the body/mind/spirit is what Physical Education is really all about. It should include countless individual programs like yoga, massage, meditation and relaxation. My only hope is that President Saxon doesn't speak out any further on a subject he knows little about. It could only hurt the further development of more individualized programs in P.E. that seem so hopelessly far away.

Alternative Admiration

Editor, Daily Nexus:

I write this out of admiration for the first issue of the Alternative newspaper.

A group of people with no previous journalistic experience got together and put a newspaper out. Not only were the stories well written and informative, but all the people involved with the Alternative overcame every preliminary hassle they were given, except the darkroom question. They also still have to get on their feet financially, but that can only come with time. If as many people enjoyed the first issue as I did, that shouldn't be too hard.

Last, it is really neat to see a group so dedicated in their quest, that they have accepted all the difficulties of starting a second newspaper on campus.

Keep it up Jan, Cindy, Helena, Tom, et al!

Gauchos Win 1-0 in Hotly Contested Soccer Match

By Jim Turnbull

Fast paced action and bludge on-like contact saw three players dragged from the field Saturday at the UCSB Gauchos refused to submit to the overly zealous play of Cal State University Northridge. Amid a shroud of 38 fouls, there was tremendous desire on the part of both teams, but stalwart determination put the cap on the game in its 94th minute and UCSB won, 1-0.

EMOTION CHARGED

It wasn't long after the ball was first put in play that you could see Northridge wasn't about to be stopped on by the hard-driving quick-hitting Gauchos. The two teams exchanged possession of the ball, as well as insults, small shoves, and late slides in this emotion-charged contest. Things were statistically even for the first half, through slightly favoring the Gauchos.

Throughout the second half, a scoreless tie still saw UCSB keeping the ball at Northridge's end of the field more than the converse, and there were numerous clusters of players at the goal on several occasions. Although out shot in the game 26-13, Northridge got some close ones off, and one in particular had Joe Lima one-to-one with what should have been a sure score. Maturity, savvy and intent desire, however kept Lima in front of the ball to make another one of his spectacular saves.

Regulation time ended without scoring and it was a whole new ball game as UCSB went into two 10 minute overtime periods. Just four minutes later, with the ball closing on Northridge's goal, Larry Ahers got a shot off that bounced off the goalie's chest and Refugio Camareno the opportunity to blast his season's first, and the game winning goal home. So for 14 minutes more Ralph Hawes led his flawless defense to a satisfying shutout that gave UCSB a 2-0 league record.

CIAO CHOW

Jeff Chow was given a red card and ejected from the game on one of the many questionable calls. Coach Al Meeder conceded it was a "Very aggressive" game, but that "it's part of the style of both teams. They had nobody really dangerous up front."

UCSB will play Santa Clara on Wednesday at 3 p.m.

All-Cal Winter Carnival Set for Aspen Ski Junket

Untracked powder. Miles of varied runs for all skiing abilities. Fantastic nightlife to complement the fantastic skiing. These are only a few of the qualities of the Aspen Complex and Snowmass which will host the All-Cal Winter Carnival this year between December 13th and 19th.

Sign-ups are now going on at the Recreation Office in the trailers next to Robertson Gym. The cost for students is $165.00 and for non-students, $168.50. This price includes roundtrip transportation by charter bus, as well as five nights lodging in the comfortable Wildwood Inn. Also included are interchangeable lift tickets for Snowmass.

An added bonus to carnival participants will be the opportunity to witness one of the first Pro-Am head to head races of the season, featuring such noted racers as Spider Sabich and the K-2 team.

For those of you are already daydreaming about that fluffy white stuff the All-Cal committee extends an invitation to enjoy two great movies on the Aspen/Snowmass Complex, free, on Tues. Oct. 14 at 6:30 p.m. in Psych. 1824.

OUCH - Hard, rough action in UCSB-Northridge soccer match. The Gauchos won 1-0.

However, there are members of the R-1 District who are against breaking away from the Park District.

Bill Wallace, a director of the Goleta County Water Board stated that "the R-1 District has as much to gain from the bond as anyone else in I.V. I don't like the amount, but I don't think anything is going to be gained by breaking away."

