Undergraduate Research Publication

Undergraduates doing original research and writing projects are invited to submit papers for possible publication in DISCOVERY — UCSB Journal of Undergraduate Research. Interested students should come to the Mathematics Department office in South Hall 6607 to obtain the basic information and guidelines concerning publication and to leave information about themselves and their work.

Papers should be analytical, involving critical reasoning. Examples of publishable work are research papers in the natural and social sciences and critical essays in the arts and humanities. Creative or impressionistic writing will generally not qualify (such work usually has an outlet in SPECTRUM), nor will work which is basically a review of the subject. The deadline for submission of manuscript copy is Friday, June 24, 1988. Students intending to submit a paper but needing more time may be allowed to submit after this date provided they make their intentions known prior to the deadline.

In the Ad By H. Ahmed All True That he Said?

Editor, Daily Nexus:

I am writing this letter in response to the statements put forth by Hisham Ahmed in his half-page paid advertisement in the Nexus on Tuesday, May 24.

Contrary to what Mr. Ahmed claims occurred involving the writing and publishing of an article about Mr. Ahmed, Greg Apt never told Jay Hubbard to refrain from writing this article because its subject was "Palestinian and anti-Semitic." Mr. Ahmed goes on to state that the "slanderous, outrageous and defamatory remarks by Mr. Apt and their reinforcement by the 'unethical and unprofessional' pressures by Mr. Elzer on Mr. Hubbard, discouraging him from writing the article, need to be subjected to the proper administrative measures and public scrutiny." I find this remark to be "slanderous, outrageous and defamatory" in light of the fact that Mr. Ahmed never bothered to contact or question Mr. Apt to confirm these accusations and refused to speak with him about them after the publication of his advertisement.

It is arrogant on the part of Mr. Ahmed to expect to be able to monopolize the limited opinion space available in the Nexus with one issue. The questions that arise from the Palestinian/Israeli conflict are vitally important, but they are not the epicenter of the world. It would be disappointing if the public were to swallow Mr. Ahmed's statement that the "reason that the this issue (the publication of the article about himself) is significant is that it involves a case of discrimination based on national ethnic origin." Mr. Ahmed has had three articles published expounding his views and analysis of the occupation situation over the course of this year; that is more than anyone else can claim.

Mr. Ahmed, if you do, as you claim, represent the voice of the Palestinians, it is easy to answer the question that you pose in the statement, "one is compelled to raise the fundamental question as to why Palestinians are misperceived in and by the United States": Your behavior is the root of these misperceptions. It has been observed during forums held to rationally discuss the issue of Palestine that you demand recognition as an authority on the subject, and therefore the courtesy due such an authority, without according it in return. The term discussion implies the examination and exchange of two or more opinions — this is made difficult by your insistence on phrasing your opinions as statements aimed at invoking an immediate and instinctive negative reaction from your audience, which inhibits any rational discussion. One would hope that you, as a candidate for a Ph.D. in the political science department, would have learned some of the basic skills of diplomacy that would facilitate a rational discussion of any subject. It is understood that this subject is very personal to you, but Dr. Hecht seems able to maintain his composure in the face of statements likening the Jews to the Nazis (probably the most offensive statement that you could make to a Jew). Maybe you would be able to produce some new thinking and understanding on this subject if you learned to discuss in place of haranguing.

Objectivists Judged to Be Plain Objectionable

Editor, Daily Nexus:

Darrin McNeese, who do you think you are to be the arbitrator for the rest of us? I visited your so-called objectivist group once and it was the biggest pseudo-intellectual, heated argument between some libertarians and members of your anti-altruistic, goddess gang of idiots. Yeah, that's right, you forgot to tell all the nice people of this university that your real God is Ayn (I don't give a damn about you, help yourself) Rand. And also it was quoted to me by one of your fantastically dedicated members that in order to be a true objectivist you must be an ATHEIST!

