WHY NOT MORE BUILDING?

Carpinteria, being ideally situated as it is, and having so much potential wealth remaining undeveloped, quite naturally expects a healthy and constant growth. This it should have, and doubtless will—but it CANNOT until there is more residential building activity.

It is seldom a strange homeseeker comes to town and immediately builds a home for his family. Usually he rents at first; then when he becomes acquainted, he builds.

How many families of average income can be housed today in Carpinteria? The answer is a very, very few. It is true there are several houses and apartments for rent, but most of these cater to the "summer trade" with rents that are too high, at present at least, for the average working man's family. Even as a seasonal proposition, Carpinteria rents, as an average, should come down to meet other conditions.

With lots, building materials of every kind, and labor, cheaper probably than they will ever again be in our lifetime, and with plenty of money on deposit in the banks, we can see no reason why Carpinteria people who are financially able to do so cannot back their community by faith in it—and build more houses for rent.

In a community such as this, an old rule applies. "Build a new home and you get a renter." The valley and the town remain the same, on the surface; but just the same each new home finds a renter, and the older houses, demanding less rent money, always seem to remain filled.

It is only by building that a community grows. You cannot expect a thousand people to come here all at once and live in tents. And you cannot expect a thousand people to come here and immediately build their own homes.

We are entering a period of comparative prosperity. This is not a mining boom, but those here who will have foresight enough to begin NOW in building modern houses for rent or sale, will reap a benefit larger and more satisfying than most gains derived from mining excitement.

YOU in this community who have a little money lying idle, perhaps drawing 3 percent—why not today have a talk with your real estate friend about prices of lots, with your lumber man about prices of materials, and with your contractor acquaintance about the cost of labor, and so forth?

It may be that you will be surprised at how low an amount you may build a residence for rent to someone here needing a home.

We know of no better investment now. In building here today you not only back your own faith and judgment in your own community, but you make Carpinteria a better and more prosperous place in which to live and you build a safer future for posterity. Progress simply means constantly bettering yourself and the conditions surrounding you.

THAT SANITARY BOARD ELECTION

They counted them twice, called in an official counter who reported the same totals—so we feel safe in pronouncing it a tie, and in announcing that it will have to be done over before we'll know for sure just who is to be the third member of Carpinteria's sanitary board.

The official results were 108 votes for Vic Stubbs, 75 for Doctor Shorkley and 68 each for Clarence Sawyer and Charley Batsch—and there's the rub. One over-enthusiastic Batsch supporter neglected to vote for anyone else, but emphasized his choice by writing in Charley's name three times, and the judges ruled the ballot out, leaving the vote tied between Sawyer and Batsch.

And that is why Carpinterians will retrace their steps to the polls on April 14 and decide which candidate will complete the new board. Incidentally, the second election will cost the district about $50. To avoid the added expense, both candidates generously offered to withdraw in favor of their opponent, only to be informed that once in the race they couldn't get out until a plurality made up their minds.

THE TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL

This week's Chronicle bears the label of the International Typographical Union. To some this will mean nothing. To others who know, it is a symbol of clean, fair competition and superior craftsmanship. To local merchants it means that Chronicle composing room employees are paid from $7 per day up; that they will become good cash customers. To the local chamber of commerce it also means that the Chronicle printing department may draw business from all points in southern or central California.

But more than all this, the typographical label stands for an ideal—an ideal of brotherly fellowship in everyday life, of "live and let live," of fair and sportsmanlike competition, and of perfection in craftsmanship.

PEACETIME PATRIOTISM

We highly commend the American Legion upon its recent action in supporting the President's economy program, which slices support to ex-soldiers. If ALL organizations and ALL congressmen will do the same now, the administration will be greatly assisted—and will have no alibi.

National Executive to Visit Carpinteria

Mrs. Mary Jane Littlefield, member of the national field training staff of the Girl Scouts in the Big Tree region, will be in Carpinteria Tuesday, March 28, to give a brief training course to leaders and committee members. The course will be given at the Girl Scout house on Toro Canyon road from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Luncheon will be served.

Mrs. Littlefield, who has been in Girl Scouting for over 12 years, has had wide and varied experience in the organization during that time. She was local director in Montclair, New Jersey, and director of their camp from June 1922 to January 1932, after which she became a member of the national field training staff in the Big Tree region. Mrs. Littlefield has studied at Camp Edith Macy, the Girl Scout national leaders' training school in the woods at Brearcliff Manor, New York, and at Foxlease, the English national training school for girl guides.

Mrs. Littlefield gave our local leaders a two-day training course in May 1932, which was enjoyed so much that she was asked to come again this year.

"If you want a free summer vacation and a full program of fun in young, congenial company, why not become a counselor in a Girl Scout camp?" asks Mrs. Littlefield of young college women and others here without jobs.

The GLANCER

By Wes Davis Jr.
There are numerous rumors of a new daily newspaper to be issued in Santa Barbara—or rather, rumors of several dailies. The Santa Barbaran, now a good weekly, has issued questionnaires, and may change into a daily April 1, but I doubt it very much.

Eventually, there will surely be another daily there. The trouble at present seems to be that advertisers are afraid to use other media because of fear of foreclosure or something. When that condition, if it is a fact, is once changed, a new paper, if fair, impartial and substantial, will reap a huge harvest.

