

Graduates form committee to aid undergrads' march

By TERESA CHENERY
Staff Writer

Mobilizing graduate students on a half day's notice resulted in a meeting with 10 per cent of the 1100 graduates present to elect an Ad Hoc Committee to plan their protest to the present University-wide crisis.

An appeal letter was presented as one form of protesting tuition, budget cut, and the pre-emptory removal of President Clark Kerr, to the Regents and the State Legislature.

OBJECTION

An objection to the letter was made by Committee member Barry Winograd, who called it "lacking in a direct confrontation of the state which is impinging upon the freedoms of the University."

No action was taken on whether or not to send the letter but it was attacked for its moderate tone and not approved by those graduates present as their form of protest.

COMMITTEE

The first act of the meeting, led by Lecturer of Political Science, Larry Adams, was to elect a five-man committee to investigate alternatives and to plan what action the graduates would take.

Elected were Desmond Jones, political science; Ike Orrick, chemistry; Barry Winograd, sociology; Darryl Maddox, anthropology; and Howard Gladman, political science.

The Steering Committee is meeting today at UCLA with graduates from the other UC campuses, in order to formulate an organized protest in the form of a charter, revising the structure of the Regents, and supporting the undergraduates' march on Sacramento.

Faculty hits Regents for Kerr action

The Academic Senate last night condemned the Regents' dismissal of Clark Kerr and called for "immediate steps to establish machinery to assure hereafter the subsequent participation of the Faculty in decisions concerning the Presidency of the University and other matters effecting the autonomy and the freedom of the University." The vote was 237 to 13.

The Senate, composed of administrators and faculty, moved unanimously "to support and encourage all responsible ef-

Krend defends Guide, 'more useful' statistics

By MIKE LIFTON
Staff Writer

Recent criticism of the upcoming Faculty Evaluation Guide by Ken Jennings, former sociology TA and presently research assistant to Professor Charles Hubbell, and philosophy professor Ronald Hathaway, has prompted Jeff Krend, the guide's author, to answer their charges.

The first question he tried to clear up was the one of distribution.

"There does seem to be a misunderstanding on how many evaluation packets a person needs," Krend admitted. "You need just one."

"We realize any given student may have more than one opportunity to pick up a packet on Feb. 8 or 9. But we expect each student to take only one."

Explaining the procedure for evaluating the professors, he pointed out that there is only one answer sheet per packet, but that there are spaces for five evaluations on each answer sheet.

Krend next discussed the problem of paragraph evaluations.

"We (the Faculty Evaluation Guide Committee) discarded it (the idea of evaluation by paragraphs) because even if you could get enough students to write evaluations in terms of strengths and weaknesses, there wouldn't be any way to convey the extent of agreement among the members in a given course."

DIFFERENT NOTIONS

"In addition, everyone is going to have different notions of strengths and weaknesses, which in itself creates problems when someone has to sit down and sum up the main points."

Leg council sanctions march- 'We're going to Sacramento'

By PAUL MYERS
Staff Writer

"We're going to Sacramento!" exclaimed Hubert Jessup, chairman of REACT, after the resolution to support a mass student march to Sacramento passed AS Legislative Council by a tight 7-6 vote yesterday afternoon in Campbell Hall.

EL GAUCHO Editor, John

Maybury, brought up the issue of the date for the proposed march and recommended February 11.

Due to the three day weekend of February 11, AS President Jay Jeffcoat noted that Speaker of the House, Jesse Unruh, had informed him that most of the legislators would not be in Sacramento that weekend.

The specific date of the march was eventually left open for the coordinating committee to work out, but Jessup entertained a motion, which subsequently passed, that the march be scheduled at the earliest possible date, and that this date be set for a week day when the Legislature is in session.

Independent Rep Paul Bellin, replied to those who maintained a week-day march would be a boycott of classes by saying, "This isn't a boycott. People will just sort of be missing from classes."

Sorority Rep Cheri Meyers raised the question of who would compose the committee to coordinate the march. She was "unsure of the composition... and how members will be chosen."

