A. C. B. Bares New Ruling For Offenders

Board Sentences Erring Collegians To Manual Labor

Revolutionizing the method of dealing with students of Santa Barbara State college whose actions at one time or another might be considered unbecoming to a member of the Associated student body, the Activities Control board this week released the procedure which will be followed in dealing with these people in the future.

Instead of the case of a student accused of unbecoming actions being taken directly to the dean responsible for that student, it will be taken before the members of the board for consideration.

BOARD SENTENCES

Cases will be tried by the board and if the student is deemed guilty he will be sentenced to work a certain number of hours, depending upon the seriousness of the offense, according to Howard Joham, chairman of the activities control board. This work, which will be conducted for the associated student body, will be controlled by the board which will also decide upon the amount of time to be devoted to the work and the length of time allowed for its completion.

Ray Harris, custodian, will be authorized by the board to direct the labor of those students convicted and sentenced.

"Students failing to cooperate with this plan will then be referred to their respective deans whose jurisdiction will then take effect," Joham emphasized.

ASSISTING GROUPS

Organizations scheduled to assist in this move are the Sophomore Squires, Blue Key, Las Espuelas, Crown and Scepter and Block S.

Also disclosed was a plan to sound out student opinion on the matter of State college traditions. It was decided to present the problem to the general student body before taking any definite action to either uphold or withdraw any of the traditions.

Division Sets Debate Dates

Dates of the third annual intramural debate have been changed to facilitate an over-crowded division of speech calendar, according to W. Charles Redding, coach. December 3 is scheduled to see the finals of the speech sessions which are directed to inexperienced debaters.

Preliminary trials are slated for November 12 with the second rounds being held the week of November 26. Student body cups will be awarded to first and second place winners.

Subject of the discourses is announced as "Resolved: there should be more faculty or administrative control in student government at S. B.S.C.," thus offering a perpetual thesis of controversy for organized scrutiny.

Two students compose each team.

Tau Omega Holds After-Play Dance

Tau Omega fraternity is sponsoring a dance in the music hall after tonight performance of "Icebound," according to Harry Wollin, president.

In accordance with the fraternity's new policy, three pledges waxed the rumpus room floor of the organization's house Sunday. This policy will be continued as the pledges will wash windows and do general "maid's" work for the remaining weeks of their pledgeship.

Chapter Installs

Informal initiation of new members of Tous les Temps, a Phrateres sub-chapter, took place at the college cabin Saturday night.

Examinations

Nurse Calls Late Signers

All students of the college who have not, as yet, taken their required physical examinations are asked to report to the health cottage immediately, according to Mrs. Elizabeth W. Sheppard, college nurse.

FREDERIC W. HILE, director, opened the run of the division of drama's "Icebound" last evening in the college auditorium.

Hobby Show Opens Run on November 15

With seven separate locations already secured, the Alpha Phi Omega-sponsored show today looms as the city's major attraction for the fall season, according to information released by the service group today.

Coming shortly after the presidential election, on November 15, 16, and 17, the affair should provide disgruntled voters with an opportunity for forgetting their disappointments, in the opinion of Ronald Gaitskill, who is in charge of the show.

"Almost every conceivable hobby will be shown, every thing from stamps and chessboards to model railroads and marine exhibits," says Gaitskill.

Alpha Phi Omega, which first planned the affair, has received the cooperation of the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations in making the hobby show possible. Originally conceived as a one night show, to be held in the armory, the idea quickly outgrew all expectations, and now bids well to become an annual affair.

Among the college students exhibiting in the show is Pete Bancroft, Bancroft, a science-elementary major, is the owner of one of Southern California's finest mineral collections. Present plans call for the collection to be shown in the museum of natural history.

Beta Sigs Show Fashions

An informal open house and fashion show was held Sunday from 4 to 6 p. m. at the Beta Sigma Chi fraternity house on Cheltenham road.

All faculty members and members of social sororities and fraternities were invited, with an estimated two hundred and fifty attending.

Arrangements for the open house were in charge of Art Porter, social chairman for the fraternity. The fashion show was under the dual direction of Patsy Bass and Harry Stewart, campus representatives of local clothing houses.

Sixteen outfits were shown in couples. There was no formal runway, the models mixing with the guests and answering questions put to them. Models included Virginia Waite and Paul Shipley, Betty Gaye Webb and Don Estey, Pauline Hayes and Warren Dorn, and Georgia Mae Krebs and Bob Edwards.

Refreshments were served during the show which ran continuously during the open house. Many members of the faculty attended, including President and Mrs. Clarence L. Phelps, Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, Mrs. Marguerite Stebbins and others. Guests were invited to inspect the house after the show.

Clothes for the showing were furnished by the Jack Rose and Roy E. Gammill shops.

Women Athletes Set Archery Tourney

Sponsored by the Women's Athletic association, an archery tournament for men and women is to be held on the gym field this afternoon at 3 p. m.

Events for both advanced and novice bowmen have been arranged by Mrs. Marian H. Anderson, instructor and Margaret MacKellar.

Advanced archers will adhere to the Junior Columbia round rules while beginners will fire from 20 to 30 yards distance. Tournament activities will be completed with a balloon shoot, open to all archers, and the final novelty match.

Newcomers Score in Campus Production of Prizewinning 'Icebound'

Local Theater Group Presents Second Performance of Comedy-Drama Tonight; Fickle, Miss Davis Star in Lead Roles

By SYD COHEN
El Gaucho Special Writer

Bleak as the sea-washed rocks of Maine, the play's setting, are the characters in "Icebound", the Owen Davis Pulitzer Prize winner which opened last night in the College theater.

Second performance of the comedy-drama will take place tonight at 8:30 with the final showing tomorrow night.

