Dinsmore Scores Stanwood's Attitude Toward District Unemployment Relief

"NO COOPERATION FROM S. B. MAN IN FIGHT FOR JUST DISTRIBUTION OF COUNTY FUNDS" SAYS SUPERVISOR

Cites Instances of Uneven Apportioning of Budget for Jobless and Denies That Local Welfare Worker is "Inexperienced"

SCORING the stand taken by Supervisor Sam Stanwood of Santa Barbara in the county board's recent decision to eliminate the welfare board and to handle county welfare and unemployment relief by districts, Supervisor Tom Dinsmore of this district said yesterday that "for the first time in years the city of Santa Barbara is bearing something like its proportionate cost of the county's welfare and unemployment relief burden, and Sam Stanwood has fought the change which made this possible from its inception."

"It appears that they consider this district a prop to help in getting more funds, then turn around and try to keep all the funds in Santa Barbara. On the first of this month Stanwood's district had 134 patients in the general hospital, as compared to 10 in this district. The proportions in the Juvenile and Detention Homes run about the same.

"The welfare says it will require $24,000 for rentals for Santa Barbara city's unemployed and welfare relief work for the coming year, while the tentative budget would allow this district, including Montecito, Summerland and Carpinteria, but $1000. That seems to be the way Santa Barbara figures everything. Last year the city of Santa Barbara

LOCAL TALENT IN ONE-ACT PLAY AT ALCAZAR SUNDAY

First Of A Series Of Plays To Be Presented

Carpinteria's own mazda mad impressario, "Ollie" Prickett, will present the first of a series of playlets enacted by local players Sunday evening at the Alcazar, in addition to the regular motion picture, when "The Shakedown," a one-act comedy is presented with a cast which includes such well known Carpinterians as Midge Shepard, Jean Baillard, Phil Mills, and, of course, Oliver B. in person.

The plot involves the designs of a blond manicurist upon a doting father whose son had fallen before her wiles, and is said to be packed with fast moving comedy and clever dialogue.

Prickett, who formerly presented a series of highly successful vaudeville skits at the Alcazar entitled "Ollie and His Oups," has just returned from the Pasadena Playhouse where he is in charge of all outside productions. During the summer season he is at liberty for a few weeks, and plans to keep in form by presenting the aforementioned series of one-act plays.

Local theater goers will welcome a renewed opportunity to see familiar faces behind—or before—which is it? the footlights, there having been no local dramatic offerings since the Community Players disbanded for the summer.

Business Improved In Middle Western States, Says Smith

Local Merchant Reports Things Picking Up

BUSINESS conditions seem to be improving rapidly, people have a brighter outlook and the unemployment situation seems to be clearing up throughout the middle west, according to Frank Smith, local hardware merchant who has just returned from a 7200 mile trip which included such cities as Chicago, Kansas City, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Sheridan, Denver and Salt Lake.

"On the whole, the cities seem to be recovering more rapidly than the rural sections," said Smith yesterday. "Such places as Kansas City, with its huge packing houses, railroad shops and refineries all working, seem to have left the depression far behind. Oklahoma City and Tulsa have put hundreds back to work and the results are evident."

"Even the smaller towns in many states are painting up and giving every appearance of being back on the road to recovery. Iowa is among the slower regions to get back on its feet, due to its limited variety of resources. Although it had the only promising corn crops we saw, the general agricultural conditions are such that the Iowa farmers are still in bad financial condition."

Wyoming affords a marked contrast, according to Smith, to other stock and ranch regions.

"Most of the Wyoming stock raisers handle their own financing, own their own banks, and have never felt hard times to the extent that most other regions have," he said. "There are practically no chain banks in the state. I saw no empty store buildings in Cheyenne, and was told that only in Casper, an oil town, had there been any business failures, and that was due to the shutting down of the oil fields."

"Rural Kansas is badly scorched by the drought, and the wheat crop there has suffered tremendously. Everywhere I found an enthusiastic endorsement of the president's policies, and a wide-spread confidence in the administration's program."

On their return trip, the Smith family encountered a severe hail storm near Deer Trail, Colorado, which riddled the top of the car,

Beach Comes Into Its Own As Warm Weather Arrives

Southern Heat Wave Is Just a Ripple Here

WHILE a large part of southern California sweltered in a heat wave that claimed four victims in southern counties, Carpinterians have been enjoying a week of real beach weather.

The thermometer reached 84 on one or two occasions, but never went beyond that point, giving this section its warmest week of the year.

The local beach has been crowded all week with Carpinterians and those seeking relief from the heat in other localities.