Jeffcoat replied that student representatives would be selected by Leg Council, faculty members by the Academic Senate, and graduate students by the Ad Hoc Graduate Committee.

By far the most volatile issue of the meeting was the proposal that UCSB send a small delegation to Sacramento to confer with the Legislature instead of a mass student march. Adherents to the limited delegation approach felt a mass march would be difficult to organize and keep under control.

Tony Shih, holding Rep-at-Large Chris Gautschi proxy, set the tenor of the anti-march faction by commenting, "I don't think we can do it. I don't think we are mature enough... many of us would make it a social function... we don't need that."

Miss Meyers stressed the effectiveness of seminars and panel discussions with the Legislature, which she favored to an "emotional march."

Speaking in favor of a mass march, Jessup noted that a "strong voice comes from the masses." The student radical leader received a standing ovation by stating, "People here are tired of an elite trying to represent them."

Bellin added that "we've been sending small delegations, letters, and telegrams," and implied these measures had met with little success.

Gary Horn, UCen Program Board Chairman, stated, "the march is to show the Legislature that we are behind them. Twelve people can't do this."

Addressing himself to the argument that students could not organize a march, Acting Assistant Professor Richard Harris said, "You do great discredit to yourselves in thinking that you cannot organize a mass march."

Horn announced that the tentative plan was to charter buses to transport students to Sacramento.

The resolution, as amended, carried 7-6 with members Gay Dowling, Hal Young, Cheryl Howard, Bill Eick, Cheri Meyers, and Marty Hamilton voting to oppose the march to Sacramento.

Leg Council responds; sets Convocation here

By RICH ZEIGER
City Editor

Legislative Council met last night in Campbell Hall to consider plans for the positive action expressed by the mandate at Monday's rally.

A motion introduced by Representatives Grim and Bellin, and originally proposed by Hugo Rossitter and Charles Haweck, established an "all University Convocation" to determine in "which direction the University will go." The Convocation will coincide with the Regents meeting to be held here next month and will feature a "vigil line" that the Regents would have to walk between at the conclusion of the meeting.

Leading educators and national figures such as Dr. Kingman Brewster, Sen. William Fulbright, Dr. Clark Kerr and Dr. Paul Goodman would be invited to attend.

Part of the purpose of the meeting would be to formulate a "proposals for legislative changes in the structure of the Board of Regents and the policies of the University..."

JOINT STATEMENT

The Council also approved a statement to be read jointly at the Associated Students Presidents meeting to be held today at UCLA. The letter deplores the abrupt firing of Clark Kerr and urges a five point plan for the Academic Senate to adopt:

- A statement urging that the Regents affirm their confidence in the administration, faculty and students in solving problems peculiar to each campus;
- A statement urging that

Rafferty replace Kerr? Prof's may leave?--Alquist

By PAUL DOUGLASS
News Editor

In an exclusive interview with State Senator Alfred Alquist (D - San Jose) Sunday, the Senator made this statement to EL GAUCHO:

"The politically inspired firing of President Clark Kerr is a tragic loss to the University and to the entire State of California. It is shocking, but certainly not surprising.

"Those who payed attention to the campaign last fall should have realized that Governor Reagan was a captive of the anti-intellectual forces led by Max Rafferty.

"Rafferty is on record in opposition to college accreditation and the standards of scholastic excellence it imposes. In fact, I wouldn't even be surprised if Rafferty is appointed President of the University to replace Kerr. After all, the job pays more than Rafferty's job as Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The fact that Rafferty stayed away from the Regents meeting tends to support this possibility.

"Under President Kerr, the University of California achieved recognition as the world's most outstanding institution of higher education. This is credited largely to the fact that he created an intellectually free and scholastic atmosphere which attracted the best brains from all over the nation.

"In fact, there has been a westward tilt which brought the nation's best scholars and scientists to California. This may reverse to an eastern tilt and now the "brain drain" flow could also reverse and could threaten California's pre-eminence in brain-power industries.

"Kerr's firing may signal the departure of many Nobel Prize winners and other distinguished professors. I hope this will not happen, but academic excellence does not flourish in a climate of political "know-nothingism."

