Carnival Nets $200 in Cash and Canned Goods for Charity

Orphanage Children Entertained; Quaint
Booth Nets Alpha Theta Chi First Award

'Nature in the Raw' Idea Proves Winner for Sigma Alpha Kappa; Phi Kaps Also Cop Top Honors

With 717 articles of canned foods and staple groceries taken in at the door as admission and $100 representing the cash proceeds, the A.W.S. charity Christmas carnival, held in the 'Flying A' studio, Saturday night, has been adjudged a success, according to Carmel Leach, A.W.S. president who headed arrangements for the carnival. Approximately 750 persons attended.

The food, valued at nearly $100, has been turned over to the Neighborhood house for distribution and the cash proceeds will be contributed to the State students' unemployment fund.

Saint Vincent's Orphanage benefited from the affair when thirty-five children from the home were entertained during the first hour of the festivities. Their hostesses were members of the kindergarten-primary department, headed by Eula Fullerton.

Prizes Given

First prize for the most attractive booth was awarded to Alpha Theta Chi. The booth in the form of a Dutch windmill, in the sorority colors, blue and white, contained a popcorn machine. The prize was five pairs of passes to the Granada theatre.

Phi Kappa Gamma received a box of candy from Lee's Kandy Kettle for having the most unique booth at the carnival. The prize winning booth was a forty-nine camp, in which entertainment, games of chance, and refreshments were featured.

Sigma Alpha Kappa received a box of candy from the Martha Washington candy shop, as a result of their booth being judged the most original. The booth, a side show entitled "Nature in the Raw," (Turn to Page 4, Column 3)

U. W. POSTPONES COLLEGE SURVEY

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 7.—(CNS) Further educational experimentation at the University of Wisconsin this week was postponed indefinitely as the result of a decision reached by the faculty of the college of letters and science.

Following the abolishment of the Experimental College, which concluded its five-year program last June, the faculty members voted in favor of a comprehensive study of all important recent changes in the organization of the curricula in American colleges and universities, including methods of teaching and conditions of student life in the freshman and sophomore years.

This survey, however, will now be postponed until the present economic crisis is over, the faculty announced.

TRAUTZ GOES TO S. C. FOR MEET OF PRESIDENTS

Southern California university will be host at the regular monthly meeting of the Southern California college student body president's association, Tuesday, December 12.

President Oscar Trautz of Santa Barbara, who is to attend the meeting, will be accompanied by Marcus Cravens, president of the Men's club.

The immediate question for discussion has to do with the orientation of junior college students to the college curricula.

History Profs to Go to Occidental Meet

Dr. H.E. Nettles, Dr. W.H. Ellison and Mr. R.G. McKelvey, instructors in the history department, plan to attend the meeting of the Pacific Coast branch of the American history association to be held at Occidental college, January 29, 30, and 31, 1933.

Problems of Teacher Training Under Discussion

Problems relative to school administration and teacher training alike were discussed at the eleventh annual teacher training conference, held at Fresno state teachers college, December 2-3. This conference was called by the California state department of education through Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction.

The theme of the conference was the improvement of the state program of teacher training and certification.

Schools Visited

The morning of December 2, was given to the visitation of schools. Dr. Charles L. Jacobs and Mrs. Laura Specht Price of the education department, who accompanied President Phelps to the conference, visited the Geart Sands school. This school was organized on the basis of individual study, conducted with the aid of workbooks which showed how well and how effectively the

COMBINATION OF CIVIC, COLLEGE BUILDINGS SEEN

Possibilities of a civic auditorium to be combined with the new State college auditorium on the Leadbetter campus are under discussion.

President Clarence L. Phelps, on the committee appointed by Mayor H.T. Nielson to discuss plans for the auditorium, suggested that as the college will build a new auditorium in the future, the city might as well combine with the college.

This suggestion met with the approval of Mayor Nielson.

At the meeting of the citizen's committee with the city council in a special meeting Saturday, opposition was brought against the proposed plan for a civic auditorium. The opposition stated that a bond issue of approximately $250,000 would be required to build the auditorium, and would probably fail.

New Grade System Is Started at Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(CNS)—With only a few exceptions, all students of the University of Chicago will, beginning this quarter, be subject to the new two-grade plan, the administration announced this week.

Under this system, the student receives either a grade of S (satisfactory) or U (unsatisfactory). All home study courses, however, will be graded according to the old scale, A, B, C, D and F.

Varied Program Will Be Keynote of Tour—Leedy

Dance Band Within Group Will

Is Believed

"Programs, extremely varied in nature, will be presented by the Band and Men's glee club on their tour next spring," says Clifford E. Leedy, director of the band and glee club. "Due to the fact that the musical organization will appear before church, school and theatre audiences, three distinct types of programs are being prepared," he says.

The band is working on several types of overtures. Modern compositions will be used, also. Outstanding numbers to be presented include, "The Vision of Fuji San," a futuristic interpretation by Ketebeby, "The Festival Overture," "The Three Guardsmen," and the "Cocoon Dance." These more serious numbers will be supplanted by presentation of the humorous trend including several skits, stunts, and novelty numbers.

Large Library

The Glee club has a large library of music this year; and they also are preparing programs to meet the demands of different audiences. Two (Turn to Page 4, Column 4)

EDUCATION NEWS PUT ON AIR BY STATE OFFICERS

In order to offer to the public facts concerning development of education in California, the State department of education has instituted a weekly broadcast period at 6:30 o'clock every Saturday night over KPO, San Francisco, and KECA, Los Angeles.

Topics range from those dealing with financial and administration problems to those on the technique of child development. Part of the broadcast is given in the form of dialogue.

Vicki Baum to Join Journalism Sorority

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 7.—(CNS)—Vicki Baum, author of "Grand Hotel," has accepted the invitation of Iota Sigma Epsilon, professional journalism sorority at Northwestern University, to become an honorary member, the sorority disclosed this week.

Striking New Edition of Handbook Is Published; New Features Incorporated

The student handbook is finally out, appearing as the clock struck the hour of 12, Monday noon, December 5. The book came out this year in striking new colors, with the word "State" in green letters on a gold background.

The Handbook is dedicated this year to the extra-curricular activities of Santa Barbara state college, such as the Roadrunner, La Cumbre, College players and Outing club.