Come on, Darrin, stop hiding behind nice glossed names like The Objectivists, and call yourselves boldly what you are, The UCSB Reactionary Atheist Club. All of your members proposed extreme right-wing views and I was specifically told that a true follower of Ayn Rand would never help a neighbor in time of need. Ideally, everyone should be able to help themselves, but this is only an ideal. In reality, there will be times when you yourself will need help from a neighbor. Ayn Rand's pseudo-philosophy and ideas of anti-altruism make me sick! I have read several books by Ayn Rand and have found her ideas to be ludicrous! Furthermore, you are not much more different from those religionists that you're trying to knock. You and your gang are the next best thing to being Nazis, spreading the idiotic dogmas of Ayn Rand, your Fuhrer, just as the religionists spread their dogmas. And if you think that I'm incapable of thinking for myself, think again, you're wrong, I am a nuclear physicist and your group is nothing more than a fringe cult!

DR. ROBERT STEELE
Ph.D. Nuclear Physics

Editor, Daily Nexus:

I would like to respond to the article by Darrin McNeese on objectivism and God. I do not agree with Mr. McNeese's conclusion that the existence of God means that we have "an unpredictable, unknowable, chaotic, anything-goes universe." God's omnipotence was given as the reason for this conclusion. However, I believe that an important point was overlooked: God has a certain nature, and He cannot go against His nature. He is, if you will, the ultimate A is A. In Him are found the absolutes of truth, goodness and love, to mention a few. God is omnipotent, meaning He is not restrained by any other power or force, but acts only in accordance with His divine nature. Defying the physical law of gravity would not go against His nature, but the example that Mr. McNeese gave that "good can equal bad" would go against the perfect goodness of God; therefore, He could not make "good" into "evil."

As far as proof goes, I have one comment before I offer some. In Webster's, proof is defined as "evidence that convinces the mind and produces belief." Mr. McNeese's definition of proof requires "supporting sensory data." I guess that means there is no proof for the existence of freedom or love, because I have yet to see, hear, smell, touch, or taste either freedom or love.

My proof of God is two-fold: this world and the person of Jesus Christ. We believe in the principle of cause and effect; for every effect, there has to be a cause. This world of ours is an incredibly complex and beautiful effect. What is the cause? How did life originate when it is a proven scientific fact that life comes from life? As for more concrete, tangible proof, I offer the historical person of Jesus Christ. Here was a man who claimed to be God, upset the religious leaders enough for them to have Him crucified, and then you find His followers claiming that He rose from the dead to prove He was God. How does one explain the fact that 11 men who ran away and even denied Him when He was sentenced to death three days later announce to the world that He has risen, and end up paying for it with their lives? Has there ever before or since been a group of 11 people who made up a lie and proceeded to die one by one, maintaining until the end that what they preached was true? I have never heard of any such case. I have found no other satisfactory explanation for the empty tomb and the birth of Christianity than the Resurrection, which validates Christ's claim that He was and is God.

I urge all of you to consider all sides of the arguments well. I hold firmly to the promise that "he who seeks finds" (Matt 7:8).

JENNIFER TEASDALE

One Student Requests a Cleaner Isla Vista

Editor, Daily Nexus:

Before leaving UCSB, I would like to express my disappointment with the entire student body on this campus. We must pass stringent requirements before entering this institution of higher education. Our aptitude in mathematics, science and language is supposed to be well above average and yet we have failed to learn the basic tools of cleaning up after ourselves. I am constantly surprised at those students who leave cups, plates, wrappers, sacks, newspapers, old notes and other miscellaneous garbage wherever they are departing from. The steps in front of the UCen are constantly cluttered with junk. The library, couches in UCen, classrooms and the school grounds all have remnants of those careless students who passed by. We drop items and hope that "someone else" will put it in the proper place for us.

As adults, we should not continue to need "someone else" to constantly pick up after us, and yet we do. We litter our own beautiful campus and make it an eyesore to ourselves and to our visitors. We have one of the loveliest areas to study on and we choose to take away from its beauty with our trash. I am sad to be leaving this institution and entering the "real" world where few give a damn about their surroundings — but I am even sadder that college-educated students are slob-like everyone else.