"School people have told me that Max Rafferty himself has become the biggest barrier to attracting needed out-of-state teachers for our public schools.

Imagine what "Rafferty-ism" could do to our University.

"It will be the height of irony if public reaction to the accesses of a handful of students can be successfully parleyed into the destruction of one of the State's most valuable resources -- the University of California.

"The circumstances surrounding the Kerr firing has also widened the Governor's "credibility gap" which began to crack open with a series of conflicting statements on the issues of budget cuts and tuition."

Library tower rises for special collections

By ERIC VAN DE VERG
Reporter

"The student is the library's reason for existence," states Catherine McNabb, acting University librarian. The new eight-story, $3 million addition is the latest step in the library's attempt to meet student needs.

Most books of general interest will stay in the present library. The ground floor will house the periodical reading room and serials' reading desk, with two checkout desks, one being located at the reserved book room desk which will remain where it is.

The eastern portion of floor two will house the library offices. The third and fourth floors will be for the science and engineering library. Mrs. Maria Paterman, with scientific background including study at the Universities of Berlin and Copenhagen, will run this department from her second-floor desk. The second floor will also contain indexes and reviews of current scientific and technological literature.

On the fifth and sixth floors The Wyles collection and university archives are to be on the top floor. A display vault for rare books will be one of the attractions of this controlled-access area. A feature of this floor is the row of tinted picture windows that extends around the building, with views of the campus, the mountains, the ocean and the airport.

Study carrels for 593 students will line the southern walls of every floor. Two graduate reading rooms and two conference rooms are situated at the east end of each floor. The conference rooms are for varied uses and will be used flexibly for different purposes as they arise. About 85 individual study rooms will be available to professors on a first come, first served basis. Burdett Dunn is in charge.

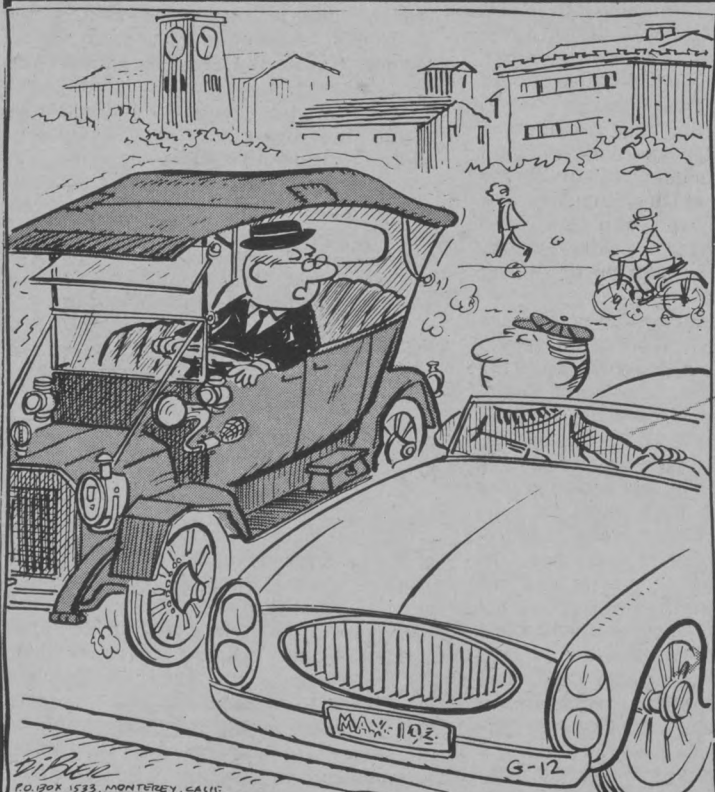

The colorful building has pale avocado-shade walls accented by orange panels on the western walls. Stairwells are canary yellow; the areas around elevator doors are painted blue.

In assessing the features of this library, Eugene Graziano, assistant librarian in charge of services, feels the "most exciting thing in this building is the open stack policy for essentially the whole library." He emphasized that this is unusual for a large university library and will be on an experimental basis.