Some of the most important features comprising this year's book include, in addition to the regular student directory, items on men's and women's athletics, a calendar

PRESIDENT WILL PRESENT NEW 48 WEEK PLAN SOON

Adoption Pending as Officials Check
Proposal

In order to get the reactions of college students, President Clarence L. Phelps may call a special assembly soon to present the 48-week plan which has been submitted to the state director of finance, Roland A. Vandergrift, and is being surveyed by the economic league in Santa Barbara, headed by Mr. Edward Starbuck of the County National bank.

The plan is meeting with the approval of Santa Barbara townspeople, according to calls received at the office pertaining to the proposal.

Further developments of the proposal will be forthcoming only after it has been accorded a hearing at Sacramento, states President Phelps.

"I believe the program to be economically sound," stated the president, "but its soundness must be checked before any action can be taken."

DARWIN THEORY CHALLENGED BY PROF. HALDANE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—(CNS) Challenging certain phases of the Darwinian theory, Professor J.B.S. Haldane, Cambridge University biologist and biochemist, this week expressed the belief that evolution takes place entirely within egg cells, rather than in fully developed plants and animals.

As a guest of scientists at the University of California at Los Angeles, he told of his experiments with egg cells which, he said, have led him to the conclusion that evolutionary changes, rather than being the result of purely environmental influences, occur within the chromosomes and genes of egg cells.

HOME EC'S VISIT VENTURA

The institutional management class of the home economics department went on an excursion Saturday, December 3, to the Ventura School for girls. The purpose of the visit was to study organized work in the institution.

CALENDAR

The social events for the coming week are:
Thursday, December 8—W.A.A. Initiation at Scout House.
Friday, December 9—Art Department Christmas party; Kindergarten primary party. Areta Christmas party.
Saturday, December 10—Christmas formal dance at Samarkand; Delta Phi Upsilon tea.
Sunday, December 11—Kappa Omicron Phi party.

NEW FRATERNITY ON CAMPUS SEEN AS STUDENTS IN INTERVIEW HERE

Education Group May Join National Society

With the idea of organizing a chapter of Delta Phi Epsilon, nativity fraternity, on this campus, eight members from the fraternity grand council will interview the local kindergarten primary department on Saturday, December 10, in Santa Barbara. Luncheon will be served to them at El Paseo on Saturday, and tea in the afternoon at Mrs. Miller Abraham's.

A meeting of the department will be held Friday night, December 9, in the home of Frances Meritt, 1415 Alta Vista road. Dr. John van Paing will speak on "Emotional development of the child," and President Clarence L. Phelps will present the 48-week plan.

After the meeting, cards will be played and refreshments will be served.

FACULTY BACKS MARRIAGE AMONG COLLEGE STUDENTS

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 7.—(CNS) Marriages among students while still in college this week received the endorsement of three University of Wisconsin faculty members.

"The convention that a young man must not marry until he can support a wife has been productive of enormous misery, vice and heartbreak," Professor Edward Ross, chairman of the sociology department, declared. "Parents with some means ought to look at their children's problems in a more sensible and sympathetic way."

Similar views were expressed by Professor Ralph Linton of the anthropology department and Frank Zozzora, instructor of art education, whose comments were obtained by The Daily Cardinal, student paper, in connection with statements of Judge Ben B. Lindsey.

The latter contended that marriages among students promote "emotional stability."

Man Is Arrested for Sale of Scholarships

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—(CNS) A man who gave his name as Henry S. Fitch, 45, this week had been placed under arrest here, charged with having sold scholarships claimed to be good at the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University.

The man's activities had extended over a period of two years, attorneys for the two universities asserted.

Student Brains in Weird Gyration as Death Battle With Mathematics Looms

Mathematics classes in the school are now struggling with the study of the hardest and most difficult work of each individual course, according to Mr. W. W. Peters, professor of mathematics. The college algebra students are racking their brains with problems concerning the Binomial Theorem. During one of the class sessions, Mr. Peters declared this was the part of the course that took most time to learn and understand.

Running neck and neck with the algebra class in the study of difficult subjects, are the physics and analytical geometry classes. The latter classes are working on ellipse

Selection Made of Program for Orchestra Meet

Henry Eichheim Again to Lead
Symphony Concert; Score of Schools Enter

With the selection of the program plans for the third annual All-College Symphony scheduled to assemble here on March 5, 6, and 7, are rapidly being completed, according to Clifford Leedy, music instructor and instigator of the local symphony project. The orchestra will be conducted again this year by Henry Eichheim, noted composer, violinist and conductor of Santa Barbara, and will be made up of ninety-three students to be selected from twenty schools in the southern part of the state.

The program to be presented by the orchestra will include Tschai-kowsky's "Symphony No. 6," "Sorcerer's Apprentice," by Dukas, "Leonore Overture," by Beethoven, and "Impressions of Italy," by Shapen-tier.

Those who are aiding Leedy in arranging the symphony are Betty Procter, chairman of the committee on arrangements; Inez Cash, publicity director; Clark George, librarian; and Al Bevis, business manager.

ARTISTS SUBMIT FOUNTAIN MODEL FOR SELECTION

Two prospective models for the Phelps memorial monument are on display in the craft room of the art department this week. These designs were submitted by Mrs. Helen Gould Segert, former student of State, and Miss Elizabeth Mason.

The monument is to be a fountain, and is to be placed in the quad when the school moves to the Leadbetter site, the monument is to be moved also. President Clarence Phelps is giving the base for the figure. The work will be supervised by Mrs. Mary T. Crosswell.

Michigan Aids 1077 Students, Is Report

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 7.—(CNS)—Loans to needy college students during the fiscal year ending last August 31 totalled $47,169.15, the board of regents of the University of Michigan announced this week. Separate loans totalled 1077 in number.

unfortunate as to over-run the regular hospitalization limit of services," Trautz explained. "The money will be held available in the hands of the student council to be distributed to the students on the basis of need.

Funds to Grow
"We hope to keep this fund accumulating from year to year by devising some means each successive year for making further additions to it. The 'flu' epidemic and other sicknesses in the student body this year have shown the value and need for such an arrangement for the future," he declared.

As the biggest program of its kind ever attempted by the college, Al Bevis, manager, has promised an evening of excellent entertainment. Orville Mohler, president of the student body at University of Southern California, and an outstanding football star, will speak between acts of the main program.

Featuring singing, dancing, skits and musical numbers by the college dance band, headed by Clifford E. Leedy of the music department, the follies will follow a definite theme throughout.