Nights have been free from fog, evenings balmy and mild. Numerous beach teas and picnics by day, coupled with three nights of good grunion "fishing" have made the beach a scene of continuous activity during most of the day's twenty-four hours.

Heat clouds back of the mountains indicated that next week's deer hunters will have a warm time of it. Local hostilities are expecting a busy week-end as inquiries pour in from Pasadena, Los Angeles, Fillmore and the interior.

And last night the weather man predicted "fair and warmer for southern California."

Professional Lion Hunter Entertains Carpinteria's Den

Herman Keene Shows Movies And Addresses Club

HERMAN KEENE, state lion hunter, held the members of the Carpinteria Lions den spell-bound for nearly an hour overtime last night with moving pictures of his lion hunts in the mountains of Ventura county.

The scenes included shots of a fight between a king snake and a rattler, which was won by the former and who concluded the performance.

WORK TO START IMMEDIATELY ON NEW ADDITION TO PACKING PLANT OF MUTUAL CITRUS ASSOCIATION

J. H. Hendy Awarded Contract for Second Annex To Warehouse Facilities in Six Years; Ninety Days Work for Local Men

ANNOUNCEMENT of an addition to the plant of the Carpinteria Mutual Citrus Association's packing house at Sixth and Maple, to cost approximately $8000, was made Tuesday when the contract for the building was let to J. H. Hendy, local contractor.

Work on the structure will begin at once, and its completion is expected to require about 90 days.

The new addition will be used for storing purposes, and will be 129x80 feet, giving the association a total of 30,000 square feet of floor space. It will be of the same construction and general appearance as the present building.

Following the awarding of the contract, Hendy stated that he will adhere to his policy of hiring all local labor and that all materials will be purchased locally.

Erection of the new structure will mark the second addition to the association's plant within three years. Established in 1926, with a membership of 26 local grower members, the cooperative organization was originally located in the old Fish Bean house. These quarters were rapidly outgrown, and in 1928 half a block of property was purchased

Funeral Services For Ellis Cravens At Cemetery Here

Former Carpinteria Resident Dies At Age Of 33 Years

FUNERAL services were conducted here Saturday for Ellis Franklin Cravens, who died in Los Angeles last Thursday at the age of 33 years.

He was the oldest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cravens, formerly of Carpinteria, and was born here in 1900. He attended grammar school in Carpinteria, and later was a student at Owensmouth high school, completing his education at the Colorado School of Mines.

In 1931 he married Helen Anderson, who, with their small daughter, survives him.

Two sisters, Marilyn Cravens and Mrs. Charles Farley, and two brothers, Marshall and Kendrick, all of Los Angeles, are his closest living relatives.

Services were conducted by Reverend Wade Hamilton in the local cemetery. Pall bearers were Marcus and Thomas Cravens, Neal Baillard, Robert Baillard, J. C. Baillard and Melville Curtis.

Tommy Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, is expected home today after a year in the Orthopedic Hospital in Los Angeles.

GRUNION DISPROVE THEORY THAT THEY ARE A FINNY FIB

"Dancing Fish" Throw Parties Three Nights for Natives

Mention "grunion hunting" to almost any out-of-towner and he'll probably give you a knowing smile and say "Oh, yeah?" and murmur something about "snipe hunting" and other sports.

Lots of Carpinterians are inclined to be skeptical concerning the diminutive fish that periodically come up on the beach, flash in the moonlight, and are gone. But a lot of local people have been converted during the past few nights. For the grunion have been running, and many have had their last run.

Several beach parties went home late Tuesday and Wednesday nights with wet clothes and sacks filled with grunion.

Maybe it's their odd name that makes people skeptical about these perfectly respectable fish. The word "grunion" sounds as though it had originated in the mind of some hoax artist. Then, too, just try and tell a stranger how to catch them.

"Get a gunny sack and a flashlight and go down to the beach," you begin—and right there you've lost a customer. If an unusual amount of courtesy should hold your audience, it will not be for long.

"Stand at the edge of the surf and watch. When they start coming they come by the thousands. Just throw your light around and scoop them by the handfuls."

Why, even Bob Wilson wouldn't bite on that! It sounds too darned fishy.

Nevertheless, it's a fact that grunion graced the menu of more than one valley home this week, and they were all caught by hand.

OUR HAT IS OFF TO— THE VISEL BROTHERS

for the good job they are doing in advertising Carpinteria Valley to a desirable type of people and for their efforts to increase motor travel on Highway 101.

Ye Kronikal Almanack

WHAT countenance more appropriate could we publish during these "dog days" than that of the gentleman whose delicate features are here-with inscribed for posterity?