MANY NEWCOMERS

The presence of a great many newcomers to local footlights is no handicap to the play, with the entire cast doing nobly. The dialog is subtle, containing those elements of New England humor best expressed in the homely simile and matter-of-fact epigram. The Jordan family, about which the play centers, is austere, selfish and grasping and is dominated by a dead woman—the mother who is dying when the play opens.

Outstanding among the newcomers is Larry Fickle as Ben Jordan, the blacksheep son who returns to the "old homestead" at the bidding of Jane Crosby, his mother's adopted daughter. Kathryn Davis, as Jane, makes her debut in a major role and portrays a sympathetic character with ease. There is nothing about the conventional heroine in Miss Davis and her interpretation fits the role well.

"CROW BUZZARDS"

The Jordans, Ben says, are "carrion crows around a sick cow in a pasture." Robert Smith as the grasping Henry Jordan, quick of answer with bromides and Janine Rupertus as Sadie Jordan Fellows contribute outstanding performances. And the youngest performer on the stage, Master William Richmond, is at ease as Orin Fellows.

Other roles are well filled by Elizabeth Brown, Betty Harding, Lois Gisler, Mary Ellen Needles, William White, Duane McCoy and Bob Rivera. The play was directed by Frederic W. Hile, while entr-acte music was provided by the College theater orchestra under the direction of Maurice Faulkner.

Art Department Plans Supper

Inaugurating their social season of 1940-41, members of the art department will hold a pot-luck supper Thursday, November 14, in room 55 from 6 to 9 p. m.

Games and music will feature the evening, according to Mary Lou Tompkins, social chairman of the department. All art majors are cordially invited.

Faculty members attending will include Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, Mrs. Isabel M. Fish, Mrs. Ruth M. Doolittle, Mrs. Dorothy P. Russell, Walter L. Cheever and Roy E. LaLworne.

Assisting Miss Tompkins on the committee for arrangements are Omar Dawson, George Cox and Pat Daugherty.

Emil Ludwig Pictures Benito, Adolph as 'Headed for Reno'

Diplomatic Mussolini and dominant Hitler and their respective careers were compared Wednesday during sixth hour in the college auditorium, by Emil Ludwig, speaking in the fourth of a series of weekly lectures before an audience composed of students and townspeople.

According to the eminent Swiss biographer, who has traveled extensively throughout the world and whose literary works have brought him fame, the task of the German Chancellor is much the easier of the two inasmuch as the people over whom Hitler rules are naturally a cooperative, warlike people.

PERSONAL INCIDENTS

Ludwig presented several personal incidents pertinent to Mussolini, whom he had joined in a series of "half philosophical, half political" conversations in March and April of 1932.

"It is only fair to say," said Ludwig, "that I admired the tranquility, firmness and simplicity this man (Mussolini) displayed in answering all of my questions except one." The only question Mussolini would not answer was one put to him by Ludwig to which he replied

Council Names MacGillivray to A.S. Committee

Rally Chairman Reports Galloping Gaucho Profit; Legislators Support ACB

Acceptance of the application of Don MacGillivray as student-at-large on the finance committee was passed by the student council at the regular meeting held last night in Pine hall. MacGillivray has had experience on last year's council as freshman representative.

Warren Dorn, rally chairman, reported a net profit of $293 from the Galloping Gaucho revue held last week. Dorn's request for a $25 appropriation from the profit of the revue was referred to Finance chairman Gilbert McKeon before action will be taken by the council.

A motion was passed whereby the legislative council supports the recommendation of the activities control board in reference to the latter's authority in punishment of students whose conduct is deemed unbecoming that of a member of Santa Barbara State college.

Discussion as to the exact actions that may be termed "unbecoming" ended with the decision that the student body constitution interprets such affairs and their punishments, determining the meaning of the term.

These actions at school affairs, on campus, in other cities, or in Santa Barbara will be tried by the activities control board. Punishment will include work on campus improvements under the supervision of Ray Harris, custodian.

Gamma Sigs Plan Picnic

At the regular meeting of Gamma Sigma Pi fraternity, held Monday night at the home of Jack Hart, 915 West Micheltorena, it was decided that members and guests would hold their annual fall picnic at Skull Canyon, twenty miles from Santa Barbara Sunday.

It was announced also that the fraternity bulletin board, located in the quad opposite the mail boxes, would be available to all fraternities on the campus starting this week. Arrangements have been made by Howard Joham and the key to the board is available in the office of Don Follett, graduate manager.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, president of the United States, drew 407 student votes to succeed himself in office according to polls of the campus political poll released yesterday.

Jacobs Lists Proficiency Exam Times

First proficiency test of the semester, compulsory for all students planning to obtain a teaching certificate, will be staged Tuesday, November 14, beginning at 3 p. m. in the college auditorium, according to Dr. Charles L. Jacobs, dean of the upper division.

This examination is being presented especially for students who have not previously passed all phases of the test and all entering junior and senior students registered in a credentialing department.

Students deficient in any section of any division of the test must retake the entire division and will be held responsible for any part taken whether passed formerly or not, according to Jacobs.

Schedule of sections will be: 3 p. m., reading comprehension; 3:25, reading vocabulary; 3:45, arithmetic fundamentals; 4:25, arithmetic problems; 5:05, English and 5:40 p. m., spelling.

Gauchos Stage Send-off Rally

Several hundred Gaucho rooters will gather in the Quad at noon today to participate in a huge send-off rally for the football squad members, preparatory to their departure for San Diego where they will meet the San Diego Marines tomorrow night.

Acting as master of ceremonies will be Warren Dorn, rally committee chairman. He will introduce the Gaucho band, under the direction of Maurice Faulkner; Jack Newman, who will interview members of the State college football team and Howie Yeager, frosh coach, who will speak on the duties of a football scout.

Remainder of the rally will be given over to songs and yells conducted by Gaucho song leaders Janie Wood, Donna Lambert and Angeilyn Stewart and yell leaders Bill and Dick Van derHoof and Lew Bedell.