Kerr's mark 'indelible'

Yes, the rally is over. The big boycott didn't come off. We're going to class as usual. But the convulsion that was touched off everywhere last Friday when the Regents fired Clark Kerr had a violent effect on this campus--it started a lot of people thinking about what this University was, is, and will be. Professors just sort of showed up at Friday's Leg Council meeting, they served on the Ad Hoc Committee that prepared Monday's rally, and they offered their warm encouragement to students who wanted to do right by their University.

The firing of Clark Kerr did more for student-faculty unity than anything we can member. It dramatically showed that Clark Kerr was OUR President. He created the atmosphere that let US speak and listen to one another on the high plateau of academic freedom.

We knew the forces arrayed against Clark Kerr, and we knew that he was not going to last forever. But we also knew who carried the chalice of academic freedom in this state, who fought the University's battles in the dark inquisitions of various Un-American Activity Committees, and who tried to shelter the University from a public that has never really understood the meaning of academic freedom.

Back in the early fifties when most of us started our educations, we learned about the American way, our heritage of freedom and our sense of fair play. Our super-sano Governor campaigned on that image--an image of clean government, a sense of fair play, and a tradition of just treatment. It took him three weeks to blow his cool.

The handsome stranger from Boraxville was architect and party to the back-door disposal of one of America's finest and most knowledgeable educators. Dispose is the word. We were appalled at the way they finally did it. They just asked him to leave while they discussed a "personnel matter." There was no deference to nine years of outstanding service.

It's one thing to surprise the academic community with a barrage of budget cuts and proposals for tuition charges, but it's something else to so shabbily treat a human being as the way the current administration has treated Clark Kerr. Sometimes, we think, decency outweighs political expediency.

Yes, we are hurt. We feel a need for drastic action. But that's over. To those people that misunderstand this University, we want to say that it is one thing to "ambush" our President, but it will be something else again if anyone tries to undermine what Clark Kerr has built here in the past nine years.

This campus was born and grew up during Clark Kerr's administration, and we owe much of what we have to him. The rally was a tribute to Clark Kerr and it crystallized student concern over the future of the University.

The University of California was here before Clark Kerr, and it will be here after him, but to us here and now, it will always sort of be "his." His contribution is indelible.

Gov. Irrational

To the Editor:

Any inexperienced third-rate actor who becomes a governor is likely to challenge rationality. I am inclined to think that his policies generally can best be understood if one keeps in mind two guiding principles: first, his policies tend to be irrational; second, the more irrational the policy, the more tenaciously he will pursue it. By irrational here I mean based on unreal or factually inaccurate premises, faulty perception of reality, producing unreasonable goals and/or action demonstrably leading elsewhere than the goal sought.

This results essentially from what Sartre would call the human condition. There is human propensity, in the best of circumstances, to self-delusion. The arena of California politics is by no means the best of circumstances, because it requires judgments about unfamiliar terrain in a milieu of chauvinism, which itself exudes irrationalism.

Elements of irrationality in Reagan's attitudes are not hard to find right from the beginning of his campaign, but the illusion that he could save the State's economy by sacrificing education is perhaps the penultimate irrationality, as one educator commented, "Reagan is promotion illiteracy in a literate society." Now his dangerous peccadilloes have descended on us, the foreign and out of state students, or does he know that these students already pay $416 a quarter tuition. As a foreign student myself, I resent most of his attitudes; most of us come here to this great institution because we feel that here is the University of California, with its scientific skill and pragmatism, its revolutionary ideas of educational freedom for all, lack of binding class feeling, social mobility and unlimited opportunities for education. But how does one explain this now?

And, even as I write this, the tragic news that President Kerr is fired is being broadcast over the nation. These opponents of higher education are all homing for the final kill and the Cassandras and the Jeremiahs are abroad. With the sword of Democles hanging over our heads, a great pall of doubt has descended on the University, the students and educators alike - for irrationality has been joined, not only by unrestrained emotion and contempt - but also by total irresponsibility on the part of the fourteen Regents, who, in your words, "knuckled under to state politics." They have allowed the "know-nothing" of more than a century ago to fiddle with our great institution. One cannot have even a little faith in such regents, let alone to maintain their status.

