Uncertainty Holds Business Progress Back, Says Survey

BETTER THAN LAST YEAR
But Improvement Slows Up In October

UNCERTAINTY in the minds of business men as to the future course of prices is an important factor in the economic situation in Southern California at the present time, it is shown by the Monthly Summary of Business Conditions released Tuesday by the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles.

Although receding tendencies were evident in this vicinity during October, the general level of activity remains appreciably above that of the first quarter of the current year and the month of October, 1932. A number of lines, particularly in the industrial field, have experienced increases in business during recent weeks as compared with preceding months.

A marked change in business sentiment is now in evidence, due apparently to the realization that recovery is not to be achieved in a short time and that many difficult problems remain to be solved. Buyers who rushed to increase their inventories a few months ago have now returned to a hand-to-mouth purchase basis. On the other hand, many sellers are unwilling to com-

Business Men Change Name To "Carpinterians"

TILTON TALKS TO GROUP
On Practical Value Of Beautifying Towns

THE name of the Carpinteria Business Men's Association was changed to "Carpinterians" at Friday night's meeting on the vote of the 23 members present.

L. Deming Tilton, of the Santa Barbara Planning Commission, gave a short talk on what that body hopes to do towards making this county the beauty spot of the state. Tilton stressed the practical, as well as esthetic value of beautifying the highways approaching any community, citing instances of what had been done along those lines in Santa Barbara.

David Visel, chairman of the Survey-Publicity committee, leaves today for Kern county, where he will confer with the heads of various chambers of commerce and investigate publicity mediums in that section.

State Legion Head To Arrive Sunday In Plane

Homer Chailleux, State Commander of the American Legion, and Dudley Steele, chairman of the Legion aeronautics commission, are scheduled to arrive at the Carpinteria Airport at 10 a. m. Sunday on their "aerial membership roundup," according to Adjutant E. Solari, who states that at that time the Santa Barbara and Carpinteria posts will deliver their membership cards to be taken to state headquarters at San Francisco.

"The local post has filled its membership quota, as of November 12, Solari said last night. "It is probable that Commander Chailleux will address the group who meet him here Sunday. We hope for a big turnout for the occasion, and expect a large number from Santa Barbara to be present."

Things To Remember:

- John R. Edwards, Carpinteria's excitable coach, at a baseball game or track meet.
- Jack Bailard pitching for the home town nine.
- The ear-splitting whistles on the busses of the Lloyd Transportation company.
- Good surf fishing where the Rincon oil fields are now situated.
- Local excitement at its zenith when an S. P. train was wrecked here during the winter of 1913.
- When artesian wells were not uncommon in the valley.
- When Charley Curtis awoke one morning to find that someone had trimmed his white picket fence during the night.

Warriors Wallop Oxnard Reserves With 18-2 Score

THE BOYS LOOKED GOOD
Visitors Aerial Attack Fails To Function

THE Warriors came back with a vengeance Friday to tomahawk Oxnard's Reserves to the tune of 18 to 2 in a game that packed more thrills and wallops than the score would indicate.

The sugar city slickers scored first with a safety when Husted made the mistake of touching a punt that subsequently rolled over the Warrior.

Parent-Teachers Start Drive For Members

With the object of doubling its present membership the Parent-Teacher's Association will start a drive for new members at today's meeting, Mrs. E. P. Rowe, president stated yesterday.

"The drive will be a contest between the various school rooms," Mrs. Rowe said, "and the group securing the largest number of new members will be given a prize for their room. Dues are only 75 cents for both parents, or 50 cents for one. Mrs. Winters is chairman of the membership committee, and will have charge of the drive.

Military Honors Attend Funeral Of Local Legionnaire

E. H. EASTERLING DIED
Interment Yesterday In S. B. Cemetery

TAPS were sounded yesterday and a military salute fired over the grave of Elliott Hamilton Easterling, who died at his home here early Monday morning.

Interment in the Santa Barbara cemetery followed services held in the Holland Funeral chapel yesterday afternoon. Rev. C. P. Moore conducted the services.