Alpha Thetas Plan Progressive Dinner

Alpha Theta Chi social sorority is featuring a progressive dinner Sunday, November 3 at 6 p. m. after attending the tea dance sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi, business organization sorority, at the Samarkand hotel.

Fruit cocktails will be served at Marna Warren's. From there the sorority and guests will progress to Elizabeth Jacob's for the second course, salad. Mrs. Lloyd Hitchcock, sponsor, is serving the main dish.

I. E. Pledges Write

Pledging to Pi Sigma Chi, national honorary industrial arts fraternity, continues this week, according to William Woltejs, president. Neophytes are contributing papers on respective vocations to the fraternity. Only men having a B grade average in industrial education are eligible to the honorary group.

Collegians Proclaim Roosevelt Two-to-One Presidential Favorite

Publication Organizations Survey Local Student Opinion on Current Political Nominees at Campus Polls

Voicing almost a two-to-one preference, State college students last week cast 407 votes for the re-election of president of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt and 245 for the Republican nominee, Wendell L. Willkie.

English Actor Portrays Roles From Dickens

Tuesday Assembly Varies With Humor Sketches, Make-up Exhibition

Clement May, world-famed English character actor and humorist, will be featured Tuesday, fourth hour, in the regular assembly in the auditorium. May is famed as a portrayer of Dickens characters and presents his characterization of Scrooge, Micawber, and Quilp on the program. He will be assisted by Mrs. May.

Short and amusing sketches from Punch, English humor magazine, will vary the program. Other sketches will be from A. A. Milne to show the versatility of the artist.

One of the features of the show will be his exhibition of make-up artistry. May puts on his make-up at the first of the program on the stage.

The guest artist travelled extensively and has presented this program in places as far apart as Honolulu and Aberdeen. He is at present on a world tour. He is best-known for his portraits of the Dickensian characters, but he has done as many varied parts as O. Henry, Masefield, Shakespeare and burlesque.

"The program he presents covers such a wide range of entertainment that it is bound to appeal to all who delight in clever humor and mastery characterization," stated Don Estey, program chairman.

The artist claims that he presents a "well of English undefiled." He has often demonstrated his ability in charming through the use of the English language.

May recently acted in a feature film for Paramount studios in which he represented Dickens himself among the other great men of Victorian England. He is a tragedian, comedian and character actor and in his many world tours has won thousands of admirers and friends. For many years he has appeared as a celebrity artist under the direction of the leading impresarios of the English-speaking world.

Men Organize Glee Society

Official organization of the male glee club took place last Thursday at noon in room 42. Official plans were made for the semester's activities and election of officers was conducted.

Newly chosen officers include Ed McClosky, president; Louie Trigueiro, secretary-treasurer and Bob Sleeth, publicity manager.

According to Van A. Christy, director of the group, the club is exceptionally well balanced and offers promise of becoming the best choral division in the history of the college.

Featured soloist of the organization will be Jack O'Rourke, baritone, who achieved radio and concert experience in New York and who won top honors in the baritone division of the Colorado State music foundation. Accompanying the glee club will be Bill Watson, pianist.

Phrateres Members Join Treasure Hunt

First social event of the semester for Phrateres, campus social organization for women, will be held in the form of a "treasure hunt" to take place at the East beach recreation center tomorrow night.

Members of the club will meet in the quad at 6:30 p. m. where transportation will be furnished them to the beach. Everyone attending is asked to wear slacks and to bring a flashlight.

Following the hunt games will be played and refreshments will be served.

Heading committees for the event are Jean Tessiman, treasure hunt, Hope Magee, trails; Lucille Wetterauer, refreshments; Marjorie Hughs, games and Edith Markowitz, transportation.

Of the 738 ballots filed, the remainder were split between Norman Thomas and Earl Browder, with the former receiving 68 and the latter, 14.

Because of rainy weather, only two polling stations were provided, in the Quad and in the cafeteria, and it is felt by the sponsors of the survey that the 738 votes are an excellent mirror of student opinion.

NO THIRD STATION

Had a third station been maintained in the industrial education building as had been planned, it is possible that the voters might have approached the thousand mark, according to Willard May, El Gaucho editor.

The Santa Barbara State college poll results, when compared with the results of similar surveys conducted on the campuses of other colleges in the United States, display especially strong Democratic party spirit on the local campus.

Students of Stanford university in a poll conducted three weeks ago, showed themselves to be 78 per-cent in favor of Republican Willkie. One hundred students of Texas college of mines and metallurgy cast 85 votes for Roosevelt and 13 for Willkie, with two offering no opinion.

PORTLAND RESULTS

Voting in the survey of student opinion conducted on the campus of the University of Portland, 372 students split their votes, casting 214 for the Democratic standard-bearer, 124 for the G.O.P. nominee and 34 for other candidates.

The survey conducted on the local campus was sponsored by El Gaucho and Fourth Estate, social organization for persons engaged in the production of the campus weekly.

Ballots were counted by Robert Scalapino, member of the faculty and former associated student body president; Jack Richards, associated students president; Willard May, El Gaucho editor; Ruth Suggs, president of Fourth Estate; Syd Cohen, editor of La Cumbre, college yearbook; Chet Wilson and George Stepanian, El Gaucho sports editor.

San Diego Alumni Invite

San Diego section of Santa Barbara State college alumni extends a special invitation to Gaucho students to attend an informal dinner and get-together before the San Diego Marine game tomorrow night in San Diego, according to Phyllis Follett, alumni secretary.

All students and faculty are to meet at Hotel Churchill, 827 C street at 6:15 p. m. Dinner will be served at that time in a private dining room for 55 cents.

The location is within walking distance of the stadium where the game is to be played. No reservations are necessary for the dinner.

Merchant Corrects Publication Error

Correction of an error in the 1940 edition of the student directory is hereby acknowledged by the staff of that publication.