DRILL ABOLITION MOVE UNDER WAY

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 7.—(CNS) Led by Dr. George P. Conger, associate professor of philosophy, a group of University of Minnesota students this week were planning a campaign to substitute optional for compulsory military training at the university.

Professor Conger is the faculty member of an "optional drill committee," formed to circulate petitions for the abolition of compulsory military training.

All campus organizations, including fraternities, sororities, church groups and rooming houses, are to be canvassed for signatures to the petitions, which, the committee announced, will be presented to the regents of the university.

OFFICE AT WORK ON REPORT FOR CENTRAL BOARD

"The registrar's office is a very busy place this week," according to Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, registrar, as a report on the compiling of the college is due December 8, for the State Board of Education.

Reports on compiling have been requested by the State Board from all the State teachers college registrars. Those assisting Mrs. Abraham and her secretary with the Santa Barbara report are Dr. Elizabeth Bishop, Miss Wilma Lowsley, and Mrs. Irene Clow.

Silent Shows Teach Better Than Talks

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(CNS)—For the most part, silent pictures are more effective than "talkies" as an educational medium, Professor C.C. Clark, of the New York University School of Commerce, reported this week after a two-year study. Silent films, however, he added, are in many cases as effective in teaching average students as the average college lecturer.

COLLEGE BOASTS OF MOST ACTIVE ALUMNI SOCIETY

"The time has come for new and old students to realize that Santa Barbara State has the most progressive and active alumni association in California," according to Frank Kenyon, president of the Los Angeles section of the Santa Barbara State college alumni association.

The Los Angeles branch was the first of the five sections of alumni to organize. Present officers include Frank Kenyon, 1915 graduate, now head of industrial education in Hollywood high, president; Jack Smith, 1932 graduate, teacher of industrial education in the Laffayette junior high in Los Angeles, vice president; and Ruth Hunt, 1927 graduate, teacher of home economics in the Glendale high school, secretary-treasurer.

The Santa Barbara section of the alumni received a "chain" letter from the Los Angeles branch, inviting former students to attend an alumni breakfast, eight o'clock, Thursday morning, December 22, in the Paris-Rome cafe, 3163 Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles.

The letter states that, although they will not have any Mary Pick-fords, Walter Winchells or Franklin D. Roosevelts to endorse the breakfast, they will have plenty of faithful Santa Barbarans.

Singers Aid Elks in Memorial Services

The Santa Barbara state college Men's glee club, assisted the Elks glee club in their memorial services, Sunday, December 4.

The glee club sang three numbers, "Adore Le Devote" arranged by Walter, "Fight" by Fatlin and "Plantation." The first two numbers are the same ones presented by the Pomona glee club when they won the National glee club competition.

Who's Whoey

Who's Whoey and why:

Dick Kaime, because he is editing the handbook, the most valuable publication on the campus—just think of those telephone numbers. (Editors note—?)

Majorie Johnson, because she is the blondest blond.

Fran Manis, because he is athletic manager or somepin, or somepin.

Alpha Theta Chi sorority, because they had the most attractive booth at the carnival.

Phi Kappa Gamma, because they had the most unique booth at the carnival.

Sigma Alpha Kappa, because they had the booth with the best idea that made the most money.

Shirley Clark, because she worked harder than any other girl on the campus (actual work) to make the carnival a success.

Ruth Carter, because she helped Shirley.

Seen and heard at the Carnival:

A most bootiful Christmas tree: they even do these in celophane now.

Chris Martin, dancing with all the Dizzy D's.

Irene O'Leary's handsome brother, up for the occasion.

Pat McCullough as the "bird lady" in the Sig-Alph side show. The feather duster was fetching but they never showed us all those dozens of eggs he must have laid. (One every time he rang the bell.)

Tiny Cash lose her purse because it was taken up to the platform by mistake, and a woman openly and brazenly claim it when the orchestra leader asked for the owner. Ted Neidermuller, having a grand time.

Jack Graves, drop in after the show at the Lobero. He came to see how his decorations looked, and they looked grand.

Dick Lund, cheerfully breaking dishes at the Men's club booth.

Red Connell, there with his little blond.

Some of the orphans from St. Vincent's, dancing better than many of the people on the floor. (Not so hard to do.)

Betty Hopkins, Gene Johnson, Eloise Stadtmiller, Shirley Clark and others in hula skirts. Fetching, no less.

Kathryn Cox was there with her handsome cousin from the south. It must be nice to have handsome cousins???

Dorothy Cox was also there with a good-looking man from the home town, but he wasn't her cousin.

Others Yours Truly noticed particularly were Kay Case and Larry Cudney, Mary Taylor and Gaylord Bourquin, Luella Hiebert and Emmett Fuman, Betty Proctor and Al Bevis, George Shultz, Margaret Furman and George Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. Werner, Coach Hal and his wife, Betty Awl, Elizabeth Peacock, (also the other Peacock's) Ruth and Bill, Dick Kaime and company, Virginia Fennell and Al (?), Bob Main and Shirley Clark. There were hundreds there, and I saw them all; but you can figure it out yourself, there isn't room here to put them all down.

Mr. McKelvey was there by himself, trying everything once and seeming to enjoy himself hugely.

Paul Hylton going after change, after the booths found it impossible to make satisfactory change with dollars and pennies.

Dean Pyle and Carmel Leach seemed to be happy about the outcome of the carnival.

Prize-winning bright crack: "Where did that guy come from?" "Oh, an empty taxi-cab just drove up and he got out."

HONORARY GROUP HOLDS PLEDGING CEREMONY HERE

Pledging of the new members of Kappa Omicron Phi, national professional home economics fraternity, was held November 21, 5:30 p.m., in the colonial room of Ebbs hall. The pledges were Laura Linn, Helene Baer, Lois Cole and Mercedes Jewett.

A short business meeting was held after the pledging. Following this was a Chinese dinner, given in the home of Mrs. Dudley Thompson. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Almon Abel and Mrs. John B. Omahundio, who is the daughter of a missionary, born and raised in China. She entertained the girls with stories about life in China, described Chinese handwork, showing samples to illustrate. Those present were Miss Clark, sponsor, Mrs. Almon Abel, Mrs. John Omahundio, Misses Norene Cave, Ramona Abel, Delsie Berg, Shirley Burch, Sadie Ambrosini, Helen Banker, Jessie Le Boron, Stella Smead, Mercedes Jewett, Lois Cole, Helene Baer, Laura Linn.

