Big Homecoming Bonfire Tonite; Parade, Game, Concert Saturday

By DAVE COURT
EG Managing Editor

Homecoming, 1968-style, comes to a clashing climax this weekend as the UCSB Gauchos tackle the Cal Poly (SLO) Mustangs.

Preceding the "Big Game" by 19 hours (tonight at 7) will be the second annual bonfire rally behind the UCen. In addition to boosting the morale of the team, including the 14 seniors who will be playing their last ball game for Santa Barbara, the rally will feature awards for the most spirited group in the parade will be made, and culminate

Tomorrow, however, is THE day. Beginning from three different starting points, Anacapa, the old fire house, and Francisco Torres, a noise parade will wend its way through I.V., pass a judging stand from which the decision concerning the most spirited group in the parade will be made, and culminate in a pre-game show on the campus soccer field.

There, several awards will be presented, notably the awards for the newly instituted House Decorations. Homecoming Queen Marty Higgin and her Court will be presented, and Ray Varley, 1968 Great Gaucho Prof will award the aforementioned spirit trophy.

Then it's on to Campus Field where the Gaucho gridmen will try to lasso the Cal Poly Mustangs, with the kick-off slated for 2 p.m. The half-time festivities will include card stunts from the UCSB rooting section (wear white if you plan on taking part), and the now traditional cheer to be led by the GGP.

Topping off the activity-laden day, noted recording star Glenn Yarbrough will perform in Robertson Gym, one concert only, starting at 8:30 p.m. In his previous three appearances at Santa Barbara, Yarbrough has sold out and provided for an evening of top-notch entertainment for all who attended. This year should prove to be no different.

Homecoming, 1968-style, traditional but not trite, innovative but not inane.

Seventeen Draftable UCSB Students Reject System, Turn in Draft Cards

By BECCA WILSON
EG Staff Writer

Seventeen UCSB students rode down to 124 Figueroa Street yesterday afternoon and plopped some envelopes and cards down on the counter.

A blushing clerk, after a serenading "she's a jolly good fellow" from the crowd in the office, said, "If you have completed your business here, please leave."

Not a very pleasant business having 21 students turn in their draft cards--17 of them from UCSB, three of them City College students, and one of them a Franciscan Brother.

At 2 p.m. the local Selective Service System office was swarmed with these men and about 100 of their friends. Four gray men in gray suits sitting in gray cars across the street protected their faces from the lens of a suspicious photographer.

ENVELOPES FOR ASHES

However, they watched when two of the draft resisters let ashes of their burning cards fall into envelopes. They watched as the resisters' friends carried the cards into the office. Patrol cars cruised up and down the street.

By 2:30 p.m. it was business as usual. The crowd dispersed quietly, without warnings from the blue or gray-suited men, who had disappeared.

Earlier in the day, a few of the resisters told a large audience behind the UCen why they were going to turn in their draft cards, and why they felt others should join them.

November 14 was the fourth national draft card turn-in, reportedly "aimed at the outgoing president, and especially at the president-elect."

'MORAL COURAGE'

Dr. Shirk, of the History Department praised the "moral courage" of the resisters, and deplored the United States for continuing to "bestow highest honors on those who have physical, but no moral courage."

S.F. State Remains Shut; Plans Black Studies Dept.

By RICK ROTH
EG City Editor

Faculty members approved a course in black studies at San Francisco State College yesterday as the campus remained shut down after a week of violence and unrest.

The faculty also voted to "respectfully" ask for the reinstatement of George Murray, a graduate student and part-time English instructor who was suspended two weeks ago by State College Chancellor Glenn Dumke. An aide to Dumke commented yesterday that he "will not reinstate Mr. Murray."

Dumke was meeting with BSU leaders and six black faculty members at San Francisco International Airport.

Murray was originally suspended for 30 days because he urged black students to carry guns on campus. The resolution suspending him asked that a task force be appointed to study the initiation of an ethnic studies program at the school.

Smith commented that he was uncertain if Murray's reinstatement would end campus disorder. He remarked, "At least as important is an attempt at solving the social problems of students in this turbulent community."

Reagan Demands State Reopening

SACRAMENTO (AP) -- Gov. Reagan said Thursday, "It is absolutely essential" that San Francisco State College be reopened to classes.

Reagan in a press statement accused the school's administration of "capitulation... surrender" in closing the school in the face of violence and vandalism by striking leaders of the Black Student Union.

The Republican governor said he was "shocked, indeed appalled" to hear of the school's closure and said, "It is clear that the administration, in its obvious quest for what was considered an easy way out, ig- (Continued on p. 11, col. 4)

Gold Proposes New Curriculum

What Sputnik did to dramatize the need to revamp the teaching of mathematics and science in America, the Watts riot did for the social sciences.

"We've got to know ourselves and the society in which we live," says Dr. David Gold, a UCSB sociologist who is deeply involved in this revamping process. "Otherwise we won't be able to cope in a rational and humane way with rapidly changing social conditions."

Gold is chairman of the sociology panel of the Statewide Social Sciences Study Committee of the California State Department of Education, which has just submitted to the State Board of Education a proposal for an entirely new social sciences curriculum for the elementary and secondary grades.

The report represents three-and-a-half years of work and study by the committee, whose members served without pay. The State Board of Education considered the proposal at its meeting Wednesday through Friday, November 13-15, in Sacramento.

The new curriculum stresses the learning of fundamental investigative skills and critical attitudes aimed at inspiring youngsters to ask the "why" of an event as well as the "how" and "when."

"A student educated in this fashion," Gold said, "will have the built-in flexibility necessary for a changing world."

Gold said that the committee's 182-page report represents a readable, hard-hitting and sensible synthesis of the thoughts of the committee members working at give-and-take meetings and re-write sessions over a three and a half year period.

The report, which was submitted to the critical review and reactions of some 300 panel members, offers guidelines for new text books and teaching attitudes which would stress "the modes and processes of inquiry that are most useful in studying man in society."