The address of Cornwall's shoe shop was incorrectly published as 1003 State street. Mr. Cornwall wishes to inform his Gaucho clients that his fine shoe repair service is still located at 1033 State street.

Clean-up

Committee Drive Dorn Announces

College hygiene gets another boost next week with the inauguration of a drive sponsored by the rally committee. "Be proud of your campus" is the essence of the campaign, which begins Monday morning, according to Warren Dorn, head of the committee.

Cooperating with Dorn in the clean-up project are "Cuppy" Wallace, Mack Toner and Tom Guerrero, committeemen. A specific program will be planned and executed by them with the aid of the rally committee.

Campus Sororities Schedule Thanksgiving Week-end Social Activities on Calendar

Formulation of plans for Thanksgiving week-end entertaining and various teas, parties and dinners to be given by college sororities within the next few weeks were made at regular sorority meetings held Monday night.

PHI KAPPA GAMMA . . . Members of Phi Kappa Gamma met at the sorority house to discuss plans for Thanksgiving week-end at which time they will entertain the Beta chapter of Phi Kappa Gamma from San Diego State college. A buffet dinner-dance to be given for members and their guests sometime in November was also discussed.

Formal presentation of the cup Phi Kappa Gamma won as second prize for a float entrance in the Galloping Gaucho parade held last week was made by Betty Towle, president of the group.

TAU GAMMA SIGMA . . . Tau Gamma Sigma gave a baby shower for their sponsor, Mrs. H. Klyne Headley, at her home Monday evening. After the business meeting and the shower, the sorority adjourned to the home of Charlotte Naess, 2029 Bath street, to join the alumnae chapter in the first rehearsal for the annual Soiree Musical on December 10, which will take place this year at the Biltmore hotel.

GAMMA DELTA CHI . . . Meeting at the sorority house, Gamma Delta Chi members discussed plans to welcome alumni for the Big Game week. Pledge pins were also reviewed with Alpha Duncan and Beth Porter, alumni representative, being appointed co-chairmen to select styles which will be voted on by members.

Dora Wiegand and Eleanor Murphy were elected to arrange a fashion show to be held December 7.

Also present at the meeting were Mrs. J. G. Hayden, new patroness, Mrs. Mamie Miller, adviser and Mrs. Virginia Kunkle, housemother.

DELTA ZETA DELTA . . . Marking the 16th anniversary of the founding of Delta Zeta Delta sorority, a supper dance was held last Saturday night at El Paseo for members and escorts. The event carried out a Spanish theme.

Plans are at present being made for the annual faculty breakfast to be held at the home of Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, organization sponsor, in honor of new college faculty members. The event is to be held November 17.

DELTA SIGMA EPSILON . . . A joint meeting was held by Gamma Sigma Epsilon sorority and Tau Omega fraternity at the sorority house Monday evening which ended with games and refreshments.

A discussion was held on the informal open house slated for November 8 with Alice Benson, Raima Chancey, and Helen Spurrier in charge. Final plans for a dinner dance for Delta Sigma Epsilon members and guests to be held November 16 at El Paseo were also made at that time.

ARETA GAMMA . . . Areta Gamma members made final plans for a bowling party to be held November 19, at a short business meeting held after the open house tea Monday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. De Viehne 2607 Puesta del Sol. Esther Kramer was appointed to make arrangements for the party and Carol Moody, captain of the bowling team, will aid her. Members of the group will serve the Pan Hellenic dinner to be held next Wednesday, November 6, at 6 p.m. at the home of Peggy Gilbert, 2111 Castillo.

Music Heads Disclose Dates For Concerts

Announcement of the concert schedule for this year was made by Van A. Christy, music department head and Lloyd N. Browning, department instructor, at the department meeting held Tuesday. The concerts will feature well known vocal and instrumental artists.

First of the series, scheduled for Monday, November 18 in the auditorium, will feature the combined talents of Ina Suez, internationally known Mozart soprano and John Wack, prominent local bass-baritone.

Bradford Tozier, well-known violinist who is a Santa Barbara state college alumnus, will appear in the second concert to be given December 5.

Other artists to be presented during the year include Phillip Abbas, famous cellist and H. Klyne Headley, State college music instructor, who will feature his own compositions in a concert to be given early in January.

Traditional organizations concert which includes the A Capella choir, men's and women's choruses, the band and the orchestra, will take place sometime in December, according to Christy.

Prices for the coming presentations are 15 cents for students and 35 cents for outsiders. The student organizations and talent concerts will be free to student body members.

Letter to Ed . . .

Mr. J. F.'s alleged description of his prolonged journey through the Ebbeys Hall Eatery invites question of his brand of cigarettes. His vituperative attack indicates a complete lack of consideration for the reorganization problem which was given to Mary Ida Sands at the beginning of this semester. The need for the dining room as a classroom necessitated eliminating the Coffee Shop and condensing facilities. Experienced student help was scarce so untrained students had to be instructed. Combine these problems with a program of teaching and outside work and you have a situation in which it would be strange not to find one or two things to be amiss.

Mrs. Sands and others connected with the Cafe have been anxious to receive "constructive" criticism and have never been accused of lacking a sense of humor. Needless it is for us to point out that Mr. J. F.'s article was neither constructive nor humorous.

Since he has taken issue primarily with the slowness of my department, namely the hamburgers, I need only

Lybbus Knief Narrates Tour Of 'Good Neighbor' Countries

Orchid hunting in Rio . . . flying over the "Christ of the Andes" . . . listening to Carmen Miranda at the "Urca" were a few of the experiences "down Argentine way" of Lybbus Knief, junior at Santa Barbara State college and member of Phi Kappa Gamma sorority.