Larry Segal, another resident in the R-1 District and manager to the Fud Coop feels that "it is very foolish (of the faction that wants to break away) because R-1 is such a small part of the Recreation and Park District. They are acting like selfish children who, if the game isn't going the way they want it to, will take their marbles and go home. I have mixed feelings about the bond issue. I think its goals are excellent, but I'm not sure of the wisdom of committing 100 percent of your resources to one project at one time. Although it should be a first priority."

Assessment on the affect the Bond would have on the tax rates in I.V. is $1 a person, per apartment unit per month.

Tuesday at 8 p.m. there will be a meeting at the I.V. Planning Office to discuss the bond issue.

Moran/SBPC

GSA is concerned that the SBPC is bickering and is not dealing with important issues that they need to act upon." Turner did note that the SBPC voted to continue their Friday meeting late into the night to deal with other business, and feels that "SBPC willingness to stay late at night showed concern with other issues."

CENSURE POSSIBLE

Subcommittee member Malachowski refused to elaborate on Moran's suspension, stating, "We did make a report, and until Council makes a decision I can't comment. It is a matter now of Council deciding what to do."

According to Moran, possible SBPC action in the future could involve a censure against him.

GRAHAM VOTE

During the Friday session, Executive Vice President Graham's temporary SBPC vote was rescinded by two members of A.S. Judicial Council, Rosemary Bordlemay and Yolanda Perez. According to a third Judicial Council member, Felice Sussman, Judicial Council had decided Thursday night to allow Graham to vote in Moran's stead on the SBPC until they hear a case filed by John McDonald on behalf of the SCA contending that Graham's temporary vote conflicts with the A.S. Constitution. The case will be heard by Judicial Council tomorrow night.

However, Bordlemay changed her mind on Graham's vote, and along with Perez decided to suspend Graham's vote on Friday. Graham was notified of the change in the middle of the SBPC session in San Diego.

"If there could be an illegality with Graham voting, we should suspend her (SBPC) vote until the matter was decided," explained Bordlemay.

Bordlemay also commented that "Judicial Council was unaware that Leg Council had approved Graham's vote."

"Unknown to me, my two compatriots changed their minds about our decision to let Graham vote," stated Sussman. "I was not consulted until after the fact." According to Bordlemay, she told Sussman of the change at roughly the same time Perez was phoning San Diego to rescind Graham's temporary vote.

"It seems to me that A.S. Judicial has no notion of due process," commented Graham. Perez was unavailable for comment.

Student Lobby

Careful local annex study has shown that a UCSB NSL Annex would require a minimum operating budget of $2,125 for the '75-'76 school year.

Lawson felt however, that membership to the NSL would be well worth the fees. "The NSL would definitely help UCSB in getting favorable student bills through Congress," he stated.

Woman to Direct U.N. Week

Mrs. Curtis Jordan has been appointed by Santa Barbara Mayor David T. Shiffman to direct the city's observations of this year's United Nations Week activities. October 24 is the 30th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations.

WOMEN'S YEAR

In accepting the Mayor's appointment, Jordan expects to work with all segments of the community to focus attention on the achievements and goals of the United Nations. The major theme of this year's United Nations

Week, celebrated throughout the nation, is International Women's Year.

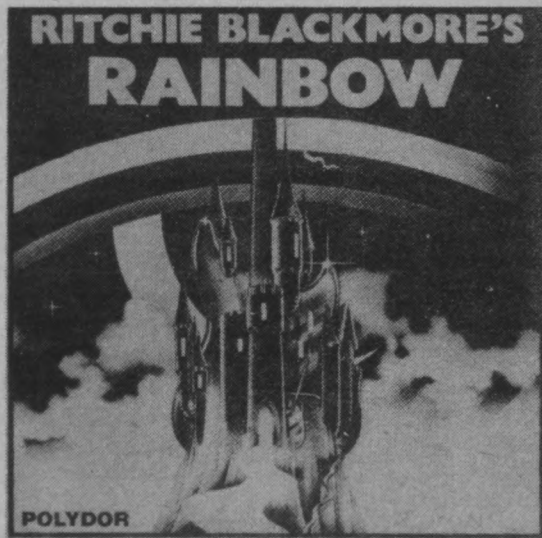

Various tentative events include a talk by the Director of the World University and a banquet featuring Lucille Dunham, an organizer of international women's groups.