Gold, who is director of UCSB's Community and Organization Research Institute and is a former chairman of the department of sociology, expresses confidence that the State Board of Education will adopt the report.

Math Lab

Mathematics, education and psychology form a three-discipline team in a UCSB research laboratory aimed at scoring break-throughs in barriers to effective math learning.

Under the direction of Dr. William E. Lamon, UCSB assistant professor of education, the laboratory expects to help teachers understand children's difficulties with learning mathematics and to increase existing knowledge about mathematical thinking.

According to Lamon, one of the difficulties with learning math is that the subject consists of a successive order of abstractions.

By inventing concrete situations that resemble each of the steps that the learner must make from one level of abstraction to the next, Lamon says it is possible to involve him in acts that require him to make abstractions that are no higher than the first level of the hierarchy.

Attempts will be made, Lamon says, to introduce stories or experiences in the classroom in which the young scholars engage in mathematical essence of selected topics in linear algebra, topology, affine and euclidian geometry and arithmetical structure.

Alumni--You're Part of This, too

ISSUE: Make Homecoming more than a six pack and a UCSB pennant.

Welcome home to all the alumni, to all of you returning to our beautiful campus-by-the-sea. How things have changed since you've been gone-- the landscape, the skyline, the appearance of the student, and Isla Vista. But the sunsets are just as fabulous as ever.

The essence of Homecoming is unity, transcending the generation gap, which seems to arrive with the stream of cars pouring on campus Friday afternoon. It mounts to a peak during the fourth quarter of the game, slides gently downhill in the wake of the evening's festivities, and drives right back off campus Sunday afternoon. "It was nice while it lasted."

This year must not be the same. The sense of unity generated by our traditional activities must last longer than the echo of a cheering throng. If the generation gap can be bridged for one day, one weekend, it certainly can be closed during the coming years.

The fact of the matter is, that UCSB needs its alumni. The students need the alumni; the faculty need the alumni. The returning graduates are one of our most important contacts with the world beyond Goleta. We need your support.

Beneath the clamor of BSU confrontations, Sproul demonstrations, Regents' meetings and Proposition 3, one essential goal exists; to return the University of California to its status as a true university, an institute of higher learning. As stated in the UCSB General Catalog, the University should provide an agency for instruction, research, and public services. The means used by students to attain this goal are not always understood; they do not always have the proper effect; they are not always well-planned.

However, this struggle and pain is definitely a sign of growth, and an attempt to perfect UC. It is a positive sign that the proverbial "search for truth" is continuing. Growing years are healthy years which will hopefully continue as long as the University exists.

Alumni, you are a product of the University of California at Santa Barbara. Many of you spent four full years here, some only two, some less. Yet, all of you know UCSB and have a certain feeling for it, or you probably wouldn't have returned today.

But remember, Santa Barbara is an integral part of a larger body--the University of California. You are not merely graduates of Santa Barbara, but of the University as a whole.

You've lived with it, grown in it, and graduated from it. Now please support it.

When you depart Sunday afternoon, remember the game we've won, the cheering and halftime, the drinks you drank, and the happy reunions. Most important of all, remember that UC needs you.

Welcome back . . . we hope you'll stay awhile.

Protect Your Records

A recent "Campus Kiosk" included a notice that students concerned about the safety of records or their academic work have such records tape recorded and removed from North Hall. This would insure their safety in event of fire, theft, etc.

Those of you who find little difficulty in understanding exactly what is meant when Gov. Wallace spouts "Law and Order" must have experienced similar ease in arriving at the exact intent of the Kiosk notice.

The reference to the black athletes' occupation of North Hall and the suggested means by which we can all protect our scholastic records in such instances is untimely, for it creates the illusion that not only these documents but their owners themselves will be safe when the time comes.

It is indeed tragic that all the tape-recorded--xeroxed--mimeographed--microfilmed sheets of paper will not be strong enough to hold the roofs up over our heads when the social order begins to crumble of its own stagnant weight, because it is precisely those individuals who attempt to mend the ills of the day with such nonsense as this that in fact accelerate the pace at which such a collapse approaches. For in capitalizing on the fears of others, they help create the mistrust and insecurity that renders meaningful communication and responsible action impossible.

Grapes of Wrath

This is a reply to an anonymous letter which appeared in EL GAUCHO on November 12, from an "Eat More Grapes." Yes, every grape you buy does starve someone. No, grapes that are not eaten are not given to the poor. People starve everyday whether you eat grapes or not. You are quite uninformed and unconcerned about the situation in the San Joaquin and Coahuila Valleys.

You apparently do not know the relationship between the growers and the farmworkers. Let me try to clarify the situation for you. The grape growing business in these two valleys is a billion dollar business. The few wealthy growers who control this enterprise pay farmworkers or pickers a substandard wage. The pickers not only have substandard wages but substandard living quarters. Meantime, the United States Government is subsidizing many growers NOT to grow grapes!

The boycott against California grapes is not a liberal movement who's purpose is to deprive the masses the right to buy or eat grapes. On the contrary, it is a non-violent radical movement which is attempting to give the farmworkers the right to defend themselves against the monstrous growers!

Many fastidious people are opposed to a non-violent boycott, yet, they will not agree to collective bargaining. Everyone in this world is entitled to a decent wage. The "feudal-system" of the growers is systematically killing off farmworkers. To this I add what the late Albert Camus once wrote,

"We can act only in terms of our own time, among the people who surround us, we shall know nothing until we know whether we have the right to kill our fellow man or the right to let them be killed. In that every action today leads to murder, direct or indirect, we cannot act until we know whether or why we have the right to kill."

I ask you, "who is right?"
Yes, I reiterate, every grape you buy does starve someone. Why? Because you are supporting the growers who have subjugated the farmworker for too long. When you purchase grapes you are in effect telling the farmworker and his family "Go to hell!" Soy macho y que viva la huelga!