Statue Presented to Art Department Here

A "winged victory," or Somothrace, a Greek figure which is supposed to have stood at the prow of an early Grecian vessel, was given to the art department last week. Mr. Henry Eicheim, musician and composer, was the donor of this figure, which is on display in the art lobby.

The original Somothrace, which was discovered in 1863, is in the Louvre in Paris.

TRAVELING BOOK STORE STOPS AT COLLEGE CAMPUS

Students on the State campus were given the opportunity last Thursday to browse through the traveling library, or "bookmobile," which visited the State college on its second tour of the United States. This library was organized for the purpose of giving more or less isolated communities a chance to get into touch with the latest books and methods used in ordering and selection of worth while literature.

Books were arranged in sections, demonstrating various types of literature. A large place was given over to books on art and music appreciation. One section held a group of books on how to select reading material for children. The chief interest which the library held for students this year was the demonstration on selecting reference books on any subject.

Hylton Is Named for I.E. Publicity Job

At a recent meeting of the Industrial Education department, business conducted included the laying of plans for a formal dinner to be held in January, a vote of thanks to elementary education department for its splendid cooperation on the inter-department dance held recently and the election of Paul Hylton to serve as publicity director for the group.

Mr. E. E. Ericson, department head, gave a brief talk on the subject of the importance of finer details in workmanship, emphasizing the fact that, "while anyone can learn the big things, the fundamental things—involved in shop instruction; it is the man who pays close attention to the little things which ordinarily pass unnoticed, who succeeds in finding a good position and holding it even under adverse general conditions."

College Debaters in Redlands Tourney

Santa Barbara had two representatives, Don Sigerson and Harold Schriber, in the Southern California debate tournament at Redlands, Friday, December 2.

The local boys debated with some of the best teams in the tournament, including Redland's first team, L.A.C.'s first team, Riverside and Long Beach J.C.'s team which won the national J.C. division debate last year.

FRATERNITY HAS EXHIBIT OF ART WORK

Delta Phi Delta, national art fraternity, under the supervision of Mrs. Mary T. Crosswell, head of the art department, is holding a sale of Japanese prints this week on the college campus. These prints are on display in room 52.

The art department obtained this exhibit from a Japanese importing company in New York. They have a fine assortment of brush prints of varying sizes, including a selected group of Christmas cards which carry out the Japanese brush design. Marjorie Walter is in charge of the sale.

"We have some originals and some reproductions," states Mrs. Crosswell, "prints which show in their simple beauty, the fine artistic temperament of the Japanese people."

TEACHER IS RECIPIENT OF SORORITY BID

Mrs. Helen M. Barnett has been honored by an invitation to join Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary educational sorority for women. The invitation was issued from the Berkeley chapter.

For the convenience of Mrs. Barnett, the chapter has arranged for her initiation to take place in Los Angeles, at the U.C.L.A. chapter, next Friday evening, December 9. This is the second scholarship honor Mrs. Barnett has won recently. Last summer she joined the Phi Kappa Phi, an honor sorority at U.S.C.

Harp Program to Be Given by Mrs. Lyons

At the Tuesday morning assembly, December 13, Mrs. W. Florence Lyons will present a harp concert.

The musical menu she has prepared for the student audience is: Aeolian Harp, Hasselmanns Mazurka, Schuecker Fantasia Religiosa, Lyons Chanson sans Paeole, Dubez A group of favorite songs: Oh Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms and Mother March.

I. E. Teachers Speak at Glendale Meeting

Glendale was host to a meeting of the California Industrial Education association, southern section, Saturday, December 3.

The members met at Forest Lawn Memorial Park at 8:30 a.m., where they had an opportunity to view the many pieces of art, sculptured masterpieces, and the little churches of historical and romantic interest, according to Mr. E. E. Ericson, local industrial department head. This was followed by a meeting in Glendale High school at 10:30, and lunch there at 12:00.

Several members of the faculty of Santa Barbara State college and the local high school attended. Mr. Ericson and Mr. Ray L. Soules addressed the conference at the afternoon session.

Art Department Has Party for Christmas

The art department of State college will have a Christmas party next Friday evening, December 9, at eight o'clock in the main art rooms.

Iris Cooley is in charge of the general entertainment, plans for which have not definitely been made. Phyllis Emory will take charge of the supper arrangements.

STUDENT'S BLOWOFF!

Editor of the Roadrunner:

I should like to take this means to publicly thank all those who cooperated so willingly with the A.W.S. board to make the Carnival last Saturday night a success.

It was probably the best example of cooperation between the entire college and the townspeople which has been shown in a long time. We are well pleased at the outcome.

I want to particularly thank Marcus Cravens, Chris Martin, and Jack Graves for the splendid work they did in planning and carrying out the work of construction, decorations and clean-up. It was a stupendous job. They did it well and efficiently, and it was a pleasure to work with them.

Shirley Clark, Ruth Carter, Bob Main, and Sid Smith also deserve special mention for their tireless work. They worked hard assisting Marcus, Chris and Jack, in the heavy work of the carnival.

Mr. Richardson's carpentering class, the various departments of the college, the social organizations, and numerous students deserve the highest praise for their splendid cooperation.

We especially thank the Royal Ice Cream company, the Martha Washington Chocolate Shop, Lee's, Kandy Kettle, the Granada theatre, the Boyd Lumber company, the Junior League and the Neighborhood House for their contributions and cooperation.

We feel that the Carnival was extremely worthwhile not only for the material benefits but for the opportunity it gave for working toward a real goal.

Sincerely, CARMEL LEACH, Pres. A.W.S.

Editor of the Roadrunner:

It was more than a pleasure to have seen the play, "Street Scene," at the Lobero theatre last week. So many of our students were in the cast that it seemed almost like our own production. Their work was certainly a credit to Santa Barbara State and it was a real thrill to hear the unanimous approval of their efforts by those around you.

The people of this city are pleased with the work of our players in Community Arts productions. The officials of the Lobero have highly praised our students for their training, ability, and willingness, and for their hard work in making the plays a success. Their help and encouragement, both directly and through Dean Ashworth, have helped us maintain a dramatics department of which we can be justly proud. He seems to have shared much of his enthusiasm for the stage, as well as his talent and skill, with his dramatic students.