Mr. Easterling had been a resident of Carpinteria for the past two and one-half years, and since September had been employed as manager for the Carpinteria Cooperative Vegetable Growers Association.

He was an ex-service man and was given a military funeral by the local American Legion post, of which he was a member.

Deceased is survived by his widow Lucy A. Easterling, and two brothers who live in Alabama. He was born in Brookhaven, Miss., on June 20, 1898, and had lived in California for 12 years.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL UNDER WAY IN CARPINTERIA

Carpinteria's annual Red Cross Roll Call began yesterday, and will continue today and tomorrow. As announced last week, the entire local campaign is being made by a house-to-house canvass. There will be no street table for enrollment purposes this year as there has been in the past. Members of the four committees appointed for the valley will call at about 200 homes, it was stated by Miss Ariana Moore, Advisory Member.

During the past year the American Red Cross has supplied ten and one-half millions barrels of flour and 104 million garments to the needy of this country. Thousands of volunteers made 38 million garments, and nearly two million blankets were provided. Thousands of employees in mills and factories have kept at work by the Red Cross program.

Man About Town Saw:

Little Jesse Hawley Junior in his sand pile all dressed up like a candidate for a nudist colony.

Keenesh Oppe calmy whistling "The Last Roundup" while a member of his alma mater's eleven galloped 40 yards to a touchdown, thereby winning our nomination for "Mr. Nonchalance, 1933."

Martha Jayne Gooding explaining that she had reached her maximum speed on the typewriter because she can now type as fast as she can spell.

Richard Houts engrossed in the business of publishing a "Carpinteria Junior Chronicle."

Burchell Upson displaying seasonal modesty concerning the Cardinal's football prowess, relative to the coming Stanford-Trojan game.

McADOO ATTENDS GRIZZLY REUNION AT FITHIAN RANCH

ARTHUR CLARK HONORED
Over 200 Present At Big Barbecue

AS the last notes of "Taps" died among the foothills of the Fithian ranch Sunday, more than 200 Grizzlies and their friends sat down, 30 to a table, to a huge barbecue which featured the fifteenth annual reunion of the 144th Field Artillery.

Members of the famous organization were the guests of Major Joel Remington Fithian, and the celebration was marked by the presence of such notables as Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, Col. Thornwell Mullally and others.

The program was brief, including a reading of the Memorial List, a talk by Col. Mullally (one of the active organizers of the Grizzlies), a speech by Senator McAdoo, presentation of Major Fithian to his guests, introduction of several prominent guests, and the election of new officers.

McAdoo, who was accompanied by his son, Robert McAdoo, touched upon his war-time duties as secretary of the treasury under the Wilson administration, mentioning that, although his own part had been "undramatic" he was proud of the fact that three of his sons had enlisted in the air service of the U. S. Navy. "Centuries-old jealousies and hatreds between European nations are still very much in evidence," McAdoo said, in speaking of his recent continental trip. "I sometimes think that America's sacrifice in the World War was in vain, especially after seeing Europe close at hand. I feel that the best conduct for the United States is to let the rest of the world alone, and to take care of herself," he concluded. Sustained applause greeted his closing phrase.

Col. Mullally presented Major Fithian to his guests with the words: "It is because of the courtesy of this patriotic gentleman, a citizen of (Continued on Page Four)"

Carp. Merchants Trim Oxnard All-Stars Sun.

Polly Dominguez' Carpinteria Merchants defeated the Oxnard All-Stars 6 to 3 at Oxnard Sunday, Sanchez allowed the southerners but three scattered hits, while the locals gleaned eight swats from the Oxnard twirler.

Alonzo started the scoring for the locals on his first trip to the plate, when he knocked himself a home run that was the fore-runner of a hitting spree for most of his teammates. Granada couldn't get going, fanning three times out of four.

The Merchants meet the Santa Barbara Unemployed on the local field Sunday at 2 p. m. The Santa Barbara team is reputed to be going good, having held Goleta to a 3-2 score in a twelve inning game last Sunday. Gene Lillard, home run king of the Coast League, who was wearing a Goleta uniform that day, fanned three times in as many trips to the plate.