RUBIN CORTEZ

Appalled Student

Why doesn't the EL GAUCHO report the news? As a student, I am appalled that the university community was not educated in the matter of the students' immediate concern to remove the grapes from the Isla Vista Market.

Must we be content with stale news? Is the GAUCHO waiting for the season to end and allow another year to pass with the farm workers hungry? The children are adding one more year to eight without a decent education.

The strike could have ended earlier if more people were informed of their economic influence on I.V. Market.

It will be a symbolic victory when grapes are removed from the university community, when students recognize their responsibilities, when human beings can use information to make the burden a little less oppressive.

Please report the news.

Rent Problems

I am making public the following news in the hope that the greatly oppressed majority of UCSB students, the rent-payers residing in Isla Vista, may find a faint glimmer of hope in what happened to me over the past few weeks.

Prior to the beginning of the 1967-1968 school year I had put down twenty-five dollars (for which I had sweated for over the previous summer) as a "damage" deposit for an apartment I was to rent from the Embarcadero Co. It was written in the contract that I was to get back twenty-four dollars (one dollar was to be kept to cover the cost of postage for the returned check) in June assuming all was in the same condition as I found it the previous October. I thought all was well as the apartment was duly inspected and approved by an employee of the Embarcadero Co. before I left.

But alas, the following August I received notice that all I would be getting back was a paltry four dollars. Utterly dismayed and upset, I proceeded to take the last recourse of the tread-upon, the Small Claims Court of the State of California. The day before I was supposed to appear, I received a check in the mail for twenty-four dollars from my friendly realtor.

I will leave it up to you, dear reader, to determine the reason for their willingness to cooperate. Rise up, rent-payers of I.V., and unite, etc.....

'Freaks'

I would like to ask "Free Campus" how they propose to speak for the majority on this campus. The organizers of "Free Campus" attack the "freaks" as a minority in their "radical" beliefs. However, I have yet to see any proof of the "Free Campus" organizers' claim. For instance, last year Leg Council's Vietnam Resolution was accepted by a vote of the student body. This proposal had been largely sponsored by the so-called "freaks."

When an organization like "Free Campus" comes to the attention of a state official like Max Rafferty, then it is time that such an organization demonstrate in some way, e.g., in a student body vote on some issue, that their claim to represent a majority is valid.

JOHN CASTER
Senior, History

Repression

In your lead article of November 6, you attribute the defeat of Proposition 3 to a "protest vote against recent disturbances at several campuses." As your interpretation invites a new cycle of administrative repression and radical provocation, it ought not to go unchallenged.

I suggest that the University is losing the support of liberals by its repression of political and cultural radicalism; losing the humanists because the concrete mausoleums which Proposition 3 would have built are quite inconducive to creative humanistic work.

STEPHEN AMDUR
Graduate, Philosophy

Flocks & Doves

In a few more weeks I leave the UCSB campus to return to what has been my "native" campus for the previous three years, Berkeley. For a number of reasons--among them a desire to experience firsthand the diversity of a second campus of the University--I spent the summer in Isla Vista, attending the summer session, and am currently enrolled in a full-time program for the fall quarter.

What I wish to do here, through EL GAUCHO--which is, after all, the major basis of communication in the campus community -- is to set down one individual opinion, and an earnest plea, about one specific aspect of the University way of life.

Those of you who attend this campus on an annual basis may not realize it, but you possess something here which all too often is absent from campuses of greater size -- sometimes even at smaller campuses beset with apathy. I am speaking of the opportunity each of us has, or ought to have, to form meaningful dialogue with the faculty which guides us through our educational experience. For those of us who may not have realized this, we owe it to ourselves, and our teachers, to enter into such dialogue. For those of us who have realized it, it's time to lift our posteriors from the ground and get moving -- the only thing worse than ignorance of an educational opportunity is apathy toward it.

What constitutes "student-faculty dialogue?" Anything, my friends -- anything you want to talk about -- not just academics. I was recently invited to dinner along with three others, at the home of one of UCSB's better known Anthropological figures. Know what the conversation centered about? Go see him and find out.

Haven't you ever wondered what makes your Prof. tick? Does he drink beer at dinner? Does he let his kids wear long hair? What kind of car does he drive? Is his wife a good cook? What are his plans if he's unmarried? How did he get to be where he's at? What does he think of student rebellion? Does he ever go to the beach? Where is his family living? What was his college life like? He is a human being you know, and, just like the rest of us, he has a story to tell.

Ever think that a professor might get lonely sitting all by himself in that office? Surprise him! Scare the hell out of him! See him! Go in flocks, in droves! But see him! Let him know you're here -- tell him just what you think of his class, or even his personal attributes -- constructive criticism, if it's warranted, can do wonders. If you care, if you really care about yourself, your faculty, or your campus, use your opportunity to talk with, to get to know, your professors, before rising enrollment figures close that office door -- those of us at the larger campuses already have to slip under it.

Suicide

When I was a freshman I came to the conclusion that the only reason people read the EL GAUCHO is that they fear they shall miss some article or letter which is actually interesting or amusing. As sure as the sun rises, I finally found such an article. It appeared in the form of a letter by John Maybury criticizing David Gerhardt and Michael Melgares for buying grapes. I think the EL GAUCHO could improve itself by devoting a column to John Maybury so he may be able to write such letters.

We, as class leaders and as individuals concerned with the present state of affairs in our country, want to express our support of the Kennedy - King - Kennedy Leadership Conference. This program would expose the younger generation to our nation's problems, give students an opportunity to discuss them, promote their understanding of minority groups, and generally promote human relations.

The program involves communications with individual high schools through UCSB students who attended those high schools. The aim is stimulation of the high school students' awareness and involvement in community and national problems, and an eventual transfer of this interest into constructive community action.

We urge concerned sophomores to volunteer for this project. This program will work in the crucial area of human relations in a time of national crisis. For that reason, the Sophomore Class is endorsing and co-sponsoring the Kennedy-King - Kennedy Leadership Conference.