All in all, as it were, with the takeover of these know-nothings, we can safely predict that whatever their proposed policy is, it will be nothing but a nightmarish parody based on ignorance, wild emotion and unrestrained arrogance: especially when we see it in the context of the policy utterances of the new governor, it is even more dangerous. That he is ignorant is obvious, but as I commented earlier, ignorance is no monopoly of Reagan.

Karl Marx has once said, "History repeats itself, first as a tragedy, then as a farce." Here we have the farce first, we have a nincompoop for a Governor, and a great president has been fired. One can only add "may God spare us the four years of tragedy."

Why the furor?

To the Editor:

I am a December graduate in Geography of the University and, because I enrolled in and completed ROTC, I am also a commissioned officer in the United States Army. I did not join ROTC to escape the draft. I was already deferred from the draft because of my academic standing and because I was married. I joined ROTC because of what it offers: training in being a leader of men, someone who is not afraid to stand up and be counted, someone who believes in himself and his ability, someone who is not just a follower who lets other people do his thinking for him because he lacks either the ambition or ability to do it for himself.

ROTC teaches military subjects, there can be no two ways about it. It is designed to provide the United States Army with junior officers. The bayonet, the rifle, and the physical activity to condition the body are all part of this. ROTC makes no pretension about this and I cannot see why everyone raises such a furor about it. This is the type of training it takes to develop a well-rounded individual for military service. Another thing I fail to see is why the people who criticize the program do not mention the other courses which are taught by ROTC. To mention a few: Military History - a course which has no counterpart on the more "academic" side of the campus; Methods of Instruction - something which I think a potential school teacher would find most rewarding because it teaches you how to reach anything to anyone, not just military subjects to military personnel. This, too, is part of the training in leadership given to ROTC cadets which is seldom brought out by critics of the program.

All in all, I would say without reservation that ROTC is one of the outstanding programs of instruction on this campus. The "academic" departments teach the information and facts and ROTC makes you into someone who is able and willing to utilize them.

Letter to Unruh

Open Letter to Jesse Unruh:

A meeting of the Democratic League of Santa Barbara was held today to express the deep concern of our membership with the recent developments affecting the University of California. These events include the governor's proposed budget reductions, the question of tuition and the summary dismissal of Clark Kerr as President of the University.

It was voted unanimously that the officers of the Democratic League of Santa Barbara communicate with you and express the feeling of the membership that these recent developments are purely political manipulations contrary to the tradition of our University as a nonpartisan institution. It was the sense of this meeting that we hope you have done all that you can to preserve the University; it was the fear of some that you have not done all that you might to protect the University from the attacks of this past week.

It was further the expression of the membership of our Democratic League that we look to you, as Speaker of the California Assembly--(as well as all Democrats in the State Legislature)--to use every means within your power to reverse this dangerous situation in which the University has become a pawn in partisan politics.

Our concern is most urgent and sincere. We, in California, have a great University system which is a model for the world; it must not be destroyed or subverted at the political whim of the new governor's administration.

BRAD CURREY
President, Democratic League of Santa Barbara

Dedicate to Kerr

To the Editor:

With all of the tumultuous happenings of the past few days, the future is likely to be forgotten. Soon we will look forward to another La Cumbre. Since the yearbook is somehow meant to summarize annual events, I propose that: (1) we dedicate the 1967 La Cumbre to Clark Kerr and (2) we exclude, out of good taste, the photograph of the erstwhile governor of our state. I would hate to have my children someday refer to my yearbook as PLAY-BILL--his name on my diploma will be embarrassing enough.

Write Letters

Today letter writing stations, manned by interested members of the academic community, will be set up in the University Center as follows:

8 a. m. to 3 p. m. - UCen 2284
3 p. m. to 6 p. m. - UCen 3175
6 p. m. to 11 p. m. - UCen 3167

These stations will have all materials (including addresses) for mailing your letter concerning the University dilemma.