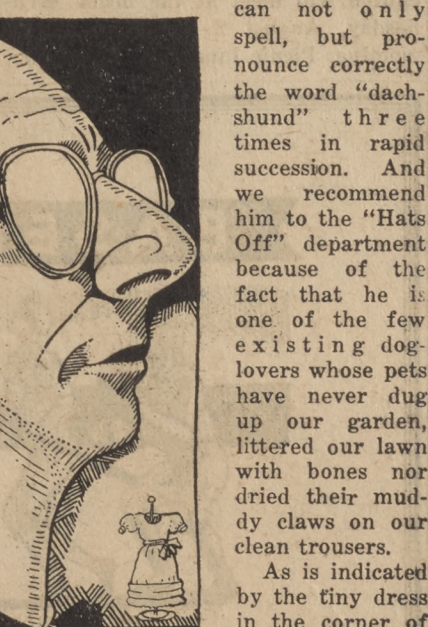

Look at the picture. Get that long, sensitive nose. Every inch a pointer. Notice the generous ears set far back as a racey keel. Something of the whippet in those ears. And the tapering neck, stream-lined and graceful, so reminiscent of that ace of speed kings, the greyhound.

Only long years of close association with different species of "Man's best friend" could have lent to George DeTroy so distinctive an array of features.

For among dog-lovers and canine fanciers his name is associated with a long line of thorough-breds and blue ribbon winners.

George, his friends will inform you, can tell from across the street whether a certain dog is about to bark, growl, bristle, point, or chase the neighbor's cat up the alley. He can not only spell, but pronounce correctly the word "dachshund" three times in rapid succession. And we recommend him to the "Hats Off" department because of the fact that he is one of the few existing dog-lovers whose pets have never dug up our garden, littered our lawn with bones nor dried their muddy claws on our clean trousers.

As is indicated by the tiny dress in the corner of the picture, Geo.

He is inclined to discount the story his brother Lions tell on him to the effect that lady customers have been surprised by his mentioning such materials as "dotted Swiss Poodle" and "Fox Terrier Chiffon."

SPOTTY

REMEMBER some time ago we told you how Spotty, the canine assistant to the street cleaning department, seemed to know that Jimmy Lester, his pal and co-worker, was soon to leave him?

Jimmy has been gone for several weeks now, and things aren't going so well for old Spot. He's reached the age where it's hard for a dog to look for new companionship and to form new contacts. Spotty doesn't even try to look. He's too lonesome. But he's trying, in his feeble old way, to keep the job going until Jim comes back.

Each day Spot covers the route he used to take with Jimmy, block by block. On warm days it takes him a little longer than it used to, but he makes the rounds as best he can.

But the nights seem to be harder for him. He remembers how Jim used to like the movies, and how he'd have Spot wait outside 'til the show was over. And then Jim would come out and take him home for the night.

So he makes his nightly trips to the Alcazar and waits 'til the last of the audience has gone home and the lights are turned out, but Jim doesn't show up. That's the tough time for Spotty, when there's no use hoping any longer that Jim will come back that day.

People write books about such devotion, but that doesn't help Spot. He's just plain lonesome.

FROM A READER

The "New Deal" in the Community Church

"EVERYBODY wears shoes," so runs the refrain of the Negro Spiritual.

"Everybody preaches," so runs the actual facts of the hour. If not otherwise, we all preach by our attitudes and actions. There are more regularly ordained preachers today than ever before. But the number of unordained are vastly more. Newspapers, magazines, radios, moving pictures, theaters, novels, artists, entertainers and columnists are all preachers. In addition there are thousands of business and professional men who not only preach, and preach well, but who are willing to exercise their gifts along this line in the pulpits of the churches.

This is one of the important social factors of our time. For all law is preceded by preaching. Good law is the result of great preaching; bad law, of inferior preaching, or the preaching of inferior ideals.

Preaching is not lecturing and hectoring the people, as so many seem to think. It is explaining, enforcing and arousing to high duty. It is so encouraging and comforting to the people that they may be able to do and endure the duties and difficulties of life.

The use of this new company of preachers is a part of the "New Deal," and the people of the Community Church are going to enjoy this new type of preacher during the month of August. On the first Sunday in August, Mr. George W. Maclelan will fill the pulpit. Mr. Maclelan is a very popular speaker before Service Clubs, having appeared before the Lion's Club of Carpinteria several times.

On the second Sunday Mr. Harrison Ryan, a lawyer of Santa Barbara is to bring a message to the people of Carpinteria Valley. Mr. Ryan never comes, as the preachers would say, with "unbeaten grain."