The Wonder of A Saturday Afternoon

By ROBYN BELL

Saturday afternoons should be pressed and saved like flowers. For walking on top of curbs, sitting beside the lagoon, and smelling the ocean.

Not that there's anything the matter with going to the Library or sitting in the laundromat or catching up on calculus and history homework. But Saturday afternoons are more than a chance to catch up; they're moments of grace, chances to renew that part of you which responds to sunlight and shiny, red spotted leaves.

Because after all the frantic pleas to "come on you guys, let's really yell for our team" -- when the noise is over, you end up with people, people above the signs saying Student, Minister, Teacher, Businessman, Football Star. People who go for walks on Saturday afternoons and maybe smile at other people.

The Isla Vista cruisers are still around, but even they seem friendlier. And the kids on bikes, girls with their hair blowing and boys balancing sacks of groceries, laughing or talking seriously -- watch out for the bump. Workmen sitting down for lunch. A couple kissing on the grass. A girl carrying a rolled-up poster.

The make-talk of Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday - Thursday - Friday-meet - the deadline-or-else is lost for a while inside Saturday afternoon. Plans and destinations are lost for a while inside Saturday afternoon. And a song does rise, Made up of the pieces of seashells and gutter water you remember.

This is just a part of it, though. Bare feet or ducks talking to each other or reflections on wet sand can't really be reconstructed into sentences. The smells and the noises of Pardall Street have to be felt rather than written about.

Perhaps the best reason for being here right now is not the chance to get into a class of 900 at Campbell Hall, but the chance to discover something -- anything -- you haven't discovered before.

CALENDAR

Glenn Yarbrough Concert Completes Homecoming Sat.

Glenn Yarbrough, the man who sings the music of love, the music of affection, and the music of warmth will appear in concert this Saturday night with the Fred Ramirez Trio and Davies and Maffit, at 8:30 p.m. in Robertson Gym.

Yarbrough, a member of the Limelitters from May 1959 to the summer of 1963, possessed the outstanding solo voice of the group which gave the Limelitters' sound its unmistakable soaring quality.

In the period that Yarbrough was with the trio, the Limelitters broke the Hungry 1's all-time attendance record, and the lines to get into the club ran all the way around the block.

Since his split with the group in 1963, Yarbrough has recorded nine albums for RCA Victor Records and made extensive nightclub, television, and concert appearances across the country.

A few of the albums he has recorded are "Time to Move On," "One More Round," "Baby the Rain Must Fall," "Lonely Things," and his latest album "Honey and Wine."

Tickets for the Yarbrough concert, his fourth at UCSB, are still on sale at the UCen Information Booth for $2.

'Gold Power' a Challenge 'Mind-Stretching Dialogue'

"Gold Power" is one of the new breed of plays which shove aside trivia and meaningless intellectualizing to tear at the gut of major issues. Subtitled "Once Upon a Time There Were Three Brothers," it deals with black fundamentalism, self-determination and challenge.

The play is scheduled for a one-night stand in Campbell Hall November 19, beginning at 8 p.m.

Written by Cecil Rhodes, the play opens with an encounter between three brothers, the mythical sons of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. They meet after a four year separation which has divided them in their life views.

One has evolved into the ultimate black Christian, played by R.L. Alkhamis. The second brother, portrayed by Elanur

Goss, has become a "fiery, militant Muslim."

Rhodes himself has the role of the third brother, the black man who presents himself and his beliefs as a challenge which terrorizes the other brothers.

This challenge forces the audience to do something a mindless play would never require. The challenge, together with the other sides of the encounter, makes the viewer think; to try to decide something for himself. Nothing is dictated, but the alternatives are there.

This "dialectical" play has not proven to be the type which leaves store-front audiences wondering. They have been very enthusiastic at the play's one-nighters at churches and small organizations. The three actors are scheduled to play before the Los Angeles city government this month, and as Jack Kissell says, "That's one I'd like to see."

The production in Campbell Hall is being sponsored by the Black Student Union of UCSB, and tickets may be obtained from its Cultural Committee members. A list of these is in the BSU office, trailers 324A and 324B.

Originally sponsored by the Freedom Draft Movement in Los Angeles, the Campbell Hall engagement is an important one for those interested in an evening of "mind-stretching dialogue."

Levi Kingston, a member of the Black Congress with interests in the Freedom Draft Movement, sums up the attitude its members have toward "Gold Power:" "The play is reality. It is what is."

Casting Set For RRR-- Talent Sole Criterion

Auditions for the 1969 Road Runner Revue are to be held Monday and Tuesday, November 18 and 19. On Monday, they will take place from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. in the meeting rooms on the second floor of the UCen. Tuesday, they will take place in the rehearsal room of the Speech and Drama Building.

The cast of the '69 Revue will include singers, dancers, actors, comedienne and specialty performers. Those auditioning may or may not bring prepared material -- in any case, it is not necessary.

Casting of the show will be made regardless of class or major. The sole criteria used for acceptance will be talent; hopefully a lot of people will audition, as a 60 member cast is anticipated.

Past Roadrunner Revues have earned the show an excellent reputation, and it seems only probable that this year's show will live up to all expectations.

Anyone who is interested in the show but unable to attend auditions, should contact Hal Brendle in UCen 3167 or leave a note on his door.

Local Folk Singers Perform Benefit for Meher Mount

Friends of the Meher Mount Retreat will sponsor a benefit concert Friday, November 22, at 8 p.m. featuring local folk artists.

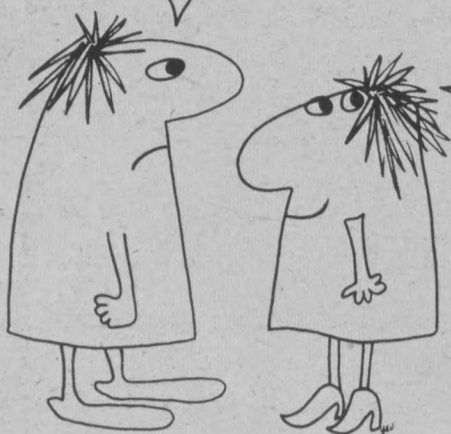

Ken King, who plays bottleneck blues and ragas, will appear with Tim Williams, a semi-regular at the Wooden Horse and The Earth. Williams does delta blues.