This "quit smoking" idea seems to be becoming quite prevalent—quite the thing—especially among men—at this time. Everywhere in the papers and on the street we hear of men being kidded about refraining Lady Nicotine—or at least attempting to. This is not a bad idea, once you get used to it.

If anyone will tell me why any sane and intelligent human being really wants to go about inhaling a lot of smoke, I shall be enlightened. Physically, no possible good can come from it—only harm, especially to the woman tobacco user, whose nervous system is more sensitive than man's. I have smoked incessantly for eighteen years—until March 5 this year!

At that, I do not believe the quitting fad is because of a depression. I would rather believe it is because, with so many changes taking place each day, American people are beginning to really think, to take stock of themselves, and, more important, to really test their own will power.

The old rule, something about they who would command must first learn to obey, or those who would control others must first learn to control themselves, apparently is receiving a certain amount of attention.

It looks like the American people were about to really control things. They are most certainly telling their representatives WHAT to do.

Ezilda Sutton to Give Entertainment

Ezilda Sutton, original dramatic artist and former president of the local woman's club, will be seen at the high school auditorium tonight at eight o'clock in a series of characterizations ranging from the delineation of a prima donna who has lost her voice.

The Sacramento "Union" had this to say of her performance there: "Using only a back drop as a setting with a single arm chair to add effect, Madame Sutton, with her compelling personality, commands her audience's attention instantly as she appears on the stage. A unique feature of her act is the use of numerous chiffon scarfs which do much toward lending an impression of dependence and poverty or of majesty."

The Woman's club feels fortunate in being able to present this well known artist to a local audience, and has announced that the proceeds from the small admission charge will go to the club building fund.

MAJOR LEAGUERS WILL BATTLE IN S. BARBARA

Just above is a glimpse of Hal Finney, Pirate's back-stop, in action. Hal and the rest of the buccaneer crew will be on deck March 28 and 29, next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, at Pershing Park, Santa Barbara, when the Pittsburg aggregation meets Chicago Cubs in two exhibition games.

"The Junior chamber of commerce has arranged these games as a step in its program to secure a turf field for Santa Barbara, said Stan Tomlinson, publicity director of the above mentioned organization. "We feel that by bringing these major league clubs here we can stimulate interest in a proposition that would be a big item in inducing some of the eastern teams to make Santa Barbara their winter training quarters. The Pirates train at Paso Robles each year, the Cubs at Catalina. Besides giving local fans a glimpse of big time baseball, the merchants and the community as a whole profit by the publicity that attends a major league team."

CADWELL'S GARDENS A BEAUTIFUL SPOT

One of the most beautiful spots in the valley, Cadwell's gardens, at the end of Vallecito road, is now open to the public, Clarence Cadwell announced yesterday.

The garden, comprising a third of an acre of carefully selected roses, ferns and flowers, is the result of four years' labor and is so planned that blossoms are to be found there the year around.

"Within a short time all the varieties will be labeled and I should be more than glad to discuss them with anyone interested in gardening," Cadwell said. "I want the people of the valley to feel that this is their park, to be enjoyed by everyone. Carpinterians who are showing visitors the valley can spend a profitable hour or so in demonstrating what a mild, equable climate we enjoy here, and I can think of no better illustration of it than these widely differing types of blooms and blossoms."

The garden includes, besides countless ferns and smaller flowers, nearly 50 varieties of roses, some the result of 35 years of careful propagation.

Other flowers now blooming are: blue and yellow violas, snap dragons, camellias, cinerarias, anemones, ranunculus, sweet peas and transvaal daisies.

"The tulips will soon be in bloom," Cadwell stated. "Due to the dry year they are late this season. Some of my favorite roses are especially beautiful now—the Talisman, Los Angeles, Hoover, Shotsilk and Dame Edith Helen. The daffodils are about gone, but their places will be taken by dutch and spanish iris and pansies."

"Rose fanciers should be informed," he added, "that now is the best time to spray for aphids, rose's worst enemy."

Carpenterians can show their appreciation of Cadwell's public spirited gesture by taking advantage of his generous offer and by respecting the care and labor the garden represents.

Frank Smith and family were called suddenly to Fresno late Monday night when they received word that Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. E. A. Elliott of that city, was seriously ill. Smith and his three sons, Ralph, Frank Jr. and Lawrence, returned Wednesday, reporting Mrs. Elliott to be much improved. Mrs. Smith will remain in Fresno during her mother's convalescence.

R. R. McLean and wife spent Friday night with his brother, Bert McLean, in Carpinteria. R. R., who is agricultural commissioner of San Diego county, attended the southern California commissioners' meeting in Santa Barbara Friday, returning to his home the following day.

After spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William James Mrs. Harold Mead and children have returned to Los Angeles.

The duties included the administration of federal and state funds appropriated for unemployment relief throughout the state. One of Branion's first tasks will be caring for the earthquake relief funds in the Long Beach area.

Miss Aleta Brownlee, secretary of the county welfare department, and who has been associated with Branion in welfare work for the past ten years, told the assembly of the good work he has done and added that she "anticipated the continuance of the happy relationship of his new post."
