A Christmas dance will be given at Samarkand Hotel tonight under the auspices of the A. W. S. The A. W. S. and Committee, with Ruth Garner as chairman, has planned a party interesting for anyone who dances.

A huge Christmas tree will be one of the features of the party. Students are asked by the committee to bring some for the tree. These toys will be later given to the poor children of Santa Barbara.

Another feature of the party will be a sappy dance by one of the women students. Ballrooms and streamers will combine in making the dance one of the payest of the year.

In order that everyone may have good fun dancing, and in order to better the crowd, a number of "change partner dances," as the Paul Jones, are planned for the evening.

Another talk will be on "Toy-Making for the Intermediate Grades." Toys, made by the "Toy-Making" classes of this year and last, will be used in illustrating her talk. A few, made this year, will also be used during this talk.

Her third talk will be on "Interior Decorating in the Grades." A one-room house, made by the Arts Methods class, will be used in connection with this talk. The furnishings of this living room are made of cardboard and were constructed to scale. Mrs. Crosowell will thus present the problem of having an artistic harmonious living room in a simple way. The house and furnishings are such as might be constructed by grade school children.

CHANGES ANTICIPATED IN METHOD OF DEALING WITH DELINQUENT STUDENTS

Dr. Thomas Milton Putnam, professor in the Mathematics Department of the University of California, will lecture on Mr. Peters' classes in mathematics this week.

Dr. Putnam, who is chairman of the scholarship committee at the University of California, has recently submitted revisions regarding delinquent students. The problem of how to deal with Freshmen, who do not succeed in doing satisfactory work during their first semester, is being discussed by many university administrators.

Dr. Putnam is in sympathy with more lenient treatment of Freshmen, advocating greater leniency in the first semester. He also advocates that Freshmen unable to meet the requirements of the first semester, be permitted to make up their work for a period of one year, any one semester, and that if at the end of this probationary period they are not doing satisfactory work, withdrawal shall be required.

Probable developments in the handling of scholarship may involve revisions submitted by Dr. Putnam.

EDWARD YEOMANS WILL ADDRESS SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB IN JANUARY

Edward Yeomans, the author of "Shackled Youth," and director of the Ojai Valley School, will address the Social Science Club at its first meeting after the Christmas vacation, on January 26, in Memorial Auditorium.

This subject is a vital one for students of a teachers college, and few may be more stimulating or interesting to teachers and laymen alike than Mr. Yeomans' book, "Shackled Youth," is to the student of equal interest to teachers and laymen.

But Mr. Yeomans was not content to retell a more or less familiar story. In the fall of 1923 he founded the Ojai Valley School in cooperation with Mrs. Gudrun Thorne-Thompson of the Francis Parker School of Chicago. Thore, in a beautiful little school house, Mr. Yeomans and Mrs. Thompson are building their ideas into reality.

Mr. Yeomans will be the guest of the club at dinner at The Tavern on State Street, where the meeting will be held.

According to the plans of the Speakers' Committee, appointed on Wednesday evening, regular monthly meetings will become a regular feature of the club program. Speakers will be invited to come to this meeting on subjects of general interest.

Rumor has it that the Block "S" Society is planning a dance next week. Although no definite plans have been made for the affair, the letter men assure us that a dance will be given by the society within a few weeks.
UNIVERSAL CLUB HEARS TALK ON MAMMOTH CAVE

Mr. Griffin gave an interesting talk before the Universal Club last Friday. He spoke of the marvels of Mammoth Cave. Mammoth Cave contains about 150 miles of surveyed passageways. Each path contains, according to Mr. Griffin, many wonderful formations. As the cave is made of limestone, many beautiful effects are secured by the use of colored lights. Several of the most unusual features of the cave are the "Bottomless Pit," "The Altar," "The Rogers' Gallery," and "The Dome."