Jared Simmons, also featured, writes his own songs and is trying to get them published and recorded. He played many colleges in the east during the summer.

The three will provide an evening of entertainment as a benefit for Meher Mount, a hill in Ojai once visited by Meher Baba and now kept as a place for silent retreat. There will be no admission charged, but a donation of 50 cents will be accepted at the door.

Which off-campus residence hall is closest to campus? Which hall is exclusively for Sophomore, Junior, Senior, and Graduate UCSB women? Which hall has "OPEN HOUSE" every Saturday from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., and every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and unlimited key privileges?

It's Fontainebleu!

MAKE TIME... DON'T MARK TIME

The sooner you learn to Read Dynamically, the sooner you'll be reading 3 to 10 times faster. You'll make a lot more time for yourself . . . so don't mark time . . . Register NOW for November classes in the Santa Barbara area at 966 Embarcadero Del Mar Isla Vista.

Nancy Clark is a graduate of the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. Before Nancy enrolled, she read only 300 words per minute. After completing the course in just 8 short weeks, her speed increased 5 times to 1500 words per minute with 90% comprehension. With her new rapid reading ability, Nancy has become a better student who reads more and cares more.

Research Lab

University of California campus, the laboratory will begin functioning this month, with elementary school age children to be admitted to the program in January.

About a dozen youngsters from the Santa Barbara and Goleta school districts will participate in the project to discover successful techniques for teaching mathematics and to weed out methods that fail.

In the experimental research lab, Lamon says he will be investigating "highly sophisticated mathematics not taught today, though they may be in the next decade."

His research also will focus on taking university level mathematical concepts and putting them in terms of elementary school experiences.

Fourth graders are at the appropriate level to participate in the experimental program in Lamon's opinion, because he could follow their progress for about three years. "It is hoped that through those experiences children's I.Q. test scores will be considerably improved," he adds.

The research laboratory will function under the guidance of a research advisory board composed of faculty members from other UC campuses in education, mathematics and psychology.

Black Power Author Guests

The Reverend Joseph Barndt, author of "Why Black Power," will be the guest preacher at the 11:30 a.m. worship of the Lutheran Church at UCSB. The student congregation uses St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Camino Pescadero at Picasso. Everyone is welcome.

Barndt will also lead the discussion at the Lutheran Student Supper to be held at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church on North Fairview in Goleta Sunday at 5:15 p.m. (Rides available at 5 p.m. from San Nicolas and St. Michael's) The 25 cent cost for the supper is possible by contributions of food from the congregation. Everyone welcome.

Barndt is presently pastor of predominantly black membered St. Philip's Lutheran Church in Oakland. He is active in the community affairs of Oakland. Currently he serves as Chairman of COUP, Community Organization for Urban Progress. His full page article, "Eradicating White Racism" appeared this summer in "The Catholic Voice" and also in the "Pacific Southwest Lutheran."

The young pastor came to his present parish after intensive study at the Urban Training Center in Chicago. "Why Black Power," written in 1967, is described by its publishers, Friendship Press of New York, as coming out of the author's "attempt to sift the meaning of his experiences which culminated in a year's involvement in the black slums."

Barndt is a graduate of Muhlenberg College in Pennsylvania and Pacific Lutheran Theological Seminary in Berkeley; he has done graduate work at Tuebingen University in Germany and Universidad Americana, Mexico.

Council Votes to Fund State BSU Conference

By PEGGY BURNSIDE
EG Staff Writer

In a short session Wednesday evening, Leg Council allocated $450 to meet the expenses of a statewide Black Student Union Conference to be held at UCSB this weekend.

Council also passed a one-dollar fee to be charged for the Legal Service. In addition, appointments to the Experimental College Committee, headed by Mike Nagler, Rep-at-Large, were approved.

Concerning the BSU, Tom Crenshaw, Non-Affiliated Rep and member of BSU, submitted a proposal to Leg Council seeking money for a conference whose "...purpose and objective...is to recommend and propose ways and means college administrators might avoid future campus demonstrations and disruptions."

Crenshaw's proposal stated that "the costs and expenses of said conference far exceed and surpass the limited budget of the BSU." The $450 will be used for housing and meals. Council has asked Crenshaw to report back next week with a breakdown of Conference expenses.

Nagler, chairman of the Experimental College Committee, submitted the following names for approval: Barry Posner (Rep-at-Large), Linda Rudolph, Dan Martin, Rick Roth, Ken

Black Co-ed Miss UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) -- A 5-foot-6 senior English major, who wears her hair in what she calls natural African style, has been crowned Miss UCLA, the first Negro to win the honor.

She is Carolyn Webb, 21, who said she was surprised judges chose her Wednesday night.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," she said.

A panel of teachers and administrators judged 155 entrants for beauty and poise.

Miller and Stan Schroeder. This Committee will formulate the basic structure of the Experimental College.

In order to prevent abuse of the Campus Legal Service, and offset the Associated Students current financial plight, Council accepted Duane Garrett's (RHA Rep) proposal, initiating a one-dollar fee for the Legal Service. Up to this time, A.S. has footed the bill and students have been able to consult with an attorney on campus at no cost.

A "Cosmic Happening" will be presented by a sect known as the Messiah's World Commune on this campus, Sunday, January 19. Nagler said that the approximately 20 individuals participating in this event will need housing. Any students interested in providing a couch or extra bed for these people, are asked to contact Nagler through the Associated Students Office.

Reagan Charges 'Capitulation'

nored other options" available to it.

Reagan called the closing of the school "an unprecedented act of irresponsibility."

The governor said he had consulted with State Colleges Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke and Theodore Meriam, chairman of the college trustees, and "assured them that they have my full support in their efforts to restore order on the campus."