I challenge each student to take responsibility for their trash, and let's all work to keep this area beautiful for ourselves and for others to enjoy. Remember, a clean environment begins with you.

KATHY KINGSBURY

Offended By Apology of Beth Allen For Flyer

Editor, Daily Nexus:

Re: Sincere Apologies for the Flyer

In your Wednesday's edition of the Daily Nexus you published an article that truly made my roommate and I cringe in disgust. It is obvious that Beth Allen has deep-seated psychological problems within her feeble mind. Last month, certain BOHICA Hall residents were persecuted, like animals awaiting slaughter, because of their so-called "sexist" T-shirts. They were relentlessly hounded by the self-proclaimed feminists such as Beth Allen. We are by no means implying that the BOHICA T-shirts were done in good taste; rather, we are trying to expose the double standard that exists in women's liberation today.

On May 25, 1988, you published an apology by Beth Allen, where she apologized to all the women for her thoughtless flyer. What I am puzzled about is, where is the apology to all the men on campus? Surely if people are going to take BOHICA T-shirts as sexist, then Ms. Allen's flyer should also be labeled sexist. It seems to us that Ms. Allen should be the one suffering the wrath of the bleeding heart liberal dirtbags that speak of equality on this campus.

In her poor excuse of an apology letter, she justified her emotionally unstable action by reporting that she "would never intentionally do something that can be seen as contributing to the suppression and sexism women suffer." That is great, Beth, but we do not think that "the photo of a man suspended from wires strung thru holes which had been reamed thru his pectoral muscles with head thrown back, arms crossed at his waist, and buckled leather straps wrapped around his thighs" in a blatant attempt to expose his "dangling genitals" is a way to reveal your non-sexist attitudes to the stable students of UCSB. The fact of the matter is that we do not care about your flyer or the BOHICA T-shirts, but we do worry about you. Only a warped mind which must have undergone extensive sexual repression at one point could actually think of and justify this hilarious attempt of exhibitionism. It is obvious to us you are a sexual deviant undergoing an extreme identity crisis and are probably seen as an embarrassment to all students. Please relax and take a good look at your "self" in the mirror and contemplate your actions as well as your insignificant attitude. This may take many hours, but we have confidence in you.

Ms. Allen, you seem to have missed the most important point of feminism, one which advocates EQUALITY OF THE SEXES, NOT THE DEGRADATION OF EACH OTHER. We think your warped, humiliating attitude toward life can be changed so that you can re-enter reality, humanity and life in general.

ALINAGHI GHIASSI

Voter Research Messy But May Lead to Jesse

Editor, Daily Nexus:

I want to express my appreciation of your excellent coverage of Jesse Jackson's recent visit to UCSB. Both the text and the photographs conveyed the spirit and the content of Jackson's message.

I would also like to address the points raised by David Samson in his letter of May 26. It seems from his statements that Mr. Samson has not done much reading about Reverend Jackson's campaign. In fact, Jackson stands in contrast to the other candidates because he has specific proposals to back his stands. He has printed "issue briefs" which detail how he would deal with issues like AIDS, the defense budget, education and Central America. Have any of the other candidates done this?

Jesse Jackson is the only candidate who has spelled out a proposed budget. He has concrete ideas for negotiating a peace settlement in the Middle East, for a new policy in South Africa, for reversing the U.S. trade deficit, and for all of the major issues of this campaign. The Students for Jackson group on this campus held a forum (which Mr. Samson apparently missed) presenting his positions on these and other areas. We still have issue briefs at our table. The Los Angeles Times ran an in-depth interview with Reverend Jackson on May 27, which provides more information on his views.

Jackson is not so naive as to want to force engineers to work out of their areas of expertise. There are ample projects which are crying out for their skills and training; for example, "non-military development of outer space, joint ventures with the Soviets to Mars (or) a comprehensive Third World development plan." (Jesse Jackson, Los Angeles Times, May 27). Does Mr. Samson really believe that engineers can only be employed in defense research?

