ANNUAL SCHOOL OPERETTA TOMORROW NIGHT

MEETING ACCEPTS REPORT; WILL GO TO C. C. DIRECTORS

Can Accept or Reject Plan for Proposed Reorganization of Chamber of Commerce

ADOPTION or rejection of a suggested reorganization setup for the chamber of commerce was placed in the hands of that body Monday evening when those present at the public meeting called to hear the report of the citizen's committee of five, appointed in April to study possible reorganization of the civic chamber, voted unanimously to accept the committee's report.

The report, with the exception of the roster of names suggested for membership of the various committees, was published in last week's Chronicle.

Briefly the plan proposes a membership composed of every valley resident and taxpayer, dues to be voluntary and one cent a day. Six committees were suggested as follows: agriculture, transportation, civic development, retail merchants, trade promotion, and one to include water, forestry, fire prevention and safety.

Attendance fell short of expectations, less than thirty being present, including President Baird, Secretary Herron and Frank Miratti of the Santa Barbara chamber, who responded to the committee's invitation to comment on the suggested setup outlined in its report.

All endorsed the plan as presenting the outline of a structure which, with the support of valley citizens, would do a great deal towards promoting civic development and community growth.

"Southern California communities," said Herron, "More and more are beginning to realize that tourist and vacation business compromise the one field of community development which must be developed from the outside. Other phases of a chamber's duties are essentially concerned with internal, or local problems. Water supply, civic development and trade projects can be handled at home. The vacation trade we have to go after. We must carry our message to other places, telling them of the things we have to offer that will make their vacation an enjoyable one."

"We have learned, too," he continued, "that the most profitable form of publicity is district advertising. European countries do not advertise 'See France,' or 'Go to Austria,' or 'Tour Italy.' The concentrate on the 'See Europe' message, and after the traveller reaches the continent it is up to the various countries to reach him with their publicity."

"So it is here. The Pacific coast has Europe as its big competitor for travel trade. All California profits to a degree by the vacationists drawn to any district within her borders."

"We feel that the area including Santa Barbara, Carpinteria and Ventura constitutes a distinct district with a tourist appeal all its own. By working together we can all accomplish much more towards bringing travel business to this area."

"We didn't come down here to try and tell you how to organize. That's your job. But we do want you to know that we're eager to assist you in any way possible."

Further developments await the action of the present chamber of commerce, to whom the plan will be presented for acceptance or rejection at the next meeting, the date of which has not yet been announced.

TEACHER SALARIES RECONSIDERED BUT CHANGE IS SLIGHT

H. S. Board Stands by Salaries As Announced. Grammar Board Makes Change

At a meeting of the high school board Monday evening that body voted to stand by the announced salary cuts for high school teachers, which was published last week.

The table below gives the salaries of both grammar and high school teachers for the coming year. Cut percentages given are based upon 1931-32 salaries, and do not include contractual raises eliminated in 1931 because of general economic conditions. These raises called for yearly increases of $50.00 ($100 if the teacher attended summer school) for teachers and, in the case of Principal Hawley, a $200 yearly raise. Superintendent Lintz, whose contract, has just been renewed for four years, has taken a flat cut of $500.

In the list following, the first figure after each name is the teacher's salary for next year, the second is the amount of the cut, and the third the percent of cut.

At a special meeting of the grammar board last night it was voted to have no salaries drop below $1350 per year.

H.A. Lintz, (Dist. Supt.) $3000, $500 flat. Bertha Thurmond, 1520, $380, 20; Lucie Treloar $1615, $285, 15; Ruth Stombs, $1615, $285, 15; Mary Rystrom, $1520, $380, 20; *Leona Smith (Max. $1900) $1615, $285, 15; Helen Swinney, (1930-31) $1572.50, $277.50, 15; Leila Robbins, $1487.50, $262.50, 15; Rita Unkefer, $1360, $340, 20; Ida Sinclair, $1350, $330, 20; Martha Jayne Gooding, $1440, $160, 10; Georgia Nelson, $1350, $225, 15; *Sybil Baker, $1455, $145, 10; Catherine Jones, $1350, $145, 10; Jesse Rathbun, $900, $100, 10.

Weage, $1988.75, $161.25, 7.5.