FIFTEEN YEARS AFTER

FIFTEEN years ago next Saturday the world's newspapers carried the most welcome headlines in the history of journalism. On that date ended a universal catastrophe which had affected, directly or indirectly, every civilized person on this planet. More than eight and one-half million men had given their lives that assorted intangible institutions and illusions variously labelled "Democracy," "Civilization," "Humanity," and "The Fatherland" might live.

Fifteen years after, those noble phrases have a hollow ring to them. Minus the blare of brass, the roll of drums and the heat of blood lust, a disillusioned world still gropes amongst the wreckage and asks itself "Why?"

For something besides Humanity was crushed in that four-year nightmare, something the world misses more each year. Perhaps it, too, was just another phrase. Call it Hope, or Faith, or Good Will. Whatever it was, and whether or not it was just another illusion, we need it now to prevent a repetition of the slaughter of 1914-18.

Unless it be revived, unless in some guise or another, Trust and Faith again find their way into the world's heart, the crippled hulks that once were men with glory in their eyes, will hobble and lurch to the curb to watch another generation march, as they once marched, to destruction and living death.

The fact that many of the things they fought for never existed, that others seem to have been drowned in blood or lost in the inferno—those things do not detract from the homage due those who died for something they believed in. Nothing earthly can tarnish that honor.

But those who follow them will nullify the sacrifice those men made if they fail to see the futility and needlessness of it all.

Let honor be paid their memory each Armistice Day because they have shown us the folly of War, and not because their bodies were made into paving stones on the road to future conflicts.

And when international differences and issues lead us close to the brink of another conflict, let our parades be composed of the broken bodies and mangled limbs that are our heritage of the last "War to End War." Let "Taps" be our bugle call, let wheel chairs and stretchers replace resplendent uniforms and colors, and let their military bands play dirges for those whose lives have already been thrown away. Let their parades be composed of these souvenirs of catastrophe, let the younger generations see these things—then ask them—"Do you want THIS?"

Future war will be possible only if the world forgets too quickly. Let's remember on Armistice Day!

Governmental Glances

BY ASSEMBLYMAN GEORGE R. BLISS

10—Central Valley Water Project

ON December 19, a state-wide election will be held upon a matter which will have little direct effect upon the interests of the people of this county. And yet we should fully understand the issue involved and go to the polls and cast an intelligent vote.

Last July the legislature passed a bill providing for the development of the Central Valley Water Project. The Governor signed the bill. Petitions were then circulated asking for a referendum vote upon the bill by the people, and these petitions were filed with the Secretary of State. Ordinarily the matter would be voted upon at the next general election, but the Governor, under his Constitutional power called a special election on December 19, 1933, to pass upon this one matter of the referendum vote. He did this, because the bill provides for use of Federal Public Works funds out of the appropriation of three billion, three hundred million dollars made in the National Industrial Recovery Act passed by Congress last spring. If the referendum vote were delayed until the next general election in the fall of 1934, it would almost certainly be too late to secure these Federal funds.

The bill provides for the financing of the project with bonds to be sold to the Federal government, and for and outright gift of 30% of the total cost of the project from the Federal treasury. The total cost will be $170,000,000. The bonds will total $119,000,000 and the gift will be $51,000,000. The interest on the bonds and the payments of the principal on the bonds will be made solely out of the revenues from the sale of water, electricity or other services to the people of the areas involved in the project.

The State will never be liable for any payments out of the General State Treasury and the bill specifically states that the credit of the State will never be involved in any way.

The bill provides for the erection of a 420-foot dam on the upper Sacramento River, which will catch the flood waters of that river and impound back of it a mammoth lake. By means of this dam the flow of the water in the river will be regulated to prevent winter floods and to increase the summer flow. Water will be diverted from the Sacramento River, near its mouth and taken in two canals, one to the cities around Martinez in the upper San Francisco Bay area for domestic and industrial uses, and one carrying water by a series of pumping stations up the San Joaquin Valley for agricultural purposes. Another dam will be built on the San Joaquin River at Friant where the river comes from the mountains and this water will be taken toward Tulare and Bakersfield for irrigation. The basic purpose is to spread the water supply evenly over the entire Great Valley from Redding to Bakersfield, where now there is too much water in the northern part of the valley and too little in the southern area.