Miss Knief was chosen to join a limited tour, conducted by Merle Waterman, secretary of the Tri-county Y.M.C.A., which traveled by plane to Buenos Aires last July. Stops were made at various cities on the way, including Mexico City, Guatemala City, Ecuador, Lima and others.

MINERAL OPPORTUNITIES . . . "Living conditions of Mexico are extremely low compared to those of South America," Miss Knief declares. The streets around Cathedrals in Mexico were over-run with beggars, while in South America very few beggars were noticed. Estancia's (cattle ranches) provide a livelihood for many South Americans not engaged in mining or agriculture. Miss Knief spoke of the numerous minerals in South America which have not been exploited for lack of capital and ready transportation to the cities. United States oil companies prefer using American men in their business of production, but these poitions must be secured in America first.

The educational system in South America is excellent, Miss Knief thinks. School was in session as July is the winter season and Christmas comes in summer. The children are much more advanced because of nursery schools which start a child's education at three years. A child in the first grade can write much better than ours can in the fifth grade. Their teachers are also excellent, and American teachers are not wanted.

The most beautiful city in South America, according to Miss Knief, was Rio de Janeiro, while Panama was the dirtiest, the hottest, and the noisiest city of the trip. In Chile the money exchange gave them 33 pesos for their American dollar.

In retrospect, Miss Knief considers the Pan-American airline trip the best part of the tour. The passengers and personnel were the friendliest and most courteous encountered on the entire trip, she adds.

LONE GAUCHO . . . In all of South America Miss Knief saw only one active "Gaucho" and he was 77 years old.

Returning home Miss Knief came by boat from Buenos Aires to New York. This meant a 17-day trip, with the Ballet Russe for traveling companions, across the Equator.

"English is the second language of South America, and in the interests of good relations with South America, Spanish should be our second language," is the opinion of Miss Knief, at the end of her 20,000 mile trip through South America.

College Departments Convene Tuesday for Consideration of Future Convivial Activities

All college departments convened last Tuesday fourth hour for the regular monthly meeting to plan for future social and business events.

Leading a discussion on healthful programs for children, Miss Helen Cass, director of the Sunshine Cottage of Santa Barbara spoke to women physical education department members at a meeting held in room 91. Further plans were also completed concerning a party held Tuesday evening at the rink on lower State street.

Meeting in room 81, the junior high department was informed of its first social meeting, to be held at the Santa Barbara junior high school next Thursday evening, at 7:30 p.m. Three members of the junior high school's faculty will entertain the college group with a program in the nature of a "hi-jinks."

Home economic department majors met in the Music hall where a style show was presented by Martha Jane Barker, campus representative for I. Magnin's. Models were Emeline Maker, Adelina Ciabbari, Pauline Hayes, Ida May Jensen, Barbara Leach, and Jean Pharoar.

The meeting was conducted by Helen Sandrock, president.

A swing group consisting of drums, trumpet, guitar and bass fiddle handled by Richie Watson, Melvin Dennis, Chet Wilson, and Bill Watson entertained elementary department members at the meeting held in room 80. Business of the meeting consisted of the appointment of Eleanor Brady to the position of publicity director, while Lynette Russell was chosen to edit the yearly publication of the department, "El Visitador" which comes out in May.

Music department majors met in room 60 to discuss this year's concert schedule which was presented to them by Lloyd Browning, department instructor. Further business concerned the planning of a theatre party to take place November 12.

The art department met in room 55 to formulate plans for the semi-formal dance to be held at the Biltmore for all majors and minors and their guests early in December. A pot-luck supper to be held November 14 was also discussed.

The industrial arts department met in the auditorium and were entertained with movies of horseback riding. Future social events with the home economics department were also discussed.

Science Club Bills Holiday Island Trek

Taking advantage of the time provided by the Armistice holiday, Leaf and Scarab, honorary science organization, plans a two day geological, zoological and biological study of the Santa Rosa islands. Approximately thirty students plan to make the trip.

Three committees, headed by Dr. Helen Sweet, have cooperated for the success of the outing. On the food committee are Howard Joham, science department president, Frances Boyton and Maxine Sudbury. Don Wootton is in charge of attendance and Neil McKay is responsible for transportation arrangements.

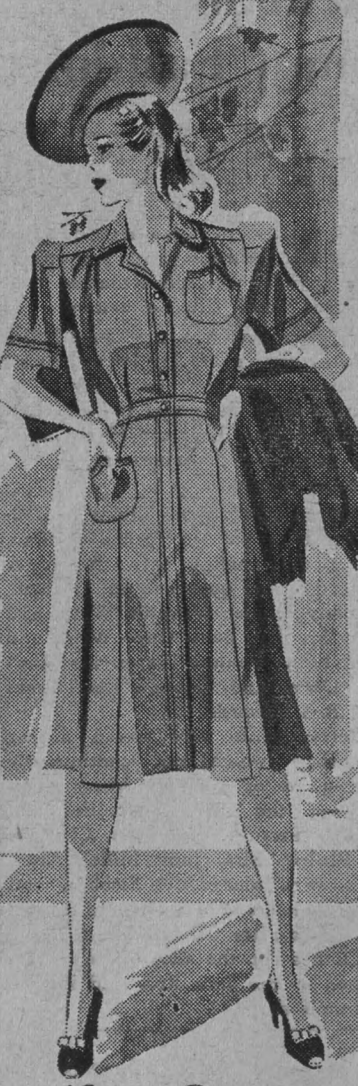

A biological pamphlet compiled by students under the direction of Dr. Sweet and Charles Hice, received its final editing at a science department meeting last Tuesday, and will be used by the students in making the study. Material for the leaflet was gathered by Joham and Miss Sudbury.

Speakers at the Tuesday meeting were Dr. F. T. Addicott, talking on jobs available in the field of botany; Dr. M. M. Erickson, on nursing; and Dr. E. L. Bickerdike on physics and geology.