Due to a special nation-wide broadcast on the opening of the Chicago World's fair, this week's Chronicle broadcast will be from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. on Saturday, instead of at 5:45, the usual hour. Tune in KDB at 6:30 tomorrow evening and hear YOUR radio program.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTS NEW MUSICAL PRODUCTION, 'DON ALONZO'S TREASURE' WITH BIG CAST AND ORCHESTRA OF 25

Over Half Entire Student Body Included in Cast And Orchestra of Annual Show; Composer of Piece to See Local Presentation

OLD Spain, with all its romance and glamour, vivid costumes and picturesque settings, will live again tomorrow evening when the high school operetta, "Don Alonzo's Treasure," is presented by a cast which, including principals, chorus and orchestra, comprises over half the entire student body of the local high school. The production will be staged under the direction of Fred Greenough, who states that the orchestra will be one of the largest in the history of the school, consisting of more than twenty-five musicians.

Geoffrey Morgan, composer of a score of well known operettas, of which this is the latest, will be present to witness the local production of his work. "Don Alonzo's Treasure" has only been recently released by the publishers, and Carpinteria high is the fourth school to produce it in Southern California, the others being Redondo, Anaheim, and Fillmore.

Director Greenough attended the Fillmore presentation which was given a short time ago, and was greatly impressed by the reception accorded the piece by the southern audience which was enthusiastic about the clever plot, tuneful score and smooth performance.

Local interest in the operetta's composer is heightened by the fact that Morgan is a former school mate of Burchell Upson at Stanford and Carey Demaree at Occidental.

Work on the sets and costumes has occupied the art and design students of the high school for several weeks and it is said that the results of their labor would do credit to an experienced staff.

The plot is laid in the patio of a hacienda in Barcelona, and the costumes represent the peasant and gypsy type of dress that persist in Spain even today.

Comment from localities where the operetta has been given support the statement that it sets a new standard in plot interest, clever dialogue and whistle-able music, and Carpinterians who remember last year's operetta, also produced by Greenough, will need no assurance that the local presentation will measure up to the high standard set by other schools which have presented "Don Alonzo's Treasure."

A matinee will be given Friday at 2:30 for the grammar school, admission 10 cents. The public performance on Saturday evening at 8:15 will be 25 cents. There will be no reserved seats.

The cast is as follows.

Don Alonzo Gonzales... Calvin Yaggy
Suzanna, his wife... Ellen Hogle
Dolores... Marjorie Robertson
Lolita... Jean Bailard
Ajax Wollop... Roscoe Masonheimer
Mrs. Wollop... Barbara Demaree
Elaine, their daughter... Barbara Houts
Slim, a sailor on leave... Robert Bowen
Shorty, his pal... Allan Burch
Manuel, man of all work... Ray McPherson
Paula, a dull witted servant... Ruth Rose

OUT-DOOR PLAY IN FRANKLIN CANYON ANNOUNCED BY G. S.

"The Vagabond Gypsy" Is Unique Offering to be Staged By Pupils on June 14th

It isn't a play—plays don't have music. We can't call it a pageant, for there's more to the plot than that title indicates. And if we term it an operetta, that wouldn't be right either, for the music is only occasional.

Anyway, call it what you like, it promises to be out of the ordinary and to include several of the more entertaining feature of plays, pageants and operettas.

The affair—there that's general enough—will be held Wednesday evening, June 14th at Franklin's canon and will include a goodly portion of the grammar school students.

"The Vagabond Gypsy" was written and is being produced under the direction of the local grammar school teachers.

An unusual feature of the plot is the fact that the locale of the story is laid in the actual place where it is to be enacted.

As the name indicates, it's a gypsy story, and the bright costumes together with the sylvan setting should afford a vivid tapestry for a plot said to be well filled with dramatic interest.

The cast, which has been rehearsing for several weeks, was publicly announced last night and is here published for the first time: Antonio, Gypsy chief, Beverly Snow; Zanara, gypsy grandmother, Claire Thurmond; Maria, wife of Antonio, Ruby McIntyre; Phillippi, son of Maria and Antonio, Joe Rodriguez; Ramon, gypsy orchestra leader, Richard Rodriguez; Carmen, daughter of Ramon, Mary Helen Rowe; Tito, gypsy envoy, Frank Masonheimer; Ozzie, a fortune teller, Pauline Alvarado; Lolita, gypsy dancer, Rosamond Upson; Anita, a dancer, Marion Bates; Marguerita, a stolen white girl, Jacques Bailard; Tommy Fairchild, white vagabond, Lawrence Smith; John Barclay, father of Marguerita, Robert Wescott; Mrs. Barclay, Mary Jo Wymond; Dan Johnson, proprietor of Cafe Rendezvous, Thomas Sud-dith.

Specialty numbers by Lynn Cadwell, Martha Thurmond, Doris Moses, Josephine Stewart, Beverly Humphries, Carolyn Andrews and Mary Shorkley.