On the third Sunday Mr. David J. Reese of Ventura, an erstwhile teacher and editor, now a business man, high in the counsels of the Masonic Fraternity and the Rotary Club, will speak. And on the last Sunday of August Mr. Fred C. Schauer will be with us. Mr. Schauer has always been a staunch friend of the Community Church, and is well known in Carpinteria. Mr. Schauer is a lawyer, and an Elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Barbara.

Let us hear what these business and professional men have to say. It is a great mistake to think that religion is dying out. "Man is incurably religious." During the last five years when atheism and secularism have made their greatest assault upon the churches, they have had their greatest gains in membership. You may be sure that we are going to have some kind of religion, either a high, spiritual, reasonable and ethical religion, or a dark, superstitious and immoral religion. Superstition is mere a "smothered religion." Immoral religions are wild, untamed, uncultured, uncritical religions. As goes the religion of American so will go its freedom and civilization.

Oranges, which are now golden orbs of sweetness, were once a wild, bitter fruit. Cultivation did it and it is not otherwise with religion.

The people are urged to hear these men. The services are never more than an hour in length, from 11 to 12 o'clock each Sunday.

—REV. LEON C. KIRKES

WHAT-OF-IT DEPARTMENT

One sixth of the nation's unemployed went to work in breweries and brewery supply houses when beer became legal. . . . Authorities attribute the wave of kidnapping that has swept the country to gangsters thrown out of "work" by the passing of the illegal beer racket. . . . Bread is due to go up one cent a loaf here next week, and gasoline will probably be two cents a gallon higher before the last of August. . . . Military strategists say that the first two blows struck on the Pacific coast, in the event of invasion by a hostile power, would be an attack on San Pedro harbor and the bombing of the Rincon highway. But don't be alarmed—war isn't expected soon. . . . And—but maybe you already knew it—Summerland is credited with the most equable climate in the world.

had 60 men working on roads for six months—we had 3 down here during the same period, and we didn't get those until after Assemblyman Bliss took up the matter and worked on it for several weeks.

"I have been accused of 'letting Stanwood down' and of being unwilling to cooperate. If by cooperation they mean placing harmony before the actual needs of this district, then my cooperation has reached its limits. Stanwood has opposed every move I've made to secure funds and relief for this district, he fought the new welfare set-up, which keeps over $3000 a month in the valley, and he still seems to be anxious to do everything possible to block our work here.

Commenting on the statement attributed to McFadden, and published in the Santa Barbara dailies, to the effect that Rebecca Stoddard, newly appointed welfare worker for the first district, is "inexperienced," Dinsmore stated that "McFadden has been harping on what he calls my inexperienced workers. Miss Stoddard is a graduate nurse and has lived in this district nearly all her life, speaks Spanish fluently, and has proved her ability in work of this nature. McFadden has neglected to mention the fact that the old welfare board accepted, without comment, more than one inexperienced worker for relief work in the northern end of the county, and was loud in its praise of the work they accomplished.

"I have no personal quarrel with any Santa Barbara officials. If they will let us handle our own work down here and allow us our just share of county funds we'll take care of our unemployment and welfare relief just as we did before the welfare board was organized. We've done it before and our new set-up is already functioning smoothly to do it again. But there is no reason why this district should continue to get the short end of every budget. People here are paying for it, and as I see it, it's part of my job to see that they get it."

Carp. Nine Smothers Saticoy, Score 18 to 3

The Carpinteria nine took on the Saticoy Merchants Sunday in what was slated to be a "breather," having drawn a bye in the league schedule. But the local players didn't get much time to catch their breath. They were too busy running bases to do any resting. The final score was 18 to 3, in favor of Stemp's beach-combers, and the hit-hungry customers had more than their fill.

Besides nine innings of merry-go-round, nothing exciting happened during the afternoon. Phil Mills turned in a good performance, with a spectacular catch in right field and a number of clean hits to his credit.

This Sunday the locals tackle the Elwood Oilers, who slipped into the league's second division Sunday by losing to the Goleta Athletic club.

Manager Stemper is not predicting any walk-away Sunday, observing that the Elwood nine is always a threat and that a victory such as the locals experienced last Sunday seldom does a team no great amount of good.

"Bennett and Alonzo will be our opening battery," Stemp announced last night. "A win Sunday will put us off to a good start in what is sizing up to be a close race for the cup."

Sam Says He's A Good Bet On Tonite's Card

Sammy Nicholas, Carpinteria's offering to the squared circle, will start things tonight at the Ventura Athletic Club's weekly fight-fest. Sam is scheduled to meet Chick Foster of Los Angeles in the curtain raiser, and is just as confident as ever.