Reverend Jackson cannot be held responsible for Mr. Samson's assumptions about his positions. He has never advocated "donating grain to Latin American countries" as the means to redress the economic woes of the Third World. With all of the Jackson campaign's eminent economic advisers, I doubt that he needs a lecture from Professor Crouch.

In fact, it is Mr. Samson who is employing tired rhetoric with his depiction of Jackson as an "emotional preacher." Throughout the campaign this charge has been made to distract voter attention from the fact that Jackson offers specific solutions as well as high ideals. There is no reason we cannot have both in one candidate! Please investigate the candidates yourself and vote for the man with vision and substance —

JESSE JACKSON.

Open Yourself to What is Not Satanic After All

Editor, Daily Nexus:

Re: C. Netz

First of all, where do you come off arbitrarily ripping down posters and flyers that you find offensive because of your narrow-minded religious beliefs? These people have every right to voice their beliefs just as much as you do.

I may not agree with their beliefs, but I sure as hell am not going to be judge and jury on their right to promote their religion. This is exactly what you have done!

Also, may I point out that the "few facts" that you so graciously informed us of, such as the "fact" that Jesus died for our sins, are facts only for Christians and not for the rest of the world's religions.

May I suggest that before you go off on another half-cocked, paranoid Christian rampage, that you take a couple of religious studies classes that deal with other religions, including R.G.S.T. 154B (Cults and Anti-Cultism in America).

Maybe after you have opened yourself up to other religions you will be less likely to label the beliefs of others as the work of Satan or Satanic by nature.

SCOTT BELLOMO

Scheer's Music Review Gives Reader the Blues

Editor, Daily Nexus:

After attending the Isla Vista BluesFest Tuesday, May 17, at the Graduate, four friends and I were happy to see the Blues arrive full force in I.V. Mr. Scheer's review left a little to be desired, however. He is correct when he states the Graduate is hardly reminiscent of the proverbial smoky barroom, but where in I.V. can we seat 500 people with that scenario? Despite the "bigness" of the Graduate, look at what we got for a $15 ticket. When Johnny "Clyde" Copland took the stage shortly after 8 p.m. the show didn't stop until nearly six hours later. Instead of condemning the Graduate for its size, I think we should be thanking Graduated Productions for bringing in four quality acts while managing to keep tickets at a reasonable price.

Scheer mentions Copland and Lonnie Brooks selling out for Miller beer. With recent advances of the Blues comes this one drawback. I suggest forgetting about Copland singing one Miller tune and Brooks sarcastically hyping Genuine Draft and remember, despite their newfound popularity, they still remain as approachable as ever. I was fortunate enough to get in a few words with each performer and every one expressed enthusiasm at playing again in Santa Barbara, especially in an outdoor setting such as UCSB's Lagoon.

Scheer also criticized the event as a "shallowly, boisterous 'party.'" His opinion wasn't a popular one with the performers when one considers the fact that both Brooks and John Lee Hooker were disappointed when the crowd wasn't dancing and "boogying" as much as they would have liked. When these artists are up on stage, they want the crowd on their feet groovin' with them, not sitting on their rear ends. This interaction between performers and audience characterizes the Blues and was none more evident when Hooker called the crowd to its feet to boogie with him during his final tunes.

As for Scheer's actual review of the show, it was apparent he did little or no research. First, Hooker's set was unexpectedly short because a) he was expecting to start at 10:30 p.m., not 1 a.m. and b) he had an early flight out of Santa Barbara the following morning. Hooker expressed regret at only being able to play a short set, but was understanding when informed it was a first-time thing for the Graduate and promoters. Second, Hooker's "mystery woman" would be no mystery if Scheer had attended any of his recent performances at Oscar's in Santa Barbara. She has opened up for his past three shows while the band warms up for Hooker.