Besides the above the cast includes more than 75, who appear as dancers, singers and entertainers. Real gypsy wagons and several horses will comprise the only "props" with the exception of the stately oaks of the canon.

C. H. S. Wins Heaney Trophy for Third Time

Carpinteria high school won the right to keep the Heaney constitution contest trophy Friday when Saralie Winters was awarded first prize for her essay entitled "The Constitution at Convention," thus marking the local high school's third consecutive win and placing the cup permanently in its possession.

The contest is an annual affair staged by J. W. Heaney, Santa Barbara attorney, in memory of his father, Dr. William P. Heaney. Winners were announced by Muriel Edwards, county superintendent of schools.

Claire Thurmond, of the local high, received honorable mention for her essay on "The Amendments to Our Constitution."

Judges for the contest, appointed by Heaney, were James D. Lowmley, W. Guntermann and Warner Edmonds.

5th Annual Play Day Honors Copped by Carp

Hundreds of children and their parents saw Carpinteria romp off with first place in the fifth annual play day held at Goleta, Saturday, when the local school children nosed out those of Goleta by two points, and left the Santa Maria and Lompoc schools far afield. The final score was: Carpinteria, 89. Goleta, 87. Santa Maria, 76 and Lompoc, 61.

Field and decathlon events included sprint races, chinning, broad jump, soccer kick and baseball throw.

The field events were preceded by a morning program consisting of a flag raising and salute, and a pageant presented by the children of Goleta first second and third grades.

BON VOYAGE, JIM

THERE'S a far-away look in the eyes of old Spotty, venerable canine assistant and inseparable companion of Jimmy Lester, for twelve years the local street cleaning department.

Spotty doesn't wag his tail much these days, and seems to have lost interest in things. He sticks pretty close to Jimmy, as though loath to let him out of his sight. In the strange way dogs have of finding out things Spotty has learned that he'll soon be an orphan—for Jimmy is sailing for Australia early in June.

"They seemed to think Spot was pretty old for traveling," Jimmy said yesterday. "I wanted to take him along but the steamship people discouraged the idea. He probably wouldn't like Australia anyway, but its almost like leaving a close relative not to take him. Sure, he knows I'm leaving—look at him watching me like a hawk."

Jimmy Lester and Spotty have long been a familiar pair on the streets of Carpinteria, and no community ever had a more conscientious nor better beloved white wing department.

Coming here twelve years ago from Arizona, Jimmy decided that he liked Carpinteria, but that he'd like it even better if the streets were kept cleaner. Appointing himself a committee of one—two, counting Spotty—he did such a good job that the county put him on the pay roll, and since that time no apple core has had a chance for a second bounce ere Jim had it safely placed upon his little cart.

For the last two years an old friend has been urging him to come to Australia to live. "He's in the money," Jim says. "He has several cars and somebody to drive them for him, and I guess maybe he wants company."

"Spotty's not the only sad part about leaving Carpinteria I didn't know there were such fine folks as I've found here. If I can I'm going to get my friend to come here for a visit and meet the best people in the world."

The community will miss Jim, too. He's come to be a local institution, and the picture of his spotless figure pushing a two-wheeled cart, with Spotty trotting ahead like a dignified circus horse, will be with us long after Jim is gone.

He has helped to raise half the small boys in town and has made it his business to see that they saw an occasional movie and had a frequent ice cream cone.

His cheery "good morning" has started the day for most of the town's business men, for Jim's office hours were early and late.

His performance of his duties has set an example, which if followed by all public servants would give us an efficient administration and a better place to live in.

Bon Voyage, Jim! We'll keep an eye on Spotty for you, and our best wishes go with you!

PEDDLERS

DOOR to door peddlers are at it again. Vegetables, stockings, shirts, typewriter ribbons—anything sold by legitimate merchants is carried in inferior duplicate by these in-and-out wanderers who prey upon unincorporated communities such as this, taking away local money and leaving nothing but a cheap imitation of something a gullible resident thought he wanted, or could buy for a few cents less.

Many otherwise sensible people fall prey to these seasonal gypsies. During the last week Carpinterians have spent good money for shirts that shrank, stockings that "ran" or turned out to be the wrong size, drugs that proved to be highly colored or perfumed imitations of standard merchandise and magazines that were helping some 42-year-old "through his freshman year at college."

The ancient technique of wedging a foot in the door and "shooting the works" before the door can be slammed works only too often. And there is such a wide range of peddled merchandise that the short-sighted often bite on the same system in several different guises.