Sam has figured on Ventura boxing menus twice before, and he imparted to your correspondent that he had "learned considerable" in his previous encounters.

"You know how I used to always be rubbin' myself where I got hit at?" he asked. "Well, I don't do that no more. I jes' keep borin' in and makin' 'em like it!"

"Do you think you'll take this Foster?" he was asked.

"If'n the referee don't do me wrong, I'm gonna be powerful bad opposition that night," Sam replied.

Sam's chief training trouble is a lack of sparring partners, but he has been putting in several hours daily of conscientious road work and bag punching.

His last appearance in Ventura drew upwards of 60 Carpinterians. Things like that should assure him of a decision once in a while, and tonight's battle may prove that the third time's a charm.

Good luck, Sam! And don't forget to duck!

Montecito Cricketeers Lose to L. A. Team

The Montecito Cricket Club, whose roster of players includes the name of Carpinteria's Victor Stubbs, lost its match Sunday to the strong team representing the Los Angeles Cricket Club by a score of 127 to 75.

The game was played on the Cox field, where the Montecito club will meet the Santa Monica aggregation Sunday in its last home game for several weeks.

Mid Week Dances Are Popular With Crowds

Nearly 200 young people of the valley, chaperones and parents attested this week to the increasing popularity of the Wednesday night dances for local school children and their parents, inaugurated a week ago at Cerca del Mar by R. G. Bassett.

Due to Santa Barbara's Fiesta next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, there will be no Wednesday night dance next week, Manager Bassett has announced.

On the following Wednesday, however, a costume ball will be held, details of which will be given later.

Scout Leader Leaves For Training Course

Mrs. Bailard Franklin leaves today for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Sheppa, at Soquel, en route to Camp Chapparel, in the Big Basin, where she will take the girl scout leader's training course being offered there.

The course will require two weeks, and will be given to over 200 girl scout leaders from thirteen states and Alaska.

Mrs. Franklin has been active in scouting circles here for several years, and her work has been a vital factor in the local interest manifested in that organization.

dented the hood and fenders and broke off the license plate holder.

"The hail stones were larger than golf balls," said Smith, "and the holes in the top of the car will support that statement. And even during the storm the weather didn't really cool off much."

At Cody, Wyoming, they were met by a representative of the Lions Club, who furnished them with travel information relative to a new scenic territory that has just been opened to travel by the completion of the Cody Canyon Road, part of which was constructed at a cost of $1,250,000 per mile. The new highway leads around the Shoshone Dam, into Shell Canyon, dropping 6000 feet in 10 miles.

"The eastern entrance to Yellowstone Park, through Shoshone Canyon offers the most marvelous scenery I have ever witnessed," Smith stated.

While in Chicago the Smiths met Burchell Upson and family, who have since started for New York after an extended visit at the World's Fair.

"California is certainly well represented by fair visitors," said Smith. "Wherever we went it seemed that about every fifth car we saw was bearing a California license plate. We almost expected to find the state de-populated when we came home, but it looks even better than ever," he concluded in true California fashion.

Methodist Missionary Society Has Luncheon

Mrs. Walter Dowling and daughter Martha Rose were hostesses on Wednesday when they entertained the Missionary Society with a pot-luck luncheon served out-of-doors at their ranch home.

Following the luncheon a short program, led by Mrs. George P. Clark, president of the society, was enjoyed. Mrs. C. P. Moore told something of the Young People's Summer Assembly meeting held at Idyllwild Pines, and of the work accomplished there.

She also gave a brief account of the annual conference held in Hollywood last week, from which she has just returned.

Announcement was made and plans discussed for a district mis-and a packing house, 200x80 feet, was erected at a cost of $21,000.

Three years later additional storage was found necessary and an addition 80x54 feet was erected. With a membership now numbering 72 local growers, the increased tonnage handled has necessitated the erection of the latest addition.

The association markets its fruit through the California Fruit Growers Exchange, which disposes of nearly 98 percent of its fruit in New York City.

Some indication of the rapid growth made by the local house may be had from the fact that last year it shipped 102 car loads of lemons as compared with 58 cars shipped in 1926, its first year of operation.

sionary meeting to be held in Carpinteria Church on Wednesday, Aug. 23, when conference and district officers will be in attendance.

Members and guests at the luncheon included Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. C. B. Franklin, Mrs. J. W. Bailard, Mrs. John McIntyre, Miss Myrtle Bailard, Miss Catherine Bailard, Mrs.