Volunteers are also needed for the implementation of the campaign. Contact either Dr. Lundsgaarde in the Anthropology Office, or Val Schulte at 968-1081 or 968-6198.

CHAD AND JEREMY will be among the groups that will be presented this year by the Concerts Committee. The group will be here on April 8, but they insisted that we run the story now anyway.

Chad, Jeremy head guest list

By GARY HANAUER
Staff Writer

Chad and Jeremy, Simon and Garfunkel, and Peter, Paul, and Mary are among the groups who will be definitely appearing at UCSB this year.

Jeff Herman, former Chairman of Concerts Committee announced details of the upcoming concerts as follows:

● On March 2, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will present Peter, Paul, and Mary in concert in Robertson Gym. Tickets will be $3 each.

● Chad and Jeremy will perform on April 8 in Campbell Hall. Sponsored by the Concerts Committee, $2 will be ticket price.

● May 20 is the date of the Simon and Garfunkel concert in Robertson Gym. Tickets will be less than $2. Concerts Committee is also sponsoring this event.

JAZZ, FOLK

As a prelude to the three upcoming "big" concerts, at least two other events have been scheduled:

● Inter - Fraternity Council presents Cal Tjader, a well known jazz musician, on February 3 in Campbell Hall.

● The 4 Chords and Tim Morgan will perform on February 10 in Campbell Hall. This "Folk Concert" is sponsored by the Sophomore Class.

CONTRACTS CERTAIN
Have contracts regarding these events been signed by all parties involved? "Yes, everything's been taken care of," emphasizes Herman.

Although initial planning has been taken care of, Concerts Committee's new leader, Roger Hedgecock, will institute pre-event activities before each individual concert.

Panel discussion

Faculty - Student Relations Committee of the Art Department is sponsoring an informal panel and open discussion on the subject: "The Artist: Victor or Victim?" in the campus Art Gallery tonight at 8.

This discussion is the second in a series of informal meetings between students, teachers, and outside participants designed to create a time and a meeting place for the exchange of ideas.

Auckland All-Stars Here for Rugby Match

New Zealanders Invade UCSB in 2:45 Battle

UCSB plays host to the rugby kings of the world this afternoon when the Auckland All-Stars invade for a 2:45 battle at the Campus Field.

If you've never seen a rugby match, this is the chance you've been waiting for--watching the top dogs at work. The visitors are the best New Zealand has to offer; good enough to have dumped UCLA - 35-5 Saturday.

If it is raining the match will be held behind Robertson Gym and not on the Campus Field.

For Auckland University, this is the fifth game in a six-game swing through California, and they have picked up four wins already. After going to Road Runner Review tonight and then sleeping with some of the Gauchos ruggers, the Islanders will travel to Berkeley tomorrow morning to meet Cal Saturday in their final U.S. meet.

For the Gauchos, this will be the second outing of the year, the first having been an unsuccessful one against Northern Cal's best, the Peacock Gap.

Tickets are on sale for 50 cents at the Athletic Office and at the Campus Field. The money raised will help pay for Auckland's expenses.

Women Netters Down Oxy, 3-1

The UCSB Women's Tennis team overpowered Occidental here on the West Courts Saturday the 21st by the score of 3-1.

Gigi Mosgofian nationally ranked, beat Occidental's number one singles player, Julie James, 6-4, 7-5. Captain and second singles, Wendy McKee of UCSB beat Ilse Kurtovich of Occidental 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. Third singles, Helena Tanner of UCSB, lost to Sarah Newhall of Occidental 6-4, 6-2.

The doubles team of Melody Locke and Sue Needham of UCSB overpowered Margie Tanita and Debbie Hobler of Occidental 6-2, 6-1.

The Junior Varsity also won. Jon Bryan of UCSB beat Sue Cooley of Occidental 0-6, 6-4, 6-0. Shelly Gebert won her match against Jonie Telljohn of Occidental 6-4, 6-0.