Carpinteria merchants stand back of the goods they sell. The buyer has recourse if merchandise proves unsatisfactory. Your local stores are trying to build with you for the future. The countless advantages of buying at home have been stressed by better typewriters than this, but the sporadic influx of cheap peddlers calls for local repetition.

A merchant of Santa Barbara, whose store still operates despite numerous "closing out" sales, "fire" sales and "for-closure" sales operated here this week, bringing with him a car full of shirts, sox and other men's wear. The fact that he has an established place of business within the county allows him to operate in unincorporated communities such as this without paying a license of any kind. Thus, while his own store is protected from such cut-throat competition, the fact that he has the store entitles him to the right to carry on such back-door tactics in neighboring communities.

Peddlers on foot are required to pay a county license fee of $5.00 per quarter, those in cars a $25.00 quarterly fee. Because Carpinteria is unincorporated its citizens have no power to tax fly-by-night merchandising. But local people who are at all far-sighted will refuse to encourage it, by trading in established local stores with merchants they know stand back of the goods they sell.

WHAT OF IT DEPARTMENT

North Dakota is the only state in the union with no record of an earthquake. In western Tibet when a man marries, his next two younger brothers become secondary husbands to the wife. About eighty percent of every federal tax dollar goes to pay for past wars or prepare for future conflicts. Dame Rumor has it that the U. S. is just before taking steps to stop President Machado's bloody regime in Cuba, and that Morgan isn't nearly as worried about his investigation as are two or three even more prominent public figures. And the financial "disclosures" headlined in this week's newspapers were either known or published by Upton Sinclair, famed Pasadena muck-raker, months ago—but "they all laughed when he sat down to play."

All previous records for the number of exhibits were broken at the 20th annual flower show held Friday at the Methodist church. Following were the committee chairmen in charge; general chairman, G. E. Franklin; decorations, Mrs. C. B. Franklin; dinner, Mrs. J. W. Bailard; entertainment, Miss Sybil Baker; candy sales, Mrs. Nellie McIntyre.

G. S. Music Dept. Will Hold Recital June 2

Marking the final week for music students to be able to qualify for the coming school music recital of Friday evening, June 2, the music department of the Grammar school has been very busy indeed. Under the direction of Miss Sybil Baker, the instrumental classes and orchestra have been gradually perfecting their work. The program will consist of numbers from both the first and second year piano classes, a trumpet trio, trombone solo, string quintette, flute solo, saxophone solo. instrumental and senior orchestras and selections by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs, under the direction of Mrs. Lucie Treloar and Miss Dorothea Lind.

An interesting side light to the recital is the fact that the instrumental orchestra, which is composed of the youngsters who started their study of an instrument with Miss Baker last October, will play for the recital two numbers which were played by the advanced senior orchestra only last fall.

The program will be held in the Grammar school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening, June 2nd. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

County Residents Are Honored at Welfare

At the annual meeting of the California Conference of Social Work held last week in Sacramento, several Santa Barbara county residents were honored. W. J. Orion, secretary of the Santa Barbara Recreation Commission, will be chairman of the Recreation program for the next conference, which will be held in San Diego. Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, a member of the County Welfare Commission and for many years associated with welfare activities in the county, was elected regional vice-president. Fred A. Stevens, supervisor for District 3, who has lately received state-wide attention because of his interest in medical care for the sick poor, was elected a member of the Board of Directors, as was also Miss Aletha Brownlee, executive-secretary of the County Welfare Department.

The general tone of the conference was hopeful—although social and health workers recognize the fact that the coming year presents many serious problems. The support both moral and financial, given by the Federal government for the welfare of its people, has evidently brought about a feeling of confidence.

The conference lasted four days—separate meetings were held on Child and Family Welfare, Health, Delinquency, Education, Industry, Organization and Administration, Race Relations and Citizenship, and Use of Leisure Time. There were about 1200 in attendance. There were seventeen from Santa Barbara county.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends that were so kind and thoughtful to our Dear Mother during her illness and also the last days she was with us.

Wykoff, Fastest Man, Addresses High School

"No world's records in athletics will ever be made by anyone who drinks beer or smokes cigarettes," Frank Wykoff, holder of the world's record for the hundred yard dash, told high school students at a meeting called in his honor Tuesday afternoon.

If your heart is set on excelling in any field of athletic endeavor forget everything but the things that will contribute towards that goal," he added.

Te told of his early ambition to be a track champion, saying that the idea first obsessed him during his intermediate grades in the Glendale schools, where he was for a time a student of Harry Lintz, local school superintendent, and whose interest, he stated, was a source of encouragement to him at that time.