Reagan said Dumke and Meriam are calling a meeting of the trustees Monday to discuss the situation brought about by the order that Black Panther leader George Murray be suspended from his English teaching assistant's post at the school.

In his statement, Reagan repeatedly held the campus administration to blame, although he did not name President Robert D. Smith. It was Smith who ordered the campus closed and told faculty members today he is in no hurry to reopen the campus as long as problems which triggered the violence go unsolved.

Reagan said he wanted to "make it perfectly plain" that so long as he is governor, the state's institutions of higher education are going to stay open to provide educations for young people.

"The people of this state, the people who pay the bills, want it that way. And that is the way it will be," Reagan said.

Wednesday's EL GAUCHO stated that Free Campus was formed "shortly after the BSU takeover of North Hall."

In fact, the group was in its formative stages prior to the North Hall incident, although it held its initial public meeting after the incident.

World Federalists Sponsor 'Celebration of Life' Sunday

Isla Vista will be the scene of a new kind of demonstration next Sunday. The Student World Federalists are sponsoring a Celebration of Life to stimulate a true sense of community and a greater awareness of the joy of being alive.

According to SWF President John Minkler, "We feel that direct political action toward world peace will be ineffective until it is based on a positive life force. We cannot create a world community based on brotherhood without first developing peaceful relationships among ourselves."

The Celebration to be held behind the Bank of America from noon until dark on Sunday the seventeenth will include good music, friendly discussion dancing, playing and eating; everyone is urged to bring food to share.

Local Students Turn in Cards

(Continued from p. 1) explained that he refused induction two weeks ago as a "challenge to tyranny," and that he had done so in "the tradition of St. Francis, a great pacifist."

Wayne Morris told the audience that he was turning in his draft card because he had come to realize that "carrying it around means I'm saying it's okay for me to be a part of the servile generation... the young and the poor, those who are hurt by wars and never profit from them."

Several other resisters spoke as well. The last speaker probably best expressed the depth of his feeling when he explained, in a broken voice, that he had decided to turn in his draft card rather than "skip the country" because "it's a part of me, and so are the people. I see people doing this, and I love my country, I love its people."

S.F. State Situation...

The Academic Senate decision was a concession on one of the major demands of the striking Black Student Union whose protests, with those of other activists, caused the closing of the school Wednesday night.

Senate President Leo McClatchy said the program needs only the approval of Dumke to become the first of its kind to be taught at any state college or University in California.

The program will lead to a bachelor's degree in either black arts or in the behavioral and social sciences. McClatchy told the Associated Press that the program will "offer an integrated liberal arts major in black studies for those students who are interested in the integration and development of the black community."

The program has already been approved by State College Board of Trustees and is planned for implementation next semester.

Meanwhile, S.F. State President Robert Smith spent the day meeting with faculty members and administrators on the nearly deserted campus, telling an emergency faculty meeting that he was in no hurry to reopen the school.

Presumably, Smith is hesitant to open classes until problems leading to recent campus disorder can be cleared up.

Original BSU demands grew out of the suspension of Murray, a member of the Black Panther Party whose militant stance caused his suspension October 31 and has triggered almost daily turbulence since.

The BSU is calling for the reinstatement of Murray, the addition of several more black faculty members and students, and an expansion of the school's urban studies program. They have attracted support from the Students for a Democratic Society and the Third World Federalists on campus.

Members of the tactical squad of the San Francisco Police Department, a thoroughly trained riot squad, have been called on campus three times since Murray's suspension, with Wednesday's action causing the shutting down of the 18,000 student campus.

One of the few students on campus said that an attempt was made by moderate students to reopen campus yesterday, although Smith told all students to stay home until their safety could be guaranteed.

UCSB Gridders Face Cal Poly in Homecoming Finale

Curtice, Cobb and Crew Close Campaign As Records, Winning Season At Stake

By BILL GRAHAM
EG Sports Staff

UCSB's fourteen football seniors pay their last respects to Gaucho football tomorrow afternoon in the traditional Homecoming game at Campus Field against Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. Kickoff is set for two o'clock, following the JIVE parade through Isla Vista.

Although it hardly seems possible that such gridiron greats as Jim Priest, Dave Chapple, Mike Cobb, and Tom Broadhead will be playing their last Gaucho game, unfortunately it is true.

And for these seniors, it is their last chance to avenge losses to the Mustangs in 1966 and 1967. Last year, in another season finale, Cal Poly clobbered UCSB, 30-14, to rob the Gauchos of a winning campaign. Now once again that is a possibility as UCSB enters the game with a 4-3-1 record.

CAL POLY 5-3

Cal Poly has already clinched a winning year with a 5-3 mark entering this final contest. Included in their victories are a 23-16 win over Santa Clara, and a 22-20 nipping of Cal State Los Angeles.

A defensively oriented team, Poly has allowed opponents only 12.4 points per game and only 268 yards an outing. The Mustang defensive backfield has picked off 20 interceptions, returning them for an average of 15 yards.

Offensively, their passing has contributed very little, only two touchdowns and 854 yards. The running game, however, has provided over 190 yards a contest, and has scored 15 times.

Ron Hasson leads the rushers with 438 yards and a 3.1 average per carry, while quarterback Gary Abate has amassed 340 yards at a 3.2 clip.

NOT AERIAL CIRCUS

Manuel Murrell leads the receivers with 23 catches, and though the Mustangs are hardly an aerial circus, they did manage to complete 13 passes for 172 yards and a score in their last game against Cal State L.A.