In all of Scheer's criticism not one word was mentioned about Charlie Musselwhite. An unexpected pleasure (I had very little knowledge of his music), Musselwhite and band had the Graduate crowd rocking. When I asked him about this afterward, he showed no sign of egoism whatsoever, just that he was looking forward to returning soon. Very rare is it that a collection of music artists such as these show no sign of egoism or arrogance whatsoever. Musselwhite and the other three artists were class acts on and off the stage and had much to offer to enthusiastic fans.

In the past, the Santa Barbara Blues Society worked hard to get mainstream Blues acts. Securing these acts has been possible with the help of La Casa De La Raza, Oscar's and, more recently, the Lobero and Savoy Theaters along with the Graduate. Scheer's review indicates he would prefer that this "selling out" on the Blues stay away from Santa Barbara. I believe, however, the vast majority of people in attendance understood the need for advertising and simply chose to ignore it. Besides, what's a little extra money for the people who have certainly earned it?

STEPHEN DAVIS

F.T. Resident in I.V. P.O.ed Over D.P., SB

Editor, Daily Nexus:

I'm glad I did well on my SATs because I like UCSB much more than I would SBCC. My G.E.s are going well but I don't know whether to get a B.A. or an M.A. J.J. (my T.A.) said I'd better get off A.P. and raise my G.P.A. (my R.A. says I've got the I.Q. for it).

Last Saturday after Crucial DBC played, I was on D.P. with a girl from F.T. I had a bottle of J.D. with me and a F.P. told me to get rid of it P.D.Q. I said O.K. but the S.O.B. gave me the M.I.P. anyway. As a result I had to go to AA meetings in S.B. I met K.C. at the meeting and afterwards we wanted to go to the Run D.M.C concert but it was sold out. So instead we went to see E.T. and C.H.U.D. (both rated PG) in 3-D on LSD. We O.D.ed probably from the T.H.C. left over from the "J" we smoked in T.J. During the movies I had to go Peepee so I asked for the WC but it was out of T.P. so I K.O.ed the clerk and grabbed an R.C. and a V-8 for K.C. After the movies K.C. wanted to listen to some C.D.s and L.P.s but instead we switched on the T.V. My V.C.R. was broken so we had to settle for HBO. A stupid P.O.W. movie was on so we switched to MTV, only to watch a video by R.E.M. As you know, one can only stand MTV for so long ... our next choice was CNN. A debate over S.D.I. was on but about that time we were getting hungry so we cooked up some B.L.T.s and P.B. & J.s and grabbed some O.J. and headed back to the tube. CBS offered a documentary on the SPCA so we found NBC to watch Dr. J play in the NBA.

A couple of weeks ago, a friend (B.J.) and I took off on a road trip. We wanted to leave ASAP after my ES class that day so we jumped in my VW GTI. It gets bad MPG so we stopped at a gas station to get some SU2000 and some STP (we were also low on oil). On the way out I wound out the RPMs and B.J. hung a BA so a CHP pulled us over. He asked for ID and some POI so I showed him my license and my AAA card. He smelt J&B on my breath and gave me a DUI. We originally wanted to stay at the local YMCA but we had to settle for a nearby KOA. It rained that night and my BVDs, OPs and my PCHs all got wet. The next morning we reached our goal; My "X" had PMS but she still got MVP at ISVT. It was a weekend full of R&R but it was nice to get back to IV.

Daily Nexus Opinion

"Up with Hope! Down with Dope!"

Politics. Rhetoric. It'll dominate your televisions, newspapers and yes, your Daily Nexus Opinion pages throughout this coming summer. And, while the politicians are bringing us their message, you can toss yours into the arena as well.

The Nexus will publish weekly Opinion Sections from June 20 to July 27 and your campus and community viewpoints are welcome. Columns must not exceed four-and-a-half pages, typed and double spaced. Letters must not exceed one-and-a-half pages, also typed and double spaced.

Please include your name, address, signature and phone number with each submission. Columns also require current academic standing and major, or other identifying information. Submissions may be brought to the Daily Nexus Editorial offices located in the Storke Communications Building.