Gauchos Back on WCAC Trail; Kolberg Tops Scoring

Barkey's Men Face Lions Here Thursday

By CHRIS FARROW
Ass't. Sports Editor

Back from the purgatory of Pauley Pavillion and into the more friendly confines of Robertson Gymnasium, Coach Ralph Barkey's hoop club gets back on the WCAC trail Thursday when Loyola comes in for an 8 p.m. tilt.

The Gauchos, winners of three of their last four engagements, will be trying to make it 3-0 in league play in what Coach Barkey considers the most important game of the season to date.

Loyola is 1-0 in WCAC competition--winners over pathetic Pepperdine way back on January 6th, 94-76. The Lions then took two weeks off and came up on the tail end against Arizona State, 78-70, last Saturday.

"In the match with Arizona State we played like we hadn't played a game in two weeks which we hadn't," John Arndt, the Loyola coach commented. "The WAC teams aren't the easiest teams to play on their own court."

The Gauchos nailed Loyola to the boards twice last year, and were the only WCAC team to beat the Lions in their last four games of the 1965-66 season. Arndt's men gained revenge, though, in this year's WCAC Holiday Tournament by knocking off UCSB, 89-72.

The league-contending Lions, 7-6 so far this year, have three fine ballplayers in Rick Adelman, Ken Petersen, and Dick Sebek.

Petersen, a 6-4 1/2 205 lb. forward, is the current possessor of an 18.0 league average, good for eighth place in the WCAC stats, and 12.6 ppg in Loyola's first thirteen games. He is Arndt's only senior.

Rick Adelman is a 6-1 junior guard and the Lion's second leading scorer last year with a 15.9 average, which he's upped to a team leading 16.5 this year.

Dick Sebek, a 6-5 junior forward, is currently connecting for 14.4 ppg. He missed the last 14 games last year because of a broken hand.

On the Santa Barbara side of things, Coach Barkey singled out Steve Rippe, Dick Kolberg (20 points), and Howie Demmelmaier as putting on the better Gauchos performances against UCLA.

"Rippe did a fine job on the Bruin's Lynn Shackelford. Most of his 12 points came off garbage shots. Shackelford didn't score a point off Steve shooting--when UCLA came down and set up."

Rippe will be guarding Loyola's Ken Petersen Thursday.

6-8 Forward Leads Loop in 2 Departments

Forward Dick Kolberg and guard Howie Demmelmaier, two of the three seniors of Coach Ralph Barkey's 6-7 Gauchos, rate high in WCAC individual statistics after the first two weeks of league play.

Kolberg, the 6-8 Monrovia who hit for 20 against UCLA last Saturday, leads the loop in both individual scoring and in field goal percentage. Dick connected for a total of 46 points in the Gauchos' two wins over San Jose State and Pepperdine, giving him a WCAC best of 23.0 ppg.

Mike Gervasoni of Santa Clara, who has led the Broncos in scoring for the last two years, is second with a 21.3 average.

Gauchos guard Howie Demmelmaier rests is fifth spot, hitting at a 19.0 clip.

Kolberg also leads in field goal percentage -- making good on 68% (17-25) of his shots, an incredible pace for a man who usually shoots in the 20-25 foot range. His percentage place him 12th nationally among collegiate basketballers.

Howie Demmelmaier is 11th in the conference with an even 14 for 28 from the field and 50%.

Kolberg and Demmelmaier run fifth and sixth, respectively, in free throw percentages. Coach Barkey's talented forward is 12 for 14 from the charity line for 85.7%, while hustling Howie is 10 for 12 and 83.3%. Carl Lyon of Saint Mary's leads with 93.3%--14 out of 15.

Still not through, the towering Kolberg is second among WCACers in rebounds--cleaning the boards at a rate of 12.5 per game. Only USF's Dennis Black's 12.7 is better.

Gauchos post man Charlie Hess is ninth, pulling down 16 rebounds in the two UCSB wins.

Going into tomorrow's Loyola game, the Gauchos are second in team scoring with an 89.0 ppg average, and are third in team defense, allowing only an average of 73.0 points scored against them.

Academic Senate

forts of the student body to influence creatively the course of university affairs and to work for support of their views both within the University and with the public." The specific question of a motorcade was not discussed.