Mrs. Abraham has been very active in bringing about the friendly relationships which have been of mutual benefits to the Lobero and Santa Barbara State.

The community arts association, and especially the Lobero theatre, we can certainly call our friends. We hear that lack of interest may close its doors. This would be a great loss to our college and we should do all that we can to help. We can encourage Lobero support on the campus and in the city, and most of all, we can go to the plays. See our students in action, hear the praises of their fine work, see great shows, and keep the Lobero open.

Sincerely, O. J. TRAUTZ, president of Associated Students.

MASONIC WOMEN TO HEAR SONGS BY COLLEGIANS

At the request of Laura Lou Houghton, the girls of the college glee club will sing several selections at an Eastern Star meeting to be held in the Masonic Temple, on December 14, at 8 o'clock.

The selections to be sung are: "Capri," by Bassett; "Now is the Month of May," an old English Madrigal, by Thomas Morley; and "The Nite Song," by Joseph Clokey.

State Grad Marries Labor Commissioner

Miss Ina Opal Lee, graduate of State college, and R. Lee Ste Fleure, deputy labor commissioner here, were married in the First Christian church, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Tom B. Clark.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the home of Mrs. O.O. Calloway on 218 West De la Guerra street.

Miss Lee graduated from State in 1923. Mr. Ste Fleure attended the University of Minnesota, and graduated from the Eclectic college of Minneapolis. After a short honeymoon in the South, the couple will make their home at 1216 Bath street.

Home Ec People Have Sale in Campus Quad

CRACKS

By MILTON BURNHAM

After working all week trying to pick an All-State faculty football team I gave up. I found it was absolutely impossible to qualify men for the eleven positions. Carefully analyzing each of the prospective candidates I found the only position that I could fill was the quarterback post. All of the professors are qualified to play quarterback and be captain, for in that position they could be the boss or "kingfish" of the team.

A co-ed asked me if the All-American team I picked last week was really the best that I could do, for mine differed from the Associated Press team. I felt like choking her, but my fear of capital punishment saved her. I looked through forty papers getting feminine names for the first team, and on my second team I got names that suggested the culinary department.

An interesting study of human nature for the students of psychology can be had by watching the expressions of the college boys during a performance of Mercedes Berger and Margaret Beddome. (I prefer to watch the performers, and I hope no one studies my expressions). By the way, if you want to see these two beauties strut their stuff just come to see the "Hospitalization Follies." The auditorium has a limited seating capacity, so get your tickets early for the big show on Thursday, December 15, at 8:30 p.m.

If any mistakes are made in this column, do not hesitate about letting me know. This past week I was "snowed under" with verbal and written notes of criticism for giving all of the publicity credit to Dick Kaime and Bill Peacock. The one that I missed was Bill Russell, a freshman. Sorry I made that error, Bill Russell is the boy that has been writing up most of our college games this fall and is entitled to much praise.

The eighth wonder of the world was discovered at the A.W.S. carnival Saturday night. The one and only "Bird Lady." It is rumored that she walks, talks, eats (much), sleeps, in fact is almost human. But she can't fly, as her wings failed to keep pace with her (his) bay window. If "Moose" McCullough could only have seen himself as others saw him, the long red wig with curls dangling down to his breast, swimming suit covering his, I mean her, mighty torso, and then the tall feathers protruding from behind his lap. What a sight!

One of the local lads training for the intramural boxing bouts seems to be very hard to get up in the mornings. It is our illustrious "Pug" Killian. Don Carter rings a bell. "Pug," I mean "Pug," bounces up in bed fighting Morpheus for nearly a round before he is able to free himself from the lovable grasp of that old demon.

Boxing, Wrestling to Hold Spotlight This Week in Hot Matches

Intramural boxing and wrestling will hold the spotlight in sports events at State this week when the first round of the inter-class contests take place under the supervision of Luke Trimble and Howard Bradbury. Fans in and out of school are looking forward to these matches in every class and weight.

A heavyweight wrestling bout between D. Watson and G. McCullough holds the attention of the fans in this division. Schultz, runnerup for the title last year and the winner in the heavyweight boxing is expected to be a strong contender for both crowns this year.

The entrants this year show a great increase over last season's turnout and are holding the attention of more fans as well. These two facts prophesy that the contests will go down in "State's hall of fame as the greatest ever held." Following is a chart showing a schedule of the contests and the contestants:

Wrestling, 126 pound class on December 6; Tranberg vs. D. Kirkpatrick; 135 pound class, December 6; Palmer vs. Cram, and Pensinger, Burnham, and Killian will have it out on the seventh, 147 pound class, December 6; Greeson vs. Armstrong, D. Kirkpatrick, and Davis vs. Polley, with Lebeck receiving a bye.

158 pound class December 6; Keating vs. Miller, Coultas vs. Hopkins, with Bevis and Christiansen scheduled for the following night, 175 pound class, December 7; Ingram, Fisher, and Kelliher. Heavyweight division, December 6; W. McCullough vs. Schultz, and Peacock vs. Simpson combination as well as the Watson and G. McCullough combination on the 7.

Boxing, Tranberg, Sgeyer, and D. Kirkpatrick on December 6; Pensinger, Killian, Dudley, and Baylor, December 6; Palmer and Burnham on December 13; Kirkpatrick and Marin on December 7; Main and Stewart on December 6; Hopkins, Livingston, Keating and Miller, December 7; Eckhardt and Jentegard on December 6; Ingram, Porter, Carter, Flock, Kelliher, McRae, and Shrieber on December 6; with Homfeld, Peacock and Schultzy also.

campus are racking their brains these days, to find some words that will glorify the name, "hamburger." The Midget Sandwich Shop is putting out two free tickets to the Rose Bowl game, New Year's day, to the person who turns in the best slogan that may be used with "collegiate hamburgers." Somebody's going to get several dollars worth of tickets, for very little effort.

From secret sources it has been revealed that Tom Keating committed a breach of etiquette Saturday night at the Phi Kappa Gamma gambling den. He won nearly all of the money in the house. Now this is the low-down: he wore a rabbit's foot around his neck under his shirt. You lucky devil.