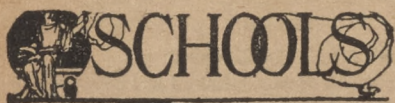

While in high school Wykoff determined to have a try for the record held by Charlie Paddock, famed "world's fastest human," and in his graduating year from high school he was sent to the Olympic games, where, although defeated, his performance served notice to the sports world that he was a factor to be considered in track records.

Upon returning to this country he enrolled at the University of Southern California, and under the wing of that institution's famed old master of the cinder path, Dean Cromwell, he realized his boyhood ambition and out-ran Paddock, another product of Cromwell's tutelage.

Wykoff's speech was given with a youthful enthusiasm that aroused the interest of every local student, and his account of his sensations while running the race that made him a new speed champion and lowered the world's record by two-fifths of a second (his time, nine and two-fifths seconds) was vivid and exciting.

His talk emphasized throughout the absolute necessity for observing all the rules of clean living on the part of athletes, and was enthusiastically received by the assembly.

The new fastest human is now teaching at the Moran School for Boys at Atascadero. He was accompanied to Carpinteria by Oscar Trautz, and Chris Martin, both of Santa Barbara State College.

HIGH SCHOOL

Billie Winter, member of the Sophomore class won the Heaney Essay contest which is held each year. The cup which is awarded will now be presented to Carpinteria high school as a permanent possession, as Carpinteria has won the contest for three consecutive years. The last two winners were: Jean Shorkley, also a member of the Sophomore class, and Frank Zanini, now a member of the graduating class.

Ruth Bliss and Jean Shorkley, former students of Carpinteria high school have returned from Sacramento where they have been living while Mr. Bliss was attending the session of the legislature.

Many students from Carpinteria High school made the trip to Catalina Sunday, May 21.

Memorial Day exercises will be conducted by the American Legion at the Carpinteria cemetery, Tuesday, May 30, beginning at 10 a. m. Students from both the high and grammar schools will participate in the service.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The Junior high students held their weekly assembly Friday with Rosamond Upson, secretary of the Student Body acting as chairman. The Junior orchestra played while the pupils marched into the auditorium.

Flag Salute, "America," Assembly. Announcements. Dance and Recitation. Beverly Humphreys, Carolyn Andrews. Costume Dance, Fourth Grade. Songs, Fourth Grade Girls. Selection, "Old Clock," Junior orchestra. Trumpet Solo, Beverly Snow. Song, Boy's Glee Club. Musical Skit, Music Appreciation Class. Gypsy Songs, "Gypsy Trail," Gypsy Song, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Assembly. "Star Spangled Banner," Assembly.

Clair Thurmond of the eighth grade won honorable mention in the essay contest on the Constitution.

Beaver Buys Market From Oscar Davidson

Oscar Davidson, for many years proprietor of the meat market bearing his name, has sold the business to Al Beaver, well known to everyone in the valley, as the former manager of the Continental meat market.

Beaver has already taken charge and is the recipient of a large number of bouquets from his many friends, so that the shop has taken on the appearance of a florist's.

Davidson states that his plans are uncertain, but that they will definitely include a large vacation, probably in the mountains where fishing and hunting are good.

Beaver plans to continue the shop's well established policy of the best in meats at reasonable prices, examples of which appear elsewhere in this issue.

The Carpinteria Chronicle,
Carpinteria, California.
Dear Sirs:

On behalf of the Women's Missionary Society and the Membership of our church, and for myself personally I wish to thank you most sincerely for the very splendid support you gave our Flower Show through the columns of your paper and also through the courtesy extended us on your radio hour broadcast. Such support helped very materially in making the Flower Show the success that it was in every way. These and all your courtesies through your columns are deeply appreciated by us all.

Sincerely yours,

Calvin Yaggy Awarded Lafayette Scholarship

Calvin Yaggy, senior and president of the Carpinteria high school student body, has been awarded a scholarship at Lafayette college, the only one of its kind available to students west of the Mississippi it was announced Tuesday.

The scholarship consists of a $500 award for the student's freshman year and an equal amount for each of the remaining three years providing his work merits it.

The award fulfills the promise of Yaggy's high school career here, a period marked by an active interest in student body affairs. Last year Yaggy won the statewide American Legion contest for the best essay on aviation, the award consisting of a scholarship in any flying school in California, as a result of which he spent last summer at the Boeing field in Alameda.

Calvin's older brother, Bradford, was formerly a student at the local high school, and graduated from Lafayette with the class of 1930.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yaggy of Monticeto.

Principal characters of the high school operetta have been invited to Calvin Yaggy's home for an evening of dancing and games after the operetta presentation Saturday night.