Chairman Mortimer Andron said that the resolution passed by the Santa Barbara Division will be conveyed to the University-wide Academic Council, "as early as possible, at least before the next meeting."

Academic Senate also instructed Andron "to recommend to the Academic Council that ways be found to include student representatives on the committee to recommend a new President of the University."

A letter addressed to Dr. Kerr was unanimously adopted expressing "gratitude for a leadership which has brought the University to its present position of eminence" and hailing his service for which "faculty and students of the University are immeasurably indebted."

It was disclosed at the meeting that the Academic Council Monday had urged that the Board of Regents, in view of the circumstances surrounding Kerr's firing, demonstrate that they intend to do "their utmost" to see that all decisions are made without "undue concern for the political opinions or interests of either public officials or members of the University community," and that they "continue to support the students and faculty in their efforts to preserve and extend the freedoms appropriate to, and necessary for, the search for truth."

Of the Senate meeting, which ended an hour late, Andron commented afterward that "an emotional reaction had to be expressed" to the Regents for their action last week to fire Kerr. He described the reaction as one of "indignation and disapproval."

Andron expressed hope for improved relations between the Regents and the State administration and that offers by the Regents through its Chairman (Theodore Meyer) to the Academic Council be implemented and developed to improve these relations.

"The Regents at the present time," stated Andron, "have indicated a desire to do everything to overcome these difficulties."

Faculty Guide

He went on, "we concluded that the effect of using a paragraph approach would be severely to reduce the total amount of what we think is useful information available to the instructor and to the students."

The problem, Krend concluded, is essentially one of getting "answers to your questions with a known degree of variability."

It is for this reason that the committee came up with the statistical approach.

APOLOGY

Krend "apologized" for the method, but admitted: "I still think many students might be willing to suppress any feelings of alienation in view of the potentially great benefits to this campus."

He admitted that ultimately the question of how to compile the guide would have to be referred to the people.

"Our follow-up research is planning to do this," he stated, "if the faculty and students in general don't think a statistical approach is very useful, we'll look into some other way."

"Right now," he concluded, "I think this method is more useful."

KERR HAS A NEW JOB--The former UC President will head a study for the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching. Actually, it is a part time job. He had accepted before he was fired by the Regents last week.

Clergymen to discuss church unity

Church unity will be the topic for panel discussion by a priest and a pastor at the University Religious Conference house, tomorrow.

Panel chairman will be Rev. Hartung who will moderate the debates of Fr. Donoghue and Rev. Bess. The discussants' opinions will be presented and then the audience will be able to comment and discuss.

The discussion is sponsored by the Campus Christian Ministry and is part of a spring schedule of similar presentations.

All students are invited to attend.

Graduate action

Originally opposed to the march, the graduate students proposed a boycott of classes for one day to one week. The purpose would be for classes to convene so as not to jeopardize the position of the faculty but to have the classes as seminars debating what the future of the University will be and how it has been affected by the Reagan Administration. The causes behind the governments proposals would be discussed as well as the reasons for the students' reactions.

The boycott was voted down as a result of the action of the undergraduates in rejecting a boycott at Monday's rally. Graduates felt that unity was all important in an effective protest.

Statewide and national coverage was brought up as necessary to reach the public, strengthening the case for a march which would be on a much larger scale than a local boycott involving just the Santa Barbara campus.

Graduates will meet Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in the UCen program lounge.

Council Action

The Regents enact future changes in administrative personnel only after consultation with representatives from the faculty of the University;

- A statement urging support for the continued free higher education within the University system;

- A statement urging the maintenance of the University budget at present level, if not higher;

- A statement urging continuation of present admission policies within the University.

CONFEDERATION

As the first premise of a comprehensive resolution introduced by Greg Stamos, Executive Vice President, Legislative Council voted to band together with the other eight campuses of the University and all the college students of the state to "act as a lobby in Sacramento so that the full political forces of the students can be felt."

The presidents meeting will be the scene for the beginnings of the federation originally initiated by the UCLA campus.