U.S.C.'S INVITE TO PITT SQUAD JOLTS 'BIG TEN'

By College News Service
The cocky Big Ten received a pedal message in the after portion of its pantaloons last week, when Southern California invited Pittsburgh to play the annual New Year's game in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Michigan wanted to come in—formed the western officials that the conference would undoubtedly rescind its rule against post-season games. But the west is rather fed up on the high-and-mighty attitude of the midwest outfits—especially Fielding H. Yost. A few years ago Purdue was anxious to Northwestern desired to make the trip. Both times the Michigan director of athletics held aloft both hands in horror and swung enough votes to prevent such a thing.

So this year, when the Wolverines won the title, Yost figured that the $50,000 or more cut to be obtained by playing at the Rose Bowl would come in handy in raising the mortgage on the Ann Arbor stadium. And just when he had won over the rest of the conference to the idea, U.S.C. invited Pittsburgh!

Anyway, the west coast isn't so thrilled over the Big Ten teams. The only one that ever played a New Year's game—Ohio State—was beaten, 28 to 0.

All over the country sports scribes have squawked about the work of grid officials this year. Most of them seem to have been pretty terrible. The bulk of the trouble arises from the fact that competing teams have the right to name the arbiters. This is wrong.

The officials can't help being biased—if they pull 'em too raw against the team which picked them, they know they won't be hired again. They should be appointed by a disinterested conference head and then be considered as employees—if their work is unsatisfactory, demote or fire them.

The deal of Carnegie Foundation again reports that football throughout the land is "corrupt." 'S too bad! So's politics.

Notre Dame studied motion pictures of 1931 Trojan games for their clash with the Los Angeles team on December 10. It'll be too bad if the Ramblers prepare for those formations, because Howard Jones' 1932 team is using an entirely different style of play this year. Seven regulars, including Pinkert, Shaver, Baker, Williamson, Musick and others, were lost last season—hence the change in styles.

The rules committee made a lot of alterations last year to "cut down injuries." Football's toll this season is 37 deaths—so maybe the rules committee had better change the game back to the way it was before.

Security Men Show Moving Picture Here

"To Have and To Hold," a motion picture, was presented to the Associated student body during assembly hour yesterday morning, under the auspices of Lee Dexter Barnard, manager of the Security Title and Guarantee company of Santa Barbara.

Following several college yells lead by Dave Lewis, school yell leader, President Clarence L. Phelps of the college introduced Mr. Barnard, who gave an introductory speech before the picture, explaining that it dealt with the matter of how to go about clearing the title on property.

SPORT COMMENT

By OSCAR NICHOLAS

Intramural boxing and wrestling began in earnest yesterday and will continue in full blast tonight in the college gym with many evenly matched bouts scheduled to be run off in each branch of the sport. By the number of men who have signed up to participate this season, it looks as if Luke Trimble and Howard Bradbury are going to find a tough time in running off all of the scheduled bouts.

The way the managers have the thing planned out, practically all the wrestling and boxing will be run off in two nights with one bout holding the spotlight on the thirteenth of the month. So if you want to get plenty of action and thrills as well as some real entertainment at absolutely no cost, why drop around to the college gym and get an eye-full of the brawny men of this school in real action.

There are six classes in each division with 27 contestants signed up and primed for action, so all students who are unoccupied tonight should come to the college gym and cheer their favorite hero to victory.

College News Service reports that "the Board of Athletic Control at Ohio State University this week announced its decision to abandon inter-collegiate baseball." The sport, according to the report, will be put on an intramural basis, along with fencing, swimming, wrestling, polo, and golf.

For the last three years baseball interest has been constantly slumping, and it is feared by many that the great number of high schools and small colleges in the nation which have abandoned the sport is the forerunner of the downfall of the good old "National Pastime."

It would be a bad thing for the sport if many other big universities follow the example of Ohio State and abandon baseball as a major inter-collegiate sport, for a great deal of the talent of the major leagues comes directly off the campuses of our colleges and universities. There is a great deal of local interest in the article because of the fact that Joe Martin, a lad who showed considerable football ability on the Roadrunner team last year, is now a major leaguer with the New York Giants' contract to show for his efforts.

Besides the showing of "our Joe" there is another Santa Barbara youth by the name of Jene Lillard who made good in a big way with Los Angeles' Angels last year. The Angels are in class AA company and have given the former Santa Barbara High school youth a contract for next season and hope to use him as a strong cog in the third base post in the coming campaign.

It is the earliest hope of the writer that these two men have set enough of an example to further "baseballize" Santa Barbara and give to its sons every possible encouragement to play the game and endeavor to give the city at least a class "D" team rating.

'FOLLIES' GIVEN FOR BENEFIT OF SICK STUDENTS

cipating has shown unusual enthusiasm," Bevis stated.

"Not only have we received the cooperation of campus committees, but we have secured aid from local concerns," he announced. "The Granada and Lobero theaters have furnished stage equipment that will add a great deal to "The Hospitalization Follies."

Cup to Be Awarded

With the goal set at 1000 tickets, the ticket sales committee, headed by Laurence Connell, announces the award of a silver cup to the organization or department on the campus selling the greatest number of tickets. Tickets may also be obtained from the office of Fred Allred, controller.

Local organizations whose aid is being solicited in this endeavor include: the Trojan club, the University club, the Exchange club, Kiwanis, the Lion's club, the Woman's club, the Rotary club, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Twenty-Third club and the Elks club. O. J. Trautz, Clifford E. Leedy, Fred Allred and Nathan McCray will speak in behalf of the school, at the respective club meetings.

Interest, Not Tax

"This is the one affair of the year that should be of particular interest to every student, President Trautz stated. "Although we are inviting the public, it is entirely our own affair. We are not taxing anyone; but rather, we are putting on a program that we feel certain will be well worth twenty-five cents, the price of admission."

Members of the Hospitalization Follies committee are Dr. Charles Jacobs and Clifford E. Leedy, faculty members; Al Bevis, manager; Nathan McCray, program; Lawrence Connell, ticket sales; Chris Martin, publicity; and a general committee with Luella Hiebert, Betty Procter, Dorothy Hodgins, Dixon MacQuiddy and O. J. Trautz, as members.

Important events of the college year will be portrayed by the seniors in the traditional tableaux at Mills College, Calif.