At the next meeting of Leaf and Scarab, Dr. David Banks Rogers, world renowned authority, will give a lecture on the Indian culture of the Islands.

PATSY SAYS:

Dear Maureen . . . I'm sorry I couldn't come over to your house last Friday afternoon, but it was so rainy I just curled up in one corner of our davenport with a stack of the latest fashion magazines and an apple. I read and munched the whole afternoon while the best and newest in style walked right through my front room. Alice in Wonderland?—Nope . . . Patsy in Paradise!

Among the outstanding outfits in that dream parade were "Carole King" dresses that came from the pages of "Mademoiselle."

To make a short story even shorter, came Saturday and Jack Rose Shop day for me. And lo-and-behold the first thing to greet my eyes were even smoother "Carole Kings" than I had ever seen before.

Literally hundreds of different styles and colors that are plus in everything but price ($3.95 to $7.95).

I picked a little model labeled "Buckaroo" that is just as full of fire as the name implies.

When you see a star studded belt around a natural colored corduroy dress with zipper front and short sleeves, stop, look and talk, 'cause it'll be me.

Gauchitos Gun for Third Win Against Santa Maria Squad

Riding on the crest of a two game winning streak, Coach Howie Yeager's ambitious freshmen gridders take on a double dose this week when it tangles with the Santa Maria Junior college aggregation tomorrow night and then comes back on Wednesday evening against the tough Saint Mary's Hornets at La Playa field.

Showing a vast improvement in their last two games with wins over the Los Prietos CCC and Santa Monica Junior college elevens, the Gauchitos will be favored to knock over the Santa Maria gridders but will be decided underdogs against the Hornets headed by George "Greek" Valos, former Gaucho varsity guard, who is now handling the signal barking duties for the town-club.

Frank Iacovino and Fred Acres, the freshmen's pair of crack guards, are expected to lead the forward wall against their opponents. Both have turned in a top notch brand of ball throughout the season and will be at their best Saturday and Wednesday nights.

Heading the offensive attack will be little Walt Lohman, shifty half-back and Reed Shoemaker, hard hitting right halfback. Held in reserve will be one of the speediest runners on the Pacific Coast, Hovis Bess, 9.8s sprinter, who will spell Lohman at the left halfback post.

Plunging Dick Clive and Laurie Boyd will handle the fullback duties between them with Frank Thatcher and Dermide Jousseau trading off at quarterback.

The rest of the starting lineup includes Don Chiniquy and Jack Vogt at the ends; Carl Duren and Carroll Woodworth at the tackles and Bill Kinzey at center.

Clyde "Snuffy" Smith, halfback, Peter Fong, end, Harry Lewis, end, and Cuppy Wallace, center, are the reserves most likely to see action.

Yeager, who is extremely optimistic over his squad's chances now that it has won two straight games, declared, "If the team plays up to its capabilities, we should come out on top in both games. The boys have a lot of football talent and are starting to work together as the scores in our last two games will indicate."

Gymsters Put On Gym Jinx

This year's Giant Gym Jinx, scheduled for Wednesday, evening, Dec. 4th, in contrast to past gym team affairs, will be broadened in scope to include other talents of the members of the team and its associates.

Six Veterans Return for Final Season

Wilton Chastises Varsity Candidates For Exhibitionism

Declaring that fancy passing, shooting and slapstick comedy are done only by professional teams, and has no place in inter-collegiate play, Coach Wilton Wilton warned his 25 varsity candidates, that it would not be tolerated, at Wednesday evening's scrimmage.

The Gaucho mentor stated that there was too much at stake to risk losing everything for the sake of a few exhibitionists. "There are plenty of men out for the team, and it will be very easy to replace any one of the men," he said.

Four first string two year lettermen are back for their final year of action. Larry "Crash" Brewster, pugnacious Gaucho guard played summer ball and is in good condition. Tom Guerrero, forward, always in good shape is also ready to go. Paddy Caudillo, who has been practicing diligently and seems to have developed more speed, has been sparking up the veterans.

Lew Bedell, who showed much promise last season, played with the above mentioned veterans during the summer and may cop one of the first string berths.

Bob Rego, another of last season's promising candidates, has also shown up well and should see plenty of action. Lowell Stewart, regular center last season and Gordy Gray have shown what they can do.

With one year of frosh experience, are Dick Rider, a steady dependable guard, and Joe Nunez, guard, Bob Sherman, basketball handyman, good defensively and offensively, should see a lot of action. Walt Lohman and Ray Acevedo, forward, are small but extremely fast and will be fighting for their berths.

Former junior college and high school stars complete the roster for this season's casaba wars. Bill Lavalle, forward and captain of last season's Pasadena Junior college aggregation, leads the list of highly regarded transfers. He is regarded in some circles as a rival to Tom Guerrero.

Danny Lieberman, guard, good both on offense and defense, played on the U.C.L.A. freshman team two years ago. Walter Wood, 6'6" center, is also being carefully groomed by Wilton.

Women Tennis Winners Given

Winners in the Women's Tennis tournament, which has been going full blast for the last few weeks have finally been announced. The first round winners are: Marjorie Wooton, Helen Wadstrom, Phyllis Geer, Elizabeth del Alva, Betty Berryman, Pat Clark, Helen Bruffat, Marjorie McIntire, Claire Nollman, Kathleen Fischer, Elaine Birra, Blanch Hubbard, Louise Downing, Rosemary Gammons.

ERNIE SAENZ, one of the few gridders on the Gaucho eleven who has shown any signs of ability this season is expected to be one of the big guns against the Marines.

Hank Behrens Sparkles in 'Mural Track

Initial intramural track meet in four years at Santa Barbara was run off yesterday afternoon on Phelps field under the direction of Coach Nick Carter.

Henry Behrens tossed the discus out 126 feet for the outstanding performance of the evening. Bill Morgan stepped off the 50 yard dash in 5.7 seconds, very fast time under the circumstances.