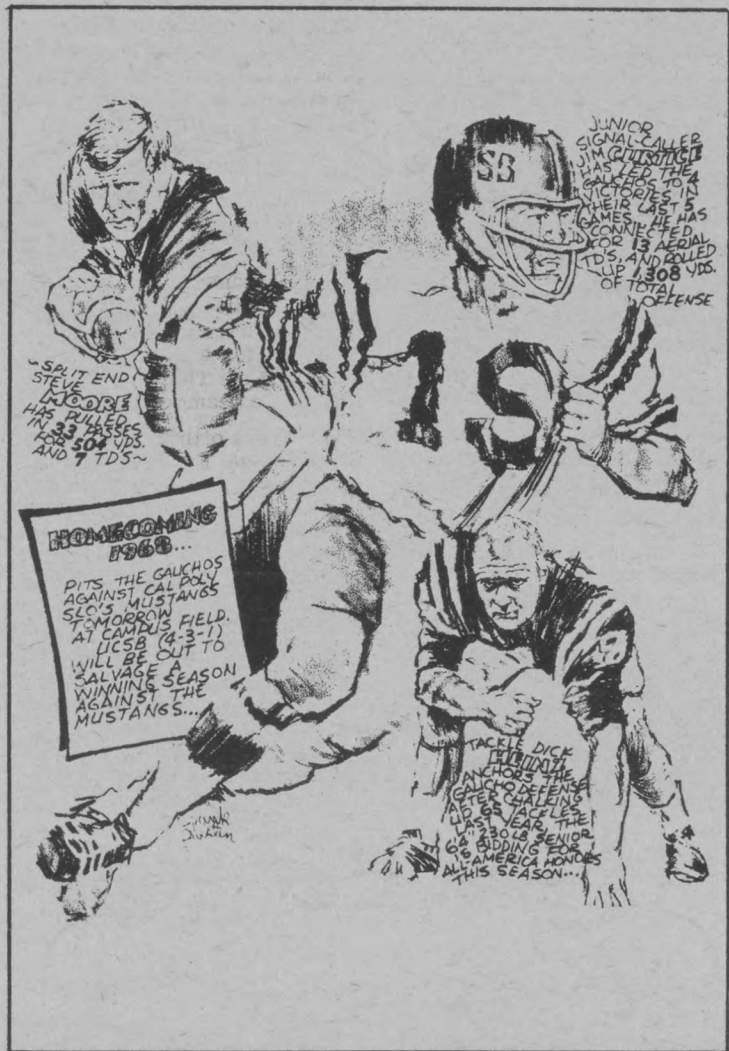

UCSB will once again be led by the sharp passing of Jim Curtice and the hard running of Tom Broadhead. Both are within reach of one-season records, Curtice only 13 completions from the one-year mark, and Broadhead only 43 yards shy of his single season rushing mark of 824 yards.

Record-breakers Jim Priest and Dave Chapple will be out to raise their marks in receiving and scoring, while Chapple also has a shot at upping his punting standard.

The whole team, in fact, is within reach of seven team records. The Gauchos need only 22 points against Cal Poly to set a season scoring record, and require three touchdowns to set a new mark there, too. One PAT will set a new mark.

Two passing records are on (Continued on p. 15, col. 1)

COMMENT IN PASSING

How Do You Say Thanks

John R. Pettman

Fourteen seniors bid their final farewell to the Gaucho gridiron tomorrow afternoon as UCSB celebrates its 45th annual Homecoming amidst a glittering aura of sound and fury.

As nostalgia pervades Campus Field where hundreds of old grads will return to see the Gauchos host traditional rival Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo in the 30th renewal of their explosive series, UCSB's seniors will be stirred with some keen memories of their own as they enter collegiate combat for the last time.

Co-captains Tom Broadhead and Mike Cobb will lead the "fabeled fourteen" in their final fling, and it should be a dandy as the Gauchos hope to wipe out a two year win streak by the pesky Mustangs who hold a firm grip on the series, 18 games to 10 (there has been one tie).

No better men anywhere could spearhead the assault than the hard running Broadhead, UCSB's all-time rushing leader, and the hard hitting Cobb, a secondary stalwart of three varsity campaigns.

They have worn their jerseys proudly and have lent dignity to the teams on which they've played. They are a pair of class competitors whose distinguished accomplishments will long be remembered and heralded as "the best"... and just how do you say thanks?

Centers Rich Becker and Jim Sweeney, a pair of unsung heroes on the forward wall, will be sorely missed, although how many of you fans REALLY know just who is hunched over the pigskin during the heat of battle?

The snapper has often been called the most anomalous player on the team, yet his talented touch and his hole-busting ability is a vital cog in a well functioning offensive machine.

We say so long to Becker and to Sweeney, but how do we say thanks?

Finishing up their careers in the defensive secondary along with Cobb are Johnny Burnett and Bill Corlett, two more gutsy guys who could sell their soul for a stolen pass.

Heroes on one play and goats on the next, they take their business seriously—with the critical eye of the

Frosh Close Season Today

Hungry and long over-do for their first taste of victory, Santa Barbara's frosh footballers battle San Fernando Valley State today at 2 p.m. in the Gauchos' final game of the 68' campaign.

It's been a long and disappointing season for the young Gauchos who have gone winless in four outings. Since they dropped their season opener to Long Beach, UCSB has lost successive contests to Cal Lutheran, Cal Poly and UCLA.

Last year the Gaucho freshmen destroyed San Fernando Valley, 40-0, to wrap up the season with a 3-1-1 record. A scrambling UCSB offense sent five different Gauchos into the Matador endzone. One Santa Barbara score came when a Gaucho broke through the Matador line for a 75 yard TD jaunt.

In last week's UCLA encounter Santa Barbara produced its finest offensive effort of the season. The Gauchos tallied twice in the first half on aerials of 20 and 44 yards from quarterback Dan Lennon to flanker Kirk Mulligan. But UCSB failed to contain an explosive Bruin offense and lost the battle 56-13.

Coach Ed Swartz, his staff, and his team have worked long and hard this season with little reward. They have come within one point of victory, a 7-6 effort against Cal Poly. A victorious effort over San Fernando Valley in today's contest would add a happy ending to their 68' season.

Polomen Face Tough Battle As Alumni Return Tomorrow

By SCOTT SLOTTBERCK
EG Sports Writer

"It should prove to be an interesting game," commented coach Rick Rowland concerning the Varsity-Alumni game tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the UCSB pool. Many of the past and present water polo greats will be there to do battle in the local pool.