MISS RAMELLI WILL SPEAK BEFORE UNIVERSAL CLUB

Miss Ramelli will speak to the Universal Club and Mr. Peters' class this afternoon on the Latin Countries of Europe. Miss Ramelli recently spent a year traveling in these countries.

CAN YOU WRITE AND SPEAK CORRECTLY?

One of the essential marks of a broad education is the command of the English language. As students receiving an education, we should be able to form the habit of speaking and writing correctly. The mistakes we make in grammatical construction may seem of little consequence, but such mistakes mark us as deficient in the use of our own language.

It is well to have a large vocabulary, but it is doubly important to be able to express oneself in a correct way as far as grammar is concerned. The frequency of grammatical errors made by students throughout the campus is deplorable.

Stop and think! Are you guilty of saying "It don't?" The constant use of this phrase is only one of the common errors heard among our students, but it is a good example of the inability of many to speak correctly.

Let's make an effort to improve the use of our own language by eliminating the grammatical errors which we make each day.

One of the problems which baffles university instructors of today is the problem of how to cope with the students who can not spell, punctuate, paragraph, or formulate their thoughts in an intelligent manner. To quote from an article, "Why Go To College," written by Richard Burton, Head of the English Department, University of Minnesota: "Last summer I had to flunk two male students of college grade at the summer school of a State institution in the South for work so crude, juvenile and in every way unlettered and ignorant, as to be well-nigh unbelievable. Nor was this at all an uncommon experience, up and down the land, as plenty of others can testify. Where do such people come from; how did they get there; how are they able to remain?—these are questions that baffle the searcher. Surely young men and women who cannot spell, punctuate, paragraph, formulate their thoughts on paper or even orally, or grasp the essentials of any subject of college grade, do no bel ong,—unless we are to give up entirely the long-held conception of what a college or is or should be."

At this time of year when students are being classified as doing satisfactory or unsatisfactory work, it is approproate to take cognizance of the fact of whether or not you, as an individual, may be creating an unfavorable impression through your inability to express yourself in a literary manner.

A small boy was sitting next to a very haughty woman in a crowded car, and kept sniffling in a most annoying way until the woman could stand it no longer.

"Boy, have you a handkerchief?" she demanded.

The small boy looked at her for a few seconds and then in a dignified manner, answered:

"Yes I have; but I don't lend it to strangers."

WOOL DRESSES AND WEAVING EXHIBIT DISPLAYED THURSDAY

A very interesting wool dress and weaving exhibit is being shown by the girls in the senior clothing course. The dresses range in price from 60.50 to 125.00, and the ideas for design and trimming are all original.

Besides the actual technique of making garments, a study of textiles and costume design is included in the instruction and emphasis on color and line is featured throughout this course. Conservative designs and materials have been chosen, resulting in a practicalness, which is one of the first essentials of being well-dressed.

Students in this class consider income as an important item, realizing that none of the best dressed women are those with decidedly limited income.

Much interest was shown in the weaving display. The scarves, bags, runners, sashes and neckties comprised a colorful exhibition. The weaving is under the direction of Miss Camp, and the sewing of Miss Winifred M. Frye, director of Domestic Art.

BASKETBALL QUINTET WINS PRACTICE TILT

The State College Casablanca Throwers won the Standard Oil quintet in the College gym by the tune of 49-27 last Monday night in a practice tilt. The Rockefellers brought a strong looking outfit with them, and things looked bad for the Roadrunners until the game started; then superior team work told. The first six minutes of play went by without a single score on either side, and then the College drew first blood, when Anderson bagged a long shot.

The game was marred by many fouls, both personal and technical, on both sides, and considerably slowed down on that account. The Rockford quintet outplayed the John D's in every quarter but the third, when the taller team scored two for the collegians' one.

High point man of the game was Anderson, with 10 tallies to his credit. He was closely followed by Captain Firanza of the Visitors who piled up 14 points for his team. A feature of the game was the long shots of Perry Linder, who made three pretty throws from the middle of the floor.