Summary: 50 yd. dash: Won by Bill Morgan, Gage, Kilroy. Time: 5.7 s. 1320 yard run: Won by Liegerot, Soule. Time: 3:37.6. 150 yd. low hurdles: Won by Kilroy, Gage, Meek. Time: 14 flat. 660 yard run: Won by Liegerot, Soule, Graves. Time: 1:37.4. 70 yd. high hurdles: Won by Gage, Kilroy, Meek. Time: 9.4 s. 330 yd. dash: Won by Liegerot, Soule. 150 yd. dash: Won by Bill Morgan, Clapp, Gage. Time: 17 s. Pole vault: Won by Rivers, Gage, Navarro. 10 ft. 6 in. ## Big Green Eleven Clashes With Marine Squad Tomorrow

Still on the ropes as the result of the 33-6 trouncing handed it by the San Jose eleven, the Santa Barbara State college aggregation moves south tomorrow evening and runs right smack dab into the toughest squad it has faced all year, the San Diego Marines.

Hanley Leads In Badminton

Blasting his way, 15-3, 15-1, over Gail Squires Tuesday, Bud Hanley established himself as the man to beat in the intramural badminton tourney.

The competition is narrowing down to hotter contests as the favorites move up into the semifinal rounds next week. Burl Blue took straight sets from H. Harmon, 15-9, 15-9; Ralph Fletcher ousted Gene Schwieker, 15-3, 15-11; and Bolas won by forfeit from Bill Morgan in other matches.

The badminton doubles tourney will begin as soon as more entries come in. It is to be understood that intramural is open to all male members of the student body.

Schedule: Tuesday: Dewhurst vs Mark; Stevenson vs Blue; Bolas vs Hanley and first semi-final consolation match Thursday: semi-finals in winners bracket.

The Devildogs have dropped only one game this year, 2-12, to the strong Pacific Coast conference team, Oregon, and in another fracas, annihilated Pomona, 45-0.

Heading the Marines will be Johnny Ryland, former All-American center from U. C. L. A. who besides handling the ball snapping duties, backs up the line on defense and proof of his ability is shown that no team has crossed the Marine goal line outside of the University of Oregon.

Bill Crass, former All-Southern fullback from Louisiana State, heads the San Diego eleven's attack.

The Gauchos' sadly depleted squad received another blow when it was learned that John Costas, halfback, and Bill Chrisman, tackle, are both lost for the remainder of the season because of injuries resulting from a scrimmage session Wednesday at Phelps field.

Loss of Costas necessitated the moving of Walt Condey, right halfback, over to the left half spot to back up Mose Neely.

The probable lineup against the Marines will find Larry Pickens and Howard Karjala at the guards, Dave Hengsteler and Ed Larsen at the tackles, and Larry Bemoll and Wayne Engle, guards. Blynn Wilson will start at center.

Besides Neely, the starting backfield will find Walt Condey, right halfback; Tom Reid, fullback; and Lloyd Garrison, quarterback.

Ballot One of Last Democratic Tools; Importance of Vote Felt

Now is the time for all good editors to come out with a "Vote-Tuesday-to-Save-Your-Democratic-Rights" editorial. It's the same old story, repeated in the same way, with the names of the opposing candidates making the only change.

Now, no one denies the merit in this type of article. "In these trying times" especially, when the ballot is rapidly becoming the last democratic institution left, the importance of voting cannot be overemphasized.

Scholarly observers are agreed that the issues in this campaign are unimportant, that the personalities of the two candidates are the determining factors which will influence the mass of the voters. Democrats and Republicans both advocate strong national defense, certainly the question of the day; both advocate stronger social measures, at least in theory; in short, the platforms of the two major parties differ not one iota on real issues.

Instead of a discussion of national problems we find the Republicans using the third term and the threat of dictatorship as their lethal weapon. The Democrats, for their campaign fodder, point to the record of the Republicans voting on measures advocated by the New Deal in the past few years.

The so-called "radical fringe" labels Willkie and Roosevelt "Tweedledee and Tweedledum," implying that as far as vital questions of the day are concerned, the two are in perfect agreement. Regardless of how you view the statements of these leftist groups, the fact remains that the leaders of the parties, in all of their speeches have been indulging in mere name-calling, in quoting figures which can be twisted to fit any argument, by references to the historical past which do not apply to the present situation.

The choice, then, is a simple matter. Forget all the political bunk. Forget the verbose campaign speeches. "You picks yer ballot and you takes yer choice."—S.C.

Writer Strikes at Labor Czar's Support of Wendell Willkie

Last week "the hand that held the dagger struck it into the back of its friend." For as surely as Mussolini stabbed his stiletto of hate into the defenseless back of France, John L. Lewis plunged the same weapon into the very heart of American labor when he endorsed Wendell Willkie for president of the United States.

Lewis had two ways to turn. The first was to an administration that had assured labor collective bargaining, banned child labor, enacted maximum hours and minimum wage laws, begot the N. L. R. B., fought for and gained slum clearance, public health works, conserved natural resources and won hundreds of other victories in behalf of the people.

The second choice was support of the party that fought nearly every one of the above benefits, a party led by a man that today woos labor, but who yesterday showed his love for it by allowing one of his companies to spend thousands of dollars on labor spies, private investigators and tear gas guns and shells for them to use as "convincers," who refused to recognize Mr. Lewis' own C. I. O. until a strike forced him to capitulate, whose "Consumer Power" subsidiary was warned by the N. L. R. B. because of unfair labor practices, and who in many other instances has shown his hostility to labor.

Lewis chose. He chose not the friend of labor but the foe. Why? Because Willkie met the terms of Lewis which will enable the ex-labor leader to be Secretary of Labor or to appoint his own man to that post.