Appreciation

To the Associated Students:
Your beautiful roses have cheered us for several days. It is almost worth while being sick, to realize the devotion of one's friends. Both Mrs. Ashworth and I deeply appreciate the kind thoughtfulness of the Associated Students during our illness, especially in sending us such beautiful flowers. I hope to be back sometime this week. Again thanking you for your courteous attention, I am
Cordially yours,

ELEVATION OF HAMBURGER IS CONTEST AIM

Something different, something new; that's what the Midget Sandwich shop is looking for. You see, the Midget knows that its Collegiate Hamburgers are not just ordinary hamburgers; they know that only the best of meat goes into them, that the best of cheese goes on top of them, that the best buns in town go around them—and that the finished product is the best hamburger sandwich you can find anywhere—a real Collegiate Hamburger; collegiate because it's more refined.

Knowing all this, the Midget is making a drive for a good slogan to use in connection with "Collegiate Hamburger," and is offering two free tickets to the New Year's Day Rose Bowl football game, to the person who turns in the most acceptable slogan.

A number of good ones have been turned in already; but the Midget is still looking for the right one—a slogan that will do justice to the "Collegiate Hamburger."

Four Vets Returning as Active Basketball Practice Hits Stride

By PETE HATHAWAY

With only four of last year's seven lettermen returning this season, the State varsity basketball squad under Coach Hal Davis started organized practice Monday afternoon in the gym at the "Flying A" studio on Mission street.

These four lettermen, Paul Hopkins, Ralph Stockel, Harry Killian, and "Pinky" Greeson, will probably be the main strength on the team this year. State lost the services of the other three lettermen, Joe Martin, Walt Barnett and "Tuffy" Treloar by graduation and ineligibility rules. Their places, however, will be filled by any of a large number of turnouts either from last year's frosh ranks or from last year's substitute varsity squad.

Last year's substitute varsity ranks will contribute Hugh Bruce, John Eckhardt, "Tiger" Kerrigan, Bob Hathaway, Bob Main and Bob Stuart to the varsity this year. Although these men did not receive their letters last year, they played quite a bit in the games, and are therefore experienced men. This fact will build up the strength of the team this season. From the Frosh ranks last year, Shirley Keith, "Tex" Williard, "Midge" Burnham, Louis Marin, Virgil Kirkpatrick, Don Carter and Nathan McCray will help swell the varsity ranks this year.

It is predicted that the team will have a lot of fight and spirit because of the fact that many of the varsity men have taken daily sessions with a basketball in the gym for the past few weeks, to get practice in the art of casaba tossing. A bolstering addition to the squad after this semester ends is expected when Charlie Hoffar becomes eligible for varsity competition. Hoffar is a well known figure in basketball to those who watched the Open League basketball games last year.

Following is a tentative schedule of the Roadrunner 1932-33 basketball season:

- December 9—Home game with Open League team.*
 - December 16—Sigma Phi Upsilon Fraternity of Ventura.*
 - January 4—California 145 pound team.*
 - January 6-12—Trip north, meeting Visalia, Porterville, Fresno, Taft and Bakersfield.
 - January 20—California Christian College.*
 - January 18—Y.M.C.A. of Los Angeles.*
 - January 26—House of David of Chicago.*
 - February 3—California Christian College.
 - February 4—Pomona College.
 - February 11—Cal-Tech Institute.*
 - February 17—La Verne College.*
 - February 25—Open.
 - March 4—Southwestern U.*
 - March 11—Occidental College.
 - March 17—Whittier College.*
 - March 18—Whittier College.*

SORORITY ENTERTAINED
Viola Boardman entertained the members of Gamma Areta with a spaghetti feed in her home, Friday evening, December 2. During the evening, plans were made for a Christmas party to be given by the sorority.

FROSH HOPEFUL FOR FAVORABLE CASABA SEASON

Frosh basketball for the 1932-33 season got an early start with practices in the Methodist church gym beginning a week ago today, under the direction of Coaches Luke Trimble and "Doc" Kelliher. Beginning this week, the practice sessions will be held every night at the "Flying A" gym.

One of the largest Freshmen basketball turnouts in years greeted Luke Trimble and his assistant "Doc" Kelliher. Numbering eighteen to date, they are Lee, Miller, Crow, Hoyt, Scott, Hoffar, Rezzonico, Christiansen, Lebeck, Martin, Hathaway, Dues, Warring, Tortoroli, Russel, Flock, Hinkle, Lawlor; Bill Russell a former Santa Barbara high school player, was expected to come out, starting with the night practices.

Coach Trimble tried many different combinations, all of which seemed to work well. Christiansen and Scott were the main combatants for center, with Lee, Miller, Dues and Rezzonico, guards; and Hoyt, Hinkle, Crow, Lebeck and Martin, forwards. The rest of the men are all inexperienced but are learning rapidly, and all will probably see action in the proposed schedule of from twenty to thirty games which has not yet been announced.

'SKIDDING' TRIALS OPEN

Students may try out for parts in the college play, "Skidding," Thursday night, December 8, at 7:30 in the auditorium, according to Betty Thomas, manager of oratory and debate. The play is to be presented sometime this semester in the auditorium.

Which Is More Worth While?

The college has occasion to be proud of the splendid work being done by its student dramatists in the Lobero play productions. As O. J. Trautz indicates in his letter to the Roadrunner this week, a considerable portion of the cast of "Street Scene," the most recent offering of the downtown playhouse, is made up of local students who are reflecting considerable credit upon the college, by virtue of their excellent efforts in this and other Lobero plays.

Especially do our dramatists deserve commendation when it is considered that their ability has reached its present state of perfection in spite of the fact that the college offers only the most meagre facilities for the pursuance of dramatic art. The results achieved on a "shoestring" speak well for the tutelage of Dean William Ashworth, who has long been the guiding hand of student stage artists.

We wonder why this and certain other activities which continually bring honor to their college, and give it a really worthwhile kind and degree of publicity, must labor along on woefully inadequate budgets—or, as in the case of drama, practically no budget at all—while athletics, to cite the outstanding example, bringing no honor and nothing but detrimental publicity, receives 43 percent of the student body funds. We pay large sums to our football team, that it may travel all over Southern California losing games; but nothing to a group of students who are doing something worthwhile in spite of their financial handicap.

The status of athletics on our campus has long been a subject for heated discussion, and has aroused considerable ill feeling among various factions; but we are right on throwing good money after bad. Perhaps a majority of students will eventually awaken to the realization that the college can not only get along without football, but can get along better without it than with it, by diverting the funds to other activities.