The bill also provides for the construction of hydro-electric plants at the two dams, and for a transmission line from the Sacramento River dam, at Kenneth to Antioch, a city in the industrial region of the upper San Francisco Bay area. The Sacramento power plant will produce one and a half billion kilowatts and the smaller plant at Friant will produce about a hundred thousand kilowatts of electric power.

This briefly outlines his mammoth project for the water and power development of the world's most magnificent and productive agricultural valley extending 400 miles from north to south, and a width averaging fifty miles for much of its length. We will review arguments for and against the proposition in a later article.

goal line to be downed by an Oxnard end for two points.

Carpinteria came out of it quickly to score a touchdown on a 20-yard pass, Lambert to Graham, which the latter carried an additional 20 yards to the pay-off stripe. As usual, the locals failed to convert.

After several minutes of flying tackles, legs and passes, Graham again scored on an off-tackle buck. Believe it or not, the attempt at conversion failed.

With the score 12-2 the ball saw-sawed back and forth, Oxnard finding the Warrior line a stone wall, taking to the air, only to have their passes over-shoot their marks. The locals almost suffered a penalty when a roll-call disclosed too many Smiths on the field for Carpinteria. Coach Mather had yelled for "Smith" and both of Frank Senior's contributions to high school athletics responded, so that there were 12 men out there.

The ensuing moments were filled with exciting football that got neither team anyplace, Lambert emerged from a mad melee with an intercepted Oxnard fumble tucked safely under his arm, broke into the clear and straight-armed and shifted his way to a touchdown that brought the customers to their feet. —Stop us if you've heard this one—they didn't convert.

And that's where it ended, with the visitors filling the air with futile passes and the score 18 to 2.

The Warriors looked good nearly the whole time, with Velasquez again among the outstanding linesmen, though the entire line functioned smoothly.

Saturday's game with Lompoc will close Carpinteria's gridiron season unless Coach Mather is able to land a post-season game with one of the several schools now under consideration.

mit themselves very far into the future. Despite the current hesitancy in the minds of many business men, however, most observers feel that the underlying forces in the present situation are directed towards a higher level of general prices.

Building activity in the city of Los Angeles, as measured by official data on the value of building permits issues, was more than twice as large in October as in the previous month and, with the exception of March 1932, was the largest for any period during the last two years. The increase in volume was occasioned principally by the starting of work on the new Times building, near the Civic Center, valued at $1,650,000.

"Total deposits of reporting member banks in the Federal Reserve System, located in Los Angeles, increased 2.1 per cent between September 27 and October 25, according to official data. On the latter date, deposits were 3.8 per cent larger than on the corresponding day in 1932. Funds in the demand classification have shown the greatest growth increasing 4.5 per cent over the four weeks period ended October 25 and 16.5 per cent during the past year. Time deposits have declined gradually throughout the current year and now stand somewhat below the total on October 26, 1932.

tion. He will report the results of his trip at the body's next meeting a week from tomorrow night.

Discussion was held relative to local stores closing on Armistice Day, but no definite action was taken by the organization as such. Secretary Henkin was instructed to inform Carpinteria merchants concerning their fellow-business men's decisions as to closing, and he reported that nearly every store will be closed all day Saturday. Groceries and markets, however, will remain open until 8 o'clock on Friday evening, to enable local housewives to complete their weekend purchases.

Local Store To Give Handsome Xmas Gift

The 20-piece dresser set to be given away on Christmas eve by De Troy's has aroused a great deal of interest during the past week, according to Mrs. George DeTroy, who states that the idea is in accord with the store's established policy followed each Christmas.

"The drawing will be held on Christmas eve in our store," Mrs. DeTroy said yesterday, "and the whole thing will take only a few minutes. The set is not being offered by any group of merchants, but by our store alone, and every customer between now and the drawing gets a chance on it."

The hour of the drawing will be announced later.