Despite the stand John L. Lewis, labor will not forget all this. The arm of one man, he will find, is not strong enough to pierce the common sense of American labor. Roosevelt, win or lose, will be supported by the people he has befriended.—L. G.

With Jack Newman

Mister Frizzi don't get it. Mister Frizzi, for your edification, is Benjamin Frizzi of the San Jose sportswriting Frizzi's.

And Mister Frizzi says, "After plugging the Gauchos last week, telling about the wonderful team they had, how the Spartans feared them, etc., they spread it all over their school paper that Sparta considers them a bunch of 'stumble bums'. 'It might,' Mister Frizzi continues, 'have been a bit of Gauchology to get the team in a fighting spirit. And it might have been a continuation of the Old Gauchology spirit, which frankly, we don't think much of now.'"

Then Mister Frizzi printed a couple of paragraphs verbatim from George Stepanian's sport column, and even went so far as to publish word for word nine paragraphs of our "Just for Fun."

He sure showed us. And then Mister Frizzi said, "We'll let you, readers, judge as to who is doing all the crying, moaning and such stuff. If that's the sort of tripe that comes out of Gaucholand, maybe we should have changed our tune of last week sooner than we are doing right now."

Wonder who Mister Frizzi thinks is "crying, moaning and such stuff?" Let him not interpret the loud belly laughs emanating from Santa Barbara as crying, moaning and such stuff.

I guess humor has to be as subtle as their football squad for him to enjoy it. And after all—who in the whole wide world could even think of defeating mighty and powerful San Jose?

Sticks and stones may not break their bones—but look—they just can't stand to be called names. Do you get it now, Mister Frizzi?

STINKEE SAYS . . .

What is This? The Garbage? Blitzkrieg the Refuse! . . .

A little girl was crying. Large crocodile tears rolled down her cheek and dripped from her chin, splashing into the Quad pool. It was a touching scene. I approached to sooth her troubled waters. She looked tearfully up into my eyes—I gulped—it was Dr. Sweet.

Now, when Dr. Sweet can cry—after carving up defenseless little "Kitties," froggies and rats (no reflections intended)—there really must be something to cry about, and there was. She related the sad-sad tale to me. It seems that she thinks our lovely "American Riviera" campus has been relegated to a "picnic grounds"—this she said in no uncertain terms as she gathered her apron full of trash and started for the nearest refuse can which was just a few yards away—as it is in most cases. I felt a lump growing in my throat—to think that—oh, no, not that—our students aren't dirty. Then I looked.

Every place my eye fell—there was a crumpled piece of paper, and came to the conclusion that the only decent thing the "litterers" did in their thorough work was to crumple up the papers. Plorable situation of gross negligence may be summarized briefly, and although the facts are missing on some of the "junk" that may be included, the general following contributors may be listed: "D" and "F" papers, club meeting notices, bids to fraternity open houses—some 3,000 of these in evidence, love-letters pro and con, program cards, garbage and Cal-Poly students, pieces of sophomore clothing and hair in the vicinity of the quad, apples cores, old razor blades, flunk notices, lecture notes, out-moded ponies and cheaters, broken laboratory equipment, glasses, Coca-Cola bottles and an occasional 7-Up and Dr Pepper bottle, empty toothpaste containers, lip-sticks, undistributed El Gauchos' and Collegiate Digests, garbage and Cal-Poly students, British propaganda, Roosevelt posters, Willkie posters and other similar rubbish, underwear, fingernails, dishes (with two chips), uneaten food, and partially eaten food, Cal Poly students, garbage, cork legs, garbage Cal-Poly students and freshmen—some sophomores, a few juniors and nooooo seniors—we suppose.

From the Shoulder

BY THE EDITOR

Once upon a time . . .

there were 36 hungry athletes who had been recruited from far and wide to play football for a college. Now, being growing boys—that is, most of them, except for the old men—they were very hungry and quite often. But they didn't have to worry, for along came almost a hundred "li'l angels" who were going to be nice and considerate et al., and keep these boys from experiencing the torment of Tantalus. (Reference: Roget's Thesaurus, Section 865.)

So, for some time, everybody lived happily. The only resentment being felt because the hungry athletes—who, by this time, had become only 33—but not because the other three had succumbed to starvation—were not fed three times a day in bed. It seemed they had to drive into the big city almost two miles away and eat at a big hotel.

But they didn't mind that very much, because the food was good, everybody was nice to them and they had only to worry about digging up enough money for their rent.

Then one day, one of the "angels" discovered that he and his other little heavenly citizens were running short of money. Mercy! This couldn't go on . . .

What were they to do? Ah! But then, another bright little angel noticed that the boys who were eating "his" food were supposed to be given a rest on October 19. Well, there was the answer to the problem. All they had to do was schedule a game on that night—it made no difference who the game was with—and stand at the far end of the rainbow stacking the gold bricks into their cash register.

But about this time, the lord of the universe, who holds the pat hand on such things as gate receipts, stepped into the picture and told the paying customers they had better save their money for the expected rainy day.

Result: Instead of being able to continue on the remainder of their lucre feeding the 33 hungry athletes for maybe three of four more weeks, the "angels" were forced to hang out the "gone to lurch" sign a little over two weeks after the 19th.

In the meantime, the rainy day the customers were waiting for came along and so they all stayed home that night too.

Now it couldn't have been that public sentiment was against any game such as the Cal Ramblers encounter, could it? Oh, no! And it couldn't have been that the "angels" were taking a desperate chance of the long shot paying across the board at the ticket office, could it? Again, oh, no!

But we must admit . . .

that for as long as it lasted, the Gridiron Club provided something for athletics at Santa Barbara State college that very few schools can boast of. We're sorry to see them go for any reason and we assure the members that their assistance was appreciated sincerely.

But we hope, in the same breath, that some solution to the situation will be reached before long. After all, some colleges have a team of only one string and lose all their games.