We do not wish to create the impression that Coach Davis might have done better; he has done as well as any man could under the circumstances. He has worked valiantly in an attempt to produce a winning State college football team; and whereas most football coaches devote all of their time to football, and are paid well for it, Davis has had to teach classes and coach football on the side as it were. Neither does the blame lie with the team; they have fought hard and courageously, trying to win games for their coach and their school, only to achieve heartbreaking defeat and humiliation.

No, neither the coach nor the team are to be censured; the cards have been stacked against them, and they have been laboring under obstacles over which they have had no control. Gymnasium facilities have been deplorably inadequate, not to mention unsanitary; and training and medical equipment have been lacking. Small wonder that the influenza played havoc with their ranks. Not the least of deterrents to football supremacy have been the small student body, the small percentage of men in the student body, and the smaller percentage of good football material among these men. Further, a few good prospects who have been able to enroll in the college, and who would make good football material, have been forced, through lack of campus or suitable downtown employment, to accept jobs which preclude any possibility of their having time to devote to athletics.

Since these many obstacles to our gridiron success show no signs of diminishing in the near future, we wonder if it would not be wise to suspend our participation in competitive athletics until such time as conditions are more propitious—until we move to the new college site, perhaps. The funds thus made available could well be diverted to activities that have proven themselves worthy of support, and would bring returns on our investment.

Hospitalization Follies

Local students will do considerable searching before they find an event more worthy of support than the "Hospitalization Follies," scheduled for December 15.

As stated elsewhere in the Roadrunner, money derived from the sale of "Follies" tickets will be used supplementary to the regular hospitalization fund; and will be drawn upon to care for students who have received their limit of hospital and medical service, and who would otherwise be compelled to meet their own expenses.

That the hospitalization service is a great thing for State college students will be attested to even by certain persons who, at the beginning of the current semester, protested vigorously against payment of the customary $2.50 fee, but who later were happy to accept the services made possible by payment of that fee.

In a college as small as this, the scope of a service of this kind is necessarily limited, since the number of fees collected is small, as is the maximum amount which each student may be assessed. It is essential to the effective carrying out of the service that a definite limit be designated as covered by the amount paid in by each individual as insurance. Were this not done, it is obvious that a few students might easily deplete the entire hospitalization fund in a brief period, rendering the health department unable to care for others who are equally entitled to services. However, it is a well-known fact that humans do not become ill in definite allotments. When a student becomes ill, he is not ill ten or twenty dollars worth; he is ill until he's well. If his expenses are more than are covered by hospitalization insurance, it's just too bad. It is this situation that the "Hospitalization Follies" is designed to meet.

The students who have been devoting many weeks of hard work to this project deserve considerable praise; they are accomplishing something that will prove of inestimable benefit to the entire college, and a boon to any of us who may be afflicted with serious illness or accident.

An excellent entertainment has been planned by the committee in charge; much effort and thought has been devoted toward making this affair worth far more than the price of admission. Whether from charitable or selfish motives, we should back the "Follies" one hundred percent.

PEHELPS ATTENDS TEACHERS MEET AT FRESNO STATE

workbook supplied the needs in individual instruction.

Helen Heffernan, chief of the division of elementary education and rural schools, gave an address on "Our conception of elementary education." A. J. Hamilton, president of the Chico state teachers college read a paper on "The essentials of elementary education and the effects of these essentials on the teacher training program." Following these, a discussion was held on such topics as the function of elementary education, the effect of an activity program on the content of the present teacher training curriculum, and the problems of integration as it should affect the training of teachers for elementary schools.

A committee was appointed to report on a curriculum for teacher training for elementary schools. The reports of the committee will be used in developing a bulletin on teacher training and certification to be published by the department of education.

Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, an informal banquet was served in the Hotel Californian where an orchestra and a capella choir from the Fresno state teachers college entertained the guests present.

Shades o' Green

As some one described, "It was a carnival that WAS a carnival." The school surely put it over. State may not descend upon the citizens of Santa Barbara often; but when it does, every one knows about it.

The ease with which Bill Peacock pronounces and uses champion athletes' names is fascinating. In Bill's head is a complete and accurate file of all famous athletes, their sports, their schools, their records, and, in most cases, their weights. Bill is worried all the time from fear of losing his memory. I don't think there is much danger of losing such a big thing as that.

I read recently where a certain Lord So-and-So in England had been expelled from school when a boy because he swatted his English master in the back of the head with an apple core for giving him low marks on his themes. Jason, I have royal instincts.

The Outing club has a nice little "ranch" in the Santa Ynez. Built of stone, and situated high on a bluff overlooking the Santa Ynez river, the "ranch house," or cabin, is all a group could desire. The trees surrounding furnish cool shade to make a lazy afternoon more comfortable. As an orange sun sinks, leaving the site to a rapidly cooling evening, the big fireplace inside roars a warm message of cheer to all.

Last Sunday, the Outing group wound over the San Marcos to spend the day at their cabin. Mud-hen hunting, bridge and horse shoes consumed a pleasantly balmy afternoon; while punch, pop-corn popping, marshmallow toasting, and singing in the evening rounded off a happy day.

Syd Smith and I, walking up the river, surprised some hens; and as they took to the water, the "gunner" let fly with all the gun had. For a second, the canyon reverberated the noise of a charge of the light brigade. Again and again the gun banged. The world seemed to be toppling around us. As the smoke cleared, we could see a black speck denoting a bird flying very rapidly for other parts. Syd gazed a minute, then turned; and clucking, said, "Boy, I sure scared him."

Two tickets for the Rose Bowl game on New Year's day are being given by the Midget Sandwich Shop for the slogan best describing its hamburgers. This is a chance for students to show their interest in Roadrunner advertisers, and, at the same time, maybe see the New Year's game free. Hop to it!

The nouns and verbs are flowing freely over the question, "To have or not to have corsages at the Christmas formal." Girls, a negative decision means more food after the dance.

Coach "Pop" Warner would never have resigned from Stanford had the University not gone wild for upperclassmen a few years ago. Look what the Freshmen are doing for Santa Barbara State.

Again Congress takes the cue from dear old State. Mr. Garner, in proposing the repeal of the 18th amendment, evidently was not aware that we have decided to keep prohibition. John, you should read the Roadrunner.

February Grads

All those expecting to graduate February 3, 1933, report application for graduation to the head of your department and apply for application cards at the registrar's office, on or before December 16, 1932.