Most of the members of past teams will be on hand, including men such as Dave Gray, former water polo and swimming All-American and leading scorer on the 1966 and '67 polo teams, and Don Roth, former University Division All-American and leading scorer in the 1965 season.

STARS OF PAST

Also appearing on the Alumni team will be John Firnan, a goalie who was selected All-Cal and Most Valuable Player, and Jim Coe, former All-Cal and All West Coast tourney.

Numerous other great Gaucho water polo stars, including past Captains John Mortenson and Alkis Mangriotis, will be on the strong Alumni team.

The varsity, hoping to up their record to 18-7, will send in their best men in an effort to upset the Alumni squad. Outstanding Gaucho water poloists of this year include, among others, Chuck Spink, Ben Gage, Jim Simpson, Larry Guy, Rob Barker, and John Steckel.

WILL BE TOUGH

Rowland acknowledges "the Alumni will be tough, and they've had more experience," but the Gaucho varsity will "hope to counter-balance this by better conditioning and teamwork."

After the game Saturday, there will be little rest for the Gaucho Varsity squad, for next weekend they host the Pacific Coast Athletic Association tournament, beginning Friday.

In this tournament, the first and third ranked teams in the nation will be fighting UCSB for the top spot in the tournament. The first two teams in the tournament will go to the national play-offs later this year.

Adams' Magnificent Seven Meet Finest in First PCAA Gathering

By GERALD NEECE
EG Sports Staff

It's been a re-run of the Return of the Magnificent Seven lately for Gaucho cross country coach Sam Adams. After a disappointing beginning in which his runners lost three of their first five meets, things have been looking up for the former decathlon star. After shutting out Nevada Southern last week in Las Vegas the Gauchos ran their record to 6-3, including four straight victories in a row. This weekend, however, seven Gauchos will have to be at their best. The meet is the first annual Pacific Coast Athletic Association Conference Cross Country gathering at Fresno State and it pits San Jose State, San Diego State, Long Beach State, Cal State Los Angeles, University of Pacific, and the host Bulldogs against the young UCSB harriers. This is the first conference championship of the recently formed athletic association and the competition will be tough.

AZTECS FAVORED

"San Diego State must be considered the favorite," states Adams. "They're very tough this year and one of the best teams on the West Coast if not in the entire country." San Jose State can't be written off either according to Adams. Although lacking depth, the Spartans have three fine runners who run well if they have the initiative.

Adams also has high hopes for the UCSB contingent. "We've progressed considerably since our opening loss to Long Beach State and we had the tightest team effort we've ever had last weekend in Las Vegas."

GOING WITH WINNER

He'll be going with last week's winner Keith Jeffers, senior Dave Blemker, Bill Word, Gary Wolfram, Greg Ratliff, Dave Young, and Irvin Brown. All except Brown, who suffered a slight foot injury, finished strong on the five mile Las Vegas course and ran well within themselves.

They'll need much the same stamina this week for Fresno has a brutal six mile tour laid out for the meet. "It's long, but it's fairly flat," said Adams. "It should be to our advantage."

Four in a row is a pretty long string but Adams and his group don't plan on stopping it there.

fan always upon them. They've worked hard and well. . . and just how do you say thanks?

Quarterback Tim Walker. A career reservist whose bombs burst in air with awe-striking hope whether he's icing the victory cake or attempting to rally the Gauchos from behind.

A classic sportsman who has accepted his role well—a back-up QB of a rare breed. . . and how can we say thanks?

Linebackers Kevin Jensen and Stan Pareto and defensive linemen Dick Heinz and Steve Young—a "fear-some-foursome" in their own right, each of whom strike with authority and leave their wallop indelibly branded upon the opposition.

A quartet of rugged guys who earn their headlines the hard way, but deserve every word they can get. The power-elite of UCSB's defensive corps; and how, fellas, can we say thanks?

Split end Jim Priest, UCSB's incredible "scooper" who ranks number one as the Gauchos' all-time pass catcher. And it is no wonder as the glue-fingered receiver has demonstrated his uncanny ability time and time again with impossible receptions which he makes look easy.

For those thrills galore, just how do you say thanks?

Tight end Doug Barker, a rugged blocker whose aggressive play opened many holes for Gauchos ground gainer, and Dave Chapple, UCSB's golden toe, round out the fabled fourteen assuming that guard Pat Muleady, a senior scholastically, will return next year to complete his final season of eligibility.

Chapple has re-written every kicking record in the book, and his marks should long stand firm as he's one of the great foot artists in the business. More thanks. . . but how?

To remember is perhaps the greatest tribute to this pack of seniors, so may we simply say, "Thanks for Memories!"

You have given us lots to think about.

Homecoming Game...

the line, and one was broken last week against Pacific. If UCSB attempts 20 passes it will tie the mark set in 1967, and fourteen completions will even last year's record performance. This year's squad has already notched 19 TD passes to eclipse 1959's mark by one.

Gauchos defensive backs have returned 14 interceptions for 240 yards, within range of the 291 yards of 1950, and Dave Chapple is averaging 41.0 per punt. That standard is 41.2 as a team figure.

But as Jim Priest once said, "Records are nice, but winning is nicer."

Last Game for These Seniors

Wear White!

Because card stunts will be performed during half-time at tomorrow's 2 p.m. Homecoming game, Rally Committee asks that all students wear white.

Also, any students interested in helping the committee in organizing the stunts should join them tomorrow morning at Campus Field between 8 a.m. and parade time.

Rugby Game Sunday

UCSB's rugby team, which was ranked sixth in the nation last year, will make its season debut Sunday at 1 p.m. behind Robertson Gym when it meets the scrummers from Cal Poly (SLO).

At noon Sunday the rugby club is sponsoring a clinic for all students interested in learning to watch or play the game. The clinic will also be held behind the Gym.

Admission to both the clinic and the game is free.
